let us give our verdict either in favour of the union board or in favour of the police, let us by all means avoid legislation of an indecisive and half-hearted character. Allow me to quote the opinion of the District Magistrate of Maldah. * * * 'clause 24 seems to me positively a retrograde step. Under section 35 of the Chaukidari Act, both dafadar and chaukidar are to be nominated by the panchayet and, if satisfied with such nomination, the District Magistrate may appoint them. According to the recent Chaukidari Manual, the chaukidars are almost entirely controlled by the police. The new Bill appears to continue this complete police control of the chaukidars * * *. In order to ascertain whether the nominee for chaukidar is satisfactory, the Magistrate will naturally turn to the report of the local Sub-inspector. Similarly, the power of dismissal and punishment rests with the District Magistrate who will naturally base his order on police reports. Yet clause 22 (1) (a) states that the 'village committee shall exercise a general control over dafadars and chaukidars of the village'. How they will be able to exercise any control is hardly apparent. The proposal is to have a double-control, but it is certain if these provisions become law, there will be only one control, and that by the police. From the police point of view it is excellent, but it is doubtful whether it will help to evolve the idea of village self-government for which the Bill is intended.'

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this amendment, in one aspect, is precisely the same as that which has just been moved and negatived and, on that aspect, I propose to say little. Like the last amendment it is now proposed that, in place of the right of nomination which they now possess, the union boards should be given the absolute right of appointment of dafadars and chaukidars; and in place of the right of dismissal which, subject to the approval of the District Magistrate, they now possess, they should be given an absolute right of dismissal. In the course of my reply to the previous amendment, I pointed out my objections to such a change, and those objections hold good in this case also. I do not, therefore, repeat them. But in one respect this amendment differs substantially from its predecessor, inasmuch as the latter proposed that, apart from these changes, the residuary powers of the union boards should remain, as now, with the District Magistrate. But this amendment goes further and says that the residuary powers should vest in the local boards, while the chaukidars should have a right of appeal against dismissal not to the District Magistrate but to the local board.

The question of chaukidari administration in Bengal, as I have said, is an ancient controversy about which there have been always two opinions, namely, as to what extent the chaukidar should be regarded as a village servant, and to what extent, in the interests of efficient administration, the District Magistrate and the police should be given control over him. On these two lines, the controversy has swayed from side to side during many years; but it has never been alleged in the course of that controversy, nor is it arguable on any historical basis, that the local board should come into the system. The local board is a municipal body which is appointed in connection with local self-government to perform certain municipal functions. It was not created for the purpose of supervision over chaukidars; it has no knowledge of the conditions under which chaukidars work, and, to my mind, it is in all respects unfitted to exercise these functions which the amendment seeks to thrust upon it. Therefore, this amendment is even less acceptable than its predecessor."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, so far as the questions of appointment, dismissal and punishment are concerned, there has been nothing said by Sir Henry Wheeler. Of course, he has given his view of the matter in replying to the preceding amendment. I shall only draw your Excellency's attention and of the Members of the Council to the fact that throughout my speech I did not rely upon my own views in the matter. I tried to show that from 1870 there was a lapse till 1892. Then again the Police Commission sat; and then we come to the District Administration Committee. I have already stated the opinions of the Government of India and the Government of Bengal, and it has been universally held that full control ought to rest with the union board. Now there has been nothing said with regard to that portion of my speech. As regards this proviso that if the union board fails to appoint, the local board shall make the appointment, historically there is no precedent for it and I confess that. But the whole question is who should appoint in the first instance—whether the board or the police or the Magistrate—that is the initial question. Then the further question arises if the union board fails to make the appointment within a reasonable time, whether it is the local board, or the Superintendent of Police or the Circle Officer should appoint. There my contention is this that in view of the provisions of the Bill and the underlying principle of this enactment, the supervision of the union board should be entrusted to the district board and not to the local board. That being a reasonable view about that side of the question as to who should supervise, it follows as a matter of course that it is the local board who should make the appointment. I have already submitted that various duties have now been given to the union boards and these are duties which the union boards cannot possibly perform without the aid of chaukidars and dafadars. The duties are not merely police duties, but also municipal duties and so on. Therefore, under the new law the power should be given to the local board to appoint when the union board fails to make the appointment within a reasonable time."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 59.

The President said :—

"Motion No. 59 is substantially the same as No. 57 which has already been decided by the Council.

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that in clause 22A (now clause 20)—

- (a) for the word "nominate" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 22A the word "appoint" be substituted, and the words "and the District Magistrate shall, if satisfied with such nomination, appoint such nominee" in lines 3, 4 and 5 of the same sub-clause be omitted; and
- (b) for the word "nominate" in line 2 of the proviso to that sub-clause the word "appoint" be substituted, and the words "or, if the District Magistrate is not satisfied with such nomination" in lines 3 and 4 of the same proviso be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 60.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem had the following motion in his name—
That the words "the District Magistrate or." in line 1 of sub-clause (2) of clause 22A (now clause 20) be omitted, and for the word "with" in line 2 of the same sub-clause the words "subject to" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

He said :—

“ My Lord, it is only a small change which simply gives the power of dismissal to the union board subject to the sanction of the District Magistrate and makes the chaukidar directly subordinate to the union board. But this amendment will have absolutely no force when the others have been rejected. I, therefore, ask your Excellency's permission to withdraw it.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 61.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“ My Lord, I do not wish to move the next amendment which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq. The motion was as follows :—

Clause 23.

If motion No. 57 be not carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that the words ‘ District Magistrate after consideration of the views of the ’ in lines 4 and 5 of sub-clause (1) of clause 23 (now clause 21) be omitted.

No other member being willing to move the motion, it was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 62.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words “ District Magistrate ” in lines 4 and 5 of sub-clause (1) of clause 23 now clause 21 the words “ district board ” be substituted.

He said :—

“ My Lord, I do not wish to make any remarks. It is just another aspect of the old question as to supervision and control by the district board over the establishment of dafadars and chaukidars.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ My Lord, I cannot commend the acceptance of this amendment to the Council, as it seeks to make a still more revolutionary and objectionable change. Clause 23 (now clause 21) of the Bill deals with the determination of the numbers and salaries of dafadars and chaukidars, together with the nature and cost of their equipment, and it vests the decision of these questions in the District Magistrate after consideration of the views of the union board. I have briefly indicated how these powers came to be placed in the hands of the District Magistrate after they had been exercised by the old panchayats, and it was found that that system had proved unsatisfactory. But the district board has never exercised these powers, and, as I have pointed out with reference to an analogous amendment in connection with the local board, the district board is unfitted to exercise these chaukidari powers, as it does not know anything about the conditions regulating the duties of dafadars and chaukidars, and no arguments can be adduced from history justifying the grant to it of powers over them.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“ My Lord, I have nothing further to add.”

The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Mr. Kerr.AMENDMENT No. 63.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

" I do not think it is any good moving this amendment. I, therefore, ask your Excellency's permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The motion was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that for the words " union board " in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (2) of clause 23 (now clause 21) the words " local Government " be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 64.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after sub-clause (2) of clause 23 (now clause 21) the following be added, namely :—

"(3) The dafadar and chaukidar shall be the servants of, and entirely subordinate to, the union board, and shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by this Act, under the direct control of the union board."

He said :—

" My Lord, the reason why I move this amendment is to be found in the following extract from paragraph 169 of the Report of the District Administration Committee :—

' In Bengal the Legislature had deliberately decided that in matters of watch and ward the chaukidars are to be subject to the orders of the panchayats, a provision which, we fear, is frequently overlooked, and we think that it is time for the position to be more clearly defined in this respect, for it is interpreted in different ways in different places.'

" So, my Lord, this amendment has got the support of the recommendations of the District Administration Committee. "

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

" My Lord, after what Sir Henry Wheeler has said in regard to previous amendments regarding the power of appointment of dafadars and chaukidars, I do not think it is necessary for me to explain at length why Government are unable to accept this amendment. It is perfectly true, as the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta has said, that the District Administration Committee expressed or endorsed the view that in matters of watch and ward the chaukidars should be subject to the orders of panchayats, but this amendment goes very much further than that. It says that dafadars and chaukidars shall be the servants of, and entirely subordinate to, the union board, and shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by this Act, under the direct control of the union board. The effect of this amendment would be to withdraw the dafadars and chaukidars entirely from the control of the district authorities. I would remind the Council that we have in this Presidency outside Calcutta a regular police force of only 20,000 men to a population of 45 millions. The proportion of police to population is very much less than in other provinces, and this may be one of the reasons for the fact that in other provinces the village police are village servants and have little to do with the regular police. In Bengal we can only carry on with our small police force by linking the village police closely to the regular police. If the control of the executive authorities in the district over the rural police were removed it would be necessary to add very largely to the strength of the regular police. I do not know whether this Council would regard that change with approval. I would point out too that we have gone a very long way in entrusting these union boards with the powers which are in the Bill. It is true in a sense that we are only reproducing the provisions of the existing Act in regard to the appointment of ~~chaukidars and dafadars~~, but from a practical point of view we are going a good deal further. The dafadars and chaukidars are at present nominated by the panchayats, but the panchayats in their turn are usually nominated by the District Magistrate. Now, we are giving the same powers to a body which will be almost entirely elected, and over which the District Magistrate will have much less control than he has over the existing panchayats. I say, therefore, that we have gone a long way in giving powers over the village police to the union boards, and Government are not prepared to go as far as is suggested in this amendment, the effect of which would be to give union boards entire control over the village police and to make the village police useless to the district authorities."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I think this amendment is opposed on the ground that the result would be that the powers of the district authorities over the chaukidars will be entirely lost.

"I submit that this is not a correct view of the position, because even in these amendments it is laid down that they shall exercise such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by this Act, and this Act prescribes various duties which are required of them by the District Magistrate and the other authorities. The only thing that will result from this amendment is this—that it will perform the duties under the direct control of the union board. That makes the only difference. They will certainly be under the indirect control of the authorities, because they will have to perform the duties prescribed by this Act, only the immediate master will be the union board, and through the union board they will serve the district authorities."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 65.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that at the end of clause 23 (now clause 21) the following be added, namely :—

"Provided that half the amount of the total sum on account of the salaries of dafadars and chaukidars and the cost of their equipment referred to in sub-section (2) shall be contributed to the union board by the local Government before the end of each financial year, either in one or more instalments, as the local Government think fit."

He said :—

"My Lord, clause 23 (now clause 21) provides the number of dafadars and chaukidars. In this Act it is provided that the equipment and salaries of the chaukidars and dafadars are to be paid by the union board, but I believe the provisions of Act VI of 1870 were not so. In that Act only salaries are mentioned ; there is nothing about equipment. This is an innovation in this Bill. Under the Chaukidari Act it was provided that there should be a chaukidar for a certain number of houses ; that provision has been omitted in this Bill, but owing to the multifarious duties of dafadars and chaukidars, it is probable that their number will be increased. In clause 38 (now clause 37) it is provided that the union board shall impose a certain amount on the villagers to meet the salaries and equipment of dafadars and chaukidars. But in this clause it is stated that the equipment and salaries shall be paid by the union board. Under the circumstances I propose that at the end of clause 23 (now clause 21), the proviso which I have suggested may be added. Under clause 38 (now clause 37) it is discretionary, but here an additional charge is going to be imposed and it is natural that Government should contribute a definite sum and we should not depend upon the discretionary power of Government, but that they should undertake to pay a certain proportion. In that view I have suggested this proviso, and I hope it will be accepted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

" My Lord, at present, as is known to the Council, the cost of chaukidars and their equipment is borne by the chaukidari panchayets, and in future it will continue to be so borne by the union boards, under the scheme of the Bill. The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq had an amendment—No. 63—which would have thrown the whole of this cost upon the local Government. but the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem has just told us that he was not prepared to support such a proposal. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, however, is bolder, and he is willing to put forward that proposal to the extent of one-half, which, he says, the local Government should pay. It is not a new idea that Government should thus intervene. May I, therefore, read one or two objections that have been taken to it? We will go back to the District Administration Committee which made the following remarks :—

' Some witnesses have advocated the payment of the chaukidars from provincial revenues, the proceeds of the present chaukidari tax being diverted to purely village purposes, such as sanitation and the improvement of communications and water-supply. The proposal is an attractive one, but, in the present state of provincial finances it is unlikely that it would be seriously entertained. The cost of the rural police force in Bengal amounts to approximately 60 lakhs of rupees annually, or nearly as much as the total of the road and public works cess combined; and it is certain that, if the tax were abolished and the responsibility for the payment of the chaukidars assumed by Government, there would be an immediate agitation for an all-round enhancement of the rates of pay, which are admittedly low everywhere and in some places inadequate. It would be unwise to abolish the only existing form of local rating, especially as it has been accepted by the people and there is no agitation for its abolition, and any attempt to replace it by any other corresponding impost for a different purpose would, it is certain, be very difficult to carry through. . . . The chaukidari tax has the great advantage of being assessed and collected by the people themselves without any intervention on the part of Government, while its elasticity renders it easily adaptable to self-taxation in order to meet the requirements of the village in other directions, such as the improvement of sanitation, communications and water-supply.'

So the District Administration Committee recognized certain obvious objections owing to the large sum of money involved, and even if the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri's proposal is accepted, it would run to about 30 lakhs of rupees, although that sum would at once increase, because as soon as Government took over the responsibility, they would be asked to pay the chaukidars more. But if Government were to assume this liability, they must obviously find the money somewhere. Now, what does Mr. Cotton say as to where that money is to come from if we are to accept this charge, and his remarks are of particular interest to my zamindar friends on this Council. He said in the course of a debate on the Act of 1892 on the occasion of a similar proposal—

' If this Act were introduced into all villages in Bengal, the total of the chaukidari rate to be collected would amount to a sum of not less than 60 lakhs of rupees. . . .

. . . This is a large sum of money which must be realized by some means, and the Government has considered how it can best be realized. Shall we continue the practice existing of collecting the rate, or shall we devise any other means? We considered what is done in other provinces. Now, what is done in the North-West Provinces? There the chaukidars are paid out of a rate which is levied on the zamindars for the purpose of paying for local objects—for communications, for dispensaries and many other purposes—and the law expressly says the village police are to be paid from it. A sum equivalent to 10 per cent. on the land revenue paid by the zamindar is the rate levied for such purposes in temporarily-settled districts, and that constitutes the source from which the chaukidar is paid. In Burma a ten per cent. rate is levied in the same way, and a portion of it is devoted to the payment of the village police. In Madras the village police are paid on a similar principle. There a cess is levied of one anna on the rupee of the revenue paid, and that amount is applied to the remuneration of the village servants employed both in revenue and police duties. Well, that is the alternative which presented itself to this Government. We might impose the additional cess which exists in other provinces and is imposed on the land. Indeed, a similar proposal was actually made in 1851, and was introduced into the Council of the Government of India, but in consequence of the storm of opposition which was raised by the zamindars of the province the Bill was withdrawn. Now the Government is of opinion that that method is open to grave objection, and we thought it very unlikely that the Members of this Council would be willing to agree to the principle that the whole of the expenditure needed for the payment of chaukidars should be borne by the landed interest. At present the chaukidari rate is borne by all classes of the community within the village and apportioned upon the residents with reference to their position and their comparative wealth; each man, except the very poor, pays a small quota; every house pays something. Well we thought it better that the tax should be continued to be realized in that way than that the people at large should be relieved from this payment, and that the whole burden should be borne by the landed interest.'

In other words, if we were to accept this amendment, we must cast about to find the money. The obvious method of finding the money is a zamindari rate, and I have just mentioned the fate of that proposal when it was mooted before.

Another consequence would follow from the acceptance of this charge. The greater the extent to which the liability for the payment of the village watch is assumed by Government, the greater the extent to which the village aspect of chaukidari administration will disappear. Obviously, the claim of the village and of the village panchayet to control the chaukidar rests largely on the fact that the latter is paid from the chaukidari assessment. If in future his pay is to be met by Government, obviously the tendency will be more and more for the chaukidar to become part of the regular police force. As regards such a consequence, I may read an extract from the speech of the Hon'ble Babu Gonesh Chunder Chunder in the course of the debate on the Bill of 1892; he observed:—

'In the year 1866 Mr. D. J. McNelle was appointed special officer to investigate the subject de novo. He proposed the entire abolition of the village watch, and the appointment in its place of a body of policemen to be selected and appointed by the executive authorities, the entire force being in direct subordination to the regular police. This was strenuously opposed by the native community, and the grounds upon which they opposed it were these:—first, that the change proposed was a revolution and not a reform; secondly, that the absence of such a link as the village police between the regular police and the people would always work unsatisfactorily; and, thirdly, that it was contrary to the wishes of the native community and subversive of the principle upon which the village watch had been always recognized as a village institution.'

Therefore, Sir, we see two interesting possibilities which might follow from the acceptance of this amendment. First, that we may have to assess the zamindars, and, secondly, that we may have to convert the village watch into a subordinate police. Both those consequences would assuredly be strongly condemned, as they were condemned in the past. In these circumstances I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said:—

"My Lord, may I be permitted to inquire whether the equipment charge is now borne by the Chaukidari Tax. As far as I remember the Chaukidari Tax only mentions salaries."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"Section 13 of Act VI of 1870 runs as follows:—'The panchayet shall impose an assessment yearly in each village equal to the amount required for the pay and equipment of the chaukidars.....'

It thus mentions both pay and equipment."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri ; The President ; Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

“ I was under the impression that the equipment was not included. Of course, I see that it involves a large sum of money, and in view of that and also a possible increase in the number of chaukidars and dafadars under the new Act, I want that the Government contribution, if any, should be stated here. To that extent I ask permission to amend my proposal.”

The President said :—

“ I am afraid I cannot allow amendments without due notice. It is not quite fair to the other Members of the Council.”

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

“ In that case I beg to withdraw my amendment.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 66.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“ My Lord, this amendment is identical with the one of which the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta has given notice, and I think it will be better if he moves it.”

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that for the words “ District Magistrate”, in the two places in which they occur in clause 25 (now clause 22), the words “ union board ” be substituted.

The motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn in favour of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta's motion.

AMENDMENT No. 67.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words “ District Magistrate”, in the two places in which they occur in clause 25, (now clause 22), the words “ union board ” be substituted.

He said :—

“ My Lord, since I gave notice of this amendment, there has been some amendment made in the Select Committee sitting for the second time. It has been added, that ‘ the District Magistrate or the union board’, as the case may be, so that it is now in a much better form than it was originally, and, speaking for myself, I have not the least objection that the District Magistrate should have the power to punish the chaukidar or dafadar, but what we apprehend, my Lord, is this, that the District Magistrate as a matter of fact will never, and can never, do it himself. The District Magistrate will have to delegate the power necessarily to the Superintendent of Police or to the Circle Officer ; it is the thin end of the wedge. It is on that account, my Lord, that I press my amendment.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ My Lord, the effect of this amendment would be to deprive the District Magistrate of all power to fine chaukidars and dafadars, while the Hon'ble

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.

Member has himself said that he has no objection to the District Magistrate exercising that power. If so, I cannot see that any views he may hold on the subject of delegation can justify the acceptance of the amendment. He says that he recognizes that the District Magistrate must have the power; but the amendment would take it away from him. The District Magistrate has exercised this power in the past, and if any control by the District Magistrate is to be maintained, it is necessary that he should retain it. I, therefore, oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I think, my Lord, I have been a little misunderstood. When I said that I had not the least objection to the District Magistrate exercising that power, I mean that he should exercise it himself. I have no objection to that, and if it is expressly provided that that power cannot be delegated to anybody else, I am prepared to withdraw my amendment. The District Magistrate will act upon the report of his subordinates, but he must not delegate the actual power of punishing to anybody else. In that case I have not the least objection. My objection is based upon that apprehension of the delegation."

The Hon'ble Sir Hen. Wheeler said :—

"I may explain that the Hon'ble Member is really dealing with a subsequent amendment to the effect that the District Magistrate should not delegate the power of fine, and I think that his remarks would be more apposite when that amendment is moved."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"The difficulty is that that amendment if it is to be moved at this stage, we do not know what is to be its fate, and in the light of our past experience, the probability is that that amendment would be lost. That is the reason why I press this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT NO. 68.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that after the word "Magistrate" in line 7 of clause 25 (now clause 22) the words "or by the union board" be inserted, and the words "or by the union board with fine not exceeding one-quarter of a month's salary" in lines 8, 9 and 10 of the same clause be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, my amendment is on the same lines as that of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, but it is a more modest one. The Bill provides that the District Magistrate has the power of fining the chaukidar or the dafadar up to a limit of a month's salary, and the union board has been given power not exceeding a quarter of a month's salary. I want to make both these powers of the union board and that of the District Magistrate equal. My reason is that one-quarter of a month's salary of a chaukidar drawing Rs. 5 or Rs. 6 would be a very small fine for the union board to deal with, as they will have full control over the chaukidars. I think it is unfair not to trust them with this small power which will be exercised by circle officers and other subordinate officers. I think they should be treated at least on the same level with the circle officers and that the board should have the same power. I hope this amendment will be accepted."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Maulvi Bbul Kasem.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“The Council will remember that in the Bill as first revised by the Select Committee the union board was given no power of fining the chaukidar. Amendments in the direction of conferring that authority were filed, and when we re-examined the Bill we thought we might meet that wish by giving some right of fine to the union board, but at the same time we doubted whether their powers should be co-extensive with those of the District Magistrate. In the first place it is probable that the more serious offences and breaches of public duty committed by the chaukidar will come to the knowledge of the District Magistrate and be dealt with by him. The minor delinquencies which would come before the union board would not ordinarily merit severe punishment, and, therefore, it is not unreasonable to say that whereas the District Magistrate might fine up to a month's pay, the union board should only fine up to a week's pay. In the second place, it is the union board which pays the chaukidar, and if by a judicious system of fining they left the chaukidar minus any pay at all, the burden of assessment on the union would be to that extent lightened. That is a temptation to which the union board might conceivably yield if it was very hard up. Lastly, the chaukidar is not a very highly paid officer; he only gets about Rs. 6 a month, and if that pittance is to be constantly reduced by heavy fines, his lot will not be a very happy one; therefore, I prefer to leave the clause as it is. It only imposes a slight restriction on the powers of the union board.”

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“My Lord, I have nothing to add to what I have said, and if the Hon'ble Member does not accept the amendment, I do not wish to press it.”

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 69.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq. moved that the following proviso be added to clause 25 (now clause 22), namely :—

“Provided that an aggrieved dafadar or chaukidar shall have a right of appeal to the District Magistrate, whose orders shall be final.”

He said :—

“This is only a second reference on the question of about a quarter month's salary, and I think it will be accepted. That reference to the punishment meted out to the chaukidars by the union board ought to come before the District Magistrate on appeal. It is only a very small matter and I hope it will be accepted.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“Sir, this is rather a curious result of one Member moving another Member's amendment. When the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq filed this amendment, I think it was already intended to be consequential to amendment No. 66. Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq wished the District Magistrate to have no power of fine, but would have given him the power of hearing an appeal from the chaukidar against a fine imposed by the union board. That is, as I imagine, what he meant by the amendment, but the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem's argument is that irrespective of the powers of the District Magistrate, so long as the union board can fine up to a week's pay, the chaukidar should equally have a right of appeal. That is quite arguable, and I have no objection to giving a right of appeal if the Council wish it, though I doubt whether a chaukidar will be troubled to prefer an appeal against a fine of Re. 1 or 8 annas. However, I have no objection to the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Council was then adjourned till the next day, Tuesday, the 8th April, 1919, at 11 A.M., at Government House, Calcutta.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.THE BENGAL VILLAGE SELF-GOVERNMENT BILL, 1919.

THE consideration of the amendments on the Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919, was resumed.

AMENDMENT No. 70.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that sub-clauses (ii) (a), (ii) (b), (ii) (d), (ii) (f), and (ii) (h) of clause 26 (now clause 23) be omitted.

He said :—

"These are clauses, my Lord, which gives extensive powers to the village chaukidars ; these are powers which are given to police officers by section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Code, and there is a large body of opinion, both official and non-official, that these powers could not be safely given to the village chaukidar. The existing law on the subject is to be found in section 39 of the Chaukidari Act in which these clauses do not occur. There is no reason, my Lord, why a departure should have been made in this direction and such extraordinary powers given to a subordinate in the position of the village chaukidar. For instance, clause (a) runs thus : 'Any person who has been concerned in any cognizable offence or against whom a reasonable complaint has been made, or credible information has been received, or a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been so concerned'. There are very wide and extensive powers which are very likely to be abused by the chaukidar. These powers are in fact so large that they are not safe, even in the hands of a police officer, but in the case of a police officer there is no other alternative and we must invest the police officer with these powers, but in the case of the chaukidars they are much more risky. I have consulted many experienced deputy magistrates who have had enough personal experience in the administration of the Criminal Procedure Code and the Chaukidari Act, and they are of opinion that it will be extremely dangerous to give these powers to the chaukidars and there is no reason why these powers should be given to the chaukidars. Some of those powers have been omitted because it was recognised that chaukidars should not be expected to possess sufficient knowledge to exercise these powers. For instance, sub-clause (f) runs : 'Any person reasonably suspected of being a deserter from His Majesty's Army or Navy or of belonging to His Majesty's Indian Marine Service and being illegally absent from that service'. . . . I do not know, my Lord, if any of the village chaukidars are expected to know what is the law on the subject, and to judge who is a deserter from His Majesty's Army or Navy and even as regards sub-clause (a) and sub-clause (b) is it for the chaukidar to decide and understand all these matters, and as regards the burden of proof, how is that burden to be discharged? That is an additional reason why these people should act under the control of the union boards. As the Bill stands now even the members of the union board, even the president himself has not been given these powers. It seems to me rather unreasonable that the village chaukidar should be given powers which are withheld even from the president of the union board. Now referring to the opinions on the subject, I find that the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division says : 'I am not in favour of raising the status of the village chaukidar to that of a police officer'. There are other officials who have expressed the same opinion. For instance, the Subdivisional Officer of Noakhali says : 'Section 39 of the Chaukidari Act gives certain powers to the chaukidars and I find in this clause additional powers are being given to the chaukidars : . . . this is really giving them too much power', and so on. As regards non-official opinion, I find that the District Board of the 24-Parganas has expressed its opinion that this clause should be omitted, as the powers conferred by them on the daffadars and chaukidars may lead to unnecessary harassment and oppression.' The British Indian Association says: 'This clause should be omitted; very wide powers have been given to dafadars and chaukidars to arrest people without an order from the Magistrate. It would not at all be safe to entrust them with these powers as they might harrass people unnecessarily on the alleged ground of suspicion, and the powers proposed to be given to them might lead to bribery and corruption.' The District Board of Bakarganj says: 'The Board were not prepared to give such an extensive power of arrest to the dafadars and chaukidars as are contemplated in sub-clause (a) of this clause and they accordingly suggested that sub-clause (a) of clause 26 (now clause 23) should be omitted altogether.' The Bengal Landholders Association is of the same opinion. It says: "This clause gives very wide powers to the chaukidar who is likely to abuse his power". So, my Lord, this is rather an important matter—the question of giving such wide powers to the village chaukidar—and I move that this clause be omitted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said: —

"My Lord, the object of this amendment is to withdraw from the village police certain powers which it is proposed to give them under this clause of the Bill. It is true, as the Hon'ble Member has pointed out, that these powers are not precisely the same as those which chaukidars at present exercise under section 39 of the Village Chaukidari Act, but I may point out that the Chaukidari Act was passed in 1871. The powers which we now propose to give to the village police are those exercised by ordinary police constables under section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Code which was passed in 1898. We may take it that the Criminal Procedure Code represents a more modern and up-to-date view of the powers which police constables ought to have than the Chaukidari Act which was passed in 1871. The powers, as I say, which we propose to give chaukidars, are those which are exerciseable by ordinary constables. We have omitted one clause, the seventh sub-clause of section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Code, that deals with extradition, because the Select Committee thought this might be rather a complicated matter for the village chaukidar to deal with, and moreover cases of that kind very seldom occur in a village. If the Council will allow me, I would like to go through the powers which we do propose to give the village chaukidar. In the first place, the chaukidar at present has the power under the Chaukidari Act to arrest a proclaimed offender or any person who in his presence commits any offence under schedule B, that is to say, one of the more serious offences, also any person against whom a hue and cry has been raised of his having been concerned in such an offence in the village or outside of it, and to convey such person to the police station. Well, now we propose to give the chaukidar power to arrest any person concerned in any cognisable offence or against whom any reasonable complaint has been made or credible information received or a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been so concerned. The Hon'ble Member argues that a chaukidar will not know what a cognizable offence is, but in a village thefts and burglaries are the main cognizable offences, and as a matter of fact, anybody who lives in a village will tell you that the chaukidar does exercise these powers at the present moment, and he must do so if he is going to protect the villagers against the depredations of thieves and burglars. All we are doing is to say that he shall exercise these powers. Then the next point is that at present the chaukidar is required, to the best of his ability, to prevent the commission of any of these offences. We propose to give him, in the language of the Criminal Procedure Code, power to arrest any person having in his possession any implement of house-breaking or in whose possession anything may be found which may reasonably be suspected to be stolen property. That is simply a definition and in some respects a limitation of his existing powers to prevent the commission of offences against property. The other powers which we propose to give to the chaukidar are not exactly covered by anything in the existing Chaunkidari Act, but they amount to this, that the chaukidar should be authorised to arrest any person who obstructs a police-officer in the execution of his duties, or any person who has escaped or attempts to escape from lawful custody, or any person who is reasonably suspected of being a deserter from His Majesty's Army or Navy, and any released convict who breaks the conditions of his release under section 565 of the Criminal Procedure Code. I submit, my Lord, these are all very simple powers. The Hon'ble Member enquires how the chaukidar is to know who is a deserter from the Army or Navy. The answer to that is that the description of a man who deserts from the Army or Navy is published in the Gazette, and at the local police-stations, and there can be no reason to anticipate difficulty on this score. I would suggest therefore that all these powers are powers which may reasonably be granted to the village chaukidar. The Hon'ble Member says that we are not going to grant these powers to the president of the union board and therefore it would be illegal or improper to give them to the village chaukidar. I submit, Sir, that there is nothing in the analogy between the president and the chaukidar. We do not want to make the president into an amateur policeman. Your Excellency has not got these powers. I have not got them, nor has the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, but that is no reason why the chaukidar should not have them. These powers are entrusted already to police constables who may exercise them in a village away from the control of superior authority. The village chaukidar, on the other hand, will be subject to public opinion, he will be subject to the control of the president and the members of the union board, and he is much less likely to abuse his power than an ordinary constable who may be working by himself. I suggest therefore that we do not run any undue risk in entrusting these powers to village chaukidars, and that there is no necessity to alter the clause placed before the Council by the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I wish to make one observation with regard to this amendment. Blood is said to be thicker than water, and I think self-interest and interest of self-preservation will always prevail over any other consideration. We ought to remember that the chaukidar is the tenant of a man in the village, and he is more often than not the debtor of a money-lender. Whatever powers we may give to the chaukidar, we ought to remember that he may be made an instrument of their oppressive masters through the instrumentality of his landlord and the unscrupulous money-lender. That is a great danger no doubt. Mr. Kerr has said that the chaukidar would be subject to public opinion. I do not think much of public opinion in the village. Besides where there is a powerful agency like the landlord and the money-lender, I do not think the chaukidar will be very much amenable to public opinion. That is a source of danger which I feel very seriously in the matter of this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, one of the arguments advanced by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr is that although these powers are in excess of the power which are now enjoyed by the village chaukidar, yet it should be remembered that those powers were conferred in 1871, and that we are now in 1919. I do not think that that is an argument which can be appreciated because in that case 20 years after another legislation will be introduced and powers not only of police officers under clause 54 (now clause 49), but far more extensive and larger powers might be given to the chaukidar on the ground that these powers were given to them in 1919. That is not the point, however; there is a certain limit beyond which powers cannot be granted to officers whether high or low. Regard being had to the education and position of the chaukidars in life, the question is whether these large powers can be conferred on them. What after all, is the village chaukidar? He is nothing but a menial servant of the landlord or of the mahajan as has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, or he is the servant of the daroga. To invest him with the powers of arresting without an order from the Magistrate any and everybody in the village; that is a power of which we are really afraid. As regards the argument of public opinion I may say that public opinion in the village is divided into two factions. The public opinion in the village means the opinion of different factions, and if he is to follow the opinion of one faction, it cannot be said that he is amenable to public opinion, so that does not mean very much. This is a legislation intended for the benefit of the villagers, and for the people of the country. From information I have collected and from the opinions expressed by non-official gentlemen and public bodies of the province, and regard being had to the opinions also expressed by responsible officials, including the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, I would ask for whose benefit is this provision going to be made? Those villagers for whose benefit it is intended to enact this particular provision do not want or appreciate it. On the other hand, they say it is extremely risky and hazardous. In view of that, is it safe to make a departure in this direction from the existing law? And what is the case that has been made out in support of this departure? Who wants it, and for whom is this legislation? Therefore, My Lord, this question of public opinion does not matter very much. Public opinion of the province collected in these two volumes is against this measure; does that public opinion count for very much in this Council? After all the chaukidar is an uneducated man; what does he care for public opinion if he is quite safe, if he could satisfy his landlord, his daroga, his mahajan? My Lord, when I moved this motion, I knew that unless the Government accepted it of their own accord, there was no chance of its acceptance by the Council. It is an extremely important measure, affecting the everyday life of every man in the province, and affecting the province as a whole: it is a measure of very wide application and immense importance. Regard being had to that fact, and to the opposition of the public against this new provision, I say that no case has been made out in favour of this provision; and at least we should be on the safe side, so that I still hope that the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr will be pleased to take into consideration the views, not the views that I have expressed, but the views collected in the two volumes, both of official and non-official gentlemen.

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

“ Could these sub-clauses be put separately? Some of us have difficulty in regard to them.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

“ It would create considerable difficulty if they are separately put.”

The President said :—

“ Supposing all the clauses fall out, there is no substitute for them. I do not quite see the force of the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr's argument. I have no objection in putting the amendments part by part.”

The motions to omit each sub-clause were then put separately and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Mr. Kerr.AMENDMENT No. 71.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta also moved that for sub-clause (ii) (e) of clause 26 (now clause 23), the following be substituted, namely :—

“(ii) (e) any person who, in the view of the chaukidar, obstructs a police-officer while in the execution of his duty or who, in the view of the chaukidar, has escaped or attempts to escape, from lawful custody.”

He said :—

“As the clause stands now, any person who obstructs a police-officer while in the execution of his duties, or who attempts or assists the escape of any person from lawful custody can be arrested. As it stands it is more or less a matter of judgment by the chaukidar whether a particular man has obstructed a police-officer or has escaped or attempts to escape from lawful custody. That is a power which I think is rather too wide, and at the same time to prevent such escapes I propose that when an offence is committed by a man in the presence of a chaukidar, when the chaukidar actually sees a man obstructing a police-officer or escaping from lawful custody, then in that case only he may be given power to arrest.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

“My Lord, under this clause, as it stands in the Bill, the village chaukidar is given power to arrest any person who obstructs a police-officer while in the execution of his duty, or who has escaped from lawful custody. The amendment proposes to limit these powers to cases of persons who commit any of these offences, or who attempt to commit any of these offences in view of the chaukidar. This alteration in the clause would be very inconvenient in practice, and I must say that I do not see the necessity for it. Let us see how it would work in practice. In the first place, a police-officer going to a village, would ordinarily be accompanied by one of the village chaukidars; when an obstruction takes place, his natural inclination would be to send for assistance, and he would send for the other chaukidars of the union to come and give him assistance. The chaukidars come up and the obstruction stops. Under the clause as it will stand if amended as proposed by the Hon'ble Member, the chaukidars, not having seen the obstruction, would be unable to render any assistance at all. Similarly, in the case of an escape, there would be a hue and cry raised in the village; the man would be running away across the fields, but the chaukidars who saw him would not be able to arrest him simply because they had not seen him actually escaping from lawful custody. This sort of provision would lead to endless arguments in the Courts as to whether the chaukidars had actually seen the actual obstruction or the actual escape and would make the working of the law extremely uncertain. I submit, therefore, that the amendment would be inconvenient in practice and no practical reason has been shown for its necessity.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, in some cases the chaukidar will not be able to help the police as he would otherwise be able to help if the clause stands in its present form. But at the same time the question is whether that is a power that can safely be given, taking into consideration all the circumstances. For instance, one constable may want something from a man: he may not give that, then he wants to extort the money from him and wants to bring some pressure to bear upon him, and then in order to accomplish his purpose he may send for the chaukidar and tell him that that man was obstructing him and so on.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

So that is a case in which a constable may take advantage of a provision like this. The whole question is not whether in any particular case this provision will work some good, but the question is whether taking all things and all circumstances into consideration what is the line of action which the balance of evidence suggests. As in all cases of legislation, so in this particular case there are two sides and the business of the legislature is to see wherein lies the balance of evidence and advantage. My contention is that weighing all the advantages and disadvantages, the safer course would perhaps be not to legislate like this."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 72.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, in view of the fate of some other amendments that have been moved before, I do not wish to press this amendment and with your Excellency's permission I would like to withdraw it."

The motion was as follows :—

• "that sub-clause (1) (ix) of clause 26 (now clause 23), be omitted."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 73.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta also moved that the word "and" at the end of sub-clause (1) (x) of clause 26 (now clause 23), be omitted, and after that sub-clause the following be inserted, namely :—

"(xa) he shall serve civil, criminal, and revenue processes and processes issued by officers of the registration department upon persons resident within the union subject to such rules as may be prescribed under section 111; and"

He said :—

"My Lord, on this question instead of giving my own views I would prefer to give the views and recommendations of the District Administration Committee recorded on page 112. It is not a new proposal as the system has been tried and tried with success. This is what the District Administration Committee said :—

'The experiment was abandoned in Rajshahi also. It was continued and is still in force in Hooghly, Dacca and Tippera, in which district special officers have been working under Mr. Gupta. The local officers are anxious that the system should be continued, and from what we have seen and heard we have no doubt that the experiment is proving a success. In their Resolution No. 2487 P. D. of the 22nd November, 1911, the Government of Bengal remarked that the system is infinitely superior to the practice of service through peons, stating as their reasons for this opinion that a certain amount of local publicity is given to the process; the president and dafadars are amenable to local public opinion; they do not need the assistance of the plaintiffs' men, and therefore on the whole the probabilities of fraud and suppression are considerably reduced. Mr. Gupta considers that the results so far are extremely hopeful and there is a consensus of opinion that, with the appointment of a secretary or munshi to assist the panchayat and with proper supervision and adequate postal facilities, the goal to be aimed at is the extension of the system not only to a certain class of criminal processes but also eventually to civil processes.

Apart from the advantages which have been mentioned by the District Administration Committee in their report there is a further advantage that the service of these processes will bring something to the union board. The financial difficulty of the union board will be somewhat relieved although it will not be relieved very appreciably. Therefore, both in the interest of the public directly and also in the interests of the union board this proposal should be accepted. It requires no advocacy from me to induce Government to accept this proposal because I find from the report of the District Administration Committee which I have just placed before the Council that that was precisely the position taken up by Government in 1911. The Government remarked that the system was infinitely superior to the practice of serving processes through peons. Therefore, my Lord, I hope at all events this amendment will be accepted by Government."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this amendment touches upon quite a useful possibility of utilising the services of chaukidars and dafadars, and it is a possibility towards the realisation of which some experimental steps have already been taken. I mentioned yesterday the fact that in 1905 Mr. Savage was placed on special duty with a view to developing the possibilities of village self-government. The service of processes, other than those for distraint and sale and personal arrest, through chaukidars was initiated by him, and it was gradually introduced in the districts of Dacca, Tippera, Rajshahi and Hooghly as also in Balasore and Muzaffarpore which were then within Bengal—though of course, they are now no longer in this Presidency. As regards Eastern Bengal, it was decided in 1907 to continue the experiment, and a rate of remuneration for dafadars and chaukidars was fixed. In 1907 the scheme was extended to Puri and in 1912 to Cuttack. It failed in Muzaffarpore and was abandoned in 1911, because no one was particularly enthusiastic about it and there was no adequate supervision over the work of dafadars; subsequently it was abandoned in Rajshahi also, but it was continued in Hooghly, Dacca and Tippera. In 1911 this Government expressed an opinion favourable to the system, generally on the grounds that have been referred to by the Hon'ble Member, namely, that there was less likelihood of malpractices on the part of dafadars and chaukidars, as they had local knowledge and were amenable to local influence; the probability was that they would run straighter than outside peons. At the same time, there had been failures and there were frequent complaints of unpunctuality. The financial aspects of the change, in comparison with the ordinary procedure, also required further elucidation. The question was examined by the Conference of Commissioners in 1912, and practically the system is now working in most of the areas in which there are circle officers, those being the areas in which a supervising agency exists, and it is on proper supervision that it has been found that success very largely depends.

Since we are all at one as to the possibilities of the system, it may be said why did we not provide for it in the Bill? I gather that those who framed the Bill refrained from doing so because they thought the matter was to some extent experimental, and so far as experiments were being conducted, they were in progress under executive orders. There is also another difficulty which we have to bear in mind; under the Court Fees Act the fixing of fees chargeable for the execution of processes, civil and criminal, and the remuneration of peons and of all other persons employed in the service and execution of processes are governed by rules framed by the High Court. Therefore, in anything we do we shall have to be consistent with the powers of the High Court, presumably by obtaining their preliminary consent to any change we desire to make. If the High Court do not approve of the change, then under the Court Fees Act they can effectually debar us from further action. I should mention that when I spoke of processes at present thus served, I meant revenue processes, not criminal and civil processes. Of course, in revenue processes we have a freer hand, but in civil and criminal processes we have to be guided by the High Court.

There is the further question of uncertainty as to the cost, namely, whether service of this description may not turn out to be more expensive than our present system. However, I think it is worth while making mention of this matter in the Bill, and I am willing, therefore, to accept the amendment, but I think its form could be improved. I do not much care about enumerating different kinds of processes, especially when, as I have said, we have to remember the High Court's rules in respect of civil and criminal processes, and I should prefer to put the amendment more generally in this form :—

'He shall serve such processes upon persons resident within the union as may be prescribed by rules under section 111.'

I think this will meet the hon'ble mover's object. We avoid specifically mentioning the kind of processes; and I take it that in the matter of civil and criminal processes we shall have to get the High Court to make rules to permit of the new procedure. In the above form, I shall be glad to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, the form recommended by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill is acceptable to me."

The motion was put in the following amended form and agreed to :—

"That the word 'and' at the end of sub-clause (1) (X) of clause 26 (now clause 23) be omitted and that after that sub-clause the following be inserted, namely (Xa) he shall serve such processes upon persons resident within the union as may be prescribed by rules under section 111; 'and'"

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, when we come to clause 111 (now clause 101), I shall ask your Excellency's permission to introduce a consequential amendment."

AMENDMENT No. 74.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for sub-clause (2) of clause 26 (now clause 23) the following be substituted, namely :—

"(2) Every dafadar shall exercise all the powers conferred on a chaukidar under sub-section (1) and such other powers as may be prescribed by rules made by the district board, and shall perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by rules made by the district board."

He said :—

"My Lord, so far as the first sentence is concerned it is exactly the reproduction of the original clause and then the divergence begins from the second sentence 'and such other powers as may be prescribed by rules made by the District Board.' My object of bringing in this portion is this : that the duties of the chaukidars have been defined in this Bill at length, but the duties of the dafadar have not been so clearly defined. Of course under this clause every dafadar shall exercise all the powers conferred on a chaukidar under sub-clause (1), but there is after all some difference between the position of a dafadar and that of a chaukidar. I think that is the fundamental point, otherwise there is no reason why a dafadar should have been brought into existence. It is well known that although there are dafadars in existence even at present but as a matter of fact there was no legislation on the subject. They have been brought into existence under circumstances the validity of which has sometimes been questioned, but in any case there is no law codified on the subject as regards dafadars. But this point is very clear that it is intended that there should be some difference between the position of a chaukidar and that of a dafadar : otherwise there is no reason why a dafadar was originally introduced and why a dafadar has now been given a statutory function in this Bill. And the general proposition is, and that has been accepted by the Bill, that the dafadar holds a position over the chaukidars and therefore in actual practice there may be occasions when the powers exercised by the chaukidars may not be sufficient for the dafadars. In order to remedy that defect I have proposed that they shall exercise such other powers as may be prescribed by rules made by the district board.

Then there remains the other portion as regards the duties of the dafadars. As it stands it is this 'and shall perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by rules made by the district board.' Now, my Lord, it is rather difficult to understand why the powers have been defined by the Bill itself but not the duties. As regards the duties of the dafadars they have been delegated to the rules to be made under section 111 (now section 101). Powers are necessary to be defined in the Bill itself as the duties. My amendment does not meet that difficulty as I have not been able to suggest to what the definite duties should be but I must confess that my difficulty was that I had to send notice of my amendment without sufficient time, and besides I must also confess that it is not very easy for me to sit down and prescribe the duties as it is so easy for the framers of the Bill and others whose duty it was to do that. I labour under various disadvantages which they do not, and I must confess that I was not equal to that task. I have simply proposed that the dafadar shall perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by rules made by the district board. The only difference is that the rules should be made by the district board and not made under clause 111 (now clause 101).

With these words, My Lord, I beg to commend the amendment for the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"My Lord, perhaps it will assist matters if I explain briefly and in general terms what the duties and position of the dafadars are. The dafadar is a creation of the last 15 or 20 years. Before that each individual chaukidar worked individually with the police at the police-station and with the panchayats in the village. This arrangement was found unsatisfactory as it was difficult for the police and the panchayats to deal with a large number of individual chaukidars, and so the dafadar came to be evolved. The dafadar is simply a head chaukidar; he is a non-commissioned officer in charge of a squad of 10 or 12 chaukidars; his business is to act as a link between the chaukidars and the police and between the chaukidars and the panchayats. He conveys orders to the chaukidars, arranges for their duties, goes round and collects information and reports from them and passes them on to the proper authorities. That, my Lord, is a general description of the functions of a dafadar, and that being so, I think the Council will see that it would be very difficult to embody it in any legal enactment. That is the reason why we have said in this Bill that the dafadar shall have all the powers of a chaukidar and that his other duties shall be regulated by rules. So far I think the Hon'ble Member and myself agree. The only difference between us is that in the Bill it is proposed that these rules should be framed by Government, while the Hon'ble Member would like to have them framed by the district board. I explained yesterday why it was not possible to hand over the village police generally to the control of union boards and local boards, and precisely the same arguments apply to this proposal that the dafadars should be handed over to the control of district boards. I shall not repeat what I said yesterday, but there are special objections to handing over police duties to district boards. The district boards have never had anything to do with the police, either the regular police or the rural police, and it is not intended in this Bill to make a new departure in this respect. The Bill deals only with union boards, and the proposal to enlarge the functions and duties of district boards in this particular way is not one which Government could accept. District boards are not at present constructed in such a way as to make them fit bodies to exercise duties in connection with the police, and this Bill does not propose to alter their constitution in any way. For these reasons, Sir, I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, this motion is opposed on the ground that Government are not prepared to make over dafadars to the district board. Now clause 47 (now clause 46) of this Bill lays down—'provided that the salaries and cost of equipment of dafadars and chaukidars shall be the first charge upon the union fund.' It is the union board who will pay the dafadar's salary and so on. Not only they will pay but the salary of the dafadar will be the first charge upon the union fund. That being the position, certainly it is only fair that dafadars should be the servants of the union board. That is my first point.

Then the next point is if once they are the servants of union boards and if any rules are to be prescribed about their duties, then it is only fair that these rules should be framed by the union board, and if union boards are not at present in a position to frame rules and if they are not considered to be competent, then the next best thing is that these rules should be framed by the district board under whom the union board will act. The whole plan of this measure, if I understood it aright, is this : we will build from the bottom. The initial stage is the foundation of the union board, next comes the local board and after that comes the district board. That being the evolution—that being the scheme of the Bill—it is only proper that rules should either be first framed by the union board and if for any reason that body is not considered competent then the rules should be framed by the district board. As they will pay it is only proper that they should dictate as to what should be their duties and what should be their powers."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 75.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that after the word "situated" in line 4 of clause 27 (now clause 24) the words "or to the president of the union board" be added.

He said :—

"A little while ago, my Lord, an attempt was made to curtail the powers of the chaukidar on the apprehension that these powers will be abused and that people may be unnecessarily oppressed. By this amendment I suggest to minimise the abuse of power and to minimise the chances of harassment. In the Bill as it is, a chaukidar after arresting a person can take him to the police-station, but the police-station may be situated at a distance of 8 or 10 or even 12 miles from the place where the man was arrested, and it will cause unnecessary harassment to the man if he is proved innocent. On the other hand, I suggest that he should be taken over to the police-station or to the house of the president of the union board, because the latter will be near at hand and in that case if the president of the union board finds that the arrested person should be taken to the thana, then he will direct the chaukidar to do so, and in that case some sort of responsibility will fall upon his shoulders, and as he is a man of responsibility and amenable to public opinion, and it is expected that he will not be a tool in the hands of a particular faction or a particular individual, high or low. Therefore in order to be on the safe side, I suggest that this amendment be accepted, because after all there is another proviso that if arrests are made at night, then the person arrested shall be taken as soon as convenient on the following morning, but where is the arrested person to be kept? If the direction is to take him to the president, he may be kept in the house of the president, as he may have sufficient accommodation for the arrested person, while the chaukidar scarcely has sufficient accommodation for himself and his family. The main object in moving this amendment is to give a chance to the person to be taken to the president of the union board so that the chaukidar may not have any unrestricted discretion in taking a person a long distance to the thana and thus causing him harassment. When the amendment for curtailing the powers of chaukidars was moved, it was stated, and there was a good deal of reason in that statement, that the chaukidar may unnecessarily cause a person to be harassed. In this country an arrest means disgrace, even if the arrested person is proved innocent afterwards. In this case if a man is arrested or taken to the thana or detained for a long period, it will cause great inconvenience to the people and it may even happen that simply to cause a loss to a person or to his interest, a man may be arrested and taken to the thana. For instance, if a person has got a civil case in a court in the headquarters of the district or sub-division, and a man under whose influence the chaukidar is is interested in seeing that this man does not present himself before the court on that particular day, it may be easily arranged; that man is arrested and taken to the thana and by the time he is taken to the officer in charge and is proved innocent and released by him, his case might have been lost. The only harm that can come to the chaukidar is that the District Magistrate after he is informed of such a case will dismiss the chaukidar, but the dismissal will not mean much to him. I, therefore, submit that if this amendment is accepted, it will be a safeguard against these abuses of the chaukidars or the men whose instrument he is."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"I think, my Lord, the Hon'ble Member has read into this amendment a good deal of matter which it really does not contain. In the first place, he assumes that if his amendment was passed, the chaukidar would be bound to take an accused person to the president of the union board. That, as I understand the amendment, would not be the case: it would be optional with the chaukidar to take the accused either to the police-station or to the president, so that the chaukidar could use his discretion in the matter. In the second place, the Hon'ble Member seems to assume that the president would have the power to order the release of an accused person and to tell the chaukidar not to take him to the thana, but there is nothing about that in the clause either. There is nothing giving the president power to examine the merits of the arrest and to decide whether a prima facie case against the accused person had been made out; and very rightly so, because obviously if you give the president a power of that nature you at once convert him into an investigating officer. Thus, these two points which the Hon'ble Member has made much of are not provided for in the amendment at all. All that the amendment says is that the chaukidar can take the accused person to the president on his way to the thana, and I ask the Council to consider whether a provision of that kind would really be in the interests of the accused. The Hon'ble Member says the accused person may have to walk 10 or 12 miles to the thana. Well, the president's house may be situated 6 or 8 miles away from where the arrest is made and in the opposite direction to the thana, so that the chaukidar exercising his discretion under this amendment might cause the unfortunate accused person to walk 12 or 16 miles further than he would otherwise have to do. Then the president might not be found, or he might want to exercise those powers which the Hon'ble Member wants to give him, but which the amendment does not give him. He might want to enquire into the case, and all that means more delay and harassment to the unfortunate accused. I submit, my Lord, that it is much better to stick to the simple provision in this clause in the interests of the accused person himself, and to say that when a chaukidar or dafadar does arrest a man he should take him forthwith to the police-station."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, before the motion is put to the vote, I desire to have some information both from the hon'ble mover and the Hon'ble Member who replied on behalf of Government. In the first place I must sympathise with the general observations of the hon'ble mover, but there are some difficulties. My hon'ble friend has said that when a person is arrested he may not be taken to the police-station because it would be convenient to the chaukidar to take him to the president of the union board. But it is just possible that he may not find it convenient to take him to the president of the panchayet. In the proviso it is added that if the arrest is made at night the person so arrested shall be taken to the thana on the following morning ; so it is quite discretionary with the chaukidar to keep the man in his house and to take him the next morning to the thana. But there is another point. What is to be done with the man in the meantime? Supposing a man is arrested at 9 o'clock at night ; the chaukidar has not sufficient accommodation to keep the accused person with him all night, nor can he afford to feed the man at night, in addition to his own family. What are the contingencies provided for here. The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr says that the president of the panchayet has no power to go into the merits of the case, but what about the arrangements to be made for 8 or 10 hours when the man is to be kept by the chaukidar, how is he to be kept and fed? Quite apart from this amendment, I think the Hon'ble Member might explain these points, for I have not been able to comprehend them."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"I do not know, Sir, whether the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur is supporting the amendment or opposing it, or whether he is merely in search of light on mufassal conditions. I think he is needlessly creating difficulties in stating hypothetical cases which in practice solve themselves without difficulty. There is one fairly practical proof of this in that this clause is merely a repetition of section 40 of Act VI of 1870, which has been working all these 49 years without grave practical inconvenience. There is all the difference in the world between an amendment which would definitely encourage the chaukidar to take an accused person to the president of the union board (to which there are the objections which Mr. Kerr has enumerated), and a proviso which, after all, is merely a matter of common sense. The chaukidar is directed to take a man at once to the thana when he arrests him ; it may be, however, that the man was arrested at night and could not be taken to the thana at that time. The proviso then instructs him to take the arrested man to the thana the next morning. What the chaukidar does in practice is to make such arrangements for the detention of the man as are most convenient; he may keep him in a zemindar's kutchery, or in a house or a hut, whatever is handiest. It is a matter of practical working to be dealt with at the discretion of the man on the spot, as it has been dealt with without trouble for the past 50 years. Therefore, Sir, I cannot appreciate the point that has been raised, for it does not affect in any way the arguments which Mr. Kerr has used, to which I may perhaps add one more. Among the recommendations made by Mr. Savage, to which I have previously alluded, one was rather in the direction of encouraging the president to interfere in the investigation of crime, but when I made my inquiries, I found that nothing but confusion and trouble and friction between the police and the panchayat had resulted from that arrangement. The amendment tends in the same direction, and I propose, therefore, to leave the clause as it is."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I admit that the amendment as framed leaves the chaukidar the option of taking the accused person to the thana or to the president of the union board. I suggested it only to avoid the difficulty which was mentioned by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr that supposing the thana is the nearer place than the house of the president or if the president is not to be found, whichever may be the convenient place, and where the case of the arrested person can be more quickly and safely disposed of. That is what I meant. As regards the powers of the president of the union board who has got to control the chaukidar, if he finds that the chaukidar has without any justification arrested a man he should see that the mere arrest by the chaukidar does not bring the man under the clutches of the law, so no special powers are necessary. If the president finds that the man has been arrested without any justification in exercise of the powers vested by the chaukidar under this Act, he may just ask the chaukidar to release the person; that is what I meant, and what I think the amendment means, but I am sorry that this has not been accepted and as there seems to be great opposition to this, I do not think any useful purpose will be served by pressing it, so I beg permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 76.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that for the word "district" in line 3 of clause 28 (now clause 25) the word "union" be substituted; and for the words "district magistrate" in line 4 of the same clause the words "union board" be substituted.

He said :—

"This is a very simple amendment, my Lord. The object is this: the Bill provides that all fines realised from chaukidars under clause 25 shall form the district reward fund and that it will be at the disposal and under the control of the District Magistrate. What I suggest is that these fines realised from chaukidars should be confined to the area and should form the union board reward fund and should be controlled by the union board. The object is that the union board may have an opportunity of granting rewards to their chaukidars whenever they are found to have done some good service, or are found doing their duty a little more devotedly. I am informed, my Lord, that these chaukidari reward funds—there is a chaukidari reward fund now in existence under the control of the District Magistrate—that this reward scheme to chaukidars is extended over the whole district, and each union may not find cases in which to reward their own good chaukidars and dafadars, and I have been also told that the chaukidars who are called upon to do patrol duty on railway lines during the visit of the Viceroy or the Governor, either in their own headquarters or on their way from one place to another, when they are brought from a distance of more than 5 miles from their homes, are paid their duty allowances from this reward fund. I speak subject to correction, but this is my information, and I do not think that this is the object with which these reward funds were started, so I suggest that the fines realised within their unions should be at the disposal of these boards, and should be paid to the chaukidars, so that money may be brought home to the union boards. I do not think there will be any objection to accepting this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I do not think the Council would be well advised, on the considerations which have been adduced, in accepting this amendment, which, after all, merely upsets an existing system which is working comparatively well.

The clause in the Bill is almost an exact reproduction of section 42 of the Act of 1870, which was inserted by the amending Act of 1892. Sir Henry Cotton, the Member in charge, then gave this explanation of it :—

'There is a section introduced under which fines imposed on chaukidars are credited to a district chaukidari reward fund, the control of which rests with the Magistrate. At present fines, when realised, are credited to the village chaukidari fund; that is to say, they pass to the panchayat. The Magistrate has no control over them, and the effect is that if the panchayat and the chaukidar work together and are friendly one with the other, no fine whatever can be inflicted on the chaukidar. It is thought desirable that the Magistrate of the district should have the power of inflicting some punishment on chaukidars other than dismissal. The fine will then be credited to a reward fund for distribution among deserving chaukidars, a provision which has always been much needed, and is calculated to improve the administration of the village police force.'

That is why the district chaukidari fund was initiated, and it has been working ever since. The petty fines levied on chaukidars are thus brought together, and in the aggregate make a fairly substantial sum from which it is possible to reward good work done by other chaukidars. If the sum was split up into a number of petty little units, as would be the case if the amendment was accepted, it would merely be frittered away without any practical benefit, apart from the objections which Sir Henry Cotton raised, and which I have just read. There is another difficulty, that if the unit is the union board one of two contingencies may result; either the union contains most admirable chaukidars, in which case there will be no fund to give rewards from: or it may have a scoundrelly set of chaukidars, and there may never be occasion to give rewards. In either case it will not be possible to administer the fund to the advantage that is now possible. I doubt if it would make for good feeling in the union, for instance, if chaukidar A is fined Re. 1 which goes as a reward for good work done, into the pocket of chaukidar B; this is only likely to engender friction. As a matter of fact it has been found that if the District Magistrate takes an interest in the proper administration of this fund it is useful in encouraging chaukidars to do good work, and sometimes chaukidars do very good work in effecting arrests and giving information. Of the practice to which the Hon'ble Member referred at the end of his speech, viz., of rewarding chaukidars from the fund for what really is part of their work, I have never heard. I am told by Mr. Hart that he thinks he remembers such a case some time ago ; I will have inquiry made, and if it is correct that this has been done, I will certainly have it stopped. The chaukidari reward fund is not meant for such purposes, and if it has been so applied, it must have been done under a misapprehension of the proper position."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"May I just supplement what the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said by reference to the rules which govern the administration of the chaukidari reward fund. The rules say—

• Rewards should ordinarily be given for—

- (a) information leading to the prevention or detection of crime ;
- (b) the seizure or recovery of stolen property ;
- (c) the arrest of offenders or absconders ;
- (d) personal courage shown in the arrest of dacoits, thieves or other offenders ;
- (e) meritorious conduct, not included in the above clauses, which the District Magistrate, with the concurrence of the Commissioner, considers deserving of reward.'

So that if the District Magistrate wanted to take money out of the reward fund for the purpose which the Hon'ble Member has mentioned, he would have to get the consent of the Commissioner, and I think it is most unlikely that that consent would be given for the reward fund to be utilised for any such purpose."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"This amendment has been opposed by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler on the ground that this goes against the practice which has been in existence for some years. I admit that this goes beyond the practice. But this Bill as it stands is an improvement on many established practices. We have got the local boards and the district boards and we are now going to have our village union boards to decentralize the work and what is more we had our Magistrates in the headquarters of the districts and sub-divisional officers elsewhere, and we are now going to have several village criminal courts. So I thought that the division of the chaukidari fund would be in conformity with all these arrangements. My amendment has also been opposed on the ground that if we limit the fund to the union it will be a very small fund and that it would have no practical good result. But as the fund will be larger now and the chaukidars and people affected will also become larger in number—that will make very little difference. I am, however, glad to learn that my information regarding the allotment of chaukidari fund to other purposes is, so far as the Government are concerned, without foundation and that even if such a practice prevails it will not be allowed to continue. But I am still of opinion that this reward fund should be limited to the union boards who should have control over this fund. It has been suggested that in a union all the chaukidars may be an admirable lot and that in that case no fund would be realized. But that contingency is not likely to arise in a union in this Presidency nor is it likely that all chaukidars would be unworthy people. If that contingency arises it is also possible that another contingency might arise, that all the chaukidars in a district would be either wholly good or wholly bad. Therefore I hope that this amendment will be accepted by the Council."

The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Maulvi Abul Kasem; The President.AMENDMENT No. 77.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "district magistrate" at the end of clause 28 (now clause 25) the words "district board" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, in this connection I want to draw the attention of the Council at the very outset to the alteration that has been made."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem (interrupting) said :—

"My Lord, with reference to this amendment I rise to a point of order. It has been decided by this Council that the district reward fund is not to be made over to the control of the district board. It has also been decided that it should remain under the control of the District Magistrate."

The President said :—

"I do not think the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem is correct in saying that this Council has decided that the reward fund is to be under the control of the District Magistrate. What the Council has so far decided is that a certain alternative proposal to the proposal in the clause of the Bill should not be made. But that does not rule out of order other alternative proposals which the Council might like to adopt."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta (continuing) said :—

"Although the fine is imposed under clause 25 (now clause 22), that clause has undergone some alteration in the Select Committee on the second occasion. Originally the fine was intended to be imposed only by the District Magistrate. Now the union boards have been given the power of inflicting fines upon the dafadar and chaukidar. Therefore the alteration in clause 25 (now clause 22), ought to have some bearing upon clause 28 (now clause 25). The fine was originally imposed by the District Magistrate and it could be said that for some reason that fine ought to be at the disposal of the District Magistrate, but now that the power has been given to the union board also, the question arises whether in these altered conditions the fine ought to go even now in all cases to the District Magistrate. Besides, although reference has been made to the provisions of the Chaukidari Act of 1892, it appears that the original section 42 of the Act of 1870 was this. That section lays down that all fines and penalties levied under this Act shall be carried to the credit of the Village Chaukidari Fund. Of course that was altered by section 42 of the Act of 1892. But, my Lord, our contention is that the Act of 1892 was a most reactionary measure and it is not too much to expect that things may be restored to their former condition, namely, that section 42 of the original Act of 1870 might be revived. Of course with this alteration : there it was suggested that it should be carried to the credit of the Village Chaukidari Fund. That amendment was moved by my predecessor and that has been lost, and in fact this is not my amendment either. That having been lost it is all the more proper that I should ask that the fine should go to the credit of the district board. I have got the support of the various representative public bodies in this connection. For instance, the District Board of Faridpur says that the proposed clause resembles the amended section, and the result will be that all fines will go out of the control of the village committee. In view of the fact that before 1892 all fines were credited to the Village Chaukidari Fund, this clause should be modified so as to bring all fines realised from the chaukidars to the Village Committee Fund. I find, my Lord, that even the premier institution of Bengal—the Indian Association—also recommends that the word 'board' should be substituted for the

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter.

word 'magistrate' in clause 28 (now clause 25). The question is whether that alteration should be made. It appears to me that it is rather funny that when the chaukidar's salary is to be paid by the union board, and when that man is fined by the union board, the fine should go to a fund over which neither the union board nor the district board has any control but over which the District Magistrate alone has the authority. There is something very wrong in the very idea. If A has got a servant and if under some circumstances he is competent to fine the servant, that fine should certainly go to A and not to B. So, my Lord, this alteration should, I think, be accepted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"My Lord, I confess I have some difficulty in following the argument of the Hon'ble Mover, which, if anything, is apposite to the previous amendment which has already been negatived. The contention of the Hon'ble Member seems to be that if we cannot go back to the Act of 1870, we should at least do something different from the change which, I have already explained, was made in 1892. But from the historic account I have just given of the genesis of this fund and of the objects to which it is applied, it seems obvious that the matter is not one which concerns the district board at all; to say that the administration of the kind should be directed by the district board is merely to frustrate the whole purpose for which it was created. Mr. Kerr has referred to the kind of work for which these rewards are given. Now what has the district board to do with the arrest of offenders and absconders, and how is it to judge of the personal courage shown by the dafadars in the arrest of dacoits? The amendment is really seeking to introduce an agency which is perfectly alien to the objects of the fund, and from the remarks that have fallen from the Hon'ble Member one would almost imagine that he regards the fund as a source of personal profit to the District Magistrate. I have endeavoured to explain what is done with the money, and I put it to the Council that it is meant for purposes which are absolutely foreign to the district board."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"My Lord, I am surprised to hear the last observation of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. When I said that the fines go to the District Magistrate I never meant that they go to the district magistrate personally. Of course he will have a control over it in his capacity as district magistrate. Similarly, when I proposed that the fine should go to the District Board, it was never intended that the fine should go to the private pocket of the Chairman of the District Board. The whole question is who is the official who should have the control over it—that is the whole point. As I have submitted, as the salary is paid by the union board and it has also been conceded by the Select Committee on the second occasion that the union board will have the power to fine also, the authority who has got the power to fine should have some control over that amount. That is all that I have to submit."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 78.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that for sub-clause (1) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the following be substituted, namely:—

"(1) (a) shall take such action as is necessary to secure the due performance by the dafadars and chaukidars of the union of the duties imposed on them under this Act, and shall exercise a general control over them."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. Kerr.

He said :—

“ My Lord, the Council will notice that the words which we have at present in the Bill as amended by the Select Committee are ‘ shall exercise a general control over the dafadars and chaukidars of the union.’ I desire that the words “ shall take such action as is necessary to secure the due performance by the dafadars and chaukidars of the union of the duties imposed on them under this Act ” should be added. The reason why I made this suggestion is this. The Council will notice from clause 26(1)(i) [now clause 23(1)(i)] that at the present moment the chaukidar shall give immediate information to the officer in charge of the police-station within the limits of which the union is situated and to the president of the union board of every unnatural, suspicious or sudden death which may occur, and of any offence specified in schedule II which may be committed within the union, and he shall keep the police and the president of the union board informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to a riot or serious affray. My Lord, this only leads to giving information both to the officer in charge of the police-station and to the president of the union board. The Bill does not provide as to what is to be done after that. On the other hand, there is another aspect which is important with reference to this amendment except that the chaukidar is obliged to furnish the information required of him, the chaukidar can only give orders on police matters through the union board. The Bill does not provide that the officer in charge of the police-station can give orders to the chaukidar direct. As I understand, my Lord, the scheme of the Bill is to introduce more co-operation between the union board and the officers in charge of police-stations. If that be the object, then there ought to be some person or body of persons who should have the power to improve that co-operation. The officer in charge of the police-station has not any direct power, no doubt by holding out an indirect threat of having the chaukidar dismissed or reporting against him to the District Magistrate he may exercise some authority. But I would prefer that the union board should have a more effective voice in the matter. The chaukidar is required to keep the president informed of any crime committed within his locality, but there is no direction what the president is to do when he receives such information. Therefore for the mutual co-operation which is I think the framework of this Bill, I think the amendment which I suggest will improve the Bill. I understand, my Lord, that in various places there is a growing tendency of the thana police and the president of the panchayat working together and that very good results have accrued therefrom. If that is to be aimed at then the amendment which I have suggested is desirable. I may tell the Council that my amendment bears relation to amendment No. 81 which stands in my name, namely, that after clause 28A (now clause 26) sub-clause (1)(ee), the following words be added ‘ shall co-operate with the police and the magistrate and the circle officer for the control and detection of crime.’ My Lord, the non-official Indian members desire that these union boards should have these powers. The official members pointed out in the course of the discussion that took place yesterday that at the present moment the police powers must ultimately remain in the hands of the District Magistrate, and as the District Magistrate is responsible for the peace of the district such powers should remain with the District Magistrate, but both sides agree that gradually there should be better co-operation between the functions exercised by the union board and the District Magistrate. The amendment, I suggest, will ultimately attain that object.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

“ My Lord, I will not follow the Hon'ble Member in his discussion of the question of granting police powers to the president and members of these boards, because that question arises specifically on later amendments. I may, however, say at once that the Government are prepared to accept this amendment. It will have been evident from the remarks which we made yesterday on previous amendments that the policy of Government is to steer a middle course in the matter of control over the rural police, and to give the union boards a reasonable amount of control over the rural policemen who will work in the villages and to retain at the same time the control of the District Magistrate and the district authorities who are responsible for maintaining law and order. This amendment will allow the union board to take such action as is necessary to secure the due performance by the dafadars and chaukidars of the union of their duties. It will be open to the union board either to reprove or exhort them directly, to punish them in the manner allowed by the Bill or to report them to higher authority if the matter falls outside the purview of the union board. Government regard this amendment as reasonable and as expressing what their intentions in this matter are ; and they are therefore prepared to accept it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 79.

The following motion was held to be covered by the decision on the previous amendment and was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for sub-clause (1) (a) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the following be substituted, namely :—

"(1) (a) shall exercise control over the dafadars and chaukidars of the union under rules, if any, made by the district board."

AMENDMENT No. 80.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after the word "union" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) (d) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the words "either constructed by it or made over to it for maintenance and" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, on comparing the Bill which has now been presented to us after recommitment to the Select Committee and the amendments which were submitted at the meeting of the 18th February last, it appears that some of the amendments made by the non-official members have been accepted : some have been openly acknowledged, others have been tacitly admitted, but I do not suppose it has been decided that the residue of these amendments are to be thrown into the dust-bins or that the acceptance of any one of them would cast any reflection on the Select Committee. We, the non-official members, have, in the light of our judgment, made a number of amendments simply with a view to improving the Bill and making it acceptable to the public. Whatever the result may be, we are bound to press them, not for the object of taking up the time of the members on the side of Government which is no doubt very valuable, but I think our time has also some value and we do it from a sense of duty.

This amendment has reference to clause 28A (1) (d) [now clause 26 (1) (d)] which says that every union board shall have control of all drains and other conservancy works within the union which are not under the control of any other authority. I propose to add after the word 'union' these words 'either constructed by it or made over to it for maintenance and' I do it on purpose, because the clause, as it stands, is not exhaustive or if I am permitted to say is somewhat defective also. As it stands it means that all drains and conservancy works, whether public or private, unless they are under the control of some other authority shall be under the control of the union board. This is not what is probably intended to achieve by this sub-clause because there may be drains or other conservancy works which are entirely private. I do not think the union board would be competent at all to interfere with any private drain executed by a private person for his own convenience or any conservancy work which any private person may construct. Therefore, I suggest that after the word 'union' we should add 'either constructed by it or made over to it for maintenance and.' A private drain may be made over to the union board and they may make over such drains and conservancy works. A district board may make over certain conservancy works executed by them for maintenance to the union board and they should have control over such drains and conservancy works, but we cannot give them a large power of interfering with all drains and conservancy works which, though not made over by the district board, may be the property of private individuals. Therefore we ought to limit the control of the union boards to drains and other conservancy works which are either executed by the board or which may be made over to the union board either by higher authority or by a private person. To cover these I propose that these words should be added: otherwise the clause is open to grave objection as it allows the interference on the part of the union board with private drains or private conservancy works without any formal authority from the owner. As the clause is open to grave objection, I think my amendment should be accepted."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member appears to think that he has some grievance against the Select Committee. I should find it easier to disabuse his mind of that impression if I understood more clearly what his grievance is. On behalf of the Select Committee, I can only claim that they have done their best to discharge the task entrusted to them, in the course of which they put in many hours work. I most strongly repudiate any suggestion that they have cast a slur on any Hon'ble Member or thrown into the dust-bin amendments which have cost much time and labour. Whenever we have accepted the amendments of any Hon'ble Member, we have frankly acknowledged their suggestions, and I would ask the Hon'ble Member to believe that we have merely tried to evolve a better Bill in the light of the amendments of our Hon'ble Colleagues.

Turning now to the amendment, the clause, as it stands, defines the duties of union boards, and gives them control of all drains and other conservancy works within the union; I gather that the Hon'ble Member thinks that the provision will give them an undue right of interference with private drains. That they should have some right of interference with private drains is contemplated in the Bill; and I would instance clause 29 (b) under which they may cause private drains to be constructed, altered or removed, while under sub-clause (2) (ii) of the same clause they may cause the owner or occupier of any building to construct private drains therefor or to alter or remove private drains thereof. That they should have some powers over private drains is intended, and as the Hon'ble Member has not moved for the excision of these provisions, I take it that he is in agreement with them. But he seems to think that we have in some way vested private drains in the union board by the manner in which we have framed the clause. We have not, however, done so, as I think I can show to his satisfaction by the precedents of other Acts which this Bill has followed. Under section 115 of the Local Self-Government Act a union committee shall have control of all drains and other conservancy works within the union. That is practically similar in wording to our clause, and yet private drains have not been absorbed or vested in the union committee. Similarly, coming to section 190 of the Bengal Municipal Act, we find that all drains and privies shall be subject to

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar ; Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

the inspection and control of the Commissioners. As I read the clause it is purely a declaratory one, saying that the duties of the union board are to do such and such things. The Bill goes on in other sections to define the particular nature of the control to be exercised. I do not think the ill-effects of the clause are such as are imagined by the Hon'ble Member, and I would deprecate the amendment which, if accepted, would in effect declare that the union board must not interfere with private drains at all, and would be inconsistent with those portions of clause 29 (now clause 26) to which I have referred."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I am not convinced as to the weight of the argument advanced by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. It may be very desirable that the union board should have some hand in all drains and conservancy works within the union, but I think if we keep the clause as it is it would be giving very extensive powers to the union board over all drains within a union whether private or public. I believe it may be possible that the union boards will find themselves sometimes in a very hard position when people are not agreeable to give up their civic rights. I do not know whether by enacting this provision we can give them any legal right to interfere with private property whether it be in drains or other conservancy works. So we ought to confine this clause to works which are public property or which may have been made over to the union board by the owners of such works. We may give a very wide scope to this Bill, but that will not take away the rights of private individuals. I do not think we could effectively put into motion the provision which we have here. If we are to make it effective we ought to say that the works which are to be controlled by the union boards should be such as may have been vested in them by the operation of the law, or by being made over to them either by a public body or by a private individual. We cannot give them a large order to interfere with any and every work within the union."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 81.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that the word "and" at the end of sub-clause (1) (ee) of clause 28A (now clause 26) be omitted ; and after the same sub-clause the following be inserted, namely :—

(eee) shall co-operate with the police and the magistrates and the circle officer for the control and detection of crime."

He said :—

"My Lord, this amendment is more or less consequential on the amendment No. 78 which has been accepted by the Council, and I, therefore, simply move it without any speech."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, while I quite appreciate the importance of the object which the Hon'ble Member seeks to achieve by this amendment, I would deprecate its inclusion in the Bill simply for the reason that in all Bills, and particularly in matters having connection with the magistracy and the police, it is desirable that the functions to be specified should be definite and explicit. In the other matters included in clause 28A (now clause 26) as comprising the duties of a union board, it will be seen that each covers a definite act which the union board should do—they should control chaukidars, they should provide sanitation, they should make arrangements for conservancy, they should execute works for the preservation of public health, they should supply information, and so on. But when we come to the Hon'ble Member's amendment, we come to something which is purely hortatory—that they shall co-operate with the police and the magistrate. It is almost like saying that they shall be good and loyal citizens. Of course it is an admirable function to be a good and loyal citizen, but its mention in this form in an Act seems to me rather to depart from the customary features of legal enactments, and it is inconsistent with our usual legislative practice to put an exhortation of this kind in a Bill."

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

"If the amendment to clause 28A (now clause 26) be accepted, it is not necessary for me to have this clause, but at the same time I do think that these exhortations are unknown to Indian Legislature, but as my purpose is served by the amendment already accepted, I do not want to press it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 82.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that after sub-clause (1) (ee) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the following be inserted, namely :—

"(eee) shall arrange for the vaccination of persons resident within its jurisdiction for small-pox and chicken-pox."

He said :—

"My Lord, my amendment is a very simple one. I simply want that vaccination should also be considered as one of the duties of union boards. The reason is that in the mufassil difficulties arise in connection with vaccination especially with the Muhammadans who observe special purdah system. But if it is done locally I do not think any difficulties will arise. Therefore instead of including it in the general term 'public health', I want it to be specifically mentioned in the proposed clause."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, there are two reasons why Government are unable to accept this amendment. In the first place vaccination is not compulsory in rural areas. The Bengal Vaccination Act has been extended to all municipalities, to the Asansol Mining Settlement, to Kalimpong and Siliguri in Darjeeling, but it has not been extended to villages elsewhere in the Presidency. The union board will therefore be unable to enforce vaccination; without an extension of the Vaccination Act they would not be in a position to arrange for the vaccination of their neighbour's children, and the provision which the amendment seeks to introduce would be null and void. The Hon'ble Member may say he is not particular as to the wording, but merely wishes to establish the principle that members of the union boards should assist in vaccination. Here, however, we are dealing with positive duties and statutory obligations. The second objection to the proposal is that it provides that people should be vaccinated for chicken-pox. I fear my hon'ble friend has not a very expert knowledge of the etiology of disease or he would have been aware that vaccination is not a preventive against chicken-pox. It would add a new terror to the life of parents with large families if they had to vaccinate their children for chicken-pox, as well as for small-pox, and I should be very sorry to see any provision made in the Bill which might be said to disclose a somewhat scanty acquaintance with medical lore. The proposal rather reminds me of a story I have heard of a question put in another Legislative Council in India. The question is said to have run—'Are Government aware of the number of deaths from lightning in certain parts of the province, if so, what action do they propose to take?' On behalf of Government I must oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I heartily support the motion of my hon'ble friend deleting of course the reference to chicken-pox. I have heard Mr. O'Malley's reply and I am aware that there is no compulsory vaccination in the mafussal. But at the same time it must be admitted that our countrymen are anxious to have all the facilities for vaccination. The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley will admit that it is a municipal measure and my hon'ble friend's proposal is only concerned with the municipal convenience of the public. The union boards will be established in areas in which there are no municipalities and although there is no compulsion, I think facilities ought to be provided for those who want to get themselves vaccinated in the areas. The boards ought to provide lymphs and ought to supply them to the local doctors so that people may get themselves vaccinated without any difficulty. I am told that at present no facilities in the mafussal are provided for vaccination. Surely Government cannot stand aside and see people dying there by hundreds and thousands in times of small-pox epidemic. What is the harm in inserting this provision here especially when the cost will be borne by the people themselves? Why should there be opposition on the part of the Government? Surely a thousand or two thousand lymphs in times of epidemic will go a longway in checking the spread of the disease. I yet hope that this amendment will be accepted and Government will reconsider their decision especially when the acceptance of this proposal will not harm anybody and will not diminish the prestige of the local authorities as it is not a question of political power but of municipal convenience."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I wish to speak a few words in connection with this amendment. It is well known that within the mafussal municipalities there are depôts in charge of the Civil Surgeon to provide facilities for vaccination and experience has shown that in times of epidemic, there is always a rush to the dépôt for vaccination. It is not right, therefore, that these union boards to whom we are going to give so large powers in other respects, should not also provide facilities for vaccination? It may be arranged that there should be a supply of lymph in the village and the union boards may have power to arrange for its distribution. This, my Lord, is a simple matter and if the arrangement is left to the union board, it will be better for the people of the country."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry I included the chicken-pox. It betrays my ignorance no doubt, but I am not ashamed of it as I am not a doctor. However, that may be, I think that facilities should be provided for the protection of the people against small-pox and I suggest that arrangements should be left in the hands of the union boards. I am not convinced by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley's arguments in opposing it, and in view of what has been observed by two other Hon'ble Members I still hope that my amendment will be accepted."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. O'Malley; Maulvi Abul Kasem.The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, as some reference has been made to the arrangement for vaccination in mufassal areas, I may point out that there is a staff of vaccinators who are sent out to vaccinate the children of those who are willing to undergo the operation. A circular has recently issued by which the duties of the Civil Surgeon in regard to vaccination will be placed in the hands of district health officers, who will be servants of district boards. The objection to this amendment is that it will place a statutory duty on the union boards when they have no arrangements for appointing vaccinators. I have no doubt that the assistance and co-operation of the members of union boards will in practice be called into requisition but under present conditions it would not be fair to place this statutory duty on them.

The motion was amended by the omission of the words "and chicken-pox" and a division was then taken with the following result :—

AMENDMENT NO. 83.

"My Lord, the next amendment which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq, will, I find, be difficult to carry out in practice, I therefore beg permission to withdraw it.

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter; Sir Henry Wheeler.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that after the proposed sub-clause (1) (ee) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the following be inserted, namely :—

“(eee) shall compile and maintain a register of marriages and divorces within the union, and such other registers or public records as the local Government may direct, in accordance with rules under section 111.”

AMENDMENT No. 84.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

“My Lord, I have reconsidered the matter, and do not wish to press this amendment. I ask permission to withdraw it.”

The amendment was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that after the proposed sub-clause (1) (eee) of clause 28A (now clause 26) the following be inserted, namely :—

“(eeee) shall take emergency measures and shall provide for medical aid to victims in case any disease breaks out in the form of an epidemic within its jurisdiction.”

AMENDMENT No. 85.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that the word “and” at the end of sub-clause (3) of clause 28A (now clause 26) be omitted; and after the same sub-clause the following be inserted, namely :—

“(3a) shall cause such processes as may be received for service from any court to be duly served by a dafadar or chaukidar and returned to the court, and.”

He said :—

“My Lord, the principle of this amendment has already been accepted, but I would only ask Government to consider whether it is not desirable to have this clause or a similar provision in clause 28A (now clause 26) as well. The principle of it was accepted, when the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved his amendment No. 73. The only point to be considered now is whether it ought to find a place in clause 28A (now clause 26) as well.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, we have already accepted the principle of the service of processes through chaukidars and dafadars, as the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter has remarked, and I do not think there is any harm in inserting a provision of this kind, though, here again, its form might be improved upon. I do not like the words “received for service from any court”; there may be revenue services, not issued by any court. Similarly, as regards the words “returned to the court.” I think it will meet the case if we put the amendment in this form “that the word ‘and’ at the end of sub-clause (3) of clause 28A (now clause 26) be omitted and after the same sub-clause the following be inserted, namely: Shall cause such processes as may be received by the union-board for service to be duly served by a dafadar or chaukidar in accordance with rules under section 111; and”

The amendment was then put in the modified form and agreed to.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Akhil Chandra Datta, Sir Henry Wheeler, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

AMENDMENT No. 86.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after the words "district board" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 29 (now clause 27) the words "or local board" be inserted.

He said :—

"I think this is a most non-controversial proposition. Clause 29 (now clause 27) refers to the powers of the union board as to sanitation, conservancy and drainage and the clause lays down that there are certain steps that can be taken by the union board on their own initiative, and then it lays down, that if the district board orders them to do so, that order will be binding upon them, because in that case the union board shall do it. I only want to add that like the district board, it will be competent to the local board also to pass an order like that. That is all that is recommended in this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this amendment deals with a provision which was inserted by the Select Committee on its first examination of the Bill. The clause lays down certain sanitary powers and duties of the union board, and it was suggested to the Select Committee that the union board might be lax in the exercise of these powers, and therefore that it would be useful to authorise the district board, in the case of neglect of duty, to step in and to order the union board to do so and so. On the merits there is much to be said for the idea, and we put it in the Bill as a matter which was worth consideration, though we apprehended that, possibly, objection would be taken to it, as giving rather wide powers to district boards of bringing the union boards into line. Far from objection having been taken to it, however, the only proposal on the point is for the extension of this mandate to the local board. That is carrying the principle which we accepted a little further than we contemplated—carrying it to a body which is not of the standing of the district board, and, which is rather more important, it is carrying it down to a body which has not got the funds of the district board. That is a point which is well worth the consideration of the Council. The local board is the agent of the district board, its resources are restricted, and it will not ordinarily be in a position to make an independent grant to the union board. Therefore its position is materially different from that of the district board, which, if it decides that the union board shall be directed to do so and so, will be bound to consider how they are going to do it, and probably come to their financial aid. The same consideration will not apply to the local board, and there is, therefore, a difference in conferring this power on that body. However, as I say, the principle is one which we accepted, in Select Committee, and I should be prepared to leave it to the Council whether they would like the principle to be extended to the local board also."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I must oppose this motion. The union board is only newly come into existence. Over its head will be the district magistrate, the sub-divisional officer, the circle officer, and again the district board will sit upon it, and if you allow the local board also to sit upon it, there will be no life left in it. I think it is better to let the union board have a little independence of its own. It should not always act as the hookum bandar of so many people. Therefore, I insist that the local boards may not be allowed to sit upon it. If the union board is also to carry out the mandates of all these persons and bodies, there will hardly be any life left in it to carry them all out."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, as I was listening to the arguments of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, I was almost feeling half inclined to withdraw my motion, because although I am not in full agreement with all his arguments, still I feel that in view of the present financial position of the local boards, they may only be in a position to give orders without being able to finance them. I feel there is a good deal of force in that. My first feeling was to withdraw my motion, and that feeling has been strengthened by the attitude of my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, but at the same time, I must draw the attention of the Rai Bahadur to clause 55A (now clause 50) of the Act which lays down that, subject to the control of the district board, a local board shall superintend the administration of the union board, etc., etc. My motion is, therefore, in accordance with the provisions of this Bill. It is the local board which is primarily responsible for superintending and controlling the administration of the union board. This function has been especially entrusted to the local board. There are, of course, the district magistrate, the circle officer and so on. They may be too much for the union board, but at the very outset it is the local board whose orders they will be bound to carry out in all matters, so that even if this particular amendment is rejected the fact remains that the authority of the local board will always be binding upon the union board. However, I appreciate the argument of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler when he says that as the local boards have not got any funds, it is no use giving them that power. I therefore ask permission to withdraw my motion.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

[At this stage the Council adjourned for lunch.]

AFTER LUNCH.

AMENDMENT No. 87.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that before the word “any” in line 1 of sub-clause (1)(d)(ii) of clause 29 (now clause 27) the words “subject to the following proviso in regard to manure pits” be inserted; and after the word “necessary” at the end of sub-clause (1)(d) the following be inserted, namely :—

“Provided that this provision shall not affect manure pits, but the union board may direct the owner thereof to make the manure pit sufficiently deep so as not to affect sanitation.”

He said :—

“My Lord, I have thought it advisable to press this amendment in view of the fact that in an agricultural country like Bengal where every peasant and cultivator has to keep a manure pit for the collection of manures, there should be some provision to see that the union board does not cause it to be closed simply on the ground that it is injurious to health. Certainly the existence of a manure pit in the close vicinity of dwelling houses is injurious to health, but I am afraid it is a necessary evil—which will have to be tolerated because we can ask the whole body of villagers to keep their manures in a separate place outside the village. I think, some provision should be made to see that these manure pits are not interfered with. But the owners of these pits may be directed to make these pits sufficiently deep so as to minimise the bad effects so that they may not affect injuriously the sanitation of the village. With these words, my Lord, I beg to move this amendment.”

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. O'Malley; Maulvi Abul Kasem.The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the sub-clause to which the Hon'ble Member proposes an amendment is based on the existing provisions of the Local Self-Government Act, under which a union committee may deal with any tank, well, pool, ditch, drain or place containing, or used for the collection of, any drainage, filth, stagnant water or matter likely to be prejudicial to health by draining or cleansing it, or otherwise preventing it from being prejudicial to health. It has not been found necessary in the working of the Self-Government Act to have any saving clause as to manure pits. This is a matter which can surely be left to the good sense and discretion of the members of the union boards who know village conditions and the circumstances of their neighbours. The amendment, as it stands, is in any case open to objection, because if it was accepted, however offensive or even dangerous to health a manure pit might be, the union board could do nothing except order the owner to deepen the pit. Deepening might not remove the nuisance, while it might be actually mischievous. For instance, if the pit were close to a well and it was deepened the filth might percolate through to the well and pollute the water.

I would, therefore, deprecate the addition of an amendment making any special exception in favour of these receptacles of somewhat nauseous matter."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I thought it necessary to bring to the notice of this Council and of your Excellency's Government the necessity of having manure pits. It is no doubt that the union boards will exercise due discretion when passing orders about manure pits, but my apprehension was that sometimes some over-zealous officers of Government when they go into these unions and find these manure pits here and there may direct the board to take steps against them and the board will not be bold enough to resist these orders and instructions. In one or two cases in my district I have seen the Civil Surgeon asking the Chairman of the union committee to see that these manure pits were removed from the neighbourhood of residential houses, but at least in these cases the Civil Surgeon was made to understand the situation which was explained that in an agricultural country these pits were most essential but still he said he would like to have it done but did not insist upon it. Therefore I thought it necessary to bring forward this amendment, but if the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley is of opinion that this provision is unnecessary, I do not wish to press it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 88.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, in the absence of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, moved that the word "reasonable" before the word "period" in line 2 of sub-clause (2) of clause 29 (now clause 27) be omitted, and at the end of the same sub-clause the following be inserted, namely :—

"Provided that the period specified in such notice shall be such as to give a reasonable opportunity to the owner or occupier, as the case may be, to carry out the requisition contained in the notice, and shall, in no case, be less than one month from the date on which the notice is actually served."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler ; Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray.

He said :—

“My Lord, in the Bill itself it is only suggested that a reasonable period is to be specified therein. This amendment does not want this reasonable period to be left to the discretion of the union board itself, but it says that the period shall, in no case, be less than one month from the date on which the notice is actually served as it may cause a great hardship to the people who may be asked to carry out the instructions within a shorter period. The amendment will remove that disadvantage and hardship and I hope it will be accepted.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, I will be as brief in my remarks as possible in order to speed up the proceedings. This is a matter in which the Select Committee, at the second revision, tried to meet the Hon'ble Member, but apparently has not succeeded in doing so. Previously, the clause merely required a period to be specified. In consideration of the amendments, of which notice was given on the previous occasion, we added the word “reasonable.” Now the Hon'ble Member wants to add that the period of notice shall not be less than a month. We considered this point in Select Committee, and we did not think it desirable to put it as suggested, because if there was an epidemic or anything of that kind raging in a village, circumstances might arise in which it would be desirable to take immediate action. We, therefore, thought it best to leave it to the discretion of the union boards, merely stating that the period of notice should be reasonable. I may point out that an appeal lies against an order, and we may take it that if any action is unreasonable, the appellate authority will set the matter right.”

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

“My Lord, I do not press this amendment and I ask your Excellency's permission to withdraw it.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 89.

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray moved that the word “tank” in line 2 and the word “pond” in line 3 of sub-clause (2) (iii) of clause 29 (now clause 27) be omitted.

He said :—

“My Lord, the powers with which the union board is going to be vested under clause 29 (now clause 27) are extremely wide and of far-reaching consequences. These powers are not enjoyed by the present union committees, nor even by the district boards. Of course, the municipalities are vested with these powers and there can be no doubt that they are essential to secure improvements in the matter of village sanitation. But we must not forget at the same time that the conditions in the villages are not the same as in the towns. Public opinion is a great check in municipal towns against an abuse of these powers, but the public opinion in the villages cannot be expected to be effective to the same degree. In the villages, the zamindars and the moneyed class will exert a considerable influence on the union boards. We should, therefore, see that we do not leave the bulk of the village population too much at the mercy of these boards. My Lord, I should here make it clear to the House that I am not moving this amendment for the benefit of the land-holding classes. They are too powerful in the villages to be worried by the union boards. On the other hand, my amendment, if accepted, will save the poor and helpless ryots from being harassed by vindictive zamindars for whom it would not be at all difficult to utilise the services of union boards to crush the victims of their anger. Most of the tanks and ponds in the villages are in a filthy condition. But it is beyond the powers of an average villager to re-excavate or fill up a tank. An order to do so will mean his ruin. I know that there is a provision for an appeal against such an order. But even this provision will not save him from being unduly harassed. I would, therefore, request the House to omit the words 'tanks and ponds' from the clause. If it be found necessary to fill up or re-excavate a particular tank, the union board must come forward to take up the work itself and not compel the poor owner to do so, as that, I assert again, would be absolutely impossible for an average villager to do even by selling his entire holding."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Mr. Hart.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

"My Lord, on behalf of Government, I must advise the Council not to accept this amendment. It is one of the first principles of organised social life that no person may, by his acts or neglects, cause danger or offence to other members of the community. He may not treat even his own property in such a way that the safety or health of his neighbours is endangered. Clause 29 (now clause 27) of the Bill has been framed to give the representatives of the inhabitants some power to deal with cases of defiance or neglect of this fundamental principle of civilised life. It is provided under sub-clause (1) (d) that if any well, pool, ditch, tank, pit, pond or any place where drainage, filth or stagnant water is contained or collected is in such an insanitary condition as to be offensive or injurious to the health of the residents, the union board may take suitable action to render such place innocuous. Under sub-clause (2), the union board is empowered in such cases to require the owner or occupier of the land to which such insanitary place pertains to himself take the necessary action. Under sub-clause (3), the union board is empowered, in case the owner or occupier defaults, to have the work done on its own authority and to recover from the defaulter the whole or such portion of the cost as the union board may decide to be reasonable and fair.

These provisions appear to be justifiable and sound and the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray does not impugn the principles on which they are based. He apparently agrees that sub-clause (1) (d) requires no amendment, although that sub-clause expressly covers 'a tank' and 'a pond'. As he does not propose to modify sub-clause (2) except in so far as it refers to a tank or pond, it is also evident that he sees no grave injustice in requiring the owner of a dirty well, pool, ditch or pit to meet the expense necessarily incurred in making it sanitary. His only apprehension is that the interests of the owner of a tank or pond may be injuriously affected. He has, however, not attempted to show and it would be difficult to conceive how he would attempt to prove that it is reasonable to exempt the owner of a pond or tank from the same liability to keep it in a sanitary condition as is imposed on the owner of a well, pool or ditch.

My Lord, the ownership of a large tank implies a certain degree of affluence; and it seems that there is no possible justification for this amendment other than the safeguarding of the interests of the more well-to-do portion of the community. As an adequate safeguard has always been provided by the right of appeal in the Bill, the amendment is unnecessary. Its adoption would be not only a setback to the progress of the course of village sanitation, but would also be unfair to the owners of other kinds of property to whom a similar exemption is not granted."

For these reasons, my Lord, I oppose the amendment."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

“My Lord, I rise to oppose the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Kumar. I thoroughly agree with what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Hart. It must not be presumed that in these days of advancement—advancement not only of political education but also of sanitary education—that we the non-official members, especially the Indians are backward. I am rather sorry that my hon'ble friend Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray has suggested the omission of the words 'tank' and 'pond'. He has overlooked, well, pool, ditch, pit, etc., which belong to poor persons. A wealthy person, may poison his neighbour or make the whole area insanitary by keeping a tank or pond. Therefore, I think, this clause ought to be maintained in the interest of the health of the community. It may be said that there are some vindictive people who might satisfy their grudge against somebody. But we should not allow this apprehension to stand in the way of our having a measure of self-government in this country. We have more than one member on the union board and we should certainly trust to the intelligence, common sense and—sense of justice of the members of the board as a whole. Further, there is an appeal provided in clauses 29 and 30 (now clauses 27 and 28). Surely, it cannot be presumed, and I know from my own experience that, however, vindictive and evil-intentioned a person may be,—he cannot have such an overwhelming influence as to carry the whole board with him. So there need be no apprehension and the Hon'ble Kumar will do well to drop the amendment in the interests of sanitation.”

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

“My Lord, I wish to submit a few observations. I am sorry to oppose the amendment. The object of the Bill is to secure sanitation in the villages and the gentleman who goes to the villages, the first thing he will notice, is the insanitary condition of the tanks. Consequently, it is the duty of the union board to have this nuisance removed and therefore notices ought to be served either upon the occupier or the owner of these properties. It will not be hard, if the notice is served upon the zamindar. He can take measures to see that the insanitation is removed. If the insanitary condition of tanks or ponds are not improved in the villages, what is the necessity of a Bill like this? The primary object of the Bill is to secure sanitation, and therefore I am very sorry to oppose the amendment. If the amendment is carried out, then I am sure the sanitation will not be secured. The villages are full of jungles which should be removed. If a rational view of the question be taken into consideration, I believe this amendment ought not to be accepted.”

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray said :—

“My Lord, I have nothing further to add to what I have said regarding this amendment. But I am very sorry that my amendment has been opposed by some of the non-official members of this Council. But my only gratification is that they belong to the towns and not to the villages. Had they known the conditions in villages they would have supported my amendment. In view of the another amendment which stands in my name, No. 90, I beg to withdraw this amendment.

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray; Mr. Hart.AMENDMENT No. 90.

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray moved that after sub-clause (2) of clause 29 (now clause 27) the following be inserted, namely :—

“ Provided that in the case of a work referred to in clause (2) (iii) where the area exceeds 400 square yards, half the cost of such work shall be paid by the union board.”

He said :—

“ My Lord, my reasons for moving this amendment are the same as those in the case of the previous one. My case is that it is impossible for 99 per cent. of the villagers to re-excavate or fill up a tank of a size bigger than 400 square yards in area. If it is really necessary that such a tank should be filled up or re-excavated, my prayer is that, the union board at least should come to the help of the poor owner. This provision will at least save a villager from being wantonly asked to comply with an order of the board in this respect, as in this case, because the board would have to bear a part of the expenses, it would think twice before it passes an unreasonable order. I appeal to the Government and the members of this Council to grant my prayer which, if my colleagues would kindly think over it, would seem quite reasonable and fair. I beg to point out that I am leaving the board a free hand in respect of insanitary wells, pools, ditches, pits and smaller tanks. The costs of carrying out an order regarding them would not be so prohibitive as that regarding a big sized tank. My Lord, I therefore hope, that my amendment would be accepted.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

“ My Lord, I must ask the Council not to accept this amendment. In opposing the last amendment, I pointed out that provision for an appeal against an order of a union board is made in sub-clause (4) of clause 29 (now clause 27), and that it will be for the union board to determine how much of the cost of putting an objectionable tank into sanitary condition should be paid by the owner or occupier. There is no reason to apprehend that the owner of a large tank will not receive at least as much consideration from the union board or the chairman of the district board, as the owner of a small tank, pond or pool. It will be the duty of the union board to decide each case on its merits and to determine how much of the cost of the work should be paid by the owner or occupier and how much can fairly and reasonably be charged to the union fund. As they will probably be fully acquainted beforehand with all the facts and circumstances of each case, the union board will be qualified to come to a right decision. The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray proposes that in every case when a tank, pond or pool of area exceeding 400 square yards, or a quarter of a bigha, is taken up by a union board and put into sanitary condition, half the cost of the work should be borne by the union board. The effect of this amendment would be to confer a privilege on the owners of the largest tanks, that is, ordinarily on the most affluent residents and landlords, at the expense of the other rate-payers of the union. The conferment of such a privilege would be unreasonable and still more unjust.

For these reasons, My Lord, I oppose the amendment.”

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

“ My Lord, my hon'ble friend Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray has again appealed to the members of municipalities coming from towns. I wish, therefore, to say a few words. I am afraid if the Hon'ble Mover will kindly read

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

*Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari ; Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray ; and consider the wording of his amendment he will find that if this amendment is accepted, the board will be compelled to pay the cost of clearing or filling up or cleansing any pond, tank well, ditch, etc., or of improving the same from the funds of the union board irrespective of the circumstances of the party. It may be that my hon'ble friend the Kumar may be the owner of a big tank in that area, and if this amendment is accepted by the Council then he can very well claim that the cost should be defrayed by the union board. Although, I belong to the city, I have got some experience of these things because we have got a similar clause in the Calcutta Municipal Act where we have evidence to show that if the owner of a tank cannot carry out the improvement himself we advance the money from the funds of the Corporation.

After a very careful examination of clause 29(3) [now clause 27(3)] I find that the union board can call upon the owner to pay part or the whole of the cost, and therefore, I think, the contingency of accommodating the very poor people is provided here, but whereas if this amendment is accepted, then the union board will be compelled to spend every farthing of their funds for the improvement of other people's property, whatever the wealth or position of that party may be."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, I should like to endorse Sir Henry Wheeler's plea for expediting the proceedings. The way we are getting on; we are not likely to finish our labours in three or four days. From one extreme of supporting amendments some of us have now come to the other extreme opposing the amendments and labouring the opposition as if the joint pressure of Sir Henry Wheeler, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Duval and Mr. O'Malley is not enough to flatten out any Gayasur of an amendment. Where it is necessary to oppose an amendment, it ought to be enough to indicate the opposition. If we are really to get through the Bill as quickly as we would like to little more self-restraint all round would be useful."

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray said :—

"I have nothing to add to what I have said, my Lord."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 91.

The following motion was deemed to be withdrawn :—

If motion No. 90 be carried, the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray also to move that after the word "thereof" in line 5 of sub-clause (3) of clause 29 (now clause 27), the words "as the case may be," be inserted.

AMENDMENT No. 92.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, a similar amendment to this has already been lost, so I do not wish to press this."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after the words "district board," in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (4) of clause 29 (now clause 27), the words "or local board," be inserted.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Sir Henry Wheeler.AMENDMENT No. 93.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that at the end of sub-clause (4) of clause 29 (now clause 27) the following be added, namely :—

“The appeal shall be filed within fifteen days from the date of service of the notice.”

He said :—

“My Lord, as no period has been fixed for appeals, I propose this amendment.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“Sir, the Hon'ble Member's amendment does refer to a defect in the Bill in that we have not stated a period within which the appeal should be filed. In a matter of this kind, fifteen days is a fair period, and I accept this amendment with the slight verbal alteration, viz., that instead of ‘the appeal’ we would have ‘such appeal.’”

The motion was then put in the modified form and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 94.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

The next amendment which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Huq provides also for the period of appeal, but I will not move it, but will move No. 95 which stands in my name and which also provides similarly for the period of appeal.

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that the word “reasonable” before the word “period” in line 5 of sub-clause (2) of clause 30 (now clause 28) be omitted and at the end of the same sub-clause the following be inserted, namely :—

“Provided that the period specified in such notice shall be such as to give a reasonable opportunity to the owner or occupier, as the case may be, to carry out the requisition contained in the notice, and shall, in no case, be less than one month from the date on which the notice is actually served.”

AMENDMENT No. 95.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that at the end of sub-clause (4) of clause 30 (now clause 28) the following be added, namely :—

“The appeal shall be filed within fifteen days from the date of service of the notice.”

He said :—

“My Lord, I only move this amendment. The principle underlying it is similar to No. 93 which has been accepted by Government.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“The principle underlying this is the same as that in 93, and for the same reason I accept it, with the same verbal alteration, that is to say, for ‘the appeal’ I would substitute ‘such appeal.’”

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Mr. P. C. Mitter ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri ; Mr. Hart.

The Hon'ble Mr. Prevas Chunder Mitter said :—

"I would like to draw Your Excellency's attention to the fact whether in rural areas, fifteen days is enough, or whether more time ought to be granted."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"At the risk of being thought too talkative, I think this is a retrograde proposition. No fixed time should be stated here, but a reasonable time allowed. In Calcutta I find people are not quite aware as to when the time expires for hearing an appeal. I think the Hon'ble Member would do well not to press his motion."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My view is that a period of fifteen days is not unreasonable, and if it is a matter of urgency, we want the persons concerned to file their appeals quickly. Fifteen days gives them fair time to ask to have an order revised, and for my part I am prepared to accept the motion."

The motion was then put in the modified form and agreed to.

AMENDMENT Nos. 96 & 97.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words "ten rupees" in line 9 of sub-clause (3) of clause 31 (now clause 29) the words "four rupees" be substituted.

He also moved that for the words "two rupees" in line 10 of sub-clause (3) of clause 31 (now clause 29) the words "one rupee" be substituted.

He said :—

"It is a question of daily fine under sub-clause (3) of clause 31 (now clause 29) where it is provided that there should be a daily fine in addition to the fine imposed for the non-performance of certain things. In the case of masonry buildings there should be a daily fine of Rs. 10 and Rs. 2 for non-masonry buildings. It seems that the purpose will be served if the fine is Rs. 4 in the former case and Re. 1 in the latter for daily disobedience. It is a simple matter, and I hope it will be accepted."

The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

"My Lord, I must advise the Council not to accept this amendment, or rather the two amendments 96 and 97. The penalties provided in the Bill now before the Council are exactly the same as in section 118 of the Local Self-Government Act of 1885, and no protest has ever been raised nor has any opinion been received from any person who has reported on the Bill, that the penalties provided in the Act of 1885 were excessive. The Council will also be interested in learning that no recommendation has been made to the Select Committee for any modification of this clause. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri has not objected to the substantive fine but proposes that in the case of a masonry building, where a substantive fine up to Rs. 100 may be imposed, the limit of the continuing fine should be Rs. 4 instead of Rs. 10. The Hon'ble Member has tacitly admitted that the substantive fine provided is not excessive and I would submit that when a person who has been fined still continues to disobey the magistrate's order, a further continuing fine not exceeding one-tenth of the maximum substantive fine is not disproportionate. As regards non-masonry buildings, the substantive fine is Rs. 20 and a provision is made for a further daily fine not exceeding Rs. 4 in case the offence is still continued after the magistrate has ordered it to stop. In this case the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri desires that the fine should not exceed Re. 1, although he does not object to the substantive fine, and as the penalties are exactly the same as were provided in the old Act of 1885, I would submit that no reason for supporting these amendments has been made out."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"I have nothing further to add, my Lord. I leave the matter in the hands of Government. I thought it excessive and therefore, I suggested a reduction; because the same amount has been provided for in other enactments, that is no reason why it should be so in this case, especially as in this case poor mafussul persons are concerned.

The motions were then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 98.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, for reasons explained by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler in respect of amendment No. 86 reasons which I have also accepted, I should not like to press this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after the words "district board" in line 5 of sub-clause (1) of clause 32 (now clause 30) the words "or local board," be inserted.

AMENDMENT No. 99.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the following be inserted after clause 37 (now clause 36), namely :—

"37A. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the president of a union board shall have powers current with those of the officer in charge of the police-station within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated, for the arrest of persons enumerated in sections 54 and 55 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and the provisions of the said Code arrest shall apply mutatis mutandis.

"37B. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the president of a union board shall have concurrent jurisdiction with that of the officer in charge of the police-station within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated, in exercising all the powers and performing all the duties laid down in Chapter XIV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, respecting information and investigation of the following offences, namely :—Offences under sections 143, 147, 269, 277, 279, 288, 301, 325, 355, 341, 342, 379, 380, 411, 428, 447, 448, 453, 454, 456 and 457 of the Indian Penal Code.

(2) All the provisions of Chapter XIV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, applicable to an officer in charge of a police-station, shall be applicable, mutatis mutandis, to the president of a union board :

Provided that the power conferred under section 170 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall not be exercised by the president of a union board without the concurrence, in writing, of two other members of the union board elected annually in that behalf by the members of the union board.

"37C. The president and other members of the union board shall exercise the powers conferred by sections 37A and 37B subject to the control of the district magistrate and subdivisional magistrate.

"37D. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the president of a union board shall exercise the powers contemplated by sections 64, 127 and 128 of the said Code."

He said :—

"The proposal for investing the headman of the village with police powers is not a new one. It is an old proposal urged from time to time by many responsible administrations and statesmen. But no step has yet been taken in this behalf. The Police Commission of 1902-03 remarked :—'The Commission are strongly convinced of the impossibility of carrying on an efficient police administration by means of official policemen only. It is absolutely essential to secure the aid of the village community. This is necessary from the purely Government point of view : It is impossible to support the expense of a force which would be adequate to obtain information regarding crime over the extensive area and among the vast population of India, without securing the co-operation and enforcing the responsibility of the village authorities. It is necessary also from the people's point of view. Even if the expensive establishment required could be maintained, it would be vexatious and intolerable to the people. Constant interference by the police, constant espionage on village life, constant visit of officials of the lowest grade, constitute an intolerable burden and vexation to the people. It is immeasurably better to utilise and develop the village agency for reporting crime, to leave the people, as far as possible, to dispose of petty matters for themselves, and to limit interference to villages when there has been failure in the discharge of responsibility in respect of reporting, or to cases in which the matter is serious enough to demand interference.'

We read again in paragraph 44 of the said report :—'The village community is represented "ordinarily" by its headman ; and effective police administration must be based on the recognition and enforcement of the responsibility of the headman. He is the man who can really help the police, his position and influence should be strengthened ; and it is to him that the police should look for co-operation in their work. * * *

The Commission consider it to be of vital importance to emphasise the responsibility of the village headman, and to hold the village police-officer, by whatever name he may be locally known, responsible rather as the subordinate of the village headman and his servant for the performance of police functions. The village headman for police purposes ought, as far as possible, to be the man recognised as headman in respect of the revenue and general administration of the village ; when that is impossible, he ought to be a man of position and influence in the village ; and the district-officer ought to maintain and strengthen his position and influence. It is necessary to repose a large discretion in him and firmly to acknowledge his respectability and authority in the village'. Accordingly the Police Commission made the following two most important recommendations:—

- (a) That it is of paramount importance to develop and foster the existing village agencies available for police work.
- (b) That the responsibility of the village headman for the performance of the village police duties should be recognised and enforced in every province.

But no serious and sustained efforts have been made to execute these recommendations. Some half-hearted measures of a spasmodic character have been taken from time to time to give police powers to the village headman. The president of the panchayat system introduced by Mr. Savage in 1904 was invested with powers under sections 64, 127 and 128 of the Criminal Procedure Code. He was authorised to correspond directly with the magistrate; and the chaukidars were required to parade before him. These powers might satisfy his vanity, but after all real power and responsibility cannot be substituted by such illusory make-believe. These reforms were in keeping with the latter, but not with the spirit of the recommendation of the Police Commission. We have the verdict of the District Administration Committee who rightly observed that the scheme was a step in the right direction, but that it did not go far enough towards giving the president any real power or responsibility. Even these so-called and small powers were resented by the police, and we find that even the parade of chaukidars before the president was discontinued later on. It may be said without any exaggeration that the presidents of to-day even in those districts in which the system has survived unaltered do not enjoy or exercise the shadow of any police power. The District Administration Committee recommended that the continued union panchayats which are to be the foundation of the structure of the Local Self-Government should exercise not only municipal, and judicial functions but police function to boot. That report is the basis of the Village Self-Government Bill, and it must have struck the most superficial student of the Bill that though provisions have been made for giving municipal and judicial powers of a very responsible character to the presidents they have not been invested with any police function.

There is an apprehension in certain quarters that substantial police power given to the presidents will have the effect of weakening the influence of the regular police in the villages. There are some extremists amongst the officials who would divest the village Council of all police functions. We know that various steps have been taken from time to time to enhance the influence of the official police in the villages. It is a matter of profound regret that the framers of the Bill before us should have accepted and acted upon this orthodox opinion. The present Bill is the outcome of a policy of trust in the people. It is based upon the doctrine laid down by Sir Rivers Thompson half a century before, while introducing the Chowkidari Bill, 1870, that it is the duty and policy of the Government to leave as much as possible of the business of the country to be done by the people themselves. This Bill proposes to give us powers which were formerly withheld. It is proposed to invest the president with powers of a magistrate and a munsif. These are powers of immense responsibility. How is it then that the framers of the Bill do not venture to give him the powers of a daroga. Babu Dakshina Charan Sen, a retired Deputy Magistrate has, in his illuminating and valuable note, shown, on the basis of figures taken from Police Administration Report the absolute futility of police investigation in certain classes of offences. He has shown that the police may be relieved of these duties with advantage both to the Government and to the people, and he has emphasised the importance of investing the union board with powers enjoyed by police officers under the Criminal Procedure Code. I do not propose, nor have I the power in a Provincial Council to propose, that these powers should be given exclusively to the village president. I only propose that the president should enjoy these powers concurrently with the thana officers. I concur with Babu Dakshina Charan Sen in recommending that for the present the president be given power to take cognizance of the following offences under the Penal Code, namely, sections 143, 147, 269, 277, 279, 283, 324, 325, 335, 341, 342, 377, 380, 411, 428, 447, 448, 453, 454, 456 and 457.

My Lord, I think it is high time that these police functions should be entrusted to the president of the union boards. That was the recommendation of the District Administration Committee; there is no reason why, while the other recommendations have been accepted, this particular recommendation should not be accepted. As regards the powers under sections 64, 127 and 128, these are powers which, as a matter of fact, were conferred already upon the presidents by the system introduced by Mr. Savage. With these observations, I move this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Can the Hon'ble Member give the reference to the paragraph in the District Administration Committee's report which endorses his proposal?"

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I shall require one or two minutes to do so."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"This amendment, my Lord, as the Hon'ble Member has observed, is an important one. The Hon'ble Member has given us as his authority, for a provision of this nature, the Police Commission's Report and the District Administration Committee's Report. I think there must be some misapprehension as regards the Police Commission's Report. What the Police Commission said was that we should utilise and develop the village agency for reporting crime and leave the people as far as possible to dispose of petty matters for themselves. These two things we have provided for in this Bill. Clause 26 (now clause 23) of the Bill gives the chaukidar power to report crime, and Part II of the Bill gives power to the union bench to dispose of petty offences. That, I think, is as far as the Police Commission ever meant to go, and as far as I know, there is nothing in the report of the District Administration Committee to indicate that they proposed to go further. What the Hon'ble Member proposes to do is to go a very long way further and to turn presidents of union boards into police-officers. He proposes to give the president power to arrest criminals or suspicious persons or persons without any ostensible means of subsistence, or persons who cannot give a satisfactory account of themselves and so on, and not only this, but the president is to have the power of investigating a long list of offences including riots, grievous hurt, unlawful restraint, theft, mischief, criminal trespass and burglary. It is further proposed that in exercise of his power of sending up accused persons for trial, the president shall act only with the concurrence in writing of two other members of the union board to be elected annually for the purpose by members of the union board. I would ask the Council to consider seriously what the practical effect of these two proposals is going to be. In the first place, do we want to invest the presidents of union boards with these extensive police functions?

We are giving them new functions and heavier responsibilities in the matter of providing for sanitation, public health and the well-being of the villages. We are giving them power to try cases as amateur magistrates and as amateur civil courts. For all this, we have a precedent in the rural parts of England and Scotland, where for many generations country gentlemen have exercised functions of this kind in an amateur sort of way to the general satisfaction of the community among which they live. We believe that, at any rate, in parts of Bengal, a similar experiment has a fair chance of success and we propose to try it here. I do not think however that anybody, except the Hon'ble Member, has ever proposed to go so far as he does in the matter of vesting the members of village committees with the powers of the regular police, and I think it would be very risky to do so at a time when we are enlarging their functions in other and as we consider more suitable directions. I, therefore, object to the proposal contained in this amendment on principle, and I object still more to it as a matter of practical working. The first thing to notice is that this clause 37B gives the president concurrent jurisdiction with the officer in charge of a police-station to investigate the offences which I have mentioned. Now it is an axiom in all police work that it is a fatal mistake to have dual-investigating authorities going into a case at the same time. If you have two men investigating a case, they will start different theories and different methods of investigation and both of them will make a thorough mess of it, not to speak of the worry which would be caused to the parties and witnesses by having to attend on two separate investigating authorities. This difficulty arises in every civilised country at present as between the local police and what we call here the Central Criminal Investigation Department. The local police start on the investigation of a case, and then a Criminal Investigation Department man comes down from headquarters and drops in with a new line of investigation and some times spoils the whole thing. That sort of difficulty can be obviated by careful arrangements when both the investigating authorities are under police discipline and subject to the same authority, but the Hon'ble Member proposes to give investigating powers to a non-official agency subject to no discipline or authority whatever. That is the first practical objection to the Hon'ble Member's scheme.

Now suppose the president has got over these difficulties and has managed to catch his thief and has decided to send him up for trial. Do you suppose that his troubles are over then? Under the present amendment, as it stands, he has then got to go and get hold of two of his colleagues on the board, to show them all the papers of the case and to get their concurrence before he can send the accused up for trial before a magistrate. These two members would want to send for all the witnesses in the case and to see all the papers relating to it, and would thus cause a great deal of worry and trouble to all concerned. Besides, the further risk of the case breaking down at that stage. Let us now make a further assumption and suppose that these difficulties also have been got over and the case is actually sent up for trial. We all know that the line frequently taken by the defence in court is to get hold of the first information and to cross-examine the investigating police-officer and anybody who had anything to do with the investigation of the case and to try to make them contradict themselves. Then the defence counsel argues that the case is false, because the police-officers could not tell a consistent story. If this amendment was carried, the defence would be able to cross-examine the president and the two members of the boards besides the police-officer who had assisted in the investigation, or who might have been carrying out a separate line of investigation of his own. There is every prospect that the case would break down, without the merits having been gone into at all. This is not an exaggerated account of the manner in which this proposal would work. The only person who would benefit would be the thief or the burglar. The chances are that he would never be sent up for trial at all, and if he was sent up, he would almost certainly be acquitted. I submit, therefore, my Lord, that the proposal would be quite unworkable in practice, and that the Council would not be well-advised to accept this amendment."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, as regards the quotations that have been made, so far as the quotations from the Police Commission's Report are concerned, I have given the references, and have quoted the exact words. As regards the other report—I mean the report of the District Administration Committee—I find the following proposals made by them on page 110 of the report :—

'The functions of the union panchayats under the proposed circle scheme will include the following :—

Police Chaukidari, Judicial.

Executive,
Local Self-Government.'

Now, my Lord, the functions of Judicial, Executive and Local Self-Government have been given to the presidents; the only question that has been made is in the case of police courts; that is the general principle that has been laid down. Later on it is said in this report—

'It is proposed that each member of the panchayat should be appointed headman under section 45 of the Criminal Procedure Code, not for the entire union but only for the particular ward which he represents. His functions will be those prescribed by the Village Chaukidari Act and by the rules in the Chaukidari Manual, except that, if a Secretary is appointed to receive and collect the tax, it will not be necessary for the panchayat to appoint one of their own number to be a collecting member.

In paragraphs 49 to 57 of their letter of the 7th August, 1911, the Eastern Bengal and Assam Board have dealt very fully with the question of the duties to be entrusted to the panchayats under the heads "Police and Crime" and "Village Police," and we agree generally with their proposals.'

Now, my Lord, what seems to me to be most remarkable is this: that although there was a Police Commission who enquired into the whole question, although they made their recommendations, although there were several resolutions on the subject issued by the Government and although the principle was recognised by the District Administration Committee, it is very remarkable that even the principle has not been accepted in the Bill. On the question of details I may be wrong—I may have asked for more powers than I should have asked and probably there may be differences in details—but the question arises—has this Bill recognised even the principle that has been laid down by the Police Commission that many police functions should be given to the president of the village? Their recommendations are very very strong and I have already placed them before the Council. They said that it is necessary not only from the people's point of view but also from the Government's point of view. These were the recommendations made in 1902-03, which were discussed again by the District Administration Committee, who proposed that police functions should be given to them. That report is the basis of the present Bill. Was it not proper that these recommendations should have been accepted? It has not been done. Of course we can argue on both sides—I can give my own reasons and the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr can give his reasons. But what appears to me is this: are we not more or less bound to accept the recommendations of the Police Commission on a matter like this? Of course there is no legal bar, but I should think that it is rather too late in the day to refute the principle laid down in the report of the Police Commission. If that principle had been recognised in the Bill there might at least have been some difference of opinion, but what cannot be explained is that here was an occasion on which the recommendations of the Police Commission should have been accepted; although an attempt has been made to raise the status of the chaukidar to that of a police officer on the ground that these powers were given in 1870.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler.

but we are now in 1919. That is reason for advance with regard to chaukidars, but what about the president. Of course, if these were the recommendations and not revolutionary proposals made by any untrained man without any knowledge of the subject or by any impatient idealist, then of course I would not have pressed them, but my recommendation is based on the verdict of the Police Commission and there is no reason why that report should be brushed aside like this absolutely. I must confess that I may possibly be wrong in the details I have given, but certainly the principle should have been recognised, and I think Government should consider as to whether the recommendations of the Police Commission should be given effect to or not."

"My Lord, I take strong exception, on the evidence which the hon'ble mover has laid before the Council, to the inference that he has drawn that his extraordinary proposal has the support of the District Administration Committee. I particularly requested him to give his references, and in answer he refers to the word 'Police' in paragraph 126. Apparently he would have us believe that the mention of the word 'Police' covers his proposal, although the Committee devoted pages and pages to explaining in detail what exactly they did mean, and it is incomprehensible that if they had contemplated anything like this inquiry by an elected authority, they would not have said so in specific language. The reference, I take it, in paragraph 126 is to the supervision over the police functions of chaukidars, and it is incredible, if I may say so, that the Committee could have contemplated so great a change in procedure as the amendment suggests without justifying it by detailed reasons. I can give the Hon'ble Member another reason which would almost have rendered it obligatory that they should have justified their action if they had wished to take up a position analogous to the amendment. I have referred previously to Mr. Savage's inquiries and to certain orders that were passed about the time of his investigations which did encourage reports of offences being taken to the president of the panchayat. Because it was found that those rules, which were only meant to cover the reporting of offences, encouraged the presidents to fancy themselves investigating officers, the system was discarded; and in the light of that fact I say again that it is incredible that the District Administration Committee should have recommended the revival of that system without even a word of explanation."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 100 AND 101.

In the absence of the hon'ble mover, the following motions were deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that for clause 38 (now clause 37) the following be substituted, namely :—

- "38. (1) By the month of October in each year, the union board shall prepare a budget of expenses for the next financial year and submit the same to the district board by the end of the second week in November. The district board may call for any information or explanation regarding the expenditure which the union board proposes to incur and may make such modifications in the budget as they think fit :—

Provided that in the case of any difference of opinion with regard to any item of expenditure between the union board and the district board, an appeal shall lie at the instance of either board to the District Magistrate, whose orders shall be final.

(2) The district board shall then decide, by the end of January, how much of the expenses of the union board shall be met by contributions and grants from the district fund, and shall place such sums at the disposal of the union board at least one month before the beginning of the financial year.

(3) The balance of the expenses of the union board shall be met by contributions made by the Local Government."

If motion No. 63 be carried, also to move that sub-clause (a) of clause 38 (now clause 37) be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 102.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after the words "owners or occupiers of buildings" in line 2 of clause 38 (now clause 37) the words "and on the owners of fisheries, carts, carriages, boats and steamers" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this is in regard to the difficult question of the financing of the union board. We all know that it is rather difficult to finance the union boards properly in view of the ambiguous programme of work that has been placed before the union boards. Therefore all attempts made to increase the resources of the union boards should be welcomed. Now, all that I propose is this that the owners of fisheries, carts, carriages, boats and steamers be included, because we all know that the owner or occupier of a building is liable to taxation and the owner of a fishery may be in a very much better position to make the payment. I do not know the reason why he should escape the taxation. Then we also know that there are people in the villages who do business in boats and so on, and they are precisely the people who are in a position to contribute to the union fund and who should not escape the taxation. In the villages even those people who are owners or occupiers of kutcha houses or sheds are liable to taxation and therefore it is only fair and proper that these people, who are owners of fisheries, carts carriages, etc., and derive an income from all that should also contribute towards the union fund.

Now as regards carts and carriages I would draw the attention of the Council to the recommendation of the District Administration Committee on page 100 where they say—

'We think therefore that there is no need to widen the basis of taxation, and that the possession of a house or cutcherry should continue to be the criterion for the imposition of the tax. It might, however, be made clear that a house includes a building, boat or temporary structure in which business of any kind is transacted, and not merely a dwelling house, which is the construction liable to be put upon the section as it stands.'

The section here referred to is the section of the Chaulkidaai Act. In this connection I can refer to section 118(c) of the Local Self Government Act, III of 1885, where of course the words are tank, water-course and so on. I have advisedly omitted tanks and water-courses as they are not proper subjects for taxation; and so in their place I have proposed fishery because that is a source of income and that is the reason why I want to include fisheries.

With these words, my Lord, I propose that these words may be included."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, in framing the taxation proposals of the Bill, we adhered as closely as possible to the two precedents of the Chaukidari and Local Self-Government Acts. The people who are assessable under the Chaukidari Act, in accordance with section 14, are the owners or occupiers of houses in any village and any person who has within such a village a catchery for collecting rents; the people who are assessable under section 118-C. of the Local Self-Government Act are the owners of buildings, tanks, wells or water-courses, and the Council may remember that, at one time, tanks, wells and water-courses figured in the Bill. The first Select Committee, at the request of one Hon'ble Member, took out wells and the second Select Committee took out tanks and water-courses, after examination of the reasons for which they were put in section 118-C., which we thought were inadequate. That, therefore, left us with the owners and occupiers of buildings, who now stand in the clause, and I would deprecate the fresh departures which this amendment suggests. The scope of taxation, as it now stands, is clear. It covers the people who own or occupy buildings, and assesses them according to circumstances and property; that is to say, it adopts a personal basis of taxation for those who are the owners or occupiers of property in the village; but if we bring in these other suggestions advocated in the amendment, we get to rather different considerations.

With reference to fisheries, if, of course, the owner of a fishery, owns or occupies a building in the village, he will be assessable; if he does not, then he rather ranks with the absentee landlord; and fisheries like lands—I may remind the Council—are assessable to road-cess. It has been a subject of discussion whether the absentee landlord should pay the union rate; but we have not thought fit to render him liable to taxation, and if we do not render the absentee landlord liable, there is no particular point in rendering the absentee fishery owner liable; whereas, if he is not an absentee, he will come in as the owner or occupier of a building.

"When we come to carts, carriages, boats and steamers, and the owners thereof, we get back to the idea underlying certain forms of municipal taxation, namely, the idea of a conveyance tax—that the users of the roads and water-channels should pay for their upkeep from which they benefit. That is a different consideration from the basis of taxation in the Bill, which, as I have said, is in accordance with the two precedents which are the foundation of these proposals. As the Hon'ble Member has referred to the opinion of the District Administration Committee, I may point out that they wanted to assess the owners and occupiers of boats, and, in the circumstances of Eastern Bengal, there is something to be said in favour of the idea on which, I believe, Sir Nicholas Beatson-Bell was personally keen. We had some talk about it in Select Committee, but we thought that there were practical difficulties in the way, and we dropped it. The scheme of the Bill is simple, and I would deprecate complicating it further."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I have nothing to add, but I wish to point out that this is at least one occasion on which in a question of local taxation by the people themselves the non-officials want to go more than the officials because the charge is always laid at our door that we the non-officials are always averse to taxation. On the merits of the amendment after what I have heard from the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, of course I also cannot speak with anything like confidence, and I feel that for the reasons which have been explained by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, I am not in a position to say that they are not sound. So owing to this state of uncertainty I would not press this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 103.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"This amendment has become unnecessary, therefore I request permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn. It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the words "the sum" in line 1 of sub-clause (a) of clause 38 the words "half the sum" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 105.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that the words "if any" in line 2 of sub-clause (a) of clause 38 be omitted.

He said :—

"Clause 38 of the Bill prescribes the imposition of the rate, and the work of the union board as far as I can gather from this Bill will be carried out from the proceeds of that rate, called the union rate, which will be levied on the area, and the union rate will be calculated on the basis of the cost of the salaries and equipment of chaukidars and daffadars deducting the contribution, if any, made by the local Government and the estimated cost required for carrying out other works imposed on the board under this Act. My object in moving this amendment is that the words 'if any' may be deleted, that is to say, that the Government contribution should be assured to the board. I do not ask the Council to lay down any hard-and-fast rules. These words 'if any' make it an uncertain factor, but if those words are removed, they are certain to obtain some contribution. As far as I find the payment of salaries of chaukidars and daffadars and their equipment is made a first charge upon the revenues of the union boards under clause 47 (now clause 46), and these daffadars and chaukidars have to be employed by the union boards, not for the purpose of municipal work but for the purpose of ordinary administration. Under schedule 2 it will be seen that they have to do the work of regular police in the area where they will be employed. All cases of murder, dacoity, theft, house-breaking and all possible offences shall be taken cognizance of by this police staff. Strictly speaking it is not municipal work, but work which properly belongs to the State, and State-aid should therefore be guaranteed, whatever that amount may be. My proposition is a very simple one; it does not fetter the hands of the Government to any definite sum, it would be quite at the discretion of the Government to contribute Rs. 1 or Rs. 1,000. My amendment is framed with the object that the principle that contributions should be made by Government should be accepted, and it is left to the option of the Government what the amount of that contribution should be, whereas the imposition of the rate will be a statutory obligation on the part of the union. Assuming that a greater part of the rate is consumed by the payment of these chaukidars, and if no Government contribution is forthcoming, then works of other kinds in the union would suffer.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler.

There are various works to be taken up by the union board in connection with sanitation, drainage, etc., and offences under the Cattle Trespass Act and various other things, and therefore it will be seen that the union board will require a considerable sum of money to do their work. These unions will be established in areas where there are no municipalities, and they will have to do the work of the municipality and if the salaries of chaukidars, etc., were made the first charge upon their revenues, I think it is only fair and reasonable that they should get some Government contribution, and that there should not be any ambiguity about it. I am sure Government will contribute a sufficient sum of money, and when Government are really willing to do so, I think there should be no objection to having a provision in the Bill to this effect. It will reassure the public mind, and it would look very graceful."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, the suggestions underlying these amendments are similar to those which we argued yesterday, and I do not propose to repeat the arguments at length. The clause which the Hon'ble Member would have us amend deals solely with the salaries of chaukidars and daffadars and the cost of their equipment, and it says that the union boards shall raise the necessary funds, less the contribution, if any, made by Government. The Hon'ble Rai Bahadur desires to leave out the words 'if any', in order to make it obligatory on Government to make a contribution to the union board which would be used towards the cost of chaukidars and daffadars. May I first explain why we put in these words 'if any'. They were inserted in view of the practice, which is at present in force in one district of this province, under which, as an experimental measure, Government has contributed to the pay of daffadars. The idea of daffadars is that they should be a better class of men than the chaukidars—in fact, what Mr. Kerr has termed this morning, a sort of non-commissioned officer. The status of the daffadar is still to some extent experimental, and in order to see if we could get a better class of men by offering better pay, in one sub-division we offered to contribute a share of their pay in order to be able to give a higher pay than the panchayet could afford. In return for that contribution we asked the panchayet to let us have a much larger voice in the selection of the persons appointed. The panchayets agreed and that experiment is now in force. It is somewhat early to say whether it has proved itself a success or not, but it was largely with that experiment in mind that the original proposal of the Bill was framed which would have vested the appointment of the daffadar in the district magistrate. We dropped that proposal and are maintaining the present system, and to that extent there is the less reason for altering the present system by which the pay of the daffadars and chaukidars is ordinarily met from the village assessment. The case to which I have alluded was an exceptional case entirely. It was justified by special reasons, and it is a different proposition altogether to ask us to accept a change of wording which is going to establish the principle—a very far-reaching principle, although the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur calls it a very simple amendment—that Government is under an obligation to contribute to the pay of chaukidars. Yesterday the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri proposed a definite amendment that Government should contribute half of this cost, and I explained the reasons why we could not do so and why we could not accept so large a financial obligation. If we did, we should only have to raise the money from some other sources. The point has been considered before, and it was held that, all things considered, the assessment of the union rate was probably more acceptable to the people than anything else. The alternative of a land cess had been shown by experience to be highly unacceptable to the zemindars, while the consequences likely to ensue from such a change of principle, viz., the supercession of the village union by Government in the matter of the control of chaukidars, and the tendency to convert the chaukidar into a member of the police force, would be greatly resented in various quarters. For these reasons that amendment was eventually lost, and I maintain that the arguments apply equally to the present proposition, even though the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur says that he does not mind how much Government contributes so long as it accepts the principle that it should contribute. To that my answer would be that if we are obliged to contribute and if we contribute, say, an anna, we are reducing the Act to a farce. Obviously, if we concede the principle, we must contribute substantially, and probably, nothing short of a contribution of a half, which Babu Kisor Mohan Chauduri proposed, would be regarded as fair if we undertook the obligation. For these reasons I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I wish to say something on this matter. I must confess that I labour under the disadvantage of living in a town where there is no chaukidari system in vogue. But I feel that my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, who is also a cityman, has said something which commends itself to me and that being so and having had the advantage of hearing the discussion which took place in Council yesterday as to the reason for the provision of making the chaukidar or the dafadar not much of a servant of the union board, I feel I have got to say something on the subject. The chaukidars and dafadars are police officers and therefore I venture to support the proposition put forward by the Hon'ble Mover that there should be something in the Bill which would lay down the principle that the State should contribute something to the fund out of which its expenditure is to be met. In private life we see that if a person serves you, you serve him too or pay him, and it is but right that Government should contribute something towards the expenditure for keeping men who will be joint servants of the Government and the union board. As my hon'ble friend has suggested the principle may be laid down in the Bill. Of course if the Government are to contribute an anna it could be a farce. But the actual proportion of contribution may be left to the good sense of the Government. If the words 'if any' are allowed to remain in the Bill there will always be the apprehension of Government saying that under the Act it is not obligatory on them to pay anything. And I do not think it is an improper request on the part of my hon'ble friend that these words should be left out."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have tried to follow Sir Henry Wheeler, and as far as I understand him he will not accept the amendment because by doing so he would be accepting the principle of the Government contribution. I shall be content to leave it to the House to consider whether that principle has not been already accepted in the clause as it stands. The clause says that the union board shall impose yearly on the owners and occupiers of buildings a rate amounting to the sum required for their expenditure, less the contribution, if any, by Government. Now, my Lord, if it is not the intention of the Government to contribute anything why should these words be placed here to raise false hopes in the minds of the people. The very fact that these words appear in the clause shows that the Government do intend to contribute something. Hence, the principle of Government contribution is accepted. The union boards are enjoined to do various municipal works by various clauses, chiefly by clauses 28, 28A, 29 and 30 (now clauses 25, et seq.). They are required to maintain roads, see to the water-supply, improve the drainage and conservancy, and generally to do all works calculated to promote the health, convenience and safety of the public. The expenditure is to be met from the union fund. But if the salaries of chaukidars and dafadars are to be made the first charge on their income, and after meeting that charge the balance available is not sufficient to meet the charges for municipal work what are the union boards to do? How are they to carry on their municipal work? You may say that they may increase their rate. But so far as I remember the District Administration Committee themselves said that the imposition of local taxation would make self-government unpopular in these rural areas. I, therefore, suggest that Government should contribute substantially if they wish to make self-government successful in this country. The principle, as I have said, is accepted in the clause. I want to make it obligatory but at the same time I do not want to lay down that Government should contribute a certain percentage. They may contribute one anna or one thousand rupees. Of course I know it would be ridiculous to pay one anna, and I am sure Government will contribute a substantial sum according to the requirements of the union board. All I want is to make it obligatory on the part of the Government to pay something to these self-governing local bodies which will help them in making self-government successful at its initial stage."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; The President.

The Ayes being 12 and the Noes 27, the motion was lost.

AMENDMENT No. 104.

An identical motion, No. 104, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray was deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 106, 107 and 108.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chandhuri to move that the words, "if any, made by the Local Government in this behalf" in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (a) of clause 38 (now clause 37) be omitted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I think there is something inappropriate in the arrangement as I find that I cannot move No. 107 without having a decision of the Council on No. 108 and that again I cannot move without a decision on No. 133. But I would like to solve the whole difficulty in this way No. 133 refers to a compulsory contribution by Government and that point having been just now decided in Council it is no good moving that amendment now. Strictly speaking, I should think that it is out of order, and if I cannot move No. 133 I cannot move No. 108 either and necessarily No. 107 also falls to the ground. That being the real position, my Lord, I think the proper order is that Your Excellency will rule No. 133 as out of order, then all these will fall to the ground.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, in the first place it is correct that Nos. 107 and 108 must be read as one ; and it is also correct that No. 133 would make it obligatory on Government to make a contribution of a third of the total expenditure of the union board. Therefore, I think, the Hon'ble Member is correct that No. 133 is covered by the decision of the Council."

The President said :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referring to item 133, i.e., the proposed new clause 46A. Is that so?"

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"Yes, my Lord."

The President said :—

"That is certainly out of order owing to the decision already come to by the Council. That being so, does the Hon'ble Member propose to withdraw Nos. 107 and 108?"

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"Yes, my Lord."

The motions were then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Mr. O'Malley.

They were as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that the words "after deduction of the contribution, if any, made by the Local Government in this behalf" in lines 1, 2 and 3 of sub-clause (a) of clause 38 (now clause 37) be omitted.

Also to move that after the words "from defaulters" in the last line of clause 38 (now clause 37) the following be added, namely :—

"after deduction of the contribution made by the district board under section 46 and by the Local Government under section 46A."

AMENDMENT No. 109.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after clause 38 (now clause 37) the following be added, namely :—

"Provided that the owners of the buildings which remain unoccupied throughout the year shall be assessed at half of the amount which they would otherwise have been liable to pay."

He said :—

"My Lord, what I really intended was this : there are many cases in which the people live in the town although they have got a homestead in the village, and that they do not come to the village except for, say, 12 days in the year during the Puja vacation. A very large number of people fall under this category. I think it would be a great hardship upon them if they are to pay the tax as if they are living in the villages all the 12 months in the year, and at the same time in the interest of the union board they cannot escape the taxation altogether. Therefore I propose that their liability should be to the extent of 8 annas."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, this amendment follows to some extent the procedure of the Bengal Municipal Act. Section 95 of that Act provides that where a tax on persons is levied the assessment on a holding which becomes vacant in the course of the year shall cease to have effect from the first day of the quarter after that in which it became vacant. Section 110, which applies in cases where there is a rate on holdings, prescribes a different system. That section provides that if a building is vacant for 60 consecutive days or more in the year, half the rate shall be remitted or refunded as the case may be, in proportion to the number of days unoccupied ; but the owner must give notice of the vacancy and apply for a refund within six months of his notice. Both these sections are different from the present amendment. The former provides for the assessment ceasing in the next quarter, the latter for a proportionate remission or refund of the rate on holdings. We have not got, however, a rate on holdings in this Bill. The rate is a personal tax to be imposed on owners and occupiers of buildings according to circumstances and property just as the personal tax is in the Municipal Act. Moreover, the assessment is to be made in the beginning of the year, and the amendment proposed fails to meet that difficulty. It will be always open to an owner who considers that he is hardly treated to apply for a revision of the assessment under clause 40 (now clause 39). That clause sufficiently provides for the case of unoccupied buildings as the union board should be trusted to take into account the fact that a building is unoccupied and that the owner may lose rent in consequence. It is unnecessary to have an amendment like that proposed, which would only introduce an undesirable complication in procedure ; and on this account I must oppose the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; Rai M. C. Mitra Bahadur.AMENDMENT No. 110.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "no less than two-thirds" in line 5 of sub-clause (b) of clause 38 (now clause 37) the words "a majority" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I must admit that this is a point on which there will be a large difference of opinion. It is only a question of expediency. The view that some people take is this : if the majority be a two-thirds majority, in that case it will be very difficult practically to pass a resolution at the meeting of the union board about taxation, and it cannot be said that this is an apprehension which is not founded on facts. If so, then this being a question of local taxation and in the absence of any statutory local contribution by the Government and in view of the limited resources of the District Board and if it is difficult to pass any resolution about taxation at a meeting, then the whole Act will be a dead-letter and inoperative. That is a prospect of things which we cannot contemplate with anything like satisfaction. Therefore, my Lord, I proposed that instead of two-thirds majority it should be a bare majority. Of course, as I have said, there is a difference of opinion, as it can be said by the other side that the matter is of such supreme importance that the resolution should not be passed light-heartedly and unless two-thirds of the members are present that very important step should not be taken. There are two sides of the question, and taking both the sides into consideration I do think that in the interest of the successful operation of this Act for which we are all keen and anxious that steps should be taken which will make the taxation easier. It is from this point of view, my Lord, that I propose that two-thirds may be substituted by a bare majority."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, as the Hon'ble Member has said, this amendment raises an arguable point. Under the scheme of the Bill the obligation which is laid upon the union board is that it must pay for its chaukidars and dafadars and their equipment, but it may launch out into other municipal improvements if, by a majority of two-thirds of the total number of the members of the board at a specially convened meeting, it thinks fit to do so. We framed the provision in that way, requiring a majority of two-thirds, on the analogy of section 118C(1) of the Local Self-Government Act, which, in the case of a union committee, requires a two-thirds majority before the optional powers of taxation can be utilised. The Bill as framed, therefore, makes this resort to taxation over and above what is required by the union boards to pay the chaukidars, etc., a step only to be undertaken after careful consideration. They must call a special meeting and carry two-thirds of the villagers with them. The amendment suggests that it should only be necessary to carry a majority, which would render easier the imposition of further taxation : but in framing the Bill we thought that, as the working of these bodies was new, it might be well to adhere to the precedent of the Local Self-Government Act. But if the sense of the Council prefers to take a more liberal view I, personally, should have no objection."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I beg to oppose the amendment for various reasons. I need not amplify my reasons, but I submit that there is a difference of opinion between the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment and others. I think it will be a retrograde movement if the proposition put forward by the Hon'ble Member is accepted."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; The President ; Maulvi Abul Kasem.The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I have already said that this is a very controversial matter and things may be said on both sides. In view of the opposition made not only by Government but also by some of the non-official members I should not press it and with Your Excellency's permission I would withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 111.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta :—

That after clause 38 (now clause 37) the following be inserted, namely :—

"38A. One-fourth of the total amount raised by taxation under section 38 shall be raised from amongst the zamindars whether resident or not. In Khas nahal areas the Government is to be considered as zamindar.

38B. The income derived from pounds within the union shall be credited to the union fund."

He said :—

"My Lord, this is an amendment in which I know I shall be opposed by some of the non-official members, and knowing that there is not the least chance of the amendment being carried and also feeling that this is a very controversial matter and also knowing that the verdict of the District Administration Committee is against it, I think it will not serve any useful purpose to press it. I would, therefore, with Your Excellency's permission, withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 112 to 115.

The President said :—

"The next four amendments deal with assessments of one person but they seek to vary them by different amounts. I am prepared to put each amendment separately, but it would not be in order to have four separate discussions on the four amendments. Hon'ble Members who take interest in this matter will kindly speak on the first motion."

AMENDMENT No. 112.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem moved that for the words "eighty-four" in the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 39 (now clause 38) the words "ninety-six" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, on this point there are four amendments of which notice has been given. The Bill provides for Rs. 84 as the maximum amount of tax to be realized from any one individual. I suggest Rs. 96, i.e., an advance of Re. 1 a month on the individual contribution to the fund. My hon'ble friend Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray, the zealous and the most ardent of the territorial magnates in this Council, would like to reduce it by one rupee reducing the maximum to Rs. 72. The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, a distinguished leader of public opinion in this Presidency, would reduce it still more and make it Rs. 60, i.e., a monthly contribution of Rs. 5, and the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur wants to make it Rs. 48. In these circumstances, I think the safest course would be to leave the matter as it is in the Bill and the maximum not reduced.

My Lord, my object in increasing the maximum amount of taxation is that according to the progress of the Bill the union board will have to make a budget of its expenses and make the assessment according to that budget, and if you fix the maximum taxation upon any particular individual at Rs. 84 the result will be that the balance will have to be realized from the poorer members of the community residing in that union. My object is that the burden should fall on the wealthier class who are well able to bear it and the poorer people should be exempted as much as possible. It may be said that there will be a tendency to over-assess the rich men of the union, but there I can assure this House and Your Excellency's Government that there will be absolutely no chance of over-assessment of the rich men. Unlike the municipal towns the rich men of union will be men of very great influence and no union board, whether it is composed of three representatives or more, will ever venture to over-assess the zemindars or the rich money-lenders. So the question is if you fix the maximum at only Rs. 7 a month the result will be that the poorer men in the union will have to pay more than they ought to pay. I know that according to the present Act Rs. 12 is the maximum as the chaukidari tax, but in answer to that I can say that was a very low maximum fixed in the Chaukidari Act. I cannot say why this was fixed at so low a figure. The result is that in chaukidari unions the poorer men have to pay proportionately much higher than the richer people. Rupees 8 a month as the maximum is not very high, and neither will it be the case that the maximum amount of taxation will be realized from each individual, but those who are sufficiently wealthy ought to pay according to their means. The Act as it stands, my Lord, says that the occupiers and owners of the building will have to pay these taxes and as the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said only the owners and occupiers whether they do other business or not will be the only persons to be assessed. It is questionable whether children, adult sons, or nephews living with their parents will be considered occupiers of these buildings or not, because under the Municipal Act occupiers are those who have a legal right to occupation and those who live by suzerance such as widows or children. But in this case the only person who will pay the tax is the owner, that is head of the family, though his other adult sons may be rich and may be doing successful business and getting a large income. Therefore my suggestion is that Rs. 84 should be changed to Rs. 96. It is a surprise to me that some of those who are very keen on self-government have made an attempt to reduce it to Rs. 84 that has been fixed by the Bill. But I hope the better sense of the Council will prevail and they will make wealthier men pay more who are able to pay than the poorer men."

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray said :—

"My Lord, under the present Local Self-Government Act the maximum limit of taxation is Rs. 60, i.e., Rs. 5 a month. Again under the Chaukidari Act the maximum limit is Rs. 12 and that comes up to Rs. 72 per annum. I do not therefore see any reason why the maximum limit of taxation is going to be raised. We all know that there is a provision of Rs. 60 as the maximum under the Local Self-Government Act. The taxation now raised from the union committees is about $\frac{1}{2}$ of the chaukidari tax and my hon'ble friend, Maulvi Abul Kasem, wants to make it Rs. 96. He has not given any definite grounds for raising the amount, while I have something definite to stand upon when I suggest that it should be reduced to Rs. 72."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, here we have to deal with taxation which will have to be borne by the rural population. I take the case of municipalities where the people are much better off, more enlightened and more educated and at the same time earning more than the village people. There the maximum is Rs. 84, and I ask this Council—are we going to fix the maximum for the village population at the same rate at which the urban population are taxed? My friend, the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem, has gone off at a tangent from us and he wants to go higher up than Rs. 84, and I hope and trust that many people of the generous disposition of my friend will go to the villages and try to relieve their difficulties and pay for the conservancy of the villages. My Lord, taxes are going up in other directions and we must take into account the condition and the position of the people in the villages. It is said that there are rich people in the villages and they ought to pay more. But are we to forget that those rich people who have got a residence in the villages are the people who live in towns, carry on business there, and they pay taxation also with respect to their business in municipalities and other towns. Are we going to say that because they have got the fault of having some little money, they must be ground down by taxation to any amount for merely having a residence in the village. Sir, we have in this Bill provided that a man not merely residing but having a residence in the village will be a voter and will be liable to taxation. But the very same man actually works and earns money in a town where he has to pay municipal taxes and also license fees. I think therefore that it is a very bad policy and mistaken generosity just to say that these people ought to be ground down and the taxes ought to go higher up than Rs. 84. Although I have said that it should be Rs. 60, I am inclined to agree with the gentleman who will be called next after me and will move that it should be reduced to Rs. 48."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, what struck me was this : that as under the Bengal Municipal Act the second clause has the maximum of Rs. 84, I thought that as a matter of corollary the taxation in these miniature municipal areas should be half that amount. I have no desire to give relief to the rich people—I do not know how many people there are in the outlying villages, and as far as my knowledge goes they are within the municipal areas. I think that this taxation will press very heavily on the poorer classes. I have nothing further to say on this matter."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"In the Bill as first introduced there was no maximum taxation limit at all, and to that extent it followed the recommendation of the District Administration Committee, but that Committee anticipated that there would be opposition to the omission, and when we were examining the Bill that anticipation was found to be realized. We discovered that various people advocated the retention of limits. The Select Committee thought that it would be as well to give way to that opinion, and decided to insert a limit. Then the question arose what should be the limit, as all these limits must to some extent be somewhat arbitrary, and we based our figure on the following calculations. Under the Chaukidari Act the maximum limit is Rs. 12 a year ; under the Local Self-Government Act of 1885 the maximum limit for a union committee is Rs. 60 a year, making a total of Rs. 72 a year. But for some time past the fact has been recognized that the 12-rupee limit under the Chaukidari Act is too low, and it was the recommendation of the District Administration Committee that it should be put at Rs. 24. So, substituting Rs. 24 for Rs. 12, and adding Rs. 60 to it, we come to the figure of Rs. 84, which also happened to be the limit of the Municipal Act, and that figure we have accordingly put in the Bill. In my opinion this figure is quite as good as any other, and preferable to those alternatives which have been suggested. Rupees 96 may be too high and Rs. 48 is certainly too low. As between Rs. 60 and Rs. 72 there is not much difference, but I have explained to the Council the calculations we made and why we took the figure Rs. 84, to which I would adhere. Moreover, if we are to be guided by the experience of chaukidari assessments in the past, and for the matter of that of union assessments also, the whole question of a maximum is rather of theoretical interest only as it is difficult to induce the average assessing authority to go up to anywhere near it."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I cannot support this amendment. The clause does not oblige the union boards to levy the maximum rate from any person residing within its area. That being so, I do not see why there should be a complaint about the maximum amount fixed in the Bill as being too high or as likely to be oppressive in its operation. Without going so far as fixing the maximum at Rs. 96 as proposed by the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem I think the maximum may remain as it is in the Bill. Considering that the purchasing power of the rupee has gone down considerably since the Bengal Municipal Act was passed, I think the union board might still have sufficient funds at its disposal to defray the cost of the works entrusted to them."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry I have not been able to make myself understood by the Hon'ble Members on this side of the House. I have been told that the maximum fixed by the Municipal Act is Rs. 84, but I would draw attention to the fact that in municipalities there are certain rates of assessment and out of the money realized from these rates and taxes they make their budget allotments. But in the case of union boards it is quite otherwise. Here they have got some definite charges to meet, for instance, the salaries of chaukidars, etc., and they require a certain amount for that and then they proceed to levy the union rate on different members of the community. Therefore I thought it was necessary that the maximum should be Rs. 96. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has said that there are not many rich men in villages. That is true, but if there are any I want them to be assessed at the maximum rate of Rs. 96. The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar has said that those who carry on their business in the union or those do not live within the union although they have got residential house there, should not be assessed too heavily. But I think that those persons should be made to contribute towards the improvement of the unions where they carry on their business or where their residential houses are situated. One of the main causes of the deterioration of our villages is that rich men like to congregate in town leaving the villages neglected. This Bill is intended to reinstate the villages to their former prosperous condition and those men who make their money in the villages or rich men having their residential houses in the villages ought to make their contributions towards the improvements of the villages. The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray has pointed out that taking the Chaukidari Act and the Local Self-Government Act together the maximum assessment comes up to 72. That is true, but we are not going upon precedents in this Bill. We intend by this Bill to improve the condition of the villages and not to let things remain as they are. My suggestion is that the maximum should be fixed at Rs. 96. But as the Hon'ble Member in Charge has not thought fit to accept it, I think there is no chance of its being accepted by the Council. Yet I would be failing in my duty as a representative of rural constituencies not to press this amendment, and I therefore press it to a vote."

The motion was about to be put when the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray said :—

"My Lord, we might take the amendments backwards."

The President said :—

"I do not quite understand what the Hon'ble Member means."

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray said :—

"We might take the last amendment first and so on."

The President said :—

"It does not make any difference. Therefore I propose to take them in the order in which they appear on the agenda paper."

Motions Nos. 112, 113, 114 and 115 were then put one by one and lost.

Motions Nos. 113—115 were as follows :—

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray to move that for the words "eighty-four" in the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 39 (now clause 38) the words "seventy-two" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that for the words "eighty-four" in the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 39 (now clause 38) the word "sixty" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the words "eighty-four" in the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 39 (now clause 38) the words "forty-eight" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 116.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "district magistrate" in the first line of clause 41 (now clause 40) the words "district board" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the corresponding section in the Chaukidari Act is section 20. That section gives power to the District Magistrate to revise the assessment of the chaukidari union. But the union board stands on quite a different footing. The chaukidari functions of the union board are certainly not as important as its judicial, executive or municipal functions, and so necessarily the chaukidari assessment will be much smaller than the other assessments. And, therefore, it is only proper that the power of revising this assessment should be entrusted to the District Board instead of the District Magistrate."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this is another of a series of amendments by which the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta has sought to replace the authority of the District Magistrate by that of the district board in matters appertaining to the supervision over the union boards, specially in connection with chaukidars. In view of the fact that his other amendments have been negatived, I scarcely think that he is well advised to press this point again. He admits that the clause follows a precedent of the Chaukidari Act, but apparently argues that we should depart from it now that the amalgamated chaukidari and municipal assessment of taxation may reach a higher figure. But I cannot see how that fact alters the fundamental conditions under which these revisions are conducted. These assessments, even if they are of a higher figure will, as a rule, be individually small. They will affect a large number of small men. We do not wish to encourage a regular revisionary system of appeal against assessment. We had better look to the conditions under which these revisions have been made in the past, and they are briefly these. Various officers of Governments as the Hon'ble Member knows,—the District Magistrate, the sub-divisional officers and others—go round the district visiting and talking to the villagers, who are thus able to bring to their attention cases in which they allege the assessments to be grossly unfair. The officer can then enquire into the matter on the spot and see that justice is done. It is a simple and expeditious procedure, and in the case of the old chaukidari assessments has often been followed by any of us who have had experience of district administration. We have all done this work repeatedly while we were on tour. It meets the requirements of the case, and it is a far better machinery than to ask a man assessed to a few annas a month to bring a revisionary appeal before an authority like the district board, apart from the fact that the latter is not in itself a suitable appellate authority in a matter of this kind."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"It appears that in practice revision will be really made by circle officers. It is precisely that to which we object. If I were satisfied that the revision will be made by the District Magistrate himself, I for one would not object to it. What we are afraid of is the unnecessary interference by the circle officers. That makes my case all the stronger. My attention is drawn to the fact that the provision about the delegation of power to the circle officers in this respect has now been omitted. It is true, but at the same time the District Magistrate must necessarily depend on the report of the circle officers or some such other subordinate officers. Therefore the mere fact that the provision has been omitted does not improve the situation. In any case, as in most matters the union board will work under the supervision of the District and Local Boards it is only proper that in this particular matter also the revisionary power ought to lie with the District Board."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 117.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

If motion No. 116 be carried the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the word "he" in line 5 of clause 41 (now clause 40) the word "they" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu K. M. Chaudhuri; Sir Henry Wheeler; The President; Rai M. C. Mitter Bahadur; Rai R. C. Pal Bahadur.

AMENDMENT No. 118.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words "may make" in line 1 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the words "shall contribute annually" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I think that the District Board being the recipient of the taxes raised within the locality and charged with the sanitation and other improvements contemplated by this Bill should be bound to contribute to the union fund, and instead of making it discretionary on the District Board I want to make it obligatory on them to contribute to the union board grants for carrying out the works entrusted to them. In these local areas the taxation will be very oppressive and it is but fair that the District Board should pay something to the union boards before they ask them to cover their deficit by special taxation specially as the District Board now get contributions from Government from road cess and public works cess. Therefore I propose that instead of leaving it to the discretion of the District Boards the grant should be made obligatory on them."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, there are certain other amendments of a like character."

The President said :—

"Yes, items 118 to 122 are identical so that Hon'ble Members who have given notice of these amendments can speak on the motion which is now before the Council if they wish to."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have got a similar motion, and my submission is that it should be made obligatory upon the District Boards to contribute a certain amount. As far as the clause goes, the District Boards may or may not contribute anything. My submission, on the other hand, is that as the union boards will be in a state of infancy at the start, it is necessary that there should be an obligation on the part of the District Board to contribute a substantive amount."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have also got a similar motion. Clause 46 (now clause 45) is a very wholesome provision and if the District Boards make a grant they will attach certain conditions to it as to how it should be spent. My object is that the District Boards have got under clauses 12, 15, 29 (now clause 27), 40 (now clause 39), 60 (now clause 55), 61 (now clause 56) and 63 (now clause 58) great powers over these union boards—power of supervision, power of removal of member and so forth, and if the union boards fail to do their work they may be superseded. In many other ways they have been made subordinate to District Boards. And if the union board thus becomes the foster child of a District Board I think it is but right that a foster father should do something towards the feeding of a foster child. Therefore, I think, that it should be laid down that some contribution should be made by the District Boards for carrying out the work imposed by them on the union board. This matter was also considered by the Decentralization Commission and they also recommended in paragraph 764 of their report that there should be liberal grant from the District Boards. Otherwise if everything is left to depend upon taxation, the interest of the people in their own affairs would become lax. I do not know but I think from the trend of the discussion on the Bill that this motion will be acceptable to the Council. I think it is reasonable to expect that there should be a contribution by the District Board to the union board and I have no objection to certain conditions being attached to such grants.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, there are three possible sources of finance so as far the union boards are concerned—first, the Government contribution, secondly, contributions by District Boards and thirdly, local taxation. As regards the Government contributions this Council has already decided that they will not be compulsory and even if the contribution by District Board is not made compulsory then in some cases what may happen is this : in any particular year—a very bad year—the Government may find it inconvenient to make any contributions. Then so far as the district boards are concerned it may so happen that they cannot also part with the money and may direct the union boards to complete their works with their own money. In that case union boards will have to rely entirely on local taxation and we know that local taxation cannot be raised to such an extent as to enable them to meet all the expenses of the various works entrusted to the union boards. We know that the cost for dafadars and chaukidars would amount to about 60 lakhs of rupees a year, this is the amount of road cess and public works cess taken together, so that the two cesses together are just barely enough to meet the cost of dafadars and chaukidars, and it would be remembered that the question of increasing the chaukidars' pay is a pressing one. So that with the road cess and public works cess the union board can get on for about three quarters of the year so far as the cost of chaukidars is concerned. Therefore unless some suitable provision is made for financing the union board the whole Act will be practically a dead letter. The public works cess is now made over by the Government to the District Boards and this lays an additional obligation upon the District Boards to make a grant to the union board. In fact the District Administration Committee made a positive recommendation that the public works cess should be made over to the district board upon a condition precedent to their making over the bulk of the money to the union boards which were proposed to be instituted at the time. Therefore the district boards cannot complain if that obligation be now made a statutory obligation. In fact if the district boards do not make any contribution as I have submitted the whole thing would be a dead letter. So it will not be wise to keep things in this unsatisfactory condition and now that the Government contribution will not be an obligatory one it is but right to have a statutory obligation on the part of the district boards. It ought not to be allowed to remain permissive."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, we now have a batch of amendments which are very similar in type, and which involve one common issue of principle and varying issues of detail. Under the Bill, as it stands, we merely say that the district board may make grants-in-aid to the union boards. But the principle which is common to these amendments is that these grants-in-aid should be made obligatory upon the district boards. The details vary as to the amount of the contribution which the district board will have to make : some would leave it uncertain ; some would leave it to be laid down by rules ; some would merely say a suitable amount, and some would say a quarter, and others a half, of the road and public works cess collected within the area of the union. But we are now concerned with the question of principle—whether these grants should be made obligatory or not. It is perfectly true that the District

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu M. N. Ray.

Administration Committee contemplated that the public works cess would be used in order to give financial help to these union boards. But I think it is equally clear, on reading their report, that they did not contemplate laying down any rigid system. In paragraph 139, after discussing a scheme of possible financing of the union boards which Mr. Birley laid before them for the district of Dacca, they concluded that it was impossible to lay down any hard-and-fast rule and that the case of each district would have to be decided on its own merits. So, I take it, that they were opposed to adopting any rigid system, although they hoped that, in fact, district boards would come to the financial help of union boards, and as a matter of practice they do so.

Taking the last report of 1917-18, we find a long column showing the contributions received by union committees from district boards. Mr. O'Malley tells me that the reason of one or two blanks is that the union committee in those cases had not been constituted. In the aggregate, taking the year 1917-18, out of a total income of Rs. 2 lakhs and 36 thousand enjoyed by union committees, Rs. 1,13,000 was given by district boards. So, therefore, district boards do already contribute. But it may be said: 'Well, if they do that at present, what is your objection to making a mandatory provision?' My objection is one of principle. At one time Government used far more frequently than now to issue definite instructions to district boards and municipalities as to how they should spend their money. We used to say that such and such a percentage must be spent on primary education, such and such a percentage on water-supply and so on. When I went round as Secretary to the Decentralization Commission, and we enquired into the working of local self-government, it was the common complaint of Indian witnesses, if it was suggested in any way that local self-government had not so far quite fulfilled the expectations of its creators, that local self-government had never had a fair chance, because from the beginning Government had kept local bodies in leading strings and tied them down by mandatory orders as to what they should do here and what they should do there. These were constant complaints urged before us throughout India. Now, we come to a suggestion to go even beyond an executive order and to impose a statutory obligation. But the mandatory executive order has been very much discarded in recent years, and even when the public works cess was made over to district boards, the instructions issued to them were far more advisory than mandatory; and I maintain that it is preferable in a matter of this kind to trust to the good sense of the district board. We have initiated a policy of deofficialising the district board, and it is a policy which will be continued, and to which, I believe, an extension will be given very shortly. If we are going to deofficialise the district board, is it wise to saddle it at the same time with statutory directions as to how it should apply its funds in this matter of union boards? In the past, district boards have given funds to these committees—and I trust that in future they will continue to do so—and I submit it is preferable that we should rely on their discretion, instead of trying to hamper them by a legislative provision of the kind proposed in the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, these five amendments and ten which follow are intended, as has been pointed out, to impose statutory obligations on District Boards to make suitable contributions to the union boards for the costs of works of public utility which the union boards are empowered under the Bill to execute. It will be clear from the provisions embodied in Chapter III of the Bill that amongst the duties and powers of the union boards defined in this part, the union boards are empowered to employ an establishment for the collection of the union rates. They are empowered to carry out works of public utility in respect of sanitation, conservancy and drainage, for example, public drains, burning ghat and burial grounds. They are empowered to construct and maintain water-works including the construction of bridges and repairs of tanks, wells, streams and water-courses ; they are empowered to construct, maintain and repair roads, bridges and water-courses and they are empowered to make provision for the lighting of roads and, lastly, they are empowered to establish primary schools and dispensaries. This is a pretty long catalogue, and one would naturally inquire whether adequate funds are proposed to be placed at the disposal of the union boards to enable them to carry out these multifarious works. We must remember that in connection with some of these works, for instance, public drains, burning ghats and burial grounds and other works of public utility in connection with sanitation, drainage and the construction and maintenance of water-courses the District Boards have got the power to direct the union boards to carry out these works. It is not that the union boards of their own motion can undertake these works, but in respect of the particular works to which I have just invited the attention of this Council the District Boards are given the power to direct the union boards to carry out these works. As to the funds placed at their disposal we see that clause 38 (now clause 37) of the Bill provides for the imposition of union rates under certain conditions of an amount sufficient to meet the cost of such works as I have just stated. The contribution by Local Government, where such contribution is forthcoming, is not intended, as far as I understand clause 38 (now clause 37) of the Bill, to cover any part of the cost of such works. It is intended for the part payment of the salary of chaukidars and dafadars and of the establishment employed for the purpose. So that with regard to this long array of works of public utility the union boards are left on their sole resources over and above a few items to which I shall presently refer to their income from the union rate. The clause which defines union fund certainly contemplates in addition to the union rates certain items of fees and costs which are recoverable under the Bill and which are placed at the disposal of the union boards. But clause 46 (now clause 45) which relates to any contribution that the District Board may make towards the cost of such works of public utility as has been pointed out, merely leaves the discretion with the District Boards if they choose to make a provision for the purpose. I am afraid, my Lord, that if no statutory obligation is imposed upon District Boards under this head, this long array of useful and important works of public utility will not be accomplished and the provisions made in this Bill will be more or less elusive. Sir Henry Wheeler has asked us to look at the past : there were union committees in existence for a number of years and out of the two lakhs of rupees which the union committees all over the province had spent, I should say a very moderate sum, the District Boards have contributed nearly one-half ; the District Boards of this province altogether contributed nearly a lakh. We and those of us who have experience of the working of the District Boards and union committees in the mufassal all know what sort of work the union committees now do. They do very petty works—they clear jungles and tanks, but I am not aware of any union committee which has so far been established which has undertaken even a decent proportion of the ambitious scheme which this Bill sets forth. Therefore to refer to the past would not be of much importance. The past does not contain a record of what this Bill expects the union boards to do.

Then it has been said that the people in this country do not relish executive orders—orders proceeding from the executive to force the hands of the District Boards and other local authorities to spend money on certain purposes. That is perfectly true, and I fully agree that the less executive interference with the works of the District Boards the better. But it is one thing to deprecate executive interference with the works of the District Boards and the application of their funds and it is another thing to impose a statutory duty upon District Boards—a duty which must be imposed if the scheme of this present Bill is to be realised in practice at all. I was for a long time a Vice-Chairman of a District Board and I have been a member for over a quarter of a century. I cannot ignore our unwillingness to place at the disposal of these newly-fledged bodies a decent sum of money over which we lose direct control. It is a weakness which the members of District Boards enjoy with other human beings and it is one of the ordinary frailties of human nature. If therefore it is proposed by this piece of legislation to confer upon union boards real powers of executing and carrying out works of public utility which will require considerable expenditure, I honestly believe that unless some such statutory obligation is imposed upon District Boards, all this scheme for the improvement of the village by the people of the village will prove elusive. It may be known to Sir Henry Wheeler that I am perhaps the only member of the Select Committee who had the misfortune to differ from the rest on this point and practically on this point alone and I therefore feel very strongly on this matter and I support the amendment which has been moved."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, the question has been discussed threadbare, so I shall confine myself only to one observation. The question is whether the District Board should be required by statute to contribute something towards the expenses of the union boards. Let us consider for a moment what is the source of income of the District Boards. Whence does their income come? It is the road cess and public works cess paid by the villagers which constitute the District Fund. Is it not proper for the District Board to make over a portion of the money which they receive from the villagers in order to help them in the improvement of the villages? The District Board has no other source of income—I mean the main source—and I think it is only just and proper that the District Board should contribute a certain sum in order to help the union boards in the matter of rural sanitation and rural improvements. It is their money which the District Board receives and they ought to contribute to them. The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said that he opposes this on certain principles. The principle which he has enunciated I have not been able fully to grasp, but the only principle which I can find underlying this provision in the Bill is this: that the Government, the supreme head and authority, is unable to commit itself to any grant, and if it is unable to commit itself to a grant, I do not think it would be decent for Government to fixing an obligation upon the District Board; that is the only principle which seems to me to be underlying this measure, but however we have passed that stage, namely, the obligation of Government. Here the District Board represents the district and here is a small body, namely, the union board which is going to be constituted under it, and my friend to the right has pointed out the onerous character of the duty imposed upon these petty boards, and if Government will grant nothing and if the District Board will grant nothing, then all that I can say is that this measure had better be dropped."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, there is only one point on which I should like to make a few observations. The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has observed that the Government are gradually deofficialising the District Boards and that people resent interference by executive orders. It is not an executive order but it is a statutory obligation that we seek to impose on District Boards. Further, my Lord, what we want to bring out is this: that these union boards are made subordinate to the District Boards to carry out their mandate, according to the provisions of the Bill, and they will pass orders upon them and direct them to carry out their orders but won't give them any funds; it will not be obligatory upon them to give any funds except those which they will receive from the residents of the union. Is this equitable and fair, my Lord? I appeal to the sense of justice of Government, as I know it is useless to expect this motion to be carried in this House, but I appeal to the Hon'ble Members here to consider whether it is fair to pass orders on the union boards directing them to do this and that and that if they do not do that they may be superseded and not to place any funds at their disposal."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, I should like to refer to one or two statements which have been made by the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray in connection with referring to the contributions now made by District Boards to union committees. I think he has not perhaps caught one of the figures quoted by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. The contribution made by the District Boards in 1917-18 was not under a lakh; the actual figure is Rs. 1,13,000. The expenditure by all the union committees during the year was Rs. 1,87,000 and I do not think that it will require any elaborate calculation to deduce the fact that the District Boards contributed a sum approaching two-thirds of the total expenditure during the year. That being so I submit that District Boards at present realise their obligations to the union committees.

Another point which I would like to mention is that the more the union committees develop, the more work they do, the greater are their activities and the less they are dependent on the District Boards. In this connection I may mention that the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray is somewhat under a misapprehension in thinking that all union committees carry out only petty village works. He is not perhaps aware that several union committees have been established at sub-divisional headquarters and in some cases have at least an income which corresponds to that of smaller municipalities. To quote a few instances which occur to me, there is the union committee of Rampur Hat in the district of Birbhum; there is the union committee of Contai, a sub-divisional headquarters in the district of Midnapur; there is the union committee of Bagerhat in the district of Khulna; there is the union committee of Manikganj in the district of Dacca and there is also another at Munshiganj in the same district. Some of them have quite a considerable income of about Rs. 7,000 a year.

Another matter to which I should like to invite the attention of the Council is that clause 46 (now clause 45) should be read with clause 35 (now clause 33) of the Bill in order that its scope may be understood. Clause 35 (now clause 33) lays down in effect that when a District Board makes over to a union board the management of any institution or the execution of any work or duty, it must assign to the union board the money necessary for the purpose, and the union board must consent to the transfer. A District Board therefore cannot transfer any institution, work or duty under this clause to a union board unless it provides the necessary funds."

A division was then taken with the following result :—

AMENDMENTS Nos. 119—127.

The following amendments were deemed to be withdrawn:—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that for the word "may" in line 1 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the word "shall" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur to move that for the word "may" in line 1 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the word "shall" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to move that for the word "may" in line 1 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the word "shall" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the word "may" in line 1 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the word "shall" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that in clause 46 (now clause 45)—

- (a) for the words "may" in line 1 the word "shall" be substituted;
- (b) for the words "such grants-in-aid from the district fund, as they may think fit" in lines 2 and 3 the words "as they will be liable to pay under rules made under section 11" be substituted; and
- (c) the words "and may attach to such grants any conditions that may appear to the district board to be desirable" in lines 4, 5 and 6, be omitted.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the words "such grants-in-aid from the district fund, as they may think fit" in lines 2 and 3 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the words "a sum not less than one-fourth of the road and public works cesses realized within the area under the jurisdiction of the union board" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that for the words "such grants-in-aid from the district fund, as they may think fit" in lines 2 and 3 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the words "a sum approximately one-fourth of the road and public works cesses realised within the area under the jurisdiction of the union board" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President; Babu A. C. Mazumdar.

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray to move that the following be added to clause 46 (now clause 45), namely :—

“ Provided that the grant-in-aid shall in no case be less than half the amount of road and public works cess payable by the cultivating raiyats for lands comprised within the area of the union board; and if there be any dispute between the district board and the union board regarding the sum that will approximately represent the amount of such cess, the matter shall be referred to the collector of the district, whose decision shall be final; and a decision, once arrived at, regarding this amount shall remain in force till the next revaluation of the aforesaid area under the Cess Act, 1880.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after the words “ think fit ” in line 3 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the words “ the amount of such grants being not less than half of the land cesses levied within the union ” be inserted.

The President said :—

“ The next item is amendment No. 128 which is not being moved. No. 129 is consequential on No. 118 which has fallen through, and No. 130 is also consequential. Therefore the next amendment which is in order is No. 131. I now call upon the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move No. 131.”

Motions Nos. 128 to 130 which were deemed to be withdrawn were as follows :—

AMENDMENTS Nos. 128—130.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq to move that for clause 46 (now clause 45) the following be substituted, namely :—

“ 46. The district board shall make over to the union board the whole of the sums realized as road-cess from the villages in the union, and shall make such further grants from the district fund as may be necessary to enable the union board to carry out the purposes of this Act, and may attach to such grants any conditions that may appear to the district board to be desirable.”

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the word “ grants ” in line 5 of clause 46 (now clause 45) the word “ contribution ” be substituted.

If motion No. 126 be carried, the Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray to move that after the proviso to clause 46 the following be added, namely :—

“ Provided that the conditions referred to in this section may be attached to such amount only as are in excess of the minimum grant which the district board must make to the union board under this section.”

AMENDMENT No. 131.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that at the end of clause 46 (now clause 45) the following be added, namely :—

“ and the union board may receive any donation or contribution from any private person for any work within the purposes of this Act.”

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler.

He said :—

"This refers to clause 46 (now clause 45) of the Bill. I introduced this amendment with a definite object. The union boards will be co-operative bodies, and not only their rights and privileges but also their income and expenditure should be provided by the statute. They cannot have any source of income which the law would not allow them to have, and it is just possible that the union boards will have some help from generous spirited individuals who may make grants either for excavating tanks or making drains or any other useful work for the benefit of the union population, and it is necessary to authorise these boards to receive these grants. I know reference will be made to clause 47 (now clause 46) which says that 'all sums realised under section 42 and all sums realised as fines, fees, etc., or cost under this Act, other than fines imposed under section 25 and all other receipts of the union bench or union court, shall be paid into a fund which shall be called the union fund.' I know that reference will be made to the expression 'other receipts of the union board.' Now, my Lord, that would evidently mean, in the view of a lawyer, other receipts derivable under the Act by the union board, and not any receipts outside the Act. It may be, Sir, that the union board may plant trees by the side of the road, they may sell the fruits and with the sale-proceeds of that as well as of the trees that may be cut down and sold, the union board may rear fish in a tank excavated by them and sell them. All these are the receipts which you can bring in under clause 47 (now clause 46). It would mean 'other receipts of the union board,' that is to say, receipts which might naturally come to the union board under the circumstances laid down by this Bill. It would not, in my humble opinion, cover any extraneous grant which the union board might receive from any generous spirited person. At all events, if you want to make out that these are also 'other receipts,' then it is necessary for us to provide in this clause or to lay down that it would be legitimate for the union board to receive grants from other persons, and I think in that view this addition which I have submitted is necessary. With these observations I commend this motion to the acceptance of the House."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, so far as I can make out, there is no question of principle involved in this amendment; it is really almost one of drafting. We examined the point once or twice after receipt of the Hon'ble Member's amendment, and we could not persuade ourselves that this change was really required. The Hon'ble Member seeks to make an addition to clause 46 (now clause 45) to the effect that a union board may receive a donation or contribution, but clause 46 (now clause 45) merely says that a district board may make a grant-in-aid. It deals with the maker of the grant not with the recipient. But the amendment of the Hon'ble Member swings round to another point of view entirely, from the maker of the grant to the receiver of the grant. The only reason for making this addition is the apprehension that a union board may be presented with generous donations from private citizens, and find itself unable to accept them—a result which would be most regrettable. But I cannot see that they could be in that position. The union board will be a body corporate, entitled to acquire property, and I am advised that acquisition covers acquisition by gift. If so when a generous donor comes along and presses Rs. 1,000 into their hands, there will be nothing to debar a union board from taking the money, and it is clearly contemplated in the Bill that they should do so. It will be seen that clause 47 (now clause 46) provides that 'other receipts' of the union board shall be paid into the union fund, and the second proviso refers specifically to sums made over to the union board for specific purposes, such as private donations towards the excavation of tanks, planting of trees, and works of that kind. Therefore the amendment seems to me to be practically a matter of drafting, and after re-examination of the point, we do not see that it is required."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Mazumdar ; Rai D. C. Ghose Bahadur ; The President.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I am not convinced by what the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said about the uncertainty which swings round clause 47 (now clause 46), as well as clause 19 (now clause 18)."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"Clause 19 (now clause 18) covers it."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"No, it does not ; the uncertainty is not removed either by clause 19 (now clause 18), or by clause 47 (now clause 46). I have already said that 'other receipts of the union board' is an expression which would not ordinarily mean any grant or donation, and clause 19 (now clause 18) which says they may hold property, etc., is rather vague. Besides what harm is there in making it clear and explicit. This is what I do not understand, and that is a point upon which Sir Henry Wheeler has not enlightened us. If it is thought that it will go against the draftsmanship of the Bill, well, I think, any member who may have charge of a Bill may forego any idea of being criticised on the ground of draftsmanship. Here we want to make it clear and distinct, and there is legitimate scope for such criticism of such defects as I have placed before the Council, and in that case, what harm is there in adding the words 'that the union board shall be competent to receive any contribution to the fund'. Certainly we cannot lay down and say that any person may contribute to the funds. We can only legalise the acts of the union board ; here a man comes and says 'Here is Rs. 500,' well we ought to say it is perfectly legitimate for them to receive such grants, and I do not think that even clauses 19 and 47 (now clauses 18 and 46) cover such a grant. It would make the matter more clear as the expression 'other receipts of the union board' seem to me to be wide of the mark. It would not be covered by what clause 19 (now clause 18) says, as I have already said. Therefore I ask the Council to consider whether we ought to make the point clear, so that there may be no doubt about the authority of union board receiving grants and donations."

The President said :—

"I might perhaps make a suggestion here which might meet the views of the Hon'ble Member and at the same time get over the objections which have been raised by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. I think Sir Henry Wheeler's objection that clause 46 (now clause 45) is not a suitable clause on which to draft a proposal of this kind, is a valid one. It seems to me that it would be more appropriate if a proposal of this kind was included in clause 47 (now clause 46). Clause 47 (now clause 46) reads : "All sums realised under section 42 and all sums realised as fines, fees or costs under this Act, other than fines imposed under section 25, and all other receipts of the union board, union bench or union court....." and here you might add the words "including any donation or contribution from a private person." I would suggest that if the Hon'ble Member has no objection to this proposal, it would come better as suggested by me in clause 47 (now clause 46)."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Mazumdar ; The President ; Mr. P. C. Mitter.The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

“ I am quite willing to accept Your Excellency's suggestion.”

The President said :—

“ If the Hon'ble Member will withdraw the amendment here, he can propose it again under clause 47 (now clause 46).”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 132.The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that at the end of clause 46 (now clause 45) the following be added, namely :—

“ Provided always that in the case of any union board which has imposed a rate under clause (b) of section 38 the district board shall make a suitable grant-in-aid.”

He said :—

“ My desire is that if a union board helps itself and imposes taxes on itself then this self-help may be rewarded by a statutory provision. I do not desire to go over the ground already discussed, but there is only one point which it is necessary for my purpose to discuss, and that is this. It has been said by Sir Henry Wheeler that there is no reason why we should mistrust the district board. I wish I could share in that optimism. About four years ago the income of the district board was raised by a grant of 29 lakhs of rupees under the public works cess which was made over to them. The whole of that sum, my Lord, was intended for improving the rural water-supply and for sanitary measures generally ; at any rate the Government circular made it abundantly clear that that was the intention. But the district board instead of doing that chose to increase their closing balance and out of its total income of one crore of rupees—it had in one particular year a closing balance of 51 lakhs—and that in a year when the whole province was crying for pure drinking water. The next year it had a closing balance of 41 lakhs of rupees. In that year I had the privilege of bringing these facts to the notice of this Council, and subsequently at the instance of Government action was taken, more at the instance of Government and less, I am sorry to say, on the initiative of the district boards themselves, that this undesirable state of things has been remedied. At the same time, my Lord, I feel the force of the observations of Sir Henry Wheeler, that these local self-governing bodies should be left to work out their own salvation, if I may make use of such an expression. That is all the more reason why I want this statutory provision only in respect of those union boards which agree to tax themselves. If we make this statutory provision, the district boards cannot complain that the executive is interfering with them ; it will be a statutory provision and the executive will have every right to see that the district boards carry out this provision. But, on the other hand, if we do not have such a statutory provision, there may be if they do not help even those union boards who have taxed themselves. One word more, and I have done. It has been said that in the past the district boards have helped the union committees liberally ; I do not dispute that proposition, but at the present moment we have comparatively few union committees, scattered all over the province. Last year I put a question in the Council and I was told that if progress went on that rate, it would take 104 years to apportion out the whole of the province into union committees. With the few union committees that we have, it is quite possible for the district boards to help them generously, but we are legislating for the future. I look forward to the day and I hope that it is not very far distant, when the whole of Bengal will be parcelled out into a number of union boards, and in a district with an area of 4 to 5,000 square miles there will be a large number of union boards, and if there be a statutory provision of this nature, it will stimulate the union boards to tax themselves."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, on a recent amendment I found myself in disagreement, I am sorry to say, with many of the non-official members of this Council, as to the degree to which it was wise to rely upon the good sense and discretion of the district boards in helping union boards financially, and the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter has just sought to adduce evidence justifying the doubt that is in him. But he will perhaps recognise that the instance to which he alluded had reference rather—may I say—to the bad old days, when the official hands lay heavily on district boards. I was looking forward to the happy time when the de-officialised district boards will attain to greater glories of common sense than they ever reached before, and I still think that my view of the previous amendment was justified in the best interests both of the district boards and of union boards. For instance, if we make it obligatory, every time a union board is created, for the district board to give it a grant, the district board, whose views are to be taken before the union board is created at all, might, after a certain point, be almost bound to oppose any suggestion for creating new bodies of this kind. However, I think we can differentiate between that amendment and this. In the first place, this amendment does not actually tie the discretion of the district board as to the amount of the grant, and one of my main grounds for objection to the previous amendment (although we did not come to that point) had reference to the subsequent amendment, by which, as a sequel to the principle of the obligatory grant, it was sought to commandeer anything up to half the road and public works cesses on this account. This amendment does not introduce a rigid system of that kind; it merely says a suitable grant, which will mean that the district board will have to use its discretion as to the amount. If it was determined to act thoroughly mala fide, it could, of course, give a purely nominal sum and yet keep within the four corners of the clause. That is a risk which must be run, but as I believe in a certain amount of common sense in district boards, I am willing to take it. The other feature of this amendment which differentiates it from that preceding it, and which presents some ground for regarding it in a different light, is the linking of the grant with the self-taxation of the union for the municipal duties which will not be obligatory upon it, but which it can take up at its option. We have recognised that there may be a certain amount of reluctance on the part of the union boards to tax themselves for these purposes, and we may willingly do anything reasonable to encourage them to do so. As a matter of fact, this form of encouragement is, as I understand, the policy at present adopted. Most district boards say to union committees 'If you tax yourselves and raise so much, we will add to it to such and such an extent.' Bearing these facts in mind, Sir, and also having in view the considerable volume of opinion which was expressed by non-official members in favour of a statutory recognition of the district board grant in some form, as also the wish of Government as far as possible to pass this Bill with the assent of us all (as it is merely directed towards an advance which we all welcome), I am prepared to accept the amendment which has been moved by the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I find, my Lord, that within a few minutes of opposing my amendment, Sir Henry Wheeler has changed his mind to a certain extent and he seems to have now come to the conclusion that it would be better not to oppose such a volume of non-official opinion in connection with this matter, and has taken the opportunity of accepting this amendment of the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter, but there is one point I want to draw attention to, and that is that in our amendments, at least in my own, there was no provision to the effect that half or one-fourth should be contributed by the district board, or anything of that kind. It was absolutely left to the discretion of the Government."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President.

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 133 and 134.

The President said :—

"No. 133 is no longer in order, and in view of the decision which the Council has just reached, I think 134 is no longer desirable."

The following motions were then, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

New Clause 46A.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after clause 46 the following be inserted, namely :—

"46A. The Local Government shall make to the union board such grants-in-aid as they may think fit, the amount of such grant being not less than one-third of the total expenditure incurred by the union board in carrying out the purposes of this Act in the year preceding the year in which the grant is made, and may attach to such grants any conditions that may appear to the Local Government to be desirable."

The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray to move that after clause 46 the following be inserted, namely :—

"46A. The Local Government may direct the district board to make to the union board such grants-in-aid from the district fund as may be thought necessary for the purpose referred to in section 46. and may attach to such grants any conditions that may appear to the Local Government to be desirable."

AMENDMENT No. 135.Clause 47.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that after the words "under section 25" in line 3 of sub-clause (1) of clause 47 (now clause 46) the following be inserted, namely :—

"all fees paid on account of processes of any court served through the union board."

He said :—

"After the amendment which has been accepted by the Council, I submit that this amendment is more or less consequential to it. It has been accepted that chaukidars shall serve processes and all fees paid on account of processes of any court served to the union board, and in that view I think this amendment may be accepted. However I leave it to the Government. I think it would be desirable to have these words."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, I had not viewed the amendment in the light in which the Hon'ble Member has just explained it. We had interpreted it as a desire on his part to make over to the union boards all process fees that were realised by the courts in respects of the processes which might be served by these union boards.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

“My Lord, in view of the observation made by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, I think it right that I should explain what I have in view. What I have in view is that the chaukidars will have the power to serve process ; and it has already been explained by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler that it will depend upon the negotiations with the High Court. Now, supposing that the High Court allows the chaukidar to serve processes and that it may also be arranged in the course of these negotiations that the whole amount realised from process fees be paid to these union boards. I do not say that necessarily the whole amount should be paid to the union boards, which will employ these chaukidars, but that as the Civil Courts will also have their staff, it is just possible that an equitable arrangement may be made. It is from that point of view, I submit, that it is desirable to have these words included.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, as I have said, we thought that the amendment desired to make over to the union boards all the process fees realised by the courts in respect of processes which might be served through the agency of the union boards, and in that sense we could not have accepted the amendment. The process fees realized by the courts belong to them, as they are levied in respect of various actions taken by the courts, and they do not belong to the serving agency through which the processes actually reach the hands of the recipients. Moreover, the financial interests involved are obviously so large that Government could not agree to do anything which might involve the handing over of the revenue derived from process fees to these union boards. However, I understand, that the Hon'ble Member regards the matter as largely one of accounts, and merely seeks to make a statutory provision that if any fees are paid to these union boards for executing processes served through them, the fees may be credited to the union fund. The system, which we have adopted in places where processes are served by chaukidars, is to pay the actual serving chaukidar at a rate of so much per process, which is, I believe, 2 annas per process, and that remuneration goes into the chaukidar's pocket in return for the extra labour involved in delivering the process. Probably, in any system which we might lay down, we should adhere to that procedure. I do not think that it would be right that the union board should be turned into a kind of process-serving machinery which would make a profit out of the labour of the chaukidar. The wages of the labourer ought to go to the actual worker, which, in this case, will be the chaukidar. As a matter of accounts I do not think there is any harm in accepting the amendment, if it is worded in the following way :—

‘Any fees paid to the union board in respect of processes served through the board’ which, I think, will meet the wishes of the Hon'ble Member. In this form I am prepared to accept the amendment.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

“My Lord, I accept the modification suggested by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler.”

The motion was then put in the modified form and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, may I inquire whether Your Excellency is going to adjourn the Council now as it is now half past six."

The President said :—

"I think we may make a little more progress and we might take advantage of the present cool spell of weather. We might adjourn when we come to clause 56.

I shall now call upon the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that after the word 'court' in line 5 of clause 47 (1) the following be inserted :—

'including any subscription or contribution from any private person'."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved the following motion which was agreed to :—

"That after the word 'court' in line 5 of clause 47 (1) the following be inserted, viz. :—

'including any subscription or contribution from a private person'."

AMENDMENT No. 136.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that after clause 47 the following be inserted, namely :—

"47A. The union board shall keep, in accordance with rules prescribed under section 111, a separate account entitled 'Endowment and Contribution Fund,' in which all sums received by way of gift or by virtue of any trust created to further any of the objects of this Act shall be entered."

He said :—

"My Lord, my object is that a separate account will show these receipts. It will show how much donors have contributed in one separate account and it will also have the effect of keeping the account clear, because if any trust be created I suppose the union board will have to keep proper account of that trust. No doubt it will be quite possible for the union board to keep proper accounts under clause 47 (now clause 46), but it would, perhaps, be better if a separate account is kept of gifts and endowments."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I do not think that a specific clause is necessary to this effect, and it might even be misleading to provide definitely in the law for one individual register and not for others. In clause 111 (m) [now clause 101 (m)], we have taken power to make rules prescribing the method in which the accounts of the union fund should be kept. If it is desirable that a separate account should be kept for these endowments and contributions, it will be perfectly easy to prescribe it by rule."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. P. C. Mitter ; Babu A. C. Datta ; Mr. Kerr.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

“My Lord, in view of what the Hon'ble Member has said, I beg to withdraw the amendment.”

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 137.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that clause 52 (now clause 47) and schedule III be omitted.

He said :—

“My Lord, in the course of the discussion of some of the previous amendments I have indicated my reasons objecting to the delegation of powers by the District Magistrate. I do not like to repeat these arguments at this late hour of the day and I place this amendment for Your Excellency's acceptance.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

“My Lord, the object of the Hon'ble Member is apparently to do away with all powers of delegation in this Bill and to make the District Magistrate exercise all the functions which the Bill purports to invest him with. The Hon'ble Member has mercifully refrained from giving any reasons for his proposal, but I think I had better explain as briefly as possible to the Council why it is absolutely necessary to retain some powers of delegation. We estimate that ultimately there will be on an average between 250 and 300 union boards in each district throughout the Presidency. There will be in each of the boards a force of about 10 or 12 chaukidars and dafadars : so that the District Magistrate will have to deal with the appointment, dismissal and discipline of a body of 2,000 to 3,000 men. It will be noticed that the delegations in schedule III are mainly confined to the questions relating to dafadars and chaukidars. The powers of appointment and dismissal of chaukidars and dafadars may be delegated to the Subdivisional Magistrate the Superintendent of Police or the circle officer. The power of fining dafadars and chaukidars under clause 25 may be delegated to the same authorities, but the power of requiring chaukidars to supply local information under section 26 and of calling for assessment papers and passing of orders thereon under clause 41 can be delegated only to the Subdivisional Magistrate. These are the main points of delegation. Under the present Act, it is open to the District Magistrate with the sanction of the Commissioner to delegate all his powers under the Act to any Magistrate of the 1st class or to any Magistrate in charge of a subdivision or to the District Superintendent of Police. Therefore, we have, in the present Bill, considerably curtailed the existing powers of District Magistrates in the matter of delegation. It cannot be said that the District Magistrate has been given a blank cheque in regard to this matter. We have carefully limited the powers which he may delegate and the persons to whom he may delegate. Having regard to the figures as to the chaukidari force in a district, I do not think that it can be said that the powers of delegation which we have provided are excessive or unreasonable. If the Hon'ble Member's amendment is accepted, the District Magistrate would have to do all the work himself and that would be absolutely impossible. The Hon'ble Member has not suggested any modification in the particular delegations which are provided for in the Bill as it stands, and it would be impossible to take away the power of delegation altogether. I therefore think that the Council will be well advised to reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, there is certainly some force in the argument advanced by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr that the work will be stupendous for the Magistrate and he will not be able to cope with the work. That is certainly true, but at the same time on the other side, my real point is that I object to some of these powers being delegated to the Superintendent of Police or to the circle officer. If the delegation is to be made to the Subdivisional Magistrate as in items 4, 5, 6, 8 and 9 of the schedule, I have no complaint against. My point is that the words 'Superintendent of Police or circle officer, be omitted from items 4 and 5 of schedule III."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"The Hon'ble Member is now speaking on amendments Nos. 215 and 216. The point does not arise on the present amendment."

The President said :—

"This point might more suitably be taken on item No. 215 in which the Hon'ble Member specifically raises that point."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, what I really meant to submit is that if the new suggestion is acceptable then I might see my way to withdraw amendment No. 137."

The President said :—

"I am afraid the Hon'ble Member will have to wait till we come to the schedule in order to be satisfied on that point."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 138, 139.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words "District Magistrate," in the two places in which they occur in lines 3 and 4 of clause 54 (now clause 49), the words "Divisional Commissioner" be substituted.

He also moved that the proviso to clause 54 (now clause 49), be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, may I be permitted to move both the amendments 138 and 139 together because they refer to the same clause, namely, No. 54? The proviso to this clause contemplates that if the District Magistrate is a member of the municipal authority concerned, his functions under this clause shall be discharged by the Commissioner. My point is that the union board is under the control of the District Magistrate; so if a dispute arises between the municipal authority and the union board, the District Magistrate being the head of the union board and the controlling authority, he should not be the final judge. My proposal is that in that case the matter should be referred to the Divisional Commissioner, whose decision shall be final. It is unreasonable that in one capacity he being the head of the union board should be the final judge in the case of a dispute between a municipal authority and the union board, as the municipality may not be represented and thus may become a sufferer. That is all, my Lord, I have to say in this matter."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this amendment has reference to a comparatively unimportant clause of the Bill—a clause which we hope will seldom come into operation. This clause merely provides what is to happen if a dispute occurs between a municipality and a union board. Obviously that contingency may arise, even though it is likely to be rare : and the clause says that, in that event, the quarrel shall be decided by the District Magistrate as long as he is not a member of the municipality. It is modelled on section 136 of the Local Self-Government Act, which says that if a dispute arises between a municipality and a local authority, or authorities, within the same district, the matter shall be referred to the Magistrate of the district. That is an exact precedent. I understand, however, that the Hon'ble Member says that the connection of the District Magistrate with the union board will be such as to disqualify him for the post of arbitrator. In that I think the Hon'ble Member is mistaken. The immediate supervising authority over these union boards will be the local board and the district board : the issues involved are not likely to be serious, and the District Magistrate is not likely in any sense to be biased one way or the other in respect of them. It seems to me to be an unnecessary complication to insist on these petty trifles coming up before the Divisional Commissioner who has far more important duties to attend to."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I beg to submit that the union boards will be practically under the direct supervision of the circle officers and the circle officers will be directly under the district board. In that case I am not convinced of the reasons for saying that it will be proper that the District Magistrate should be the final authority in a dispute like the one contemplated in this clause. If there is any precedent that should not be followed. District Boards in the majority of cases are also presided over by the District Magistrate : so I am not convinced of the reasons of the opposition and I leave the matter to Your Excellency's Council."

The motions were then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 140.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after clause 55A (now clause 50) the following be inserted, namely :—

"55 (41). All matters placed under the control and administration of the district board under the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 shall be wholly transferred to the control and administration of the local board with adequate funds for the purposes of such control and administration, and the function of the district board shall primarily be that of a controlling authority over the local and union boards."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta.

He said :—

"The Bengal Local Self-Government Act was passed on the 4th April, 1885. There were three classes of bodies brought into existence by the Act, viz., Union Committee, Local Board and District Board. The whole question of local self-government was discussed at length by the District Administration Committee after about 30 years' working of the Act. That Committee declared that both the Union Committees and the Local Boards have been great failures. Various reasons have been given for this failure. But I accept without reservation the conclusion of the District Administration Committee that one of the chief reasons is to be found in the changes made in the original Local Self-Government Bill of 1883. The terms of the Bill which was introduced into the Council in February 1883 is a most interesting and profitable study. Only two classes of Boards were originally proposed, viz., the Union Committee for the management of village affairs, and Local Boards for the general control of the Union Committees and for the management of works and institutions of more general importance. The Local Boards were to be entrusted with the powers and duties now exercised by District Boards, and were to be under the general control of a Central Board sitting in Calcutta. But the Secretary of State opposed the idea of a Central Board, and wanted to substitute it by a District Board so as to place each of the Local Government bodies completely under the eye and hand of the District Officer. The good and sagacious Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Rivers Thompson, unsuccessfully protested against this suggestion, as in his view the efficient and independent working of the Local Boards would be endangered by the establishment of District Committees, and he therefore insisted upon the Local Board being the largest unit of administration. The proposal of Sir Rivers Thompson was accepted by the Government of India. But most unfortunately for the cause of local self-government in this country the Secretary of State adhered to the scheme of District Committee and the result was the creation of the District Board as an administrative body. The Secretary of State had no objection to treating the District Committees as committees of control rather than committees of administration. But to our greatest misfortune further and worse changes were made and the District Board under the chairmanship of the District Officer became the unit of administration and not simply a committee of control, and the Local Boards were the agents of the District Boards with very restricted powers and without any financial independence, while union committees became merely optional appendages of the superior bodies. In fact they came to be the fifth wheel to the coach. Thus the changes made at the instance of the Secretary of State completely transformed the whole scheme for local self-government in Bengal originally elaborated with great care and wisdom by the framers of the Bill. It was certainly a mistake to make the District Board the administrative unit of local self-government, and to leave the smaller bodies dependant on its charity and with no clearly defined position in the general scheme. This, according to the District Administration Committee, was to begin local self-government at the wrong end, for the system ought to start from the bottom and work up, as was originally intended, rather than from the top and work down. The Decentralization Commission was also of opinion that the scant success of the efforts hitherto made to introduce a system of rural self-government is largely due to the fact that we have not built up from the bottom. Even as committees of control the areas of jurisdiction of the District Board is too large and experience has shown that they are composed largely of members who have neither local knowledge or interest in local works. It must be the common experience of many District Boards that members representing one subdivision are ignorant about the local condition of other subdivisions. How can you feel an interest in works of public utility unless you know the locality and the people and their wants and wishes? My own experience is that at present roads and khals and bridges and tanks and schools and dispensaries are now undertaken by a District Board piecemeal and at random without considering the wants of the entire district and without any adjustment of the conflicting claims of the different parts of the district. Nobody knows the whole district and nobody feels and takes any keen interest in the entire district. We sometimes have an unseemly contest between the representative of different subdivisions each trying to screw out as much money as he can for the improvement of his own subdivision. The most important part of the work of the District Board is done in the various committees, e.g., the Education Committee, Public Works Committee, Medical Committee, and so on. For obvious reasons the members living in the interior of the district are unable to serve on those committees with anything like efficiency. Thus it often-times happens that those who have local knowledge do not work on those committees, and those who work on those committees have no local knowledge. Besides the number of members is very restricted, and many parts of the district go absolutely unrepresented. At present each District Board on the average has twenty members with an average population of 17 lakhs. Speaking roughly, therefore, each member represents a population of close upon one lakh. This, to say the least, is very meagre and poor representation. In Assam they have no District Board as in Bengal; they have all Local Boards, one for each subdivisions the status of a Local Board there being similar to that of a District Board here. Each member there represents about 20 thousand persons, i.e., the representation there is five-time as much as we have got here. In Bengal the representation in municipalities is immeasurably better than in District Board areas, each Municipal Commissioner representing about 1,400 persons. Then again some members are too influential to be ousted by others. The result inevitably is an unequal and inequitable distribution of the district fund over the different parts of the district. A thorough and intimate knowledge on the part of the members of the entire area of their jurisdiction is the only remedy of this state of things. This intimate knowledge cannot be ensured without reduction of inordinately large charges. If partition of districts is necessary for bringing the executive officers of Government into closer touch with the people, then, my Lord, the partition of local self-government areas is much more necessary for bringing the members of the self-governing bodies into closer touch with those people whose affairs they are invited to manage. The question now arises how this can be accomplished. I venture to think, my Lord, the abolition of the District Boards and transference of all their powers and duties to the Local Boards will solve the whole problem. It is not a revolutionary proposal that I make. I have reviewed the history of the law of local self-government in Bengal only to show that that was precisely the original idea of those responsible statesmen and administrators to whom belongs the glory and pride of making an attempt to introduce local self-government. I do not plead for the acceptance of a new idea, new policy or new scheme. I only urge that the great blunder against which Sir Rivers Thompson fought unsuccessfully should now be rectified. I only plead that the scheme which was approved in 1883 by the Government of India should be adopted. I only say this that the institution which has now been given a trial for 34 years, and which, according to the District Administration Committee, has failed because its basis was unsound and unpractical—I only say, my Lord, that institution should now be practically abolished. While however holding this strong view, I cannot be insensible to the supreme importance of disturbing the existing system as little as possible. I cannot overlook this stupendous difficulties involved in the dislocation of the present structure. I have therefore proposed not the abolition of the District Board altogether, but only the transference of the administrative duties and powers of the District Boards to the Local Boards. In other words, I propose that the Local Boards should be the largest unit of administration so far as works and institutions of more general importance are concerned, and the District Board should be essentially a board of control—a board for controlling and supervising the Local Boards and Union Committees. This principle has already been accepted by Act III of 1885, section 101 of which gives power to the Local Government and the District Board to transfer all their powers to Local Boards. But the power is discretionary and has, as a matter of fact, never been exercised except recently in favour of the Asansol Local Board. This is a matter, my Lord, in which Bengal can imitate with advantage the system which now obtains in Assam. Whoever has seen the roads and bridges and other works executed and managed by the Assam Local Boards must admit their superiority to those of most districts of Bengal. The verdict of those who are competent to speak with authority on the subject is that the system of Local Boards in Madras has been an unqualified success, and a reference to the Madras Local Boards Act, V of 1884, and the Amending Act of 1900 shews what an important position has been assigned to the Local Boards established in that Presidency. It is these boards that really form the principal units of sanitary administration.

Allow me, my Lord, in conclusion to invite the attention of the Council to the historic resolution which the Government of India issued on the 18th May, 1882 on the subject of local self-government. The view of the Government of India, as then formulated, was that District Boards had failed to secure the attendance of members possessing local knowledge of outlying parts of the district, with the result that undue attention was paid to the area adjoining the district headquarters, or that the business fell into the hands of the Collector. The Government of India therefore modified the previous suggestion to constitute one committee for each district, and expressed a desire that the smallest administrative units—the subdivision—should ordinarily form the maximum area to be placed under a Local Board. It was laid down that 'the cardinal principle, which is essential to the success of self-government in any shape, is this, that the jurisdiction of the primary board must be so limited in area as to ensure both local knowledge and local interest on the part of each of the members.'

The recommendation of the Decentralization Commission may also be considered with profit in this connection. Paragraph 736 of their report runs as follows :—

'We are strongly in favour of the principle enunciated by Lord Ripon's Government in 1882 that Subdistrict Boards should form an essential part in the scheme of local self-government, that they should have adequate resources and a large measure of independence, and that their jurisdiction should be so limited in area as to ensure both local knowledge and interest on the part of the members, and be at the same time a unit well known to the people. We think that the admitted failure of Subdistrict Boards, as a whole, has been largely to due circumscription of their powers and resources. In Madras and Assam, where they have a freer scope, they appear to have achieved to some measure of success.'

The specific recommendation of the Commission formulated with great precision in paragraph 93, page 307 of their report substantially supports my recommendation.

My motion also receives unstinted support from Dr. Bentley, our Sanitary Commissioner, who, while discussing the Bill from a sanitary point of view, says "If the Circle Boards are not established, it is essential that Local Boards should be developed so as to form intermediate units of local self-government administration. District Boards have been woefully neglectful and inefficient, specially in respect of public health—and this is largely due to the excessive size of the areas they have to administer. The District Board should be the co-ordinating and controlling authority for the public health administration of the district, but the attempt to administer measures for the prevention of the disease over an area of several thousand square miles will prove expensive, wasteful and inefficient and it is absolutely essential that intermediate sanitary districts should be created if systematic work is to be attempted in rural areas with any hope of success.'

Conditions in England are no doubt very different to those in Bengal. But the English system also supports my motion.

In England the largest unit of administration is the county and on the average a County Council administers an area almost $2\frac{1}{2}$ times smaller than that under a District Board in Bengal. This would be the nearest approach to the average area of a Local Board in Bengal. County Councils, moreover, are not really responsible for the details of sanitary administration which is left in the hands of smaller bodies intermediate in size between County Councils on the one hand and Parish Councils on the other.

So, my Lord, reason, authority, precedents and experience—they are all in support of the motion which I hope Your Excellency's Government and the Council will accept."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, the clause which the Hon'ble Mover wishes to add to the Bill is of a revolutionary character, and judged from the fact that only seven elected members are present, it does not appear to have been thought attractive by the other side of the House. Section 101 of the Local Self-Government Act provides that any particular matter which is under the control and administration of the District Board may be transferred either wholly or in part to a Local Board with adequate funds; for instance, all the roads or some of a subdivision may be transferred to a Local Board with an allotment sufficient for their construction and upkeep. This amendment, however, is quite of a different nature as it aims at transferring the whole work of a District Board to Local Boards. It contemplates a drastic change in the system of local self-government which has been in force for over 30 years. If it were accepted, the District Boards would be reduced to a shadow of themselves. The whole organization now existing would be swept away, District Engineers would have to be abolished and the control of roads, schools, dispensaries, public health, etc.,—in fact all the functions of the District Boards—left to the Local Boards. This is not a fair amendment to make in connection with the Village Self-Government Bill, the object of which is to create village authorities. It is nothing less than a sweeping amendment of the Local Self-Government Act cutting at the root of the system which the Act has established. Government cannot possibly consider such an amendment in connection with the Village Self-Government Bill, and on behalf of Government therefore I must give an uncompromising negative to the motion."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, this may not be acceptable to the Council—that is quite another matter. But it passes my comprehension how my amendment can be characterized as a revolutionary proposal. I have placed before the Council the whole history of the matter. I have shown how this was the original idea of the Self-Government Bill of 1883 and how it was accepted by the Government of India. This was also the idea of Sir Rivers Thompson. I have heard nothing said in reply to that portion of my speech. In fact I take my stand upon the history of the matter and I know it is impossible to give any answer to that. Quite apart from that, however, the principle that I am advocating has been expressly and in so many words accepted in section 101 of the Local Self-Government Act of 1885. And my amendment is almost a verbatim reproduction, with some slight alterations, of that section in the Act of 1885

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

There is absolutely no difference between that section and my amendment, except that in the former it is optional to the Lieutenant-Governor, while in my amendment I have suggested that it 'shall be transferred.' That is all. So far as the principle is concerned it is accepted in the Act of 1885, and I cannot follow the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley when he characterizes my proposal as revolutionary. My real point is this : I am not proposing to do away with the control of the District Board. All I want is that the District Board should be the controlling body and the Local Board should be the administrative body. There is nothing revolutionary in this. And I think in view of the results obtained in other provinces under this system it deserves a careful consideration by the members of this Council."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 141.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the words "except in matters relating to dafadars and chaukidars" in the last two lines of clause 55A (now clause 50) be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the whole subject has been discussed several times, and I do not think any useful purpose will be served by any new observations on this point."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, a little while ago I thought I had reached the last of these items which would place the dafadars and chaukidars under the subordination of Local Boards, but I had apparently missed this one. My objection to such a proposal is the same, namely, that Local Boards have no historical connection with dafadars and chaukidars, and that they are unsuitable authorities to be placed in a supervising position over them."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 142.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after clause 55A (now clause 50) the following be inserted, namely :—

"55B. (1) Every Union Board shall submit annually to the Local Board, on or before such date as the Local Board may appoint an estimate of the probable receipts and expenditure of the Union Board under each head of account for the ensuing year, and an account of its receipts and expenditure for the past year ; and shall submit any other reports which the District Board or Local Board may, from time to time, require.

(2) Every estimate submitted under this section shall be subject to the sanction of the Local Board, who may, before sanctioning any estimate, modify it as it may think fit.

55C. No union board shall incur expenses or undertake liabilities to any amount exceeding the limit imposed by the Local Board."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu A. C. Datta.

He said :—

“ My Lord, in support of this amendment I have only to say this : that these provisions are already to be found in the Local Self-Government Act in respect of the union committees. It does occur to me that these provisions are wholesome and there is no reason why they should not be included in the present Bill.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ My Lord, it is true that these clauses are modelled on sections 105 and 106 of the Local Self-Government Act, and the Hon'ble Member would justify them as a simple prudent measure of accounts procedure. But, in fact, they go beyond that. In the first place, as regards accounts matters, we do not require a special clause. We shall have a rule-making power in respect to accounts, and in so far as it may be desirable to make Union Boards draw up estimates and budgets of the expenditure they seek to incur, we shall have power to direct them to do so. But the objection to inserting clauses of this kind in the Bill is not only that it is not necessary, but also that, as worded, it would result in giving Local Boards a direct authority over chaukidari administration which will be in conflict with the powers vested in the District Magistrate. That is one of the results of combining in one body the chaukidari and petty municipal administrations which were previously entrusted to two different bodies. If we adopt account rules which were previously applicable to one body only, we arrive at the undesirable result that we give a right of interference with a side of the administration with which that body had previously no connection whatever. Under the proposed section the Union Boards cannot incur any expenditure or undertake liabilities of any amount exceeding the limit imposed by Local Boards, and it would, therefore, be in the power of the Local Board to say that there shall or shall not be so many chaukidars, and that their pay, even if approved by the District Magistrate, shall or shall not be paid to them unless it is in accordance with what the Local Board has laid down. There would thus be a direct conflict of authority, and on this second ground also, I would oppose the amendment.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“ My Lord, I have nothing more to say.”

The motion was then put and lost.

Adjournment.

The Council was then adjourned to the next day, Wednesday, the 9th April, 1919, at 11 A.M. in Government House, Calcutta.

BENGAL VILLAGE SELF-GOVERNMENT BILL, 1919.*Babu A. C. Datta; Mr. Kerr.The discussion on the Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919, was resumed.*AMENDMENT No. 143.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the words "Sub-divisional magistrates" and "circle officers" in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (1) of clause 56 (new clause 51) be omitted.

He said :

"My Lord, the words 'the subdivisional magistrates' and 'circle officers' were not in the original clauses. They have been introduced by the Select Committee on the second occasion. Whatever may be the position as regards subdivisional magistrates we have serious objections to this important power being invested upon the circle officers; we are afraid that the result will be the departmentalization of the union board. In the light of our experience of the working of the wholesome provisions of the Chowkidari Act of 1870, we know how the village police were absolutely departmentalized. With regard to this matter, of course, the circle board was the essence of the scheme of the District Administration Committee, but the circle board has been eliminated by the Select Committee and the Council has accepted that position. Now, that being so, the circle board having been eliminated, it is only proper that the circle officers should also go out. Circle officer without a circle board is rather an anomaly. The result will be that the village council will be something like a village school with the members of the union board as peoples and the circle officers as pedagogues, and what we are afraid of, my Lord, that like a veritable pedagogue the circle officer will use the rod too frequently and too indiscriminately and will possibly hinder the spontaneous growth of the self-governing institution. That is our apprehension. In paragraph 720 of their report the Decentralization Commission said that it is most desirable that the union board should be free from interference of lower Government subordinates. I am not quite sure, my Lord, it may be said possibly that this was a remark which was not intended for officers of the class of circle officers, but I should think that this applies to the circle officers, specially in view of the fact that the proposal to appoint deputy magistrates as circle officers has been for all practical purposes rejected and that it is now proposed that circle officers will be young sub-deputy collectors either just appointed or who will be appointed presently. In view of all this we fear that the interference of circle officers is likely to hinder the growth of union boards; and besides, my Lord, it appears to me that this is more retrograde than the corresponding section of the Local Self-Government Act, section 120, and especially as these words were not in the original clause there is no special reason why they should be added at this last stage."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr, said :—

"My Lord, I may begin by correcting one misapprehension under which the Hon'ble Member seems to be labouring. He says that these words to which he objects were not in the original Bill; but in the Bill, as it was presented to the Council in February last, it was provided in Schedule III that the district magistrate should be authorized to delegate to a sub-divisional magistrate or a circle officer the power of seeing that the proceedings of union boards were in conformity with the law and the rules made thereunder. In the Select Committee it was objected—and I think quite rightly objected, that this was not a proper matter for delegation. It was argued that if it is the policy of Government to employ these officers in seeing that the proceedings of union boards are conducted in conformity with the law, the policy of Government ought to be provided for in the law itself and should not be left as a matter of delegation for the magistrate's decision. The Select Committee agreed with that view, and they consequently cancelled that item in the schedule and inserted these words in clause 56—the words which the Hon'ble Member wishes to get rid of.

As far as I understand the Hon'ble Member, he does not very much object to subdivisinal magistrates exercising this power and I think it is fairly clear that under the present system of administration, the district magistrate and the subdivisinal magistrate must have the power of inspecting these union boards and of seeing that their proceedings are conducted on the right lines. But the Hon'ble Member does object to this duty being entrusted to circle officers. The Hon'ble Member has quoted a good many extracts from the report of the District Administration Committee; and I gather that he considers that the views of that body are entitled to considerable weight. I am rather surprised therefore that he does not seem to have studied their scheme of circle officers. He says that as the circle boards have been knocked out, we should knock out the circle officers also. Under the District Administration Committee's scheme, circle boards were to meet once a quarter; the circle officer might be its Secretary or he might be a member. It was an obvious defect in the Committee's scheme that there was very little work for the circle board, and therefore the Select Committee abolished the circle board. But, as regards the circle officer, the position is entirely different, and the fact that circle boards have been abolished is no reason for abolishing circle officers also. The circle officer is to be a touring officer. He is to have under his jurisdiction 25 or 30 of these boards, he is to be on tour nearly the whole of the month and he is expected to visit each union at least once a month. It can hardly be expected that a circle officer visiting a union would merely pass the time of day with the president, talking about the weather and the state of crops, and carefully refraining from putting any questions as to how the union boards were working and as to what sort of difficulties they were meeting. It is to be a definite part of the functions of the circle officer to see that the proceedings of union boards are in conformity with the law, and the circle officer is obviously the person who will have the best opportunities of doing so. If the Hon'ble Member's amendment were accepted, the only people who would have power to look into the working of these small bodies would be the commissioner, the district magistrate, the chairman of the district board and the chairman of the local board. I explained yesterday that in each district there will be on the average, when the scheme is extended throughout the province, 250 union boards. Obviously, the district magistrate could not inspect these bodies individually—still less the commissioner. The subdivisinal officer will have 80 or 100 union boards in his jurisdiction, but that number is too many for him to be in touch with. If there is to be any control over these union boards and if they are to be given real guidance and help, we must go lower down the official hierarchy, and I do not think that it will be seriously suggested that these small bodies composed of village people will not require help and guidance at any rate for some years to come. Government, therefore, consider it essential to retain this function of the circle officer. The circle officer is not going to be a raw youth put in to worry these bodies. We have, it is true, increased the cadre in view of the passing of this Bill; but it does not follow that we shall put in men who were only appointed the other day to undertake the duties of circle officers. We shall probably put in more experienced men who have already been trained as circle officers, and in any case sub-deputy collectors will be trained before they are entrusted with these functions. On these grounds, I submit that it is necessary, for the proper working of the Bill, to retain these functions of the circle officer and I must therefore oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, one of the important arguments advanced by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr is this—that the institution of circle officers has been very much recommended by the District Administration Committee. Now, my Lord, I wanted to avoid any reference to the District Administration Committee's report about the origin of this institution. I wanted to avoid advisedly and deliberately because I think there is something very wrong in the case that has been made out in favour of the circle officer by the District Administration Committee. If we analyze the position of the District Administration Committee about these officers, it comes to this: They say that the real problem is how to bring Government officials into touch with the people in order to enlist their co-operation and sympathy in all administrative measures. Then it is said that in Bengal administrative devolution stops at the subdivisional officers: there is another agency subordinate to subdivisional officers as a connecting link between Government on the one side and the people on the other. Then they go on to consider as to how an agency between the villagers and Government can be established here in Bengal. And then they consider as to why the tahsildars and other officers below the subdivisional officers, whose main function is the collection of revenue, should not form this agency; but having regard to the permanent settlement in Bengal it would be quite unreasonable to bring into existence a class of officers for that purpose and therefore they go on to observe that there must be some other justification for bringing into existence some such officers, and then they say that justification will be found in village organization. It is in that way that a case has been made out for circle officers: in other words, according to the view of the District Administration Committee, circle officers are not wanted as a means to the end, which is the primary object of the village self-government, but circle officers are the end and that in order to give them some occupation that the village system should be organized. In any case the view that has been taken by the District Administration Committee has nothing to do with the village self-government. In this clause 56 (now clause 51) there is first of all the commissioner, then the district magistrate, then the subdivisional officer, the circle officer, then the chairman of the district board and finally the chairman of the local board who will inspect the working of the local board. That cannot be conducive to the growth of these individual institutions."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 144.

The President said :—

"Item No. 144 is covered by the previous decision."

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that the words "circle officers" in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (1) of clause 56 (now clause 51) be omitted.

*Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Sir H. Wheeler.AMENDMENT No. 145.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the word "commissioner" in line 1 of sub-clause (2) of clause 56 (now clause 51) the words "district board" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, in this connection I shall only refer to another clause of a similar subject, namely, clause 63 (now clause 58) where similar power is given to the district magistrate or the district board, and besides my Lord, the supervision will be done better by the district board who will be nearer at home than by the commissioner with all his multifarious duties and living at some distance and not in direct touch with the union boards."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I must oppose this amendment. Clause 56 in its first portion places the duty on certain authorities of seeing that the actions of these union boards are in accordance with law, and in the second portion it gives power to the Commissioner to annul proceedings which are not in accordance with law, this being a sequel to the first part. The placing of this power with the Commissioner is in conformity with the ordinary principle of outside control. It has been said on occasions in the past that local self-government has not had a fair chance of success in this province because control has been too much from within instead of from without. Now when, in this instance, we propose to impose control from without, we are told that that, in its turn, is not necessary, and that it will be quite sufficient to vest the controlling authority in the district board. I submit that the suggestion is inconsistent with the idea of outside control, and that the Commissioner is the proper agency to intervene if the proceedings transgress the law. It is arguable, indeed, that in mentioning the Commissioner we are putting it unnecessarily high, and that we might reasonably have vested this power in the district magistrate : but in so far as the setting aside of the action taken presumably, by a responsible local authority, is an act of some importance, I do not see that there is any cause for complaint in that we have vested it in a higher officer, and in answer to the assertion that the Commissioner will know nothing about what is going on, I may say that he will, inevitably, act on the reports of the supervising functionaries that are mentioned in the first part of the clause."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, there is nothing more to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 146.

The following motion was deemed to be withdrawn :—

If motion No. 145 be carried The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta also to move that for the word "he" in line 2 of sub-clause (2) of clause 56 (now clause 51) the word "they" be substituted.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Dutta ; Sir H. Wheeler.AMENDMENT No. 147.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Dutta moved that after the word "commissioner" in line 1 of sub-clause (2) of clause 56 (now clause 51) the words "or the chairman of the district board" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, my justification for this amendment is that in clause 63 (now clause 58) where a similar power has been given to the district magistrate as well as to the district board a similar power has been given to the district board and that may be done in this case also."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I have just explained the intention in introducing the Commissioner in this clause and I cannot see any advantage in instituting a dual authority which will have the right to set aside an illegal action if taken by the union board. The precedent of clause 63 (now clause 58) is not very appropriate ; that has to do with the suspension of action—a kind of emergency power to be applied immediately if it is found that a serious mistake has been committed. There may be justification for giving that power concurrently to the district magistrate and to the district board which will see a good deal of the working of these union boards, but clause 56 (now clause 51) is entirely different. That covers the duty of definitely setting aside a proceeding, and that is best vested in one authority and not in two."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Dutta said :—

"My Lord, so far as the arguments of the Hon'ble Member based on dual authority are concerned, I do not think that as there are so many instances of dual, treble and quadruple authorities in this Bill, that that is a sufficient ground for opposing my amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 148.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Dutta moved that the words "or any other person authorized by them or by the local Government" in lines 3, 4 and 5 of clause 57 (now clause 52), be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the corresponding section in the Local Self-Government Act is section 121, but these words do not appear in that section, and I am not aware of any reason why they should not be used here."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Clauses 57 and 58 (now clauses 52 and 53) of the Bill are, in a sense, consequential on clause 56 (now clause 51). Clause 56 (now clause 51), as I have just said, makes certain people responsible for seeing that the union boards are working in conformity with the law. Clauses 57 and 58 (now clause 52 and 53) give certain people the right of inspecting the record of work of these union boards, and seeing whether their work is running in a proper way or not. In clause 57 (now clause 52) it is provided that 'the chairman of the district board or local board or any other person authorized by them or by the local Government' may have access to books, records, etc. Clause 58 (now clause 53) provides the same as regards works in progress. The Hon'ble Member wishes to omit the reference to "other persons" but to my mind that would be a most regrettable curtailment of the section, and I would instance to him persons to whose intervention, I should imagine, no exception can be taken. I mentioned the other day that we shall have power to make rules regarding accounts and audit. Proper account keeping will be an important part of the administration as conducted by the union boards, and it will be apart of the administration which it is most undesirable to allow to go wrong. It may happen that it will be found desirable to send persons down to audit and look into the accounts of these union boards, and if so, they will be authorized under this section, and I cannot see that any reasonable exception can be taken to action on these lines. If so, it is right that this clause should stand as at present."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I have nothing more to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 149.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that the words "and other person authorized by them or by the local Government", in lines 3 and 4 of clause 58 (now clause 53), be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I feel that there may be cases in which it may be necessary to engage other persons for the purposes of the inspection contemplated by clause 58. Therefore, on second consideration, I do not like to press this amendment. I, therefore, beg permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 150.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "district magistrate", in line 1 and in line 5 of sub-clause (1) of clause 59A (now clause 54), the words "district board" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir H. Wheeler ; Babu A. C. Datta ; Babu K. M. Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“My Lord, had other amendments been accepted, it would have brought the district board into closer relation with the chaukidars and dafadars than they ever have been, or than it was ever intended that they should be. In that case, this amendment might be said to be consequential. But those other amendments not having been accepted, I submit that this amendment is entirely unreasonable and inappropriate, and I therefore oppose it.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, I have nothing to add.”

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 151.

The following motion was deemed to be withdrawn.

If motion No. 150 be carried the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the word “he”, in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 59A, (now clause 54) the word “they” be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 152.

Clause 61.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words “district magistrate”, in the two places in which they occur in clause 61 (now clause 56), the words “divisional commissioner” be substituted.

He said :

My Lord, my reasons are that in analogous proceedings of these boards, the commissioner has been given the power of interference, and I think that the removal and supersession of these boards should be done by the commissioner independent of the district magistrate. It is a serious matter and it is very desirable that it should not be done locally, but by the divisional commissioner.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“Sir, I would accept the amendment if the Hon'ble Member would agree to mention the district magistrate as one of the persons whose views the Commissioner would consider, that is to say, that the Commissioner, after consideration of the views of the district magistrate and the district board, etc.”

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

“My Lord, I would accept that.”

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir H. Wheeler. The President; Rai D. C. Ghose Bahadur.

The motion was put in the following form and agreed to :—

- (1) that for the words "district magistrate" in the two places where they occur in sub-clause (1) of clause 61 (now clause 56) the word "commissioner" be substituted,
- (2) that after the words "consideration of the views of" in the same sub-clause the words "the district magistrate and" be inserted, and
- (3) the words "with the sanction of the commissioner" in the same sub-clause be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 153.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, amendment No. 153 falls, I think."

The President said :—

"As a result of the decision of the Council on the previous amendment this amendment is no longer in order. The Council decided that the word 'commissioner' be substituted, and they cannot go back on that decision."

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn. It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words "if the district magistrate, after consideration of the views of the district board, is", in lines 1 and 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 61, (now clause 56) the following be substituted, namely :—"If the district board are"; and that for the words "district magistrate may, with the sanction of the commissioner" in lines 6, 7 and 8 of sub-clause (1) of the same clause, the words "district board may, with the sanction of the local Government", be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 154.

The following motion was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that the words "with the sanction of the commissioner", in lines 7 and 8 of clause 61 (now clause 56) be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 155.

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur, in the absence of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, moved that at the end of sub-clause (1) (b) of clause 61 (now clause 56), the following be added, namely :—

"either as regards the exercise of its power under part I or part II, or both".

He said :

"My Lord, in the absence of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray I applied for permission to move the amendment which stands in his name. The

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. P. C. Mitter; The President.

Hon'ble Mr. Roy apprehended that in consequence of the supersession of the union board by an order of the magistrate, the result will be that it would affect the status of those members of the board, who might be appointed as members of the union bench and as members of the union court, that is the criminal bench and the civil court, and that it is desirable that it should not have such consequences. But this morning, the Hon'ble Mr. Duval has drawn my attention to the fact that this criminal bench and the civil court will be created by an order of the local Government. That being so, it does not follow that an order of the magistrate will affect such institutions, and therefore I do not think on reconsideration that the amendment proposed is necessary. I therefore ask permission to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 156.

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter moved that after sub-clause (1) of clause 61 (now clause 56), the following be inserted, namely :—

" Provided that in the case of an order under clause (b) it shall be necessary for the district magistrate to obtain the concurrence of the chairman of the district board before recording the order."

He said :—

" My Lord, as a result of the amendment which has already been accepted, I would like to make a little alteration in my amendment, leaving the substituted words 'divisional commissioner' for the words 'district magistrate'. I may submit that the change I am asking for is more or less consequential on the amendment already accepted by the Council. In the Bill as it originally stood it was the district magistrate who was to be given this power, but now the Council has decided that that power will be exercised by the divisional commissioner. I will ask your Excellency's permission to make that alteration in my amendment and then I shall make my submission with regard to the main point."

The President said :—

"Yes, you may."

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

" My object in moving this amendment is that with regard to the supersession which is the subject-matter of clause 61 (1) (b) [now clause 56(1) (b)] and with regard to that alone the concurrence of the chairman of the district board should be obtained. The whole scheme of this Bill is such that the chairman of the district board and the district magistrate should act in mutual co-operation, and it is desirable that when a serious step like that of supersession is taken, there should be concurrence of the chairman of the district board. That will obviate a misunderstanding, and that I submit will lead to a better working of these union boards. My Lord, on another occasion I indicated that if a local self-governing institution needs to be reprimanded or superseded in the interests of self-government, strong action should be taken, and at the same time it is desirable that all the authorities should be unanimous in a matter like this."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir H. Wheeler ; Mr. P. C. Mitter ; Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I do not think that this was a very good amendment even as it was first filed, and I submit that it has become worse now that we have amended clause 61 (now clause 56) in the manner which has just been approved. The original clause was to the effect that if the district magistrate, after consideration of the views of the district board, was satisfied that a union board is incompetent, he could supersede it with the sanction of the Commissioner. The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri proposed that the order should vest solely in the Divisional Commissioner, although in any case the Divisional Commissioner's sanction would have to be obtained, and we have agreed to that course. I can imagine the Hon'ble Member arguing, though I should not agree with him, that we might require the district magistrate to get the concurrence of the district board, but I cannot see how the Commissioner of the Division can properly be expected to get the concurrence of the district board. Surely now that we have given this power to the Divisional Commissioner and have required him to consider the views of the district magistrate and the district board, we have done all that can be reasonably expected. This power of supersession is the last step in the matter of outside control. It will only be applied as an extreme step, and, we hope, it will not be applied frequently. Let it be remembered that it is to be applied to what, after all, is a small local body; the union board will be a small body concerned with petty administration over a very small area, and administering funds which may run to Rs. 1,000 or so on an average. Is it unreasonable to give the Divisional Commissioner the ultimate right of superseding them if they fail in the discharge of their duties?"

It would be entirely anomalous to require the head of the division to obtain the concurrence of the chairman of the district board before he can take action of this nature. Moreover, it is conceivable, though I do not think it likely, that the district board might be interested or concerned in the events which led up to the supersession of the union board. I therefore oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Prevas Chunder Mitter said :—

"My Lord, with regard to the first two lines of clause 61 (now clause 56) the Council will notice that all that is laid down there is that the views of the district magistrate will be considered, not necessarily accepted, but will only be considered. My amendment suggests that in case of supersession, the concurrence of the chairman of the district board may be obtained. Therefore, I submit that instead of the amendment which has already been accepted, the necessity remains. I can quite understand the disinclination on the part of the divisional commissioner to obtain the concurrence of the chairman of the district board, but, my Lord, if we are to make local self-government a success, such disinclination should be discouraged. For that reason, my Lord, I venture to think that my amendment ought to be accepted."

The motion was then put in the amended form and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 157.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq moved that after sub-clause (2) of clause 61 (now clause 56) the following be inserted, namely :—

"(3) An appeal shall lie to the local Government from an order of supersession of a union board within such period and in such manner as may be prescribed by rules under section 111."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul Haq.

He said :

“My Lord, it has been a matter of the deepest regret to me that owing to a sudden indisposition I have not been able to take my share in the discussion on the Bill during its passage through this Council. Perhaps the Council have to be congratulated on what might possibly have been a curse, but to me, my Lord, the disappointment has been very great and I crave your Excellency's pardon for having said something by way of personal explanation before saying anything on the amendment which stands in my name.

The amendment which I propose is that in case of an order of supersession having been passed either by the district magistrate as originally proposed or by the divisional commissioner as has now been accepted, in consequence of the amendment that has been moved by the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, the order of supersession shall be subject to an appeal to the local Government. I do not think I need take up the time of the Council by discussing the broad principles on which all rights of appeal are based. Briefly stated all human tribunals are more or less imperfect; and an order against which there is no right of appeal carries with it a sort of finality, which ought to attach to the decisions only of infallible tribunals. We may concede at once that this power of superseding the activities of the union board by an order of the divisional commissioner shall be very sparingly exercised and even if it is exercised at all, it will be exercised with the utmost care and caution. But after all, my Lord, an order of supersession may be found to be on enquiry not justified, and if no power is given to a higher tribunal to revise that order, the effect will be that there will be a wrong without a remedy. The right of appeal does not and cannot cause any reflection on the tribunal against which the right of appeal is given. Instances are not wanting in which the very tribunal against which the right of appeal is provided, itself gives the permission for the aggrieved party to appeal. I can mention, for instance, the case in which the High Court certifies against its own judgment that an appeal to the Privy Council is allowable. Therefore, so far as the divisional commissioner or any other authority who passes an order of supersession is concerned, there can be no reflection on him if the right of appeal is permitted. Secondly, a right of appeal gives to an aggrieved party a chance of taking the matter up to a higher tribunal, and having the facts examined by a second party, and thereby there is some sort of consolation to the aggrieved party that after all the order might perhaps have been justified. If the right of appeal is taken away, the party who is given the power to pass an order which carries with it this amount of finality, is led by the very fact of there being no appeal, to act in an arbitrary manner. My Lord, within the last few months, there have been several cases in which orders of supersession have been passed against certain municipalities. These orders have been passed by no less an authority than the local Government itself, and although we need not discuss whether these orders were justified or not, there can be no question that these orders have provoked an amount of protest from public bodies, and almost all the parts of the country affected by these orders thought that in one case, at any rate, the order of supersession should not have been passed. What will happen if an order of supersession is passed by the divisional commissioner and there is no right of appeal to the local Government? How are the aggrieved parties to vent their grievances and acquaint the local Government of what they have got to say in the matter. Supposing they send in a petition to the local Government, the section does not provide the local Government with any power of cancelling the order of supersession passed by the divisional commissioner. Secondly, I would ask Hon'ble Members to read that sub-section and they will find at once that although in an order of supersession a time-limit can be fixed, there is no limit again to the time-limit. What I mean is this; supposing the commissioner passes an order superceding the union board for a period of 10 years. Who is going to restrict his hands, who is going to rectify the wrong? Supposing, so far as that particular matter is concerned, an order has got to be set right, who is going to do that, under what authority is it to be done? Thirdly. I would ask the Hon'ble Members to examine clause (a), as regards which we have not said anything, for my hon'ble friend, Mr. Mitter, who has just moved an amendment in connection with this section, has not said anything as regards sub-clause (a) I have not thought it proper to move any amendment as far as that sub-clause is concerned, because the district magistrate or the divisional commissioner or any other authority may remove, if necessary, the president of the union board. There, only an individual is concerned; it does not raise any question of principle, and I do not think it would be right and proper to take away the power of the commissioner or the district magistrate to remove the chairman through whose neglect of duty the work of the union board might suffer, but when we come to the supercession of the activities of a corporate body, like that of the union board, there the questions that arise are of a far more serious character, and it is only when the rights of the union board as a body are affected, by an adverse order passed by the commissioner, that I recommend that an appeal should be provided for, and to no less an authority than the local Government. Briefly stated, therefore, my reasons are these: In the first place, all orders ought to be, as a matter of principle, subject to appeal, so that they may be set right if there is something wrong; and secondly, this provision to prefer an appeal does not cause any reflection on the authority over whom a right of appeal is given. Thirdly, the section is so worded that if the commissioner passes an order without fixing a time-limit, there is nothing in the section to set at least that kind of wrong right, and fourthly, the supercession of the activities of the union board affects very seriously the rights and privileges of a corporate body and should always be subject to revision by a higher authority. I do not think, my Lord, that in moving this amendment I need say anything further."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, we are all glad to see the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq among us to-day, though, possibly for the reason that he was absent for the last two days, he has supported his amendment at greater length than will characterize my reply. I oppose the amendment as being unnecessary, and as being framed with a want of sense of proportion of what the issues at stake really are. It seems to me that a rather unexpected result may have followed from the Select Committee suggesting the adoption of the term 'union board' instead of 'village committee' as in the original Bill. We are accustomed to 'boards' as indicating bodies of some magnitude and importance, and possibly the use of the same term in connection with these unions has conveyed a similar impression in relation to the union board. But it is an erroneous impression. I have already referred to the scope and the functions of these boards; they will, in fact, be glorified panchayets, though we hope that they will be panchayets which will be more useful and satisfactory than were the existing chaukidari panchayets, while they will have greater scope for beneficial activities than the present union committees. But, in essence, these union boards will be small village bodies. In the event of their going entirely off the rails, some power has to be taken to curtail their functions, and I submit that it is not unreasonable to allow that power to be exercised by the Divisional Commissioner, and that it is entirely out of proportion to ask the Governor in Council, sitting here in Calcutta, to intervene in a matter of this kind."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai R. C. Pal Bahadur ; The President.The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I desire to say a few words on this motion. I regret that this motion, which has been moved by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Mitter, is not to be accepted, as I hoped that it would be accepted, following the precedent of yesterday when some of his motions were accepted. We had, however, the misfortune of losing all our amendments."

The President said :—

"We are now discussing the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq's motion No. 157 and not the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter's motion. The Hon'ble Member should therefore confine his remarks to the motion before the House."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur (continuing) said :—

"Coming to the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq's motion, I think I have heard with great care and attention the reply of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. I find he says that union boards will be glorified panchayets, having greater scope for increased activities than the union committees and that as they will be small village bodies there ought to be a sense of proportion between district magistrates and subdivisional magistrates. Subsequently an amendment has been accepted providing that the sanction of the divisional commissioner should be obtained before passing an order and that in such small matters the local Government should not be troubled. I think I may go back to the history of the question because although it may be well known to the official members, it may not be known to the members on this side of the House; and I may state that before 1908 under the then existing Act the power of superseding these union committees, which are now to be transformed into glorified union boards with larger scope and activities, vested in the district board—and not in the district magistrate, nor in the divisional commissioner, but in the local Government. In 1908 the Act was amended and under a certain section of the Act it was enacted that if a district board or local board or a union committee was not competent to perform the duties or persistently made default in the performance of duties imposed on it by or under this Act, the local Government may by notification specifying the reason for doing so supersede such district board, local board or union committee for a period to be specified in such notification. This is an Act, my Lord, of this legislature which will remain in force until this Act is passed. It will thus be seen that before that a much less glorified body, with smaller powers, used to be superseded not by the district magistrate nor by the divisional commissioner but by the local Government; and the local Government which thereafter in this province was transformed into a Presidency Government by a subsequent amendment of the Bengal Act, must be taken to mean the Governor in Council. Therefore, my Lord, the Governor in Council up to the present time is the only authority which could supersede such a small body as the union committee. It will thus be seen that here we have got the existing Act in our favour and this is a year of progressive reform. The result of the legislation is that the district magistrate with the sanction of the divisional commissioner will supersede these union committees although they will be much expanded. I appeal to your Excellency to consider whether having regard to the march of intelligence in this country and the genuine efforts made by Government to bestow self-government upon the people, this piece of legislation will be considered as a reform towards progress or of retrogression. Then, my Lord, I do not know what is opposed. What I ask for is that an appeal may be allowed to the local Government; the local Government will no doubt consider the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the order of the district magistrate. The district magistrate is not always an infallible person and the local Government presided over by your Excellency or your Excellency's successor, and assisted by the cream of the service which rules the land, will surely be in a much better position to exercise judgment than a district magistrate however good and able he may be. Therefore, my Lord, I think when we the people of this country, the subjects of the British Empire, seek that we should have the right of appeal to the highest representative of the Crown in our own Presidency, why should we be kept out and said that 'our sub-agent must decide and you must submit to his order.' Are we not subjects of the British Crown? It is in this view of the matter that I pray that this amendment may be accepted, so that we may be able to approach your Excellency with an appeal whenever necessary."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I wish to add only one word in support of this amendment. The order of supersession is the extreme penalty which can be imposed under an Act of this kind and where the sentence is so very severe, I do not see why there should not be an appeal. It does not derogate the authority and the position of the Commissioner or that of the Magistrate. It is an universal proposition that in case of an extreme sentence even the worst offender is entitled to an appeal. If the power of supersession had been reserved in the Government as the power now is there would have been no complaint. In fact by this Bill we are going to delegate that function to an inferior officer of Government. In that case I think it is only just and fair that there should be a right of appeal for the union boards. Our recent experience has shown that the sentence of supersession whether rightly or wrongly passed is strongly resented by the people, and I hope if not for anything else, at all events for the satisfaction of the people Government would act wisely to give this right of appeal. It will not take much of the time of the Governor in Council, as there will be very few cases of this character. Then why create the dissatisfaction of the people by making the order of a magistrate subject to Commissioner's sanction final. My learned friend, Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq, only wants that there should be a right of appeal. I think that this is a very reasonable modification of the present clause which I hope the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler will still see his way to accept."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, in the first place, I should like to draw your Excellency's attention to clause 1, sub-clause (3), of the Bill, under which the local Government may, by notification, withdraw this Act from any district or part of a district. So far as sub-clause (b) of clause 61 (1) (now clause 56) is concerned, what does it really amount to? It really withdraws for the time being the Act from that part of the district, superseding the board for a period to be specified in the order. I doubt very much whether the Act can take away the power from the local Government; supersession of the board for the time being means nothing short of the withdrawal of the board. That is a matter for the Government to consider before this amendment is further resisted. In the second place, it strikes me that a provision like this made for right of appeal to the Government should automatically be acceptable to Government, if for no other reasons than for reconciling public opinion and making the work of self-government smoother in this country. I do not know whether these sentiment that the authority to be initiated under this Act relates to a very small measure of self-government with regard to what may be called glorified panchayets has found expression before or not. I do not appreciate this sentiment and would rather deprecate it. Well, my Lord, the panchayets in the olden days was a very big institution. It may have degenerated in the immediate past ; and if we are really to interest ourselves in glorifying that once 'glorious' institution which was one of the features of previous administrations, we are justified in belittling it. But, my Lord, I think that what we propose to inaugurate is something more than a glorified panchayet. Judging by the great interest displayed by your Excellency in its inception and judging from the speeches of the Hon'ble Members introducing the measure in this Council from time to time, I should think that we are laying absolutely the first stone of the great structure of self-government that is coming. When it was urged by some that it might as well stand over till the Reform Scheme was matured, it was pointed out—with force—that it is right that, pending the Reform Scheme, we should be ready with the concrete foundation for the inauguration of the great measure and take the first steps that would make the success of that measure assured. It was from that point of view that we have so long been approaching this measure ; and if what we have so long been maturing it was nothing more than a 'glorified panchayet', as Sir Henry Wheeler has said to-day, I do not think that the time and attention that this Council and the various select committees have been well spent. To my mind, this measure is really and truly a great measure and it ought not to be deprecated in the way it has been this morning.

"My Lord, I do not wish to labour this point beyond submitting that having regard to the various diverging interests that will arise from time to time and to the strong appeal that was made, your Excellency's Government should have at least thought that it would be graceful on the part of the Government to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter said :—

"My Lord, there is one aspect of the question to which I should like to draw your Excellency's attention. It is true that a large number of these union boards will concern themselves with the administration of a small force of men but it is equally true that a fair number of them will be concerned with the administration of a considerable force of men. There will be a number of these union boards which will deal with subdivisinal towns which will have bazars and big hâts and will be in receipt of an income of not less than eight to ten thousand rupees. I understand that it is the policy of Government that with regard to very small towns it is very desirable to have union boards and union committees than to have the application of the Bengal Municipal Act and therefore the suggestion which I venture to throw out is whether or not it is possible to make a distinction between the more important of those union boards—say union boards having an income of Rs. 2,500 and those having a less income."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I desire to speak a few words in this connection. There is a deep impression in the minds of the people that whenever their grievances are not redressed, they would like to submit a memorial to the Lat Sahib for redress. If we look, therefore, to the impression of the people, we can very well understand that everybody desires that there should be a right of appeal to your Excellency's Government, and why should this desire of the people be not allowed? This is a matter which demands your Excellency's consideration. Now, so far as the position of affairs goes, we understand that the decisions arrived at by the subordinate officials of Government ought to be controlled by your Excellency's Government, not in all cases but in many cases. If that be the view, then, it is a matter which ought to be considered. The union boards are for the first time introduced in our province and if any decision is arrived at by the subordinate officers of your Excellency's Government, is it not fair, just and proper that the Government—the highest official of that Government—should take that into consideration, namely, look into the matter? My Lord, I speak from my personal experience that the people of this country wish that such matters ought to be taken into consideration by the highest official of Government, and in this view of the matter I support the amendment."

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, I did not know that the joys and sorrows of poor rustics—their homely joys and their destinies obscure—were so very insignificant as not to be worthy of consideration at the hands of the high officials of Government. I had an idea that by this Village Self-Government Act high privileges and rights were going to be conferred on these institutions; but we are told practically that these institutions would be nothing but 'glorified' nonentities—so insignificant in fact that the members of your Excellency's Government cannot condescend to hear an appeal if an order is passed by a subordinate authority suspending their activities for a period, the length of which is to be determined by the authority passing the order without any restrictions as to what that period is going to be. If these bodies are really so very insignificant as that, why not leave the order of supersession to be passed by the district board; why trouble the district magistrate and the divisional commissioner again; why not place the union boards entirely subject to the control of district boards—for the district boards to look into their working, to pass an order and do whatever they like and if necessary without any right of appeal to a higher authority. I submit, my Lord, that in the original draft of the Bill itself, there was something, if not actually a provision for a right of appeal, or at least something of that character. Your Excellency will notice that, in the clause as originally drafted, the order of supersession was to have been passed by the district magistrate and the power of the district magistrate was to have been exercised with the sanction of the commissioner by an order in writing. This means that although it would have been the district magistrate who would have first taken action, the action that was proposed to be taken would have been revised by a higher authority. In this particular case, the initial step is to be taken by the divisional commissioner and there is no higher authority to revise that order. I submit, therefore, that this is going back in principle upon the original draft itself. After all that has been said by Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari and Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, I do not think it is necessary for me to take up the time of this Council. I am not also physically fit, and I do not wish to inflict any long speech on a question like this. I will only say a few words before I resume my seat. My Lord, suppose an order of supersession is passed and it is really resented by the people, how are they going to give vent to their grievances? Are they to run to the office of the Amrita Bazar Patrika and kick up an agitation and are they to lead a procession through the streets and to go on selling forbidden leaflets in order to let the Government know what the public feeling is in the matter? I submit that there ought to be some provision to allow the people to let your Excellency know what their grievances are and this can best be done by providing the right of appeal. After all, why should an order be passed and the right of appeal shut out? If the order that the magistrate or the divisional commissioner passes is just and right, why should they shrink from scrutiny? I submit, therefore, that it is wrong in principle; it is subversive of all rules and orders and justice to deprive an aggrieved party from the right of appeal. I appeal to your Excellency not to reject this amendment."

Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir H. Wheeler.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, if I wanted evidence in support of my contention that this amendment betrays a certain amount of lack of proportion in the proposal which it contains, I should produce the evidence of the speeches that have been delivered with reference to it. I still maintain that we are in danger of getting entirely out of proportion in our view of the issues involved in this matter.

As the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has referred to section 131 of the Local Self-Government Act and has quoted it in his favour, I would briefly state that it is perfectly true that the Act groups district and local boards and union committees in one lump, and vests the power of supersession in the local Government. I can only characterize it as one of many sections which were first framed in connection with local self-Government, which are based upon an undesirable degree of centralization, towards the removal of which subsequent legislation has been directed. A section which groups as analogous bodies district boards and union committees seems to me to be defective on the face of it.

The only other point that I would mention is as regards the curious allegation that has been made by various speakers, that we want to belittle the union boards which we are endeavouring to set up. The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari seems somewhat inconsistent in referring to the glorious past of the panchayets in this country, and simultaneously saying that I am belittling union boards by referring to them under that name. The accusation reminds me somewhat of an instance some little time ago when, in a published resolution, we were rash enough to say that certain officers were discharging functions of subordinate responsibility. We were then told that we had insulted these officers by that remark, and I endeavoured to clear up that misapprehension in this Council Chamber. As regards these union boards nothing can get away from the fundamental fact that their concern is with small areas, touching which they discharge minor functions and are concerned with exiguous funds. There is really no insult intended in mentioning that the circumstances of the case are of that description.

As regards the joys and sorrows of the poor villagers, which the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq charges us with disregarding, I may mention that the supersession of a union board, if it occurs at all, will be directed towards the enhancement of those joys by removing a body which has presumably failed entirely to perform the functions allotted to it."

AMENDMENT NO. 158.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that after sub-clause (1) of clause 62, (now clause 57) the following be added, namely :—

"(aa) all powers and duties of the union board under Part I shall, until such board is reconstituted, be exercised and performed by the local board."

He said :

"My Lord, this amendment and amendment No. 161 are related to each other and I propose to speak on them together and it is for your Excellency to decide whether they should be put to the House separately or together. In case of the supersession of an union board the question is which body shall

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Sir H. Wheeler ; The President.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after the words "union board", in line 1 of sub-clause (1) (b) of clause 62 (now clause 57), words "under part I", be inserted; and for the words "such local person or persons, and in such manner, as the district magistrate, or the commissioner, may direct, and", in lines 3 to 7 of the

nated, and under

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, this clause deals with the distribution of the powers and functions of the union board in the event of its supersession, and it provides that these powers and functions shall be exercised and performed by such local authority, person or persons, and in such manner, as the district magistrate, with the sanction of the Commissioner, may direct, and we framed it in that way so as to give a certain amount of elasticity in distributing the different duties with which these boards may have been concerned. My objection to accepting amendment No. 158 is that it would finally vest all powers under Part I in the local board, whereas Part I contains many functions with reference to chaukidari administration, with which, as I have frequently argued during the last two days, local boards are not concerned. It would not therefore be proper that, even on the supersession of the union board, the local board should step into its shoes in regard to chaukidari matters."

The Hon'ble Member has also referred to his second amendment, No. 161, although it is governed by different considerations, and it may have time if I also state the objections to them now. There seems to be some apprehension underlying it. What the Hon'ble Member has in his mind is that along with the supersession of the union board, all powers under Part I should vest in the local board, while those under Part II, which deals with judicial functions, should vest in persons to be decided as in the clause as at present drafted. But I may point out that the powers exercisable under Part II are not powers of the union board; they are powers of the union bench and of the union court. If the board is superseded there will be no members of the board, and therefore there can be no bench or court, which is made up of members of the board. Therefore there is a fallacy in the reasoning of the Hon'ble Member as regards the second amendment, and I cannot accept it."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"I think my hon'ble friend is under a misapprehension. The fact of supersession will not certainly affect the criminal bench or the civil court in any way. They will remain as they are and I do not see the necessity of the second amendment proposed by my hon'ble friend. As I said a short time ago in connection with amendment No. 155, the bench and the court will be appointed by an order of the local Government. That being so, no order of supersession by a subordinate authority can touch them. They will, of course, be formed by appointment from among the members of the union board, but if the union board is abolished it does not follow that the court and bench should also be superseded because the appointment of the latter lies with the local Government and, of course, the district magistrate or the divisional commissioner cannot turn them out by saying that we abolish the court and bench."

*Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta; Sir H. Wheeler; The President.The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"As regards amendment No. 161, I must admit that there was some fallacy underlying it which has been pointed by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, but which did not occur to me before. I now see that it is unnecessary and I am fully convinced by the arguments of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. Therefore, I would not press amendment No. 161. But, as regards the other amendment, I take my stand upon the arguments advanced by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler himself who says that Part I, among other things also deals with the chaukidari function, and so far as that particular function is concerned it cannot be exercised by the local board in case of the supersession of an union board. So far as that statement goes I am quite prepared to concede that it is quite correct. But at the same time I may point out that Part I, includes other functions also—I mean the municipal functions—functions which are more important than chaukidari duties, sanitary improvements, primary education, medical relief, conservancy, drainage, etc. So far as these functions are concerned, according to the line of argument followed by Sir Henry Wheeler, they should be more appropriately exercised by the local board in case of a supersession of the union board. Therefore, if I may be permitted by your Excellency, I would like to slightly modify my amendment on these lines. My proposition is this: that so far as the municipal functions are concerned they will be carried on by the local board leaving out the other function, namely, the chaukidari function mentioned in Part I. I am entitled to do this as I am not asking for more than this amendment involves."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I think I can satisfy the Hon'ble Member without the modification of his amendment. All powers and duties under this clause can be made over either to a local authority or to a person or persons, and we inserted the words 'local authority' in order to render it possible to make over the municipal functions of the union board, it may be, to the local board or to an adjoining union board. These municipal functions will ordinarily be made over to the local board, and under the clause as framed it will be perfectly possible to do so. If, as I understand, the Hon'ble Member wishes to ensure that these municipal functions must be made over to the local board, that can be done under the present Bill, but I strongly deprecate inserting other words as he now suggests, since we have no time to scrutinize the whole Bill with the view of appreciating their precise bearing."

The President said :—

"In view of what the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said, I think the Hon'ble Member had better move his amendment in the form in which it appears on the paper."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 159 to 161.The President said :—

— "Nos. 159 and 160 are covered by the decision on the former amendment, and I understand the Hon'ble Member wishes to withdraw No. 161."

The following motions were then deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Sir H. Wheeler ; The President.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after the words "union board", in line 1 of sub-clause (1) (b) of clause 62 (now clause 57), the words "under part I", be inserted; and for the words "such local authority, person or persons, and in such manner, as the district magistrate, with the sanction of the commissioner, may direct, and", in lines 3 to 7 of the same sub-clause, the following be substituted, namely:—

"the local board within which the union board is situated, and under Part II by a nominee of the district magistrate".

If motion No. 159 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray also to move that sub-clause (1) (c) of clause 62 (now clause 57) be omitted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that after the words "union board" in line 1 of sub-clause (1) (b) of clause 62 (now clause 57), the words and figures "under part II" be inserted.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 162 AND 163.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

My Lord, No. 162 and No. 163 which stand in my name are exactly the same, and therefore I am taking them together.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"My Lord, when I was examining these amendments, they seemed to me to be consequential, as I thought they followed the Hon'ble Member's desire to replace the district magistrate by the district board. But in any case, whether consequential or not, I do not think they are an improvement, as if the power of supersession rests with the district magistrate, with the sanction of the Commissioner, and we have now vested it in the Divisional Commissioner, it is only reasonable that the distribution of the superseded powers should equally rest with the executive authorities. The district board will not come into the act of supersession, neither should it properly come in under the distribution of the superseded powers, particularly since with chaukidari matters the district board has no concern."

The President said:—

"I was just going to raise that point. I think as a result of the amendment made in clause 61 (now clause 56), we ought strictly speaking to make a similar amendment in 62, and in place of 'the district magistrate, with sanction of the commissioner', to insert the word 'commissioner'. Under these circumstances, we had better come to a decision upon the Hon'ble Member's amendment, and if that amendment is not carried, I will ask Sir Henry Wheeler to move the amendment which I have suggested."

The motions were then put and lost.

They were as follows:—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words "district magistrate, with the sanction of the commissioner" in lines 5 and 6 of sub-clause (1) (b) of clause 62 (now clause 57), the words "district board" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta also to move that for the words "district magistrate, with the sanction of the commissioner" in lines 4 and 5 of sub-clause (1) (c) of clause 62 (now clause 57), the words "district board" be substituted.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir H. Wheeler; Babu A. C. Datta; Babu K. M. Chaudhuri.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"With your permission, Sir, I will now move in consequence of the amendment in clause 61 (now clause 56) which has been accepted by the Council, that in clauses 62 (b) and 62 (c) (now clause 57), the words 'district magistrate, with the sanction of the commissioner,' wherever they occur, should be replaced by the word 'commissioner'."

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 164.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta also moved that for the words "the district magistrate" in line 1 and in line 7 of clause 63 (now clause 58) and for the words "such magistrate", in line 4 of clause 63 (now clause 58), the words "the local board" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"This is the clause which gives power to suspend the action of a union board in case of emergency, and it vests that power in the district magistrate or the district board. Under section 124 of the Local Self-Government Act the corresponding power is exercised by the magistrate of the district or the commissioner. In the Bill we have introduced the district board, and to that extent we have recognized the desire to emphasize the position of the district board in connection with the supervision of union boards, but this amendment now asks us to go further. It asks us to take out the district magistrate entirely, and to substitute in his place the local board. In other words, it would eliminate all outside right of intervention by the district magistrate, in the event of the doing of an act which in his opinion was likely to cause injury or annoyance to the public, or to any class or body of persons, or to lead to a breach of the peace, and I submit that the intervention of the district magistrate in such a contingency is amply justified by his position in the district and the responsibilities which devolve upon him. He is essentially the man who is concerned with these considerations, and I cannot see the wisdom of eliminating him from the right to see that those considerations are not endangered by any improper action on the part of the union board."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"I have nothing further to say."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 165.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri moved that for the words "or the district board", in line 1 of clause 63 (now clause 58), the words "on the recommendation of the district board to that effect" be substituted.

He said:—

"By this amendment I rather wish to restrict to a certain extent the power of the District Board. Clause 63 (now clause 58) as it stands provides for dual control either by the district magistrate or by the district board. But I think it would be better if the district magistrate be the final authority, and I would like to leave the initiative to the district board. My object is that there should not be any difference of opinion between the two authorities. In most cases the magistrate is the real authority, but in this case, instead of acting independently, I want him to act on the initiative of the district board, which is more concerned with the working of the union board. That is all I have to submit, my Lord."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir H. Wheeler : Babu K. M. Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I doubt if the Hon'ble Member has correctly represented the effect of his own amendment. As I understand him, he says he wants to avoid the dual control which now exists in the clause, under which, as framed, the district magistrate or the district board may take action, but if we accept the amendment which he suggests, the clause would run 'the district magistrate on the recommendation of the district board may. etc.,' the practical result being that even if it appeared to the district magistrate that injury or annoyance is likely to be caused to the public, or a breach of the peace is to be apprehended, he would not be able to move without the recommendation of the district board. My objection to this amendment is similar to that which I took in connection with the previous amendment, viz., that this is a matter in which the district magistrate is acutely interested and in which he should have an unfettered hand to intervene if he thinks it necessary."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"I have nothing further to add, my Lord."

The motions was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT Nos. 166—169.

The following motions which were held to be covered by decisions on previous amendments were deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for clause 65 (now clause 59) the following be substituted, namely :—

"65. When the local board makes any order under section 63, such board shall forthwith submit to the district board a copy of the order, with a statement of the reasons for making it and with any explanation which the union board concerned may wish to offer, and the district board may thereupon confirm, modify or rescind the order."

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the words "or the district board", in lines 1 and 2 of clause 65, (now clause 59), the words "on the recommendation of the district board to that effect" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri also to move that for the words "the magistrate or board, as the case may be", in lines 2 and 3 of clause 65 (now clause 59), the word "he" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Datta ; Sir H. Wheeler.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that after clause 65 (now clause 59) the following be inserted, namely :—

" 65A. Whenever the district magistrate or the divisional commissioner passes any order under this chapter either in the first instance or upon revision, he shall forthwith transmit the whole record of the case to the local Government, who may thereupon confirm, modify or rescind the order."

AMENDMENT No. 170.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "all or any", in line 3 of clause 74 (now clause 65), the words "any three or more" be substituted.

He said :

" My Lord, clause 74 (now clause 65) relates to the constitution of the union bench. Under the clause as it stands even a single member can form a bench. In view of the fact that the decisions will be summary and final and not governed by the procedure laid down by the Civil and Criminal Procedure Codes, my contention is that it would not be safe to have the bench constituted of a single member only. It is said there is safety in number and in that view I propose that the minimum number of members constituting the union bench should be three."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

" My Lord, as two other Hon'ble Members have similar amendments, I may briefly explain the position. It is perfectly true that under clause 74, (now clause 65) as it stands, the local Government may appoint all or any of the members of the board to be members of the bench, and that, therefore, it would be possible to constitute a one-man bench. It is also true that the members of the District Administration Committee seem to have contemplated a bench of several members, as they observed in paragraph 133 of their report as follows :—

' The other members of the Bench should ordinarily be appointed from among the members of the panchayat, and three should form a quorum for the disposal of case work.'

It would follow that if three was to be a minimum quorum we could not have a one-man bench. We considered this point in Select Committee, and opinion was not altogether unanimous with regard to it; but we eventually came to the conclusion that the change was a substantial one, which should be left to the consideration of the Council. The arguments in favour of a bench is, of course, that collective opinion is thereby secured; and when we are constituting a judicial tribunal the proceedings of which will be somewhat informal, as compared with those of the regular courts, it may be desirable to retain that collective judgment as a corrective to any possible errors of one member only. That is the argument for the amendment as I understand it. On the other hand, if we require that the bench must consist of three men, it may hamper the extension of the system, in so far as, while in some parts it may be possible to find one, or even two, men fit to exercise these powers, it may not always be the case that we can find the minimum of three; also, in subsequent stages of judicial hearings, it is more difficult and more complicated to get three men together at one time and place than it is to call on one man. These are the considerations which strike me on the other side; and I would adopt the attitude of the Select Committee and say that we are perfectly willing to leave the matter to the decision of the Council."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, as I gather from the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, he is not keen about retaining a provision as regards the constitution of the union bench and leaves it to the decision of this Council. As the Hon'ble Member has said there is much to be said in favour of the collective wisdom of a body of men than the judgment of a single individual, and as the members of the union bench are not likely always to be men of judicial experience it is better to put 2 or 3 — 3 would be preferable—on the bench, and as regards the difficulty in securing the requisite number, I think if we find three persons suitable for the union board they might as well serve on the union bench, or if there be any such difficulty we need not have the bench at all. The safest thing is to have three persons on the bench, and I would, therefore, support the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta's amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have a similar motion in which I suggest that the words 'at least three' be substituted for the words 'any of the'. My reason is that such a kind of trial is like a trial by jury, and we therefore ought to have not one member but at least three. If we take two, the decision will be unsatisfactory, in case of difference of opinion. If we take at least three, the decision of the jury will be satisfactory. So my Lord, if a bench is to be formed, as the language of the clause is, then a bench consisting of one gentleman will not be satisfactory. It is, therefore, necessary that due attention should be given, I submit respectfully, to the suggestion which I have put before the Council. My Lord, if it be argued on the other hand that competent men to form the bench are not available, then, I submit respectfully that the whole scope of the Bill will be frustrated. It is with this view that we put before the Council that men of educational qualification should come to the bench. Being a mufassal man, I am sensible of the fact that there may be places where this difficulty will arise, but in that case it is necessary to see whether such a bench can be formed or not. If such a bench cannot be formed, then, I submit the bench of one man will not be sufficient for the purpose and the whole idea will be imperfect. It is with this view perhaps that the framers of the Bill thought it necessary to put in it the elastic expression 'or any'. But, my Lord, if the object of Government be that in every union a bench is to be formed, it will be necessary to strengthen the body of the members of the board. How can that be done? I submit that if the villagers are to depend upon the decision of one man, it will be far better to go to the munsif and to have a decision from him—a trained lawyer. If we are to depend upon the decision and judgment of a man who is an untrained lawyer and not cognisant of the principles of law, depending solely upon his own common-sense, the judgment of such a man will be unsatisfactory whatever it may be. I, therefore, submit respectfully that the Council will consider the desirability of having such an expression as 'at least three'."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Mr. Hart ; Babu A. C. Datta.The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

"My Lord, may I rise just to explain why I am unable to vote for this amendment. I did not rise to speak before because I thought that the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohun Chaudhuri would move his amendment (No. 172). I wish to point out to this Council that in the practical working of union benches there would be considerable difficulty in securing a quorum of three. The ordinary practice in the mufassal is for a bench of honorary magistrates to be constituted of two members ; and unfortunately a great deal of delay occurs in the trial of honorary magistrates' cases, owing to the fact that the two members who start a particular case can be very seldom got together on the subsequent days to which the case may be adjourned. In the case of union benches, it is very desirable that the case should be tried and disposed of in one day ; but sometimes that will be impossible. Difficult as it is to reassemble a bench of two, the difficulty with a bench of three will be far greater, and if we are now to insist that at least the same three members of the bench who begin the hearing of the case must hear it right through to the end, it will result in very great delay and trouble to the parties concerned. For this reason, I am unable to vote for anything more than a bench constituted of two members. I may say that in other provinces the same difficulty has been experienced and I may be permitted to quote one instance. In the Report of Civil Justice in the Punjab for 1916, the following occurs :—

'At present, there are no honorary civil benches in the province, the main obstacle to their constitution being the direction in section 28 (2) of the Punjab Civil Courts Act, that such benches must consist of an uneven number of members. In practice, it has been found impossible to get three or five men to meet. There seems to be no reason why two members should not form an efficient and popular tribunal.'

With this opinion, I think that most practical men, who have had experience of village life, will agree. I should like, however, just to allude to the reasons why the Bill contains the provision for a single member constituting a bench. We have, even at the present time, on certain union committees, retired members of the provincial, judicial and executive services, such as retired munsifs and subordinate judges and retired deputy magistrates ; and it was thought by the framers of the Bill that where the services of such men were available, the villagers would be very pleased to take advantage of them by having them invested with single-sitting powers. However, if the Council desires that a bench should never be constituted of one member only, I do not think that there would be very much objection to a second member being always associated with him. This arrangement would have the advantage that the other member would get the experience of legal work which the retired officer would be able to give him ; while on the other hand, the retired officer would gain by being associated with a colleague who would probably have more knowledge of local affairs and a clear understanding of local conditions. For these reasons, I should see no objection to a minimum quorum of two ; but a minimum quorum of three is, I think, a proposal so impracticable that if it were carried we shall not be able to get the union benches to work. In order that this Bill may not be a dead letter, I must vote against the amendment as it stands 'at present'."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I am quite prepared to accept the proposal of the Hon'ble Mr. Hart, about two members forming a bench ; but there may be a difficulty in the event of disagreement of the two members."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Mr. Hart; Babu A. C. Datta; Sir H. Wheeler; the President.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hart said :—

"My Lord, may I explain that most benches of honorary magistrates consist of two members and I have never heard of any difficulty of that sort being experienced."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"Very well, my Lord, I am quite prepared to accept the suggestion of the Hon'ble Mr. Hart, viz., two members constituting the bench."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"I have no objection."

The motion was then put in the following amended form and agreed to :—

That for the words "all or any" in line 3 of clause 74 (now clause 65), the words "any two or more" be substituted.

The following motions were then deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur to move that for the words "any of the" in line 3 of clause 74, (now clause 65), the words "at least three" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the word "any" in line 3 of clause 74 (now clause 65), the words "at least three" be substituted.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 173 and 174.

The President said :—

"Items No. 173 falls to the ground and I think that No. 174 necessarily fails because the Council have just decided that the bench may be constituted of two members. By this motion (No. 174) the Hon'ble Member wishes to say that it must not be less than three; and that would, I think, be contrary to the decision which the Council have just come to."

Amendment No. 173 was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that for the word "any", in line 3 of clause 74 (now clause 65), the words "as many" be substituted, and after the word "board", in line 4 of the same clause, the words "as may be necessary" be inserted.

Amendment No. 174 was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that the following be added to clause 74 (now clause 65), namely :—

"Provided that not less than three of such members must sit together for the trial of a case, and they shall serve in such rotations and for such periods at a time as may be fixed by rules prescribed under section 111, and in accordance with posters prepared by the District Magistrate for each union bench."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu A. C. Mazumdar; Sir H. Wheeler.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I might abide by the decision of the Council on the previous amendment and might move that not less than two of such members must sit together and so on."

The amendment was then amended by the substitution of the word "two" for the word "three".

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar (continuing) said :—

"My object in moving this is simply this: that in all probability Government will take care to appoint more than two persons to be magistrates of a bench, but then the functions of the bench should not be confined to any two for any length of time, or at all events for the term of their office. It may be a very unpleasant information to this Council, but truth must be said in a matter of this description. One of the most important features of this Bill is the constitution of a criminal bench and a civil bench in connection with union boards and it should be the utmost effort of Government to make these courts, whether civil or criminal, to be above suspicion. Now, if any two members are required to form the bench or the court for any length of time, there is the grave danger of their losing the confidence of the public. In the villages there are factions and consequently it is necessary that there should be changes of these benches at intervals. This can only be effected by rules of Government saying that for one quarter there must be two and for the next quarter another two, and there should be rosters prepared by the district magistrate as are prepared by him in the cases of benches of honorary magistrates, so that there may not be any fixity of the persons who are to try these cases: that will be a safeguard against these corruptions. I may tell this for the information of the Hon'ble Members of this Council that something has been said about honorary magistrates, but I should like to say that outside Calcutta honorary magistrates are not above suspicion. In fact, we who practise in the mufassal are fully aware that applications are very frequently made to magistrates to transfer a case from an honorary magistrate to a stipendiary magistrate. These things are being experienced and I do not think I am saying too much that this fact is even known to some of the district officers, and I think we should take steps in the present case not to allow the honorary magistrates, as they may be called bench magistrates in this case, to have any opportunity of being vitiated in their judgment and in their conduct, and I therefore earnestly hope that their service should be by rotation and in accordance with such rosters as may be prepared by the district magistrate. There is considerable danger of having permanent benches of one, two or more persons and that would be a safeguard against corruptions. There is party feeling, party factions, and they ought to be also guarded. I think if the system suggested in my amendment is accepted it will command public faith. As 'two' has been accepted by the Council I need not press for more."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"Sir, there are two points involved in this amendment. In the first place the Hon'ble Mover apparently wishes to ensure that the quorum of the bench should in no case be less than two, but this seems almost to follow from the amendment which has just been accepted to the effect that the local Government may appoint 'any two or more' members to form a bench. It would scarcely seem consistent with that provision to constitute a quorum of one. I doubt, therefore, whether the first part of the amendment is not already covered by the previous decision, and, if so, it is unnecessary. Also it could be rendered unnecessary by rules to be framed under section 111(q), which gives the local Government power to prescribe the method of forming a quorum. The local Government could easily say that the quorum shall not be less than two, and in the light of the discussion of to-day, I have no doubt that the local Government would adopt that line.

The second part of the amendment is, I think, open to objection on the ground that it is seeking an elaboration which will render the working of these village benches impossible. The whole idea of the village bench is that it shall be a small body, called together on a local complaint, to dispose of that complaint by simple methods and without the complications which attend proceedings in the ordinary courts. If that is the intention of the Bill, it will be entirely frustrated if we are to require these small village tribunals to serve by rotation and at such periods of time as may be prescribed by rules and in accordance with rosters to be prepared by the district magistrate. That is a procedure which is entirely inappropriate in the case of union benches, and it is inconsistent with the objects which it is intended that these benches should fulfil. Therefore I would oppose that part of the amendment on these grounds."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, clause 74 (now clause 65) of the Bill seeks to appoint a bench and not a panel of men; a bench can only be a bench. Therefore, the question raised in the amendment does not really arise."

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray said :—

"My Lord, I entirely agree with Sir Henry Wheeler that the elaborate procedure suggested in this amendment will frustrate the very object of the Bill. A union board will usually consist of members of not less than six and not more than nine. The local Government will select some of the members of the union board and appoint a bench, the number may be 2, 3, and I do not think it will be more than 4 generally. It is therefore desirable that when a bench consists of 2, 3, or 4 members they should all meet, and, as has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Hart, it is difficult to get all the four men together. Therefore no question of the members of the bench working by rotation can possibly arise. It is only in districts where the number of honorary magistrates is very large, say 20 or exceeds 20, that the procedure suggested by this amendment is followed. Surely such an elaborate procedure will be out of place in regard to union benches consisting generally of 2 to 4 members. Another reason has been suggested which I am glad the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has not referred to, but which I am bound to refer to. Opinion has been expressed that if some members of the union bench are allowed to sit together without rotation, the fact that they sit together as members of the union board for a pretty length of time would affect their integrity and honesty. I am very sorry to hear such remarks made by my hon'ble friend who, I believe, represents one party of constitutional reform in this country. If a representative of those parties would come forward and tell us in Council that the representatives of the people in a board like the union board—because they are generally representatives of the people—run the risk of becoming dishonest if only they have got to do their work without adequate interruption or intermission, I am afraid the enemies of constitutional reforms will make a very strong case against all such reforms. I am very sorry to hear such remarks made, especially because, although I do not belong to any strong political party, my own experience as a mufassal man who has to deal with a large number of honorary magistrates belies the very sad experience of my learned friend. I do not desire to discuss these matters which are very painful matters, and I hope the Council will reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, following the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, although I am opposing the motion, I rise to speak—and to speak for one special reason, and that is to dissociate myself, with the utmost emphasis at my command, from the observations made by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar. The stalwart champion of reform and of the rights and privileges of his countrymen now comes forward on the eve of constitutional reforms to denounce his countrymen as unfit for the most elementary administration of justice in the most advanced Presidency of India. I must say that the work of the honorary magistrates as a whole in this Presidency has been one which has merited approbation not only from the Government but from the people.

Then, my Lord, coming to the merits of the resolution itself, I fully associate myself with the observations of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler and the Hon'ble Mr. Hart. From what we know of the comparative backwardness of a considerable portion of our countrymen in the far distant and remote villages, I think it would not be advisable to make such an elaborate procedure for benches by routine, etc., as there may be many places in the mufassal where the requisite number of capable men may not be found. For these reasons, I think, that it will be well to reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, it has given my friends to the right no more pain to hear me say something about honorary magistrates than their expression has given me. I know abuse is no argument, and I must say that I may belong to one political party in this country from which many of my friends are perfectly free. It may be that I have always in my life strongly advocated for reforms, but I do not belong to that class of advocates of reforms who would not speak the truth when it is necessary to be said in order to rectify an abuse in the administration. That because I have advocated and I still advocate reforms in this country and therefore I am bound to say that there is no corruption and everybody in the country is a saint and no institution can be tainted—that is not my position and that is not a position which I have at any time assumed nor I hope shall I assume till I am removed from this world. On the contrary I will press the defects of any system, the defects in the constitution of our social organism and so forth and try to remedy them as far as practicable. If there is any Reform Scheme coming and at the supreme moment I say that there is corruption in some parts of the country, therefore the Reform Scheme will be thrown out is a proposition which may be advanced by men who are perfectly unconcerned with political agitation, but that is not a position which I can ever assume or think of. The thing is that fact is fact. I have said that I know something about the work of honorary magistrates in the mufassal, but I do not cast any reflection on the honesty or integrity of the honorary magistrates of Calcutta, but I know that the honorary magistrates in the mufassal are not free from suspicion. If that is a truth then I am entitled to speak without any fear of the Reform Scheme being wrecked on that account. Well, it may be that the experience of my hon'ble friend living at Howrah may be different, but if anybody is to give his honest opinion and says that there are corruptions and that a man utters the word corruption is sufficient to abuse him and throw him out of his political creed and political party. Well, that is a position which I cannot appreciate. However, I have said that the procedure will not be at all elaborate. The thing is, as my hon'ble friend, Babu Mahendra Nath Ray, has told us, that the number of magistrates vested with criminal powers will not be many. Of course, in a union there may be six or nine members. My idea is that Government may vest magisterial powers upon all the members of the board and then ask them to serve by rotation or according to the roster prepared by the District Magistrate—in fact by permutation and combination. Different sets of magistrates may serve in different quarters in the year. However, I have placed this amendment, whether it is elaborate or not I don't know. My object is to improve and purify these benches so as to make them such as to command public confidence and respect. Some of the hon'ble members have criticized my amendment and they are, of course, perfectly entitled to their own opinion."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 175.Clause 78.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the words "or, if in the opinion of the bench, he shows negligence in prosecuting his case", in lines 2, 3 and 4 of clause 78 (now clause 69) be omitted.

He said :

"My Lord, clause 78 (now clause 69) relates to the dismissal of a case for default before a union bench. Now it appears to me that this provision is very vague and ill-defined. The words are 'if in the opinion of the bench he shows negligence in prosecuting his case'. Now, negligence may be considered differently by different persons and on a flimsy excuse a case may be struck off for default. Not to speak of these union benches, even in munsifs' and sub-judges' courts and, I am sorry to say, even in sessions courts cases are sometimes struck off on flimsy excuses. For instance, if there is a case fixed for a certain day and for some unforeseen reasons the case is adjourned to another day and other cases are called upon the parties to which do not appear, those cases are struck off without giving the parties an opportunity to appear. If this can happen in a responsible court, I am afraid it would be giving a very wide power to the union bench if these words are not omitted from the clause."

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

"My Lord, on behalf of Government I oppose this amendment. In many cases tried under the Criminal Procedure Code if the complainant neglects to pay court-fees, and similarly if he does not produce his witnesses or takes the proper action to get them summoned, the case can be summarily decided in their absence. Cases tried by these benches cannot be allowed to hang on indefinitely owing to the negligence of the complainant. With reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble Mover, and as to his fears that the benches might dismiss cases without sufficient cause, I would point out that that purpose will be protected by the provision which has been laid down in a subsequent clause as to the revision by the district magistrate or sub-divisional officer against any unfair dismissal of cases. I urge that the clause should remain as it stands."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"If a certain party after being notified does not take the trouble of making an appearance then, of course, it is a fit case for dismissal. But my only objection is that the provision is very vague and ill-defined. Supposing a man has a case before the union court and supposing that for some reasons over which he has no control the case is delayed for ten or fifteen months, will it be considered as negligence in prosecuting the case? If what is to be considered as negligence is specifically mentioned there can be no complaint. What I fear is that this provision is of an extremely vague character."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 176.Clause 80.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71) the following be substituted, namely :—

"Provided that the district magistrate or sub-divisional magistrate may, of his own motion, or on the application of the parties concerned, cancel or modify any decision or order of a union bench or direct the re-trial of any case by a court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to him."

He said :—

"My Lord, clause 80 (now clause 71) bars an appeal from or a revision of the order of the union bench and only provides for a re-trial. But I think that some sort of revision of jurisdiction should be vested in the district magistrate as a check upon any possible failure of justice or vagaries on the part of the union bench. On an inquiry the district magistrate may modify or cancel the order to meet the requirements of a particular case, but if a re-trial is the only remedy it will lead to hardship. In certain cases the parties should be authorized to bring to the notice of the district magistrate instances of failures of justice and the magistrate should be authorized to make an inquiry and cancel or modify the decision of the bench. This may be the intention of the Bill, but it should be made clear. I have explained my object very briefly and I may state that as far as I understand there may be no objection on the part of Government to accept my suggestion."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, in order to explain the justification of the clause of the Bill as framed, we have to remember the kind of benches which it was sought to set up under the Bill, and the District Administration Committee gave a good summary of the opinion of the Decentralisation Commission which, I think, affords a clear description of the purposes of these courts. They said :—

"The (Decentralisation) Commission contemplated a system of village courts of equity, which would be freed from the observance of complicated rules of evidence and the technicalities of the ordinary legal procedure and would bring to bear on cases before them their own intimate acquaintance with village sentiment and their local knowledge of the facts. The primary objects of these village courts was not to afford relief to the regular tribunals. They were partly designed to give petty litigants the opportunity, if they wished to avail themselves of it, of settling their disputes by a simple and inexpensive procedure near their homes, but their main purpose was educative, to develop the sense of communal responsibility within the union, and to teach the people to manage the affairs of their own villages. At the same time, it was hoped that the creation of these village courts would enhance the influence of the panchayats and strengthen and encourage them in the performance of their other duties, thus gradually paving the way to the exercise by them of higher powers."

That was the underlying sentiment when the proposal for these courts was mooted, and it follows that it is desirable to keep all matters relating to the procedure applicable to them as simple as possible. It was in pursuance of that idea that the right of appeal and revision was barred. But, on the other hand, it was thought that cases might be brought to the notice of the district magistrate and the sub-divisional officer in which a serious failure of justice had occurred which would require to be set right. Of course, an ordinary appellate court cannot only set aside an order, but can modify it, but when this Bill was framed it was thought that the procedure of the original union bench having been very simple, and there being no record, it would be difficult for the district magistrate or the sub-divisional officer to do more than say that the case must be heard over again. He could say that he was satisfied that the order passed was wrong, but he might not be in a position to pass a correct order, and would therefore have to direct the case to be sent back and be re-tried. As against that system, the arguments that have been used by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur are not without weight. It does seem rather hard to say that even if the district magistrate or sub-divisional officer is satisfied that a man has been unfairly convicted, he cannot remedy the justice, but that all he can do is to put the man to the trouble of a second trial. That is a defect, and I would accept that line of argument as justifying a modification of the clause on the lines proposed in this amendment. I think, however, its wording can be improved upon because we want to make it clear that the right to cancel or modify a decision would not enable the district magistrate or sub-divisional officer to convict a man who had been acquitted. That is neither desirable nor is it probably intended by the Hon'ble Member. I would also like to keep that portion of the existing clause which the Hon'ble Member has omitted, namely, 'if satisfied that a failure of justice has occurred'. That is to emphasise the point that action should be taken only in the event of a failure of justice, and not on technical irregularities which might justify intervention by an ordinary appellate court. If, therefore, the Hon'ble Member will word his amendment in this form, I would be prepared to accept it :—

'Provided that the district magistrate or sub-divisional magistrate, if satisfied that a failure of justice has occurred, may, of his own motion, or on the application of the parties concerned, cancel or modify any order of conviction or of compensation made by a union bench, or direct the retrial of any case by a court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to him.'

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Mr. Duval.The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I am thankful to the Hon'ble Member for accepting my amendment although in a modified form."

The motion was then put in the amended form and agreed to.

AMENDMENT Nos. 177-80.

The following motions were covered by the decision on previous motions and were deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words 'cancel any decision or order of a union bench and', in lines 3 and 4 of the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71), the words 'uphold, reverse or modify any decision or order of a union bench, or' be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after the words 'subdivisional magistrate' in lines 1 and 2 of the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71), the words 'court of sessions or the High Court' be inserted : and for the words 'and direct the retrial of any case by a court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to him', in lines 4 to 6 of the same proviso, the words 'or pass such orders as the magistrate or court thinks fit and proper' be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words 'sub-divisional magistrate' in lines 1 and 2 of the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71), the words 'sessions judge' be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the words "district magistrate or subdivisional magistrate" in lines 1 and 2 of the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71), the words "sessions judge, additional sessions judge or assistant sessions judge" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 181.

The Hon'ble Mr. H. P. Duval, in the absence of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, moved that the words "nor shall any application in revision be entertained by any court in respect of any order passed by such bench," in lines 4 to 6 of clause 80 (now clause 71), be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, now that we have provided by a previous amendment for revisionary powers of district magistrates and subdivisional officers, these words 'nor shall any application in revision be entertained by any court in respect of any order passed by such bench' in clause 80 (now clause 71), appear to be superfluous. I therefore move that they may be omitted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 182.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar :—

That before the word "failure" in line 2 of the proviso to clause 80 (now clause 71), the word "grave" be inserted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

He said :—

“My Lord, do I understand that 182 goes out also?”

The President said :—

“The Council have just decided that a certain form of words is to be substituted for the proviso which appears in the Bill as drafted. That being so, it is not open to the Council to go back and alter the form of the words just adopted. Therefore it is out of order because the Council have just decided to insert the words which were contained in the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. The Council having once decided that these are the words which are to be inserted in the Act, they cannot now proceed to make further alterations.”

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 183.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved that after the words “in writing” in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 81 (now clause 72), the words embodying the substance of the evidence” be inserted.

He said :—

“My Lord, as the trial is a small one, and as we notice that there is no appeal, therefore, the Council has to consider whether the substance of the evidence has to be omitted or not. When the District Magistrate is required to consider the decision of the bench, he will not have any material and therefore it is highly necessary that the substance of the evidence should be recorded in the decision, the simple order of dismissal or conviction will not be sufficient. Even if revisionary powers are given to the Magistrate, still in order to see whether there is a failure of justice or not, he must see whether there is evidence in connection with the alleged offence. Therefore, my humble submission is that the decision should embody the substance of the evidence. Referring to the mode of trial in the ordinary criminal court, we have got two sections, 263 and 264. In section 264 there is an appeal, and it is there laid down that the substance of the evidence is to be embodied. In section 263 of the Criminal Procedure Code, there is nothing about it, but the reasons are to be stated therein. We find that if there be simply a decision on the point, it will not be sufficient but the reasons are to be given. Consequently it is necessary that the evidence is to be embodied. I do not find in the Bill whether evidence is to be recorded or not. If the Bill is silent upon that point, it is highly necessary that some indication should be given for recording of evidence against the offender. I find further that there is no definition of the word ‘decision’ in the definition clause. The Hon'ble Members of this Council are aware of the fact that the word ‘judgment’ is not also mentioned in the Bill, consequently reasons ought to be given for decisions, and if reasons are given they must be based upon some evidence. If we refer to clause 94 (now clause 86) of the Bill, we find that when the parties or their agents have been heard, and all the evidence on both sides considered, the union court shall by written order pass such a decree This shows that in simple cases, evidence is to be taken and considered on both sides by the union courts. We do not find anything in clause 81 (now clause 72) to this effect. I presume, therefore, that evidence will be allowed, and if evidence may be allowed then in that case it is necessary that the decision should embody the substance of evidence.”

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler; Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I object to this amendment on the ground that it is contrary to the intention with which these courts were created. They were meant to be, as I have said before, simple courts, and the whole of the idea underlying their constitution could probably be summed up by saying that they were meant to dispose of cases according to justice, equity and good conscience. It is particularly desired that they should be freed from technicalities of procedure and that they should not become merely an inferior edition of existing tribunals. Therefore, Sir, it was outside the intention of their constitution that they should compile records and write judgments. Of course they were meant to hear evidence, but I do not agree with the Hon'ble Member when he argues that clause 94 (now clause 86) means that evidence must be recorded. The idea was that parties should come before the bench, bring their witnesses, and have their say, and that the bench should then give their decision. This amendment goes beyond that, and says that the bench should give reasons, which means a record and all the procedure of an ordinary court. For that reason I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry I cannot support the Hon'ble Mover in this matter. Having been trained in a city bar, my hon'ble friend finds it difficult to disassociate himself from the methods of the Criminal Procedure Code and he says that if a trial has to take place in any criminal court, the procedure of the Criminal Procedure Code should apply to such trials. The curse of legal procedure in this country is that it is expensive and dilatory and as it would appear, it is not only a curse but that it brings on all interested, a lot of inconvenience. But the proposed courts are meant to be cheap and expeditious, and to secure a sort of rough justice. You cannot have evidence recorded, and if you are going to do that, there will be no end to these trials, and the question will arise whether the evidence has been properly recorded or not. I think, looking at the matter from both sides, the balance of convenience is that the provisions of the Bill should be maintained as they are."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I am surprised to hear that if a person's liberty be taken away, or if a person be convicted, no evidence should be recorded. If the scope of the Bill be that the evidence is to be taken, is it not necessary that some such note should be taken of the evidence that has been adduced against the offender. Here is a man charged with committing an offence. There must be some proof before a conviction is made, and when there is a decision on the matter under issue is it not fair and just that there should be some evidence, and if there be that evidence, is it not fair for me to contend before the Council, that a note should be recorded of such evidence and the decision? Certainly I am familiar with the procedure of law in criminal courts, but making the present Bill as simple as possible, there ought not to be any difficulty in providing for taking note of the evidence and the decisions. I do not contend that the evidence is to be recorded as in a regular trial, but I contend that a note of the evidence should be taken, otherwise it will be very difficult for the District Magistrate to consider what materials there were for the conviction, or for acquittal. How can the District Magistrate come to a conclusion whether there is a failure of justice or not; simply the writing down of the decision will not be a satisfactory procedure, and, therefore I press this amendment to the consideration of the Council."

The motion was then put and lost.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; The President; Sir Henry Wheeler.AMENDMENTS Nos. 184 and 185.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words "twenty-five rupees" in lines 3 and 4 of sub-clause (1) of clause 81 (now clause 72), the words "fifty rupees" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that for the words "seven days" in the last line of sub-clause (1) of clause 81 (now clause 72), the words "fifteen days" be substituted.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 186 and 187.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "all or any" in line 3 of clause 82 (now clause 73), the words "any three or more," be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, a similar point in respect to the position of the union bench has already been decided by the Council. May I take the liberty of suggesting that a similar modification be made with respect to this clause also."

The President said :—

"I would suggest that the Hon'ble Member should move his amendment in the form in which a somewhat similar one was accepted before, that is to say, "any two or more."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"The arguments are the same as in the case of benches, and I would accept the amendment in its modified form."

The motion was put in its modified form and agreed to.

The following motion was then deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the word "any" in line 3 of clause 82 (now clause 73), the words "at least three," be substituted.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 188—190.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn, viz. :—

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that for the word "any" in line 3 of clause 82 (now clause 73), the words "as many" be substituted; and after the word "board," in the same line, the words "as may be necessary" be inserted.

Also to move that the following be added to clause 82 (now clause 73), namely :—

"Provided that not less than three of such members must sit together for the trial of a suit, and they shall serve in such rotations and for such periods at a time as may be fixed by rules prescribed under section 111, and in accordance with rosters prepared by the district judge for each union court."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar ; Mr. Duval.

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that for the words "two hundred" in lines 15 and 16 of clause 83 (now clause 74), the word "fifty" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 191.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that the word "or" at the end of sub-clause (5) of clause 84 (now clause 75), be omitted ; and at the end of sub-clause (6) of the same clause the following be added, namely :—

" or

(7) for the specific performance of any contract, or for the establishment of any right or title to any land or water, or for any right-of-way or other easement in any land or water."

He said :—

" My Lord, in clause 83 (now clause 74) of the Bill the nature of suits that will be entertained by the union courts has been provided. They are suits for money due on contract, suits for the recovery of movable property or the value of such property ; and suits for compensation for wrongful detention or injury to the movable property and then follows something else. Clause 84 (now clause 75) of the Bill provides that no suits shall lie in any union courts and then the nature of the suits is specified. My amendment is that at the end of the clause 84 (now clause 75) of the Bill as it stands the following be inserted, namely :—

"or

If clause 83 (now clause 74) stood as it had been framed and then clause 84 (now clause 75) negating the power of the union board had not been introduced, it would not have been necessary for me to move this amendment. In the first place, we have in clause 83 (now clause 74) stated the nature of the suits which can be brought into the union courts ; and then in clause 83 (now clause 74), we have specified what classes of suits shall not be entertained by the union courts. If we are to specify what classes of cases shall not be cognizable in union courts, I think the list would be exhaustive. I think it was not the intention of the Select Committee to allow suits for specific performance of contract—by which I mean specific performance under the Specific Relief Act, or suits of title or easement to lie in such courts. These are very difficult and complicated matters, and I think it is not the intention of the legislature that they should be entertained in these which will not be held by very experienced lawyers. We have, of course, said that they shall try certain class of cases. If the word " or " at the end of sub-clause (5) of clause 84 (now clause 75), be omitted and in clause 84 (now clause 75), we mentioned certain class of cases which ought not to be within the cognizance of these courts, I think the clause should be made exhaustive by including title suits and suits for easement and so forth, and also suits for specific performance of the contract under the Specific Relief Act.

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

" My Lord, clause 83 (now clause 74), of the Bill lays down that the village courts shall only try petty suits for money and simple matters of tort such as are of the nature of cases triable by the present mafussil Small Cause Courts. Then in clause 84 (now clause 75), mainly following the precedents of the Small Cause Court procedure in the mafussil we exclude from the cognizance of the village

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur ; Babu Mahendra Nath Ray ; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

courts certain class of suits for money such as suits arising on bonds, of mortgage, suits in connection with partnership, suits of inheritance and suits for legacies. We also exclude certain number of cases on the ground that they are brought either against Government or against certain classes of individuals, such as minors and lunatics. The suits, however, the Hon'ble Member now proposes that we should exclude, are not money suits or simple suits for tort ; their suits for the specific performance of contract and suits of easement. I submit, therefore, my Lord, that as clause 83 (now clause 74) only deals as I say, with money suits and simple matter of tort, there is no necessity at all to include the classes of suits which the Hon'ble Member wishes to do, in the exception in clause 84 (now clause 75). For this reason on behalf of the Government I oppose the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, I think there is some little force in the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar's statement that the provisions of clause 84 (now clause 75) should not appear inwards as exhaustive of the list of suits which ought not to be brought in the union court. It is difficult to make an exhaustive list of possible suits. If it is intended to show that by the expression 'suits for money due on contracts in clause 83' (now clause 74) suits on contracts of partnership on mortgage, for a share or part of a share, under an intestacy or for a legacy should not be instituted in such a court. I think the better course will be to preface the first line of the clause in this way—'no suit amongst others shall lie in any union court on contracts of partnership, etc. It would remove any contention which might be raised on the ground that this is an exhaustive list of suits which ought not to be brought here, though we are borrowing the words of the Small Cause Court Act in this Bill.

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray said :—

" My Lord, I would not have wasted the time of this Council but for the fact that I find two members of my own profession discovering defects in the Bill as it has been drafted. I suppose it was put very clearly that clause 84 (now clause 75) only specifies some classes of suits for money and some classes of suits for immovable property which it is proposed to be excluded. There is therefore absolutely, no defect and to suggest that clause 84 (now clause 75) should be so worded as to run 'no suit shall lie in any union court amongst others' is, I think, quite unnecessary. If exceptions are indicated they must be indicated exhaustively. You cannot say that the list of exceptions should include (a), (b), (c), etc. As I have said, the point is so very clear that it would be better for the Council not to be guided by the legal opinion but by plain common sense."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

" My Lord, I beg to submit a few words in this connection. It appears that the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar wishes that suits for the specific purpose of any contract, or for the establishment of any right or title to any land or water, or for any right-of-way or other easement in any land or water to be included in clause 84 (now clause 75). There is some difficulty which I feel just now. In suits for the specific performance of contract, there is always a prayer for damages and my hon'ble friend Babu Mahendra Nath Ray will agree with me. Now, therefore, in order to make matters as clear as day light it is necessary to state that suits for specific performance of contract will not lie in the union court and so I cannot support my friend the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar in enunciating the whole proposition which he has put forward in his amendment. But as I have submitted, my difficulty lies here—that if simply we include in clause 83 (now clause 74) suits for compensation for wrongfully taking or injuring movable property, that shows that suits for damages of a certain class but are we to understand that suits for damages will not be instituted with reference to suits for compensation for specific performance of contract, then I submit that my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, is wrong. But we can understand very well the object of clause 83 (now clause 74) and the object of clause 84 (now clause 75)—one is inclusion and the other is exclusion. So there will be no difficulty about them."

• The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu A. C. Mazumdar ; Sir Henry Wheeler Babu ; A. C. Datta.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said:—

"My Lord, I have fully understood the arguments of the Hon'ble Mr. Duval but I am not sure that he has understood my difficulty. In clause 83 (now clause 74) we specify the classes of suits that will be cognizable in these courts. If the Bill had ended there, there would have been no difficulty at all; that is to say that we all know that beyond the classes of suits mentioned in clause 83 (now clause 74) no other suits shall be entertained in these courts. But in clause 84 (now clause 75) we introduce certain cases which we say shall not be tried by them. The main difficulty arises because you say in clause 84 (now clause 75) what suits shall not be entertained by these courts then the only question I would put to the Hon'ble Members of the Council is:—is it or is it not our intention to invest these courts with power of dealing with title-suits? If the answer is in the negative then is not clause 84 (now clause 75) an element of doubt? But here it is said that the union court shall have a concurrent jurisdiction to try the following classes of suits. Are we or are we not going to exclude the question of assessment from the cognizance of these courts which are very difficult? If that is our intention in one section we say that they shall try those suits and in the subsequent section we say that they shall not try these suits. Then that section should be exhaustive otherwise doubt may arise whether suits for land will not be cognizable by these courts. Therefore I have suggested if we leave clause 83 (now clause 74) as it stands without clause 84 (now clause 75) there will be no difficulty at all, but if we introduce clause 84 (now clause 75) and also mention that certain classes of suits shall not be entertained by these courts. in that case we should also include those classes of cases, viz., those of title and assessment, etc., which it is our intention not to include amongst the classes of cases to be tried by these courts."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said:—

"My Lord, this is rather a lawyer's argument, and I feel some diffidence in intervening, but what strikes me as a layman, is this; under clause 83 (now clause 74) these courts can only try suits of a specified description, which we may call class A. The amendment says that they shall not try suits of another specified class B; but class B is already excluded from class A, and, therefore, in so far as the powers of these courts will be confined to class A, it is unnecessary specifically to exclude class B, any more than it is necessary to exclude classes C, D or E, which are equally outside class A. Clause 84 (now clause 75) specifies certain circumstances in which suits that may fall in class A will not lie."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 192.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said:—

"My Lord, in view of the fate of amendment No. 175 which is almost similar to this amendment No. 192, I should think that no useful purpose would be served by pressing this amendment for acceptance. I, therefore, with your Excellency's permission beg to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

It was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that the words "or, if in the opinion of the court, he shows negligence in prosecuting his suit," in lines 2, 3 and 4 of clause 88 (now clause 79), be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 193.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after clause 95 (now clause 87), the following be inserted, namely :—

"95A. If the judgment-debtor pays into court the decretal amount, together with the fee payable under section 99 and the costs, if any, within thirty days from the date of the decree, he shall be allowed a remission of ten per cent. upon the amount decreed and the decree shall be deemed satisfied upon the payment of the balance :

Provided that no such remission shall apply in the case of an order passed for payment by instalments under section 95, or after the issue of the certificate mentioned in section 102 of this Act."

He said :—

"My Lord, this is a somewhat novel provision which I wish to introduce as a new clause. This clause which I wish to have introduced in this Bill might be misconstrued as one in favour of judgment-debtors, but in point of fact, as far as I am concerned, I am moving it in the interest of creditors, for every one knows that the real difficulty of a plaintiff begins when he obtains the decree. In executing a decree various difficulties arise, the property fails and as the last resort the judgment-debtors go to the insolvency court; so that any one who has practical experience of the difficulty of decree-holders knows that in many cases and I must say in the majority of cases the creditors fail to get anything from the judgment-debtors. Therefore it is my intention to place some inducement before the judgment-debtor to pay the money without much harrassment and hence my amendment. It would be I believe some inducement to a judgment-debtor when he sees that he may pay 10 per cent. less of the decretal amount to pay the money into the court without raising much difficulty in the way of the decree-holder, and the decree-holder I believe would be quite satisfied to get Rs. 90, out of Rs. 100, which he has very little chance of recovering through the ordinary process of execution. But I have added two restrictions to this remission, viz., if the judgment-debtor gets a decree by instalments it would be hard to extend such a favour to him, and in the second place if the decree-holder has obtain a certificate of execution through another court such remission ought not to be granted, but before the grant of the decree if the man comes forward to pay the decree-holder the remission of 10 per cent. would be a good inducement to him to do so as it would be as much to the advantage of the decree-holder as it will be to the advantage of the judgment-debtor to pay off something less than what is actually due from him. It is with this view that I move this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said:—

"My Lord, I quite admit that a plaintiff's troubles begin only after he obtains his decree, but it must be remembered that certain decrees are realised in full. Government cannot accept this amendment; it would mean that a debtor no doubt might be induced after decree had been passed against him to pay off quickly on the chance of getting a discount of 10 per cent., but it might also be that the debtor might avoid paying a debt and force his creditor to go into the court so as to be able to get a 10 per cent. discount which he could not obtain unless he was sued. On behalf of Government, I would, therefore, oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I heartily support this amendment. My hon'ble friend has perhaps got the idea from the procedure which is laid down in execution of decrees. After sale of immovable property indulgence is shown to the debtor to pay the amount with certain penalties. Now if this procedure is accepted by court, I submit that such indulgence ought to be shown to the debtor at the time when the decree is passed. There will be some delay in realising the amount and if this procedure be in the statutory book this would be something like an inducement to the debtor to pay the amount. I therefore submit that it is for the consideration of the Hon'ble Member whether he would accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, although I did not like to speak, but following the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitter Bahadur I am rather tempted to speak in opposition to him and the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar. What is the matter, my Lord. An agriculturist lends Rs. 100 to another man; the villager finds that he can at the time of payment of that sum get a remission of 10 per cent. if he pays the amount at the court. If the creditor finds that there are some bad debts which he cannot realise in full he can make some bundabast and can settle his claim for any amount he likes. But I do not understand why this statutory provision is intended to be inserted in the Bill to enable the court to grant a remission to the person who is bound in all conscience and in all equity to pay back the money which he has borrowed. I do not understand the reasons; of course the trouble begins no doubt in many cases when the decree is passed, but in such cases some mutual bundabast may be made. Here under this amendment he will demand in every case a remission of 10 per cent."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, for the information of the Hon'ble Mr. Duval I may say that I have considered the aspect which he has referred to.

Ordinarily people make more than 10 per cent. remission. There is hardly any case where the judgment-debtor does not get oftentimes more than 15 to 20 per cent. remission, so that it will not make the position of the decree-holder worse, but rather better. The suits to be brought in these courts would be of the utmost value of Rs. 200; now if a creditor gets Rs. 180 altogether with costs he will thank himself and thank the debtor, but the apprehension that they won't pay amicably and would press a man to court is a mistaken one, because if amicable payment is made it is not 10 per cent. but more than that what is oftentimes allowed."

The motion was then put and lost

AMENDMENT No. 194.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "cancel the order of the union court and" in lines 2 and 3 of the proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88), the words "uphold, reverse or modify the order of the union court, or" be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar.

He said :—

"My Lord, there has been some modification made with respect to the revision of the order of the union bench. The Council has already come to a decision on that point. May I suggest that a similar modification be made with respect to the order of the union court also?"

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, the argument is the same both in relation to courts and benches, and as we have accepted the modification in the case of benches, I have no objection to accepting it in this case also. I would only ask that, as there are two amendments on the same point, and as that of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur (No. 195) happens to be more in conformity with the change as made in connection with benches and with the existing wording of the Act, the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta might withdraw his amendment, and the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur might then move his, which we will accept. The effect will be the same."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I am very glad to withdraw my amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 195.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that after the word "cancel", in line 2 of the proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88), the words "or modify" be inserted; and for the word "and", in line 3 of the same proviso, the word "or" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I need not make any speech; it has been fully explained, and I believe the amendment will be accepted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 196.

The following motion was deemed to be withdrawn as the Hon'ble Member was absent :—

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that after the words "district judge", in line 1 of the proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88), the words "or the high court" be inserted; and for the words "and direct a retrial of the suit by the same or any other union court, or by any other court subordinate to him", in lines 3 to 5 of the same proviso, the words "or pass such order as the judge or court thinks fit and proper" be substituted.

AMENDMENT No. 197.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after the word "suit", in line 2 of the proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88), the words "made within thirty days of the decree of the union court" be inserted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Mr. Duval; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

He said :—

“My Lord, in moving this amendment I would draw attention to proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88). There is it said—‘provided that the district judge, on the application of any party to the suit, cancel the order . . . and so forth. I think there ought to be a limit for such an application, and therefore I propose that after the words ‘any party to the suit’, the words ‘may within thirty days of the decree of the union court’ be inserted. It ought not to be left indeterminate. Here the revision comes in through the application of the party to the suit, but the party should not have indefinite time for making such an application. Therefore I move that it should be limited to thirty days.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

“On behalf of Government, I accept the amendment.”

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 198.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that before the word “failure”, in line 6 of the proviso to clause 96 (now clause 88), the words “clear error of law or grave” be inserted.

He said :—

“This also, my Lord, refers to the same proviso with regard to which I have just moved an amendment. The ground there is that the district judge may on the application of any party to a suit cancel an order of the union court and direct a retrial of the suit, by the same or any other union court, or any other court subordinate to him, if he is satisfied that there is a failure of justice. I wish to introduce the words ‘clear error of law or grave.’ My reason is this: If substantial justice is done by the union court, there should be no interference, and in the second place, I would add the words ‘clear error of law’. This comes in because in an earlier clause it has been provided that the union court may throw out a suit on the ground of limitation. My Lord, questions of limitation are often times very difficult to decide, so that I think this addition should be allowed—‘clear error of law or grave failure of justice’. If the Judge is satisfied that clear and substantial justice has been done, there ought not to be any interference with the judgment of the court, but if there be a mistake committed by the union court as regards the point of limitation, he should have power of interfering with the judgment. Add:—If the Judge's power of revision be not thus restricted the finality of the decisions of the Union Courts will be a misnomer.”

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

“On behalf of Government, I accept the amendment.”

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

“My Lord, I was about to rise when the Hon'ble Mr. Duval rose and accepted the amendment. I am afraid I must oppose this amendment. I do not know what the Hon'ble Mover's object is. Here in this provision the framers of the Bill have provided that if the district judge is satisfied that there has been a failure of justice he can take action, but this amendment restricts the discretion of the district judge. The members of the union court are not lawyers, they will deal out simple justice and the suitors themselves will be ordinary simple agriculturists. Then who is to decide whether there has been a clear error of law or grave failure of justice.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Mahendra Nath Ray; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar; Babu Mahendra Nath Ray; Sir Henry Wheeler.

How are they to establish it. Therefore, my Lord, I think that the clause should stand as it is and I hope Government will reconsider their decision about the acceptance of this amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray said :—

"I am sorry to have to make a statement now as a member of the Select Committee who had discussed this matter at great length. In clause 80 (now clause 71) and in the other clause 86 (now clause 77), the words originally were 'serious failure of justice'. The Select Committee, as will appear from the report, considered that the word 'serious' was somewhat out of place and therefore should be omitted, so that the wording of clause 80 (now clause 71) was modified deliberately by the Select Committee by the exclusion of the word 'serious', and they went back to the original expression 'failure of justice.' That is why we find in clause 80 (now clause 71) the words 'failure of justice' alone without the word 'serious' preceding them. The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved an amendment in connection with clause 80 (now clause 71) also, that the word 'grave' should be prefixed to the expression 'failure of justice', but that was ruled out of order.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"But that was disallowed by the President."

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray said :—

"But this amendment in this clause would, I am sorry to say, not only differentiate the two clauses unnecessarily, but it would be an instance of bad drafting. I do not know whether Mr. Duval representing Government has carefully considered this matter. In fact, if the Select Committee thought that the words which should occur in both the clauses should be 'failure of justice' without any qualifying word 'serious' or 'grave', that was deliberately done in order to make the two clauses consistent. I am only concerned with the wording of the amendment; I do not mind whether Government accept the expression or not, it will simply amplify the power of the district judge to interfere in any case, although I understand that that was not the object of the Bill. It was intended that the district judge will not interfere except when there has been a serious error of law. For instance, there may be a clear error on the question of limitation, but that question of limitation may not be a serious error of law, but still to give effect to the law of limitation, the district judge may interfere in any particular case. I am bound to make this statement because I do not exactly realise either the position of the members of the Select Committee or the somewhat altered position of the Government as indicated by what the Hon'ble Mr. Duval has just now told us."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"This discussion rather points to the fact that the path of good intentions is not always easy, and it is not always wise to try and please every body. Much of what the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray has said is perfectly correct. The facts are that in the Bill as originally introduced, we had the word 'serious', and when we were considering the Bill in the light of the amendments sent in, we found that one Hon'ble Member had objected to the use of that word; in our desire to meet the wishes of Hon'ble Members as far as possible without sacrificing any grave matter of principle, we eliminated the word. Now we find that another Hon'ble Member wants to put back words of a somewhat similar purport, and from his amendment I concluded that the impression conveyed to the Select Committee, viz., that the omission was wanted by the Council, was incorrect. In that belief Mr. Duval has expressed our willingness to go back to the wording of the Bill as originally framed. But now we understand that even to this course there are objections, so in these circumstances, it is best to leave the point to the decision of the Council."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, I would like to say one word. My hon'ble friend to my right says that this was considered by the Select Committee, and he is surprised that the Government should have changed its mind. I thought otherwise. We should always welcome any change of mind on the part of Government, but of course if my hon'ble friend thinks that the Select Committee has got the last word, that is another matter. With regard to the expression 'clear error of law' I have already pointed out that there is a clause which says that a union court may throw out a suit on grounds of limitation. I will only give a simple illustration. Suppose a man brings a suit upon a bond. The law provides that limitation may be saved by endorsing an acceptance on the back of the bond, but the union court may not understand this; they may not know that there is a certain difference between certifying on the back of the bond on payment of interest or of principle by the party himself or by a different person. All these niceties may not be understood by the judges of the union court. Therefore I ask that when there is a clear error of law, the judge may interfere. There may not be injustice but still it would be a serious matter. My hon'ble friend to my right has said that a similar provision has not been adopted in the case of the union bench. I submit that he is experienced enough to know that there is a considerable difference between a criminal court and a civil court, and, although the scope of the serious injustice may not be much in a criminal case, there is a very grave chance of substantial justice not being done in a civil suit, and, therefore, I urge this amendment. If there is substantial justice which we all understand and which we all deal with in civil cases, there ought to be no interference of course. I press this amendment."

AMENDMENT No. 199.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the words "one anna" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 99 (now clause 90), the words "half-an-anna" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, apparently this is a very simple matter, but really it is a very important one. It affects vitally a large class of people for whose benefit the union courts have been instituted. The rate of court-fee in ordinary civil courts is 6 annas for Rs. 5 ; according to this provision it will be 5 annas for Rs. 5 ; in other words the court-fees in these courts will be almost as high as in the ordinary civil court. The question is, is it proper that in union courts the court-fee should be as high as that? Here, the whole object in the village court is to administer simple and cheap justice without making it complicated and expensive. But that object would be frustrated if the court-fee is raised as high as 1 anna in the rupee. There are several other reasons why the court-fee ought not to be so high. These courts will be presided over by honorary officers, and therefore the expense incurred in administering justice will not be as great as in civil courts. We all know that in ordinary civil courts a large profit is made by these court-fees. But there should be no profit expected or made by administering justice in union courts, and we could very well afford to have a lower rate. Above all, my Lord, there is another consideration which cannot be lost sight of, and it is this : we want to make these union courts a reality and we want to make them successful. If we are to do so, we must induce people to come to these courts in preference to the ordinary civil courts. These courts have no exclusive but concurrent jurisdiction with the civil courts. If that is so, there must be some inducement to come to these courts. If the suitors find that they have got to pay here more than in the ordinary civil courts, there will be no inducement for them to come to these courts, and the result will be that these courts, which we all wish to be successful, will not be taken advantage of by the people. Therefore, my Lord, in order to make these union courts successful, I want to have the court-fees reduced to half-an-anna."

The President said :—

"The amendment which follows amendment No. 199 deals with the same subject and I think we might discuss both the amendments together."

The amendment No. 200 was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar to move that at the end of sub-clause (1) of clause 99 (now clause 90), the following be added, namely :—

"up to twenty-five rupees, and an additional fee of half-an-anna for every rupee of the claim above twenty-five rupees."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, my amendment is that the fee should be at the rate of one anna up to Rs. 25, and an additional fee of half-an-anna for every rupee of the claim above Rs. 25. I have taken the mean between the two ; up to Rs. 25 in an ordinary course under the Court-Fees Act the court-fee would be Re. 1-14, but under this Bill in a union court it would be Re. 1-9, so that it would be something less ; but we have to consider also the expenses to be incurred in going on with the suits and various incidental matters and, therefore, I have suggested that up to Rs. 25 the rate fixed by this clause may remain but above that it should be half-an-anna for every rupee of the claim ; otherwise as my friend has pointed out there would not be sufficient inducement for the litigant to go to the union court. In the case of a claim for Rs. 100 under the Court-Fees Act the court-fee leviable would be Rs. 7-8, but if you make one anna all round then the court-fee for Rs. 100 under this Bill would be Rs. 6-4, there being a difference of only Re. 1-4. This would hardly be an inducement to the poorer people to seek the assistance of the union courts which it is our object to popularize no doubt, and in that view I submit that up to Rs. 25 we might agree to one anna, but for every rupee above Rs. 25 we shall make it half-an-anna."

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

"My Lord, as has been pointed by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, the fee for suits in the civil court is Rs. 7-8 for a claim of Rs. 100. The fee rate proposed in the present Bill is at the rate of Rs. 6-4. I would submit that in so far as the small cases up to Rs. 25 which, when brought in the village court are not liable to be transferred at the wish of defendant this fee is sufficiently low, that is to say, for a claim of Rs. 25 the plaintiff will be able to get judgment at the expense of Re. 1-5. In the case, however, of cases of above Rs. 25 in value, it would probably be an advantage to have as low a fee as possible so as to induce the people to come to these courts and not to apply for a transfer to the munsif's court. In this view opposing the proposal of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to reduce the fee of one anna to half-an-anna for all suits, Government is prepared to accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, I have submitted my reasons ; my only object is to make the union court popular and the administration of justice by them less expensive. The controversy now is whether up to Rs. 25 the court-fee should be half-an-anna or one anna. My submission is this ; all the suits that will be tried by the union courts are necessarily suits of small value ; the higher the value the less will be the inclination of the litigants to go to these courts, and they would go to the ordinary courts ; and therefore so far as the higher amounts are concerned they are not of very much value, and the most important question is what should be the rate of court-fees for lower amounts. In that view of the matter I feel rather strongly on this matter—it is a matter which will affect a very very large class of persons and I am only afraid, my Lord, that unless the fee is reduced the whole object of these provisions will be frustrated and the courts will not be taken advantage of by the litigant. In that view of the matter I would like to press the amendment No. 199 for the acceptance of the Council and I only hope that the Members of Council will give their serious consideration over this important matter."

Motion No. 199 was then put and lost.

Motion No. 200 was then put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 201.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta :—

That after clause 99 (new clause 9.) the following be inserted, namely :—

"100. If any suit is instituted in the court of small causes or the court of a munsif which, in the opinion of the court which tries the same (whose opinion shall be final), ought to have been instituted in a union court, no costs shall be allowed to a successful plaintiff, and a successful defendant shall be allowed such costs as the court may consider reasonable."

He said :—

"There is a question of order."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, we have already accepted in clause 83 (now clause 74) that if the union courts and the munsif's courts will have concurrent jurisdiction, is it open to us to say that the litigants shall be penalised for going to a court which has concurrent jurisdiction over these matters ? This would not be governed by this Act but by other Act."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

The President ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta ; Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

The President said :—

"I think that is correct. The point raised by the Hon'ble Member is I think, a good one. We have already decided that these different courts are to have concurrent jurisdiction. That being so, I think it would be out of order to make a suggestion which would have the effect of penalizing a litigant, who wants to go to one of these courts in preference to another. But if the Hon'ble Member desires to make any observation on that point I would be glad to hear him."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"My Lord, that has reference to the jurisdiction of the court so far as the question of the value of the suit and the nature of the suit is concerned. But I think that has no reference to court-fees. The question of court-fees is absolutely different. Two courts may have jurisdiction over the same matter concurrently, and at the same time the rate of court-fee, if the law prescribes so, may be different in the two different courts."

The President said :—

"I do not think that that invalidates the point raised by the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari. If you want to lay down by statute that two or more courts are to have concurrent jurisdiction, that clearly means that the litigant is to have the option of going to either of the courts. If that is so it is surely out of order to endeavour to insert in the latter part of the Act, a provision which would penalize a litigant if he selects one particular court out of those which are provided for him. That seems to me to be unreasonable, and I think it is out of order."

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 202.

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar moved that after the word "distributed", in line 4 of clause 102A (now clause 92), the following be inserted, namely :—

"in proportion to the fee payable under section 99 and the amount decreed to the party under section 94."

He said :

"My Lord, this amendment refers to clause 102A (now clause 92). I think what I am going to move was the very intention of the Select Committee also. I wish to make it clear by adding that the sum shall be rateably distributed in proportion to the fee payable under clause 99 (now clause 90) and the amount decreed to the party under clause 94 (now clause 86). I only want to make it clear what should be the rateable distribution, that is to say, the rateable distribution of fees under clause 99 (now clause 90) and the amount decreed. That will make the matter clear and I think that is also the object of the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, the amendment is really one of drafting. The clause deals with the case in which the sum realized from the debtor is not sufficient to pay the amount of the decree and of the fees due, and it then says that the proceeds that are realized should be distributed rateably ; rateably means in proportion to the fee payable and the amount decreed, and I am advised that as a matter of drafting, the further words proposed in the amendment are not required, since the meaning of the clause is already sufficiently clear. As we are generally guided by our own advisers in the matter of drafting, I deprecate the amendment."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

"My Lord, there is no difference between what I have said and what the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has said. Rateable distribution means according to certain proportion, and by my amendment I wanted to make that more clear; that is to say, the proportion between the fees leviable and the amount realised."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 203.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved that after sub-clause (2) of clause 103 (now clause 93) the following be added, namely :—

"(3) Rules referred to in clauses (g) and (s) of sub-section (2) of section 111 (now section 101) shall come into force subject to sanction by the legislature, after previous publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

He said :—

"My Lord, under section 111 (now section 101), the local Government are authorised after previous publication to make rules to carry out the purposes of the Act. In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the local Government may make rules. Now rules regarding determining the manner and time of appointment or election of members, rules regarding the election of the president of union board and rules regarding various other matters are to be made by the local Government. My submission is that the Bill as has been framed is not exhaustive. The provisions of the Bill show that rules for regulating the procedure and institution of suits, etc., should be left to the rules which are to be framed by the local Government, that is, the executive Government. My contention is that the legislature or the Legislative Council ought to sanction these rules. I have no objection, if the rules are framed by the local Government but they must be subject to the sanction of the legislature. When the Bill shows in clear terms that provisions of the Civil Procedure Code and the Criminal Procedure Code will not apply to the present Bill, is it not fair and consistent that the procedure which should be substituted in place of the Civil Procedure Code and the Criminal Procedure Code should be sanctioned by the legislature? It is true, my Lord, that if the legislature delegates its authority to the local Government, the legislature may be pleased to do so, but the question is that the mere statutory authority given by the legislature to the local Government will not go so far as to lay down that those rules ought not to be sanctioned by legislature. We are to deal with adjective law; in whatever way the rules may be treated or in whatever way the rules may be explained, it appears to me that the rules must have the force of law and consequently the sanction of the legislature is necessary.

"In the first place, my contention is that the legislature ought not to delegate its authority to the local Government to frame rules—call them as rules, call them as laws or call them as generalisation for proceedings in the trial of suits. That is my view of the matter. The legislature ought not to delegate its authority, and if the legislature does delegate its authority to the executive Government, it is necessary that these rules should be sanctioned by the legislature, and in that view of the matter I have placed this amendment for the consideration of the Hon'ble Members of the Council.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler.

"Now, so far as the procedure in courts is concerned, are the litigants to be bound by rules framed by the executive Government? The legislature up to this moment does not know what the rules are. What are the rules of procedure for the trial of suits in the Courts of Justice? It will appear that so far as the jurisdiction of the union courts or union benches is concerned, that they should be guided by rules framed by the executive Government. Of course I am not prepared to say that these rules are to be viewed as ultra vires; but I do contend that when the legislature is enacting the law, this is the time for the legislature to consider whether the rules are to be subjected to the criticisms of the Hon'ble Members of the Legislative Council. In this view, it is a very important question which Your Excellency will have to consider—it is a question which was raised several times at the bar and before the bench and they could not say that these rules were ultra vires because statutory power was given by the legislature to the Local Government, but these have reference to minor matters, i.e., election rules and those which are specified in the first part of clause 111 (now clause 101). But when we have to deal with the procedure for the trial of suits, is it to be contended that these rules will have the force of law, because the legislature delegates the authority to the local Government? My Lord, it is a very important question which the Hon'ble Members will have to consider. I do not for one moment wish that the operation of the Bill should be delayed. I had welcomed the Bill at the time when it was introduced by Lord Sinha; but, at the same time, I want to submit to the Hon'ble Members that if the rules are framed by the Local Government, let these be subjected to the criticism of the legislature. Your Excellency has noticed that the Bill was at the first instance put before the Hon'ble Members of the Legislative Council, and recommitted to the Select Committee, and we find that various amendments have been put in. What for?—for the reason of seeing that the Bill is a perfect one. But the rules are framed by the executive Government and they are not subjected to the criticisms which naturally and legitimately will arise. Consequently the rules, if published in the Calcutta Gazette, will have the force of law and the legislature has no voice at all. What I submit, my Lord, is that these rules ought to be subjected to the criticisms of the Legislative Council. That is a point which I submit for the consideration of Your Excellency and the Hon'ble Members of this Council. It is a question of great importance, and, therefore, I move his amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, I am afraid I am not prepared to accept this amendment. It really makes two requests: one is that rules shall only be framed after previous publication in the Calcutta Gazette, and my answer to that point is that that provision is already in the law. Under clause 111 (now clause 101) of the Bill, the local Government may, after previous publication, make rules; so that matter is already provided for.

"The second proposition in the amendment is that rules should not be valid under the Bill, unless they are sanctioned by the Legislative Council. Now, Sir, the insertion in Acts of powers to make statutory rules is a common feature of most of the legislation in this country, and I think the fact that it is so common a feature points to the conclusion that it is recognised as an administrative necessity. It is not practically possible to foresee, at a time when a Bill is framed, every contingency which may arise to be dealt with under it hereafter. These statutory rules are largely framed in the first instance no doubt on general grounds; but they are amended and added to from time to time in the light of experience. When a need arises demonstrating that a rule is required, a rule is framed. Again any attempt to provide for everything in the Bill would over-burden it with a most undesirable amount of detail. The amendment, if accepted, would place a statutory rule and a provision of the legislature practically on the same footing ; and we should not be able to make any change which might be necessary for administrative reasons without having, practically, to go through the whole procedure of a Bill. I submit that the proper function of the legislature is to lay down the matters which may be dealt with by rules, and then to leave it to the authority which will be entrusted with the administration of the Act. Many of the points covered by clause 111 (now clause 101) are matters which are essentially details of administration. The time and manner of election, registration of voters, the powers of presidents and vice-presidents, the conduct of meetings and the method of forming a quorum, registers and records, details of assessment, and so on—all these are matters that we can scarcely bring before the Legislative Council. I submit therefore that the procedure of rules is justified by experience, and it is the only procedure which will ensure the smooth working of the Act.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

" I have nothing more to add."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 204-206.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved that sub-clause (3) of clause 106 (now clause 97) be omitted.

He said :—

" My Lord, I have put this amendment for the consideration of the Council, viz., to omit sub-clause (3) of clause 106 (now clause 97). The object of the amendment is to invite legal practitioners to attend union courts. If legal practitioners are considered to be obstacles in the way of the administration of justice, that is another point, but if these legal practitioners are not allowed to attend these union courts, the result will be that suitors will be under the influence of touts. I do not wish to add any other reason to what I have said, but if Government consider that they should not attend such courts, that is another matter, but I thought it my duty to bring the matter for the consideration of your Excellency's Council."

The Hon'ble Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar said :—

" My Lord, I belong to the legal profession, but I think that the very object of this Bill would be defeated by allowing legal practitioners to appear in these union courts. The appearance of a legal practitioner before any court no doubt helps considerably for better administration of justice, but in establishing these union courts, we are thinking more of the expenses of litigants than of anything else. We want to establish courts to avoid ruinous litigation, but if experienced lawyers are permitted to appear in these courts, then I do not think there will be much difference between a suit tried in the union court and that tried by the ordinary munsif. Besides, my Lord, we have carefully limited the extent of the pecuniary jurisdiction of the union courts up to only Rs. 200, and in case of criminal cases, we have specified certain simple and ordinary offences. In these matters if we permit the services of lawyers to be available in these courts, a rich man might harass a poor man and at the same time both may be ruined by the heavy expense of litigation. In this view I have always considered that it is a very salutary provision by which legal practitioners are debarred from appearing in these courts, but there is one little difficulty

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur ; Sir Henry Wheeler ; The President ; Mr. Duval.

which I hope Sir Henry Wheeler will try to explain, and that is this : the Legal Practitioners Act is an enactment of the Government of India, and under that Act lawyers are authorised to practise in all courts subordinate to the High Court, and it is a question whether in face of that statutory power we can legitimately debar them from appearing in those courts. But I have already said I welcome this salutary provision, provided it does not go against the provisions of the Legal Practitioners Act over which this Council has no jurisdiction."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I would accept the provision of the Bill as it stands, but there is one point to which I would draw attention. There is a provision here, that full-time servant, partner or a relative of the party may appear before the union courts. My hon'ble friend, Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar, says that if there is a fight between a money-lender and an agriculturist, the money-lender may have a powerful lawyer to appear for him, but at the same time a full-time servant is not always available to appear for the party, and therefore I would ask whether it would not be better to omit the provision of a full-time servant."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"I rise to a point of order ; this is absolutely a different matter."

The President said :—

"I think that is so ; I was trying to see what bearing the speech of the Hon'ble Member had on this amendment. I do not find any."

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

"I do not think there is much to add to what Babu Ambika Charan Mazumdar has said against this proposal which on behalf of Government I oppose. He has raised one point, however, as to whether we can legislate for the exclusion of legal practitioners on the ground that the Legal Practitioners Act of 1879 was an Act of the Government of India. In this connection I would inform him that in the original draft of the Bill which we sent up for approval of the Government of India, we included this provision pointing out to the Government of India that notwithstanding anything contained in the Legal Practitioners Act, legal practitioners should not be allowed to practise before the union court or the union bench and the Government of India raised no objection. I do not think therefore that there can be any difficulty on this point, and I think this Council has ample jurisdiction to pass the proposal as set out in the Bill. As to the merits, I would simply add this. In the district courts of the United Provinces and in the Punjab, legal practitioners are not allowed, and when the District Administration Committee issued its report, they said as follows : ' We think it would be inconsistent with the character and constitution of village courts and for the purposes for which they are intended, to allow legal practitioners to practise in these courts, and we are strongly of opinion that they should be rigorously excluded.' With these remarks on behalf of Government I oppose this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Two identical motions, Nos. 205 and 206, in the names of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri and the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta respectively, were deemed to be withdrawn.

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur ; Mr. Duval.AMENDMENT No. 207.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that for the words "after previous publication," in lines 1 and 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 111 (now clause 101), the words "subject to the provisions of section 143 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885," be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, I believe that the provisions of section 143 of the Local Self-Government Act should be taken in here, and I believe that that also is the intention of Government as far as I can judge ; it would be better to have that clause inserted here. Then perhaps the objections raised by some of my hon'ble friends about the rules not being considered by the legislature would be minimised. If my amendment is accepted, Government would be required to consider criticisms on the rules before they are finally published."

The Hon'ble Mr. Duval said :—

"I would submit that this amendment is perfectly unnecessary. No doubt under section 143 of the Local Self-Government Act rules could only be framed after observing certain formalities. Since, however, 1885, in which year that section was passed, we have had the General Clauses Act, I of 1889, and section 24 of that Act says :—

"Where, by any Bengal Act, a power to make rules or by-laws is expressed to be given subject to the condition of the rules or by-laws (as we have provided in this clause) being made after previous publication, then the following provisions shall apply, namely—

- (1) the authority having power to make the rules or by-laws shall, before making them, publish a draft of the proposed rules or by-laws for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby ;
- (2) the publication shall be made in such manner as that authority deems to be sufficient, or, if the condition with respect to previous publication so requires, in such manner as the Local Government prescribes ;
- (3) there shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date on or after which the draft will be taken into consideration ;
- (4) the authority having power to make the rules or by-laws, and, where the rules or by-laws are to be made with the sanction, approval or concurrence of another authority, that authority also shall consider any objection or suggestion which may be received by the authority having power to make the rules or by-laws from any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified ;
- (5) the publication in the Calcutta Gazette of a rule or by-law purporting to have been made in exercise of a power to make rules or by-laws after previous publication shall be conclusive proof that the rule or by-law has been duly made.

I submit, my Lord, that in view of this statutory provision of the General Clauses Act and of the fact that in this clause we have inserted that the rules can only be made by after previous publication, there is absolutely no necessity to refer to the old Act of 1885, nor to section 143 of that Act. The present law under the General Clauses Act covers the object which Government intended and which the Hon'ble Member also wishes."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"I thank the Hon'ble Member for the information which he has furnished, and I beg leave to withdraw my amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 208.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta :—

That after the word "publication" in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 111 (now clause 101) the words "and after consideration of the views of the district boards" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, in view of the provisions of the General Clauses Act which we have just heard, I beg leave to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 209.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri :—

That after the word "president" in line 2 of sub-clause (2) (h) of clause 111 (now clause 101), the words "or vice-president" be inserted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this has become unnecessary, because the provision for a vice-president has not been accepted by the House, so I beg leave to withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 210.

The Hon'ble Member being absent, the following motion was deemed to be withdrawn :—

If motion No. 46 be carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazi-ul-Haq to move that after sub-clause (2) (e) of clause 111 (now clause 101), the following be inserted, namely :—

"(ee) prescribing the procedure for convening and conducting meetings for passing votes of censure on members under section 14B."

AMENDMENT No. 211.

The following motion stood in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta :—

That sub-clause (2) (h) of clause 111 (now clause 101), be omitted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Akhil Chandra Datta. The President; Sir Henry Wheeler; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I am not quite sure, my Lord, in view of the decisions already come to by the Council, whether it is in order to move this amendment. I have my doubts about it. If this amendment is passed, it will not be quite in conformity with the decisions which the Council has already arrived at."

The President said :—

"Yes, I think the Hon'ble Member is right. He proposes to leave out sub-clause (k) of clause 111 (now clause 101) which gives power for 'regulating the powers and duties of union boards in regard to the control to be exercised by them, over dafadars and chaukidars within the union'. The Hon'ble Member suggests that if that amendment is carried that would be contrary to the decision which has already been arrived at by the Council. I think he is correct; it would be so. Under these circumstances he is not in order in moving it."

The motion was then deemed to be withdrawn.

AMENDMENT No. 212.

The following motion was also covered by a previous decision of the Council and was deemed to be withdrawn.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta to move that the words "of dafadars, and" in line 1 of sub-clause (2) (i) of clause 111 (now clause 101), be omitted.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"With your permission, and in connection with a previous amendment accepted by this Council, I will now move, Sir, that after sub-clause (i) of clause 111 (now clause 101) the following be inserted, viz.:—

'(ia) prescribing the processes to be served by dafadars or chaukidars and regulating the service of such processes'.

The amendment will be understood in the light of the discussion that we had yesterday.

The motion was put and agreed to.

AMENDMENT No. 213.

The Hon'ble Member being absent the following motion was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazi-ul-Haq to move that after sub-clause (2) (n) of clause 111 (now clause 101), the following be inserted, namely :—

"(nn) fixing the period within which, and the manner in which, an appeal under section 61, sub-section (3), shall be preferred."

AMENDMENT No. 214.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved that item 3 in column 4 of Schedule I, be omitted.

He said :—

The object of item No. 3 in column 4 of Schedule I is to enable local boards to be established even for parts of subdivisions while section 6 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, lays down a subdivisional area to be the minimum local board area. The original Bill contemplated the substitution of circle boards for local boards, the circle boards comprising only parts of a subdivisional area. The Select Committee have retained the local board, though the amendment of section 6 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act in the manner would enable Government to create local boards for what were proposed to be circle board areas. So the distinction between local boards and circle boards would be more in name than in substance.

Section 6 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act should be left as it is, and local boards should not be permitted to be established for less than subdivisional areas. In justifying the elimination of the circle board the Select Committee observed: 'We accept the view that the functions to be exercised by such bodies would be inadequate to confer a status likely to attract energetic members or to give them a keen interest in their work.' If the local boards are to exercise an efficient control over union boards placed under their supervision, they must be composed of men who are of a type superior to the members of the union boards and we cannot have such a type of men unless we include the subdivisional headquarters within a local board area. Moreover, a too close control—such as would be exercised by local boards for areas smaller than subdivisional areas would tend to make the union boards lifeless. Whatever supervision there is to be over these little self-governing units it must be exercised from a distance and by persons capable of efficiently exercising such control. There is also a risk that if areas smaller than subdivisional areas are constituted into local boards, the circle officer may be in a position to impose his will on these weak bodies and reduce them to mere tools in the hands of the executive. It is very significant that under the scheme propounded by the District Administration Committee, the circle officer was to have been the chairman of union boards. This feature has, no doubt, been omitted in the Bill. But if we have miniature local boards of the same size as the circle boards, the circle officer, though not actually the president, will virtually be their dictator. Question of cost is important too. By having a larger number of local boards, establishment charges would be increased. Every thing will have to be met from local taxation, since Government are not definitely committing themselves to any contribution. District boards are also not very affluent. Too close a control was not favoured by the Decentralization Commission even in matters of finance and audit. In every matter it is now proposed to have too close control."

"My Lord, I may explain the reasons which led the Select Committee to insert this item in the schedule. Local boards have been established throughout all but five districts in which the Local Self-Government Act is in force. Two of these districts (Bogra and Malda) have no subdivisions, and have therefore no local board. There is also no local board in the district of Chittagong or in the Sadar subdivision of Dinajpur and the Sadar subdivision of Jalpaiguri. With reference to that, I may mention that the question of establishing local boards in the district of Chittagong has been kept in abeyance, because this Bill, as introduced, provided for circle boards; and it was felt that there would be little object in introducing local boards when they would be replaced in a short time by circle boards. Now that the idea of establishing circle boards has been dropped, the question of introducing the local board system in Chittagong will be taken up.

"To revert to the amendment, the Local Self-Government Act allows Government only to establish a local board for a whole subdivision or two or more subdivisions, and the object of this item in the schedule is to enable Government to establish local boards for parts of subdivisions.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur ; Mr. O'Malley.

The reason is first that, as explained by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler when the Bill was previously under debate, it will be necessary to introduce the Act gradually and in selected areas. To take the case of the districts in which there are at present no local boards, it may not be possible to introduce the Act at one step in the whole of the districts of Bogra and Malda. It may be desirable first to introduce it in parts only of those districts ; in that case it will be desirable that a local board, as the controlling authority over union boards, should be established only for that part of the district in which union boards are established. In the rest of the district, the District Boards would continue to have direct and exclusive jurisdiction. Again, in the sadar subdivision of Jalpaiguri it might not be desirable to introduce the Act and to establish union boards throughout the whole area. The tea-garden coolies are not a very advanced population and would not form a suitable material for such an advanced system as the Bill contemplates. Outside the tea-garden areas, however, it might be possible to establish union boards, and in that case it would be possible for Government by this amendment of the Local Self-Government Act to establish a local board for the area having union boards. That is the main object of this amendment of the Local Self-Government Act.

"The Select Committee also had in view a contingency which is at present remote, namely, that in the course of time the local boards, with the growth of union boards and the consequent expansion of their work, will find it difficult to exercise effective supervision over the whole number. The Hon'ble Mover has not realised what a large number of union boards will be established throughout the districts. The average per district would be about 250. It is to meet such a contingency that this amendment is partially designed. If any local board finds it impossible to get through its work, it will enable the Government to give it a smaller area of control by establishing smaller boards. This, however, is a contingency which is not likely to arise for some time, and the item in the schedule is for the present contemplated to meet only the cases of the districts throughout which local boards have not been established. This item is therefore necessary, and I am unable to accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have tried to follow the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley's speech and as far as I understand him I think he says that such places as Bogra and Malda have no local boards as there are no subdivisions. But it is necessary to have local boards intervening between the district boards and union boards. What I fail to understand is that when the district has not yet been subdivided into subdivisions it seems that there is no necessity for having a local board there. Further, I would like to quote the Hon'ble Mr. Hart's opinion on this point. He says that it is not necessary to have intermediate bodies as circle boards or local boards. I think that it will be considered sufficient if the union boards are supervised by the standing committees of the district boards. Supposing Malda and Bogra have the district board standing committees to supervise their union boards, I do not think there will be any difficulty."

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley said :—

"My Lord, may I refer the Hon'ble Member to clause 55A (now clause 50) of the Bill which says that subject to the control of the district board, a local shall supervise the administration of union boards."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta;Sir Henry Wheeler; The President.The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur (continuing) said :—

"My Lord, I quite understand that clause; but that clause gives the local Government the discretion to add to the number of local boards. What I say is: that it is necessary to ensure supervision. The provisions of the present Bill are quite sufficient to carry out the supervision of the union boards; and if the contingency to which the Hon'ble Member has referred arises, I think that the district board in such a small district as Malda will be able to manage it by their standing committees.

"Further, it has been stated that there might be on an average of 250 union boards in a district. It may be so; but these boards will be supervised by two bodies—first by the local board and then by the district board. Where there are no local boards in smaller areas, the district boards will be able to look after them and the creation of union boards will add considerably to the cost of the self-governing institution, which I submit is unnecessary. The objection against the circle boards applies to this clause also. A grave impediment to the success of this measure is that it involves a considerable increase in the burden of taxation and that is also my experience in the case of the present union committees."

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 215.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that items 4 and 5 in Schedule III be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, in the course of the discussion on a previous amendment, I have already submitted my reasons for objecting to the delegation of powers by the District Magistrate to subordinate officials. Items 4 and 5 are the most important items in Schedule III. In item 4, it is proposed to delegate to the powers of appointment and dismissal of chaukidars and dafadars and in item 5 of the fining of dafadars and chaukidars, to the subdivisional magistrate, superintendent of police or circle officer. My contention is that these powers should not be delegated, because we have had complaints in the past about the evil effects of the delegation of these powers by the district magistrate to the Police. I propose, therefore, that these two items be omitted from the schedule."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, yesterday in amendment No. 137 the Hon'ble Member sought to omit from the Bill the whole of Schedule III. His present proposal is to omit a part of it only. But, as the Council decided yesterday to retain the whole, I am not sure whether he is in order in asking for a modification of it in part."

The President said :—

"The motion that the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler is referring to is to omit clause 52 (now clause 47) and Schedule III. I pointed out at the time that the Hon'ble Member could not then deal with Schedule III, and that he would have to wait till we came to it. The question which I then put was that clause 52 be omitted and that was negatived; but that does not prevent him from proposing an amendment for omitting certain items from the schedule."

*The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Henry Wheeler ; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ My Lord, I am sorry that I misunderstood Your Excellency's remarks.”

“ As regards the merits of the proposal, the amendment, if accepted, will require that the appointment, dismissal and fining of dafadars and chaukidars must be done by the district magistrate throughout the whole district. I have very little to add to what the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said yesterday in connection with amendment No. 137. It is an absolute impossibility for the district magistrate personally to discharge all these functions throughout the district, and it would not be satisfactory that he should attempt to do so. It is far better to delegate these powers to somebody, i.e., the subdivisional officer, the superintendent of police or the circle officer, who is more closely cognizant of the facts and the circumstances which regulate them. For the reason that the adoption of this proposal will seriously impede the administration of the Act, I oppose the amendment.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“ My Lord, it is said that it is not possible for the district magistrate to discharge all these functions and the power must necessarily be delegated to somebody. Now, what will be the result? The result will be the continuance of the old system. Although, there has been a good organisation of the chaukidari union, although the union board is formed with larger powers and although the chaukidars are admitted to be the servants of the union boards, still, for all practical purposes, they will be the servants of the police. So, the present position will be continued and no improvement will be effected of this very important question. For these reasons, I would press this amendment.”

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 216.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that the words “ circle officer ” and “ superintendent of police,” wherever they occur in column 2 of Schedule III, be omitted.

He said :—

“ My Lord, as regards this amendment my submission is that, in the first instance, I moved for the omission of schedule III. That has, of course, been negatived, then I moved that out of the several items of that schedule, items Nos. 4 and 5 be omitted. That has also been negatived. My only alternative is now to move that in items Nos. 4 and 5, the words ‘ superintendent of police or circle officer ’ wherever they occur may be omitted. As a matter of fact, however, these two words occur only in items Nos. 4 and 5. In other words, the result of the acceptance of this amendment will be that so far as the sub-divisional magistrate is concerned, the authority of the district magistrate in these two matters may be delegated to the former and not to the superintendent of police or circle officer. I have nothing further to say as I have already stated my reasons.”

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

“ My Lord, the result of the amendment, if accepted, would be that the district magistrate could only delegate these powers to the subdivisional magistrate and not to anybody else. At present, he can delegate authority to the superintendent of police, and this practice has been in force since 1892, when the right so to delegate was introduced by the amending Act of that year. Sir Henry Cotton then explained that this delegation had not been given at the time of the Act of 1870, mainly because the position of the superintendent of police at that time had not been clearly defined or understood. He further remarked :—

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

‘When the Act of 1870 was passed, it was thought expedient that all power and control in regard to the village watch should rest with the magisterial authorities only, not with the heads of the department. However, there has been some changes since those times; and there is now no doubt in the minds of any one as to the exact position and relations between the magistrate of the district and the district superintendent. In these circumstances it was thought it would be administratively convenient to empower the magistrate of the district to delegate his authority, subject to the sanction of the Commissioner, to the district superintendent of police, if he should wish to do so in preference to any magisterial officer subordinate to him. By such delegation, he will be merely giving effect to the principle which underlies all the old Regulations in Bengal with regard to the relations between the village watch and the regular police. At the same time the power, if so delegated, will have a tendency to result in the improved organisation of the village watch, which is one of the main objects of the Bill which I have introduced into Council’.

These, Sir, were the reasons for which the power was not given in 1870, but was given in 1892. Since then it has been exercised in various ways in different districts without any inconvenience to the administration and without any bad results; and I submit that there is no justification for seeking to eliminate the authority of so delegating.

The question of circle officers is no doubt more new, as they are a newer creation; but we hope that they will play an important part in the development of village self-government. In this connection, I would like to correct an impression which the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta sought to convey earlier in the day, that the District Administration Committee favoured the cry of developing village self-government merely for the sake of securing the appointment of circle officers. The facts are far otherwise. They regarded the circle officer throughout as one of the most fundamental factors in the success of any scheme of village self-government, and that was not only their experience, but it is the experience of all those who have at one time and another enquired into the matter. I have previously referred to two enquiries made by committees presided over by Mr. Beames and Mr. Monro. The finding of both these committees was that part of the reason of the failure of the chaukidari administration lay in the absence of any agency which could exercise supervision. Failing that agency, resort had to be had to the police, but although these committees strongly recommended that if anything was to be done to improve the chaukidari panchayats and to bring them under influence other than those of the police, it must be by the creation of a subsidiary agency which did not then exist, nothing was ever done in that direction. When I enquired into the matter in 1905-06, I again drew attention to this defect and pressed the point; but just as the recommendations of these two earlier bodies were disregarded, so too my small recommendation did not get through. The District Administration Committee after examining these old papers again came to the same conclusion. To substantiate my contention regarding the importance which they attached to this point, I would read a few extracts from their report. This is what they said in paragraph 94 :—

“The proposed scheme (of circle officers) is one of great administrative importance, for it contemplates the creation, not only of a village organization which it may be possible to utilize as the basis of real local self-government in Bengal, but also of a supervising local agency, without which no village system can ever be expected to work satisfactorily.”

In another paragraph, they referred to the detriment to the working of the system which had resulted from the constant interference of the police, which, though not contemplated by law, had to be employed in the absence of any other agency. This was exactly the contention of Mr. Beames' and Mr. Monro's committees and of myself. In paragraph 97, the District Administration Committee observed :—

“Over and over again it has been pointed out that, without at least one whole-time special officer to supervise the work of the panchayats in each district, the president system was bound to fail, but the question has invariably been shelved on some ground or other, and, until the recent deputation of Mr. Weston and Mr. J. N. Gupta to supervise the introduction of an experimental circle system into certain selected subdivisions, practically nothing was done.”

This finding shows that the failure of the chaukidari, panchayats and union committees, as also of Mr. Savage's president system was due to the want of adequate supervision. As regards the latter the Committee remarked in paragraph 96 :—

“The initial mistake was made of attempting to introduce it without the special supervision, which both Mr. Savage and Mr. Wheeler, from the first, had strongly insisted upon as necessary to its success.”

“So, Sir, I submit that the circle officer is meant to fill a very definite place in the development of village self-government which we all wish to see, and that it would be a fatal mistake to endeavour to deprive him of the powers which, by delegation, it would be possible to give him under the Bill as it stands.”

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

“My Lord, I wish to touch on two points in reply. In the first place, if it is known that the district officers will not be able to discharge their functions and as a matter of necessity these powers will have to be delegated to the subordinate officials, it is difficult to understand why the power should be retained at all in the Bill for the district magistrate. Would it not be better in that case to lay down expressly that this power is to be exercised by the superintendent of police or the circle officer? That would have been more proper and people would have known what the position exactly was.

“Then, My Lord, it is said that the quotations that have been made from the report of the District Administration Committee show that the circle officer is an essential factor in the scheme of village self-government which is sought to be developed by the Bill before us. That is a point, my Lord, on which we have not of course agreed. I only submit this that I am sure some years after it will be realised that if the very good effort made by Government to develop the village self-government fails, it will only fail on account of the institution of their clan of circle officers.”

The motion was then put and lost.

AMENDMENT No. 217.

The following motion was held to be covered by the decision on the previous motion and was deemed to be withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri to move that the reference to “circle officer” in item 4 and in item 5 of schedule III, be omitted.

AMENDMENT No. 218.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that for the words “twenty rupees” in the last line of item 4 of part A of Schedule IV, the words “twenty-five rupees” be substituted.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.

Babu Akhil Chandra Datta; Sir Henry Wheeler.

AMENDMENT No. 219.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta moved that for the word and figures "and 411", at the end of item 4 of Part A of Schedule IV, the figures and word "411, 456 and 457" be substituted.

He said :—

"My Lord, this schedule (IV) defines the offences triable by a union bench. Item 4 gives a list of some sections of the Indian Penal Code under which the offences will be triable by a union bench. In this case I do not ask for any substitution but propose the addition of two more offences, these offences being under sections 456 and 457 of the Indian Penal Code, namely, the offences of lurking, house-trespass or house-breaking by night; in section 457 there is an additional element that the offences may be committed with the object of committing some offence. The object why I have made this proposal is that from our experience, we know—and that is also corroborated by the report of the Police Department—that this class of cases, viz., of house-trespass and house-breaking by night, is by the very nature of the offences such that it is very difficult for the police to detect the criminals. Of course, in some cases the offenders are caught redhanded in the very act of committing these offences and they are detected, without the help of police. But in cases where the offenders are not detected red-handed, it is very difficult for the police to make the detection, not because the police are inefficient, nor because the police are corrupt, but because from the very nature of the offence it is very difficult for them to do so. If there is a case of house-breaking, the offence is committed at dead of night, and as there are no eye-witnesses to prove the crime it is impossible for the police to find out the criminals. This fact is corroborated by the result of the police investigation as shown in the reports of the Police Department. Therefore, it is believed by some people who have got experience of this matter that these offences might very well be transferred from the jurisdiction of the police to the jurisdiction of the village benches—in the sense that they will have jurisdiction if the aggrieved party wants to go to the village courts and the union bench consisting of members of the village and of the locality, they will be in a better position to do justice to cases under this clause than other people. That is the object of this amendment."

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler said :—

"My Lord, schedule IV, Part A of the Bill defines the cases which shall be triable by the union bench if committed within their jurisdiction. It was deliberately drawn on cautious lines as this experiment of union benches is new. They have yet got to be tested and prove their capacity, and it was not thought expedient to entrust them, especially at the outset, with the trial of cases of much importance. If we accept the amendment we should ordinarily make triable by them the offences of lurking house-trespass by night, and house-breaking by night with intent to commit an offence punishable with imprisonment. These may be very serious offences. In form, too, the amendment is defective as it would make these offences triable when the value of the property in the opinion of the union bench is not over Rs. 20, but the element of property might not necessarily come into these two sections, and if not, I am not quite clear how the amendment would be construed. But my main objection is that these are important offences which very often involve previously convicted bad characters for whom the limit of punishment which the union bench can give would be quite inappropriate. For these reasons, I would prefer not to go beyond the schedule as now framed. In what way this change would facilitate the detection of these offences, I do not understand. I fail to appreciate the Hon'ble Member's argument, and if my memory is not at fault, I think he opposed a suggestion that the chaukidar should have power to arrest a person found in possession of an implement of house-breaking, among others, which is far more in the direction of prevention than the trial of the case. The trial of the case presupposes that the accused has already been caught."

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I do not think any useful purpose will be served by additional observations. I therefore beg to withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

AMENDMENTS Nos. 220 AND 221.

The President said :—

"The next two amendments Nos. 220 and 221 have got misplaced. Amendment 221 will be taken up first and then 220."

Amendment No. 221 was as follows :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that after item 4 of Part A of Schedule IV the following be inserted, namely :—

"5. Cases under sections 133 and 145 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I am told that it will be unwise to invest the union boards with these extensive powers which I propose to give them by this amendment ; therefore, I do not think I will be justified in detaining the Council over this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Amendment No. 220 was as follows :—

Also to move that for the words "twenty rupees", in lines 4 and 5 of Part B of Schedule IV, the words "fifty rupees" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta said :—

"I want to follow the footsteps of my friend the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem and withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 4.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler moved that the Secretary be directed to re-number the clauses and sub-clauses of the Bill in consecutive order and to make corresponding alterations in all cross-references thereto.

The motion was put and agreed to.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler also moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari; The President.

He said :

"After the lengthy discussions of the last two days, I do not propose to make a speech, but would merely put the motion as it stands."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, before the motion is put to the vote, I desire in person to congratulate your Excellency's Government, and your Excellency in particular on the fairly smooth passage of this Bill through the Council. It was resubmitted to the Select Committee, a procedure which, at one time it was thought, would mean a great deal of delay. Fortunately that apprehension has proved to be unfounded and by this some what unusual procedure the ground was considerably cleared. By bringing your Excellency's Government into 'the court,' of the Select Committee, we have got our 10 per cent. 'discount' and a great many amendments have been accepted. If we have not done better it is more our misfortune than our fault. Non-official members have rarely been in their places and have freely deferred from one another. As I had occasion to point out and claim before, we are guided by individual judgment and do not favour cliques and caucuses. We have also done our very best to do away with misapprehensions in the minds of your Excellency's Government that there would be delay and obstructiveness. Whatever may be our different points of view, this Bill will be the first step towards that great goal of self-government towards which we are all looking forward, each in our own individual way. Your Excellency on assumption of office made this measure your particular care and I congratulate your Excellency on the successful ending of your worthy labour. When the Reforms Scheme comes into operation, we shall have the initial means ready to begin this new and great service of the country."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The President said :—

"It is usual for the President to say a few words at the conclusion of the session as to the work which has been done. We have just had three rather long and strenuous days and I propose, therefore, to be very brief in such remarks as I shall make in regard to the past session. The Council, I think, may congratulate itself upon the most fruitful session from the legislative point of view which it has enjoyed for some years past. Several Bills have reached the Statute Book and one or two are very nearly there. Our old and familiar friend, the Calcutta Hackney Carriage Bill, has at last become the Calcutta Hackney Carriage Act. Even though we may not all of us appreciate the actual benefits which that measure confers upon the community, I am sure that for other reasons we are thankful to think that it has passed beyond the purview of this Chamber. Another measure of value, though not a very large measure, for which the Council have been responsible during the past session, is the Bengal Tenancy Amendment Act of 1919, upon the passage of which I would congratulate both the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming and the members of this Council.

Then I must make a passing reference to two measures, the passage of which marks a new stage, I think, in the development of legislative practice in this country. I refer to the Juvenile Smoking Act of 1919 and to the Bengal Primary Education Bill, the latter of which has passed this Council and is now awaiting the sanction of His Excellency the Viceroy. I say that these two measures mark a fresh stage in the legislative practice of this country, because they are, I believe, the first enactments for which private members of the Bengal Legislative Council have been responsible. I would like to take this opportunity of congratulating the authors of these two Bills—

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1919.The President.

Hon'ble Dr. Shurawardy, the author of the Juvenile Smoking Bill and the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, the author of the Bengal Primary Education Bill, upon the passage of these two measures. Both of them have valuable possibilities. There may be some difference of opinion as to the extent to which the various authorities, who will be authorized under the Juvenile Smoking Act, to adopt a punitive attitude towards small boys, will put it into practice. At any rate the passage of the Act establishes the principle that it is one of the duties of the legislature to assist the public to bring about such changes in the habits of the people as it believes to be desirable and salutary. With regard to the Bengal Primary Education Bill, I should like to express my personal satisfaction, and, I think, I may say the satisfaction of my Government, at the passage of that measure. The whole question of primary education was under the consideration of the Bengal Government, and in particular of my Hon'ble Colleague the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, when this Bill was introduced, and the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, fitted in so well with the views which we had formed as to the best methods of proceeding with a view to extending primary education in Bengal, that we accepted it with satisfaction and gratitude. I believe that a large step in advance will be made in the direction of extending primary education as a result of the provisions of the measure.

One other Bill has advanced appreciably during the past session and that is the Food Adulteration Bill, another measure to which both the Government, and, I am sure, the Hon'ble Members of this Council, attach great importance. The report of the Select Committee upon the Bill has been presented, and I hope that it will be possible for us to take it into consideration during the forthcoming summer session of the Council.

Finally, we have this afternoon concluded our labours upon the Village Self-Government Bill, and I would express my appreciation of the kindly remark which fell from the Hon'ble Sir D. P. Sarbadhikary when the Bill was on the point of being accepted by the Council a few moments ago.

I should like also to express my thanks to the many Hon'ble Members of this Council for the assistance and co-operation which they have given us in giving this measure its final shape. In particular I would like to express my thanks to the members of the Select Committee for giving so much time and so much labour to the matter. It would be ungrateful of me also if I were not to take this opportunity of expressing to the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler my thanks for the immense amount of time and labour which he has given to the measure. That time and labour has been over and above the time and labour which he has to devote to his ordinary duties. But for the unfortunate illness of the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan the Bill would have been conducted through the Council by him. I mention that because I think it is only fair to Sir Henry Wheeler who has had very heavy additional duties thrown upon his shoulders, that we should express to him our thanks and appreciation for the courteous manner in which he has discharged his duties.

That I think is all that I need say about our legislative output. As I have said I think it is the most useful legislative output for which this Council has been responsible for a good many years past.

So far as the other functions of this Council are concerned, namely, the criticism of the executive Government, I think Hon'ble Members may look back on a satisfactory session. They have moved a number of resolutions on matters of general importance, some 24 in all, and they have moved some 34 resolutions on the Financial Statement; they have also displayed a laudable desire for information by asking a number of questions, some 360 in all. The Government have at all times done their best to supply the information which has been asked for in these questions. I may point out that the mere figure of 360 does not by any means indicate the real number of question asked, since a single question is very often divided up into a very large number of sub-heads, and I should say that the actual number of questions asked was nearer 1,500 or 2,000 than the number suggested by the official figures.

There is only one other piece of work to which I need make reference and that is the special session of the Council which was held in November last for the consideration of the Reform Scheme. Hon'ble Members will remember that a committee of non-official members of this Council was appointed as a result of that special meeting in order that they might consider the Reform Scheme and report to Government their opinions upon it. As a result of their labours the Government had placed in their hands a useful and interesting document which clearly indicated to them the views which non-official members of this Council take with regard to the different aspects of the Reform Scheme, and we are proportionately grateful to them for the time and trouble which they took in preparing their report.

It only remains for me to wish you a pleasant vacation until we next meet at a later period of the summer.

ADJOURNMENT.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON THE PUBLIC SERVICES IN INDIA RELATING TO THE CIVIL VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

RESOLUTION—No. 332T.R.

READ—

The Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.
Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.

THE Governor in Council is now considering the recommendations of the Public Services Commission concerning the Civil Veterinary Department which are contained in Annexure II of their report and this resolution is published in order to give the public interested an opportunity of expressing their views on the more important questions involved.

2. The three main problems which require consideration are the following :—

- (1) the method of recruitment of Indians for the Imperial Veterinary Service ;
- (2) the method of recruitment of officers for the Provincial Veterinary Service ; and
- (3) the pay of the above two services.

3. The Royal Commission considered that every effort should be made to meet the normal requirements of the Imperial Service within a reasonable time by recruitment in India. They accordingly recommended that classes teaching up to the higher standard of veterinary science should be established in India and that, when they were sufficiently developed, the Government of India should announce that not less than one-half of the number of vacancies in the Imperial Service should be filled by statutory natives of India who have been through the higher course. It is, however, obvious that the time has not yet come for making such an announcement. The establishment, moreover, of such an educational course, which would be in the form of an Imperial Veterinary College, is by no means free from difficulty. As pointed out by Mr. (now Sir Frank) Sly in his note of dissent, the very large expenditure which its establishment would involve would only be justified, if it were assured of an adequate supply of students. It is true this might be secured, if candidates for the Provincial Service were trained at the same institution ; but it is doubtful whether the two classes of services ought to be trained together or whether it is right to centralise the training of Provincial officers at the expense, it may be, of recruitment. An alternative would be to establish an Imperial College for the training of candidates only for the Imperial Branch of the service and of all men who are desirous of taking up the veterinary profession with a view to private practice or research. The Governor in Council would, therefore, be glad to learn whether, having regard to the future requirements for veterinary surgeons in the province, private students from Bengal would be likely to present themselves for training at such a college. Opinion is also invited on the question whether admission to the proposed Imperial Veterinary College should be confined to students who have already taken the provincial service course in a provincial veterinary college, or whether graduates in science (with or without honours) from arts colleges should also be admitted.

4. The Commission have also recommended that, pending the establishment in India of facilities for higher education, one of the opportunities—in addition to promotion from the Provincial Service of suitable persons who had been through a post-graduate course of study in Europe—for the appointment of statutory natives of India to the Imperial Branch should be provided by a system of state scholarships to enable likely young men to proceed to Europe with the object of gaining the diploma of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons ; but in such cases it should be made clear that the fact of having won a scholarship and obtained the British diploma should not give anyone preferential claim to be selected by the Secretary of State. His Excellency in Council therefore desires to know to what extent qualified candidates from Bengal might be expected to avail themselves of scholarships under the terms stated above with the object of gaining that diploma.

5. Regarding the Provincial Service the Commission recommended that it should consist only of Deputy Superintendents and officers of corresponding status in the College staffs. They further remarked that a really efficient Provincial Service cannot be mainly recruited from persons of a relatively low standard of education who entered the service as subordinates. They, therefore, recommended that the level of training in the Provincial Colleges which are maintained for the training of officers of the subordinate service should be raised and that in the future not less than half the vacancies arising in the Provincial Services should be filled by direct recruitment.

It is clear that at the same time the present low standard of the entrance qualification ought to be raised. But if this were done there would be a risk of endangering recruitment to the subordinate service, as the services are not yet popular with men with higher attainments. Direct recruitment in Bengal or the elimination of the practical training obtained in the subordinate service is not, therefore, at present a very practical proposition. The question therefore arises whether it would not be preferable to offer definite prospects of rapid progress through the grades of Veterinary Assistants and Inspectors to persons possessing higher educational qualifications than the ordinary entrance qualification, who have done exceptionally well at a College and studied a more advanced course.

6. For the pay of the Imperial Veterinary Officers recruited in India the Commission have recommended a scale of Rs. 300—30—600—50—1,000 a month, and for those recruited in Europe Rs. 500—50—1,400. Hitherto the terms of the Service applicable to the Imperial Veterinary officers have been materially more favourable than those of the Imperial Agricultural Officers in respect of both the minimum and maximum limits of the sanctioned time-scale pay and of eligibility for exchange compensation allowance. It is therefore suggested that the scale of Rs. 350—35—1,050 proposed for the Imperial Agricultural officers recruited in India might be suitably applied to Imperial officers of the Civil Veterinary Department recruited in India and that an overseas allowance in addition to this pay should be given to the officers recruited in Europe as suggested in the case of the Imperial Agricultural officers. The grant of an overseas allowance would be in conformity with the recommendation made in paragraph 322 of the report of His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State on the Reforms. The members of the Service will as hitherto be debarred from private professional practice in India. The Commission recommended that the normal scale of salary in the Provincial Service should be Rs. 250— $\frac{2}{3}$ —450— $\frac{2}{3}$ —500 with a probationary rate of Rs. 150.

7. His Excellency in Council does not propose to deal specifically with the other matters dealt with in the Commission's report, so far as the Veterinary services are concerned. It is requested that any remarks or criticisms which any person or body of persons interested may desire to offer, may be forwarded to the Revenue Secretary to the Government of Bengal, not later than the 1st June 1919.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information and a copy sent to the leading associations in Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE PUBLIC SERVICES COMMISSION.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

DARJEELING, THE 10TH MAY 1919.

RESOLUTION—No. 1522E.

READ—

The Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.

THE Governor in Council has had under consideration the recommendations of the Public Services Commission, contained in Annexure XVIII, concerning the Public Works Department, and this resolution is published in order to give the public interested an opportunity of expressing their views on the more important questions involved.

2. The Department is divided into the Roads and Buildings Branch and the Irrigation Branch.

The Engineer personnel of the Department, which is common to both branches, may be divided as follows :—

- (1) Engineers (Imperial Service and Provincial Service).
- (2) Upper Subordinates.
- (3) Lower Subordinates.

The Provincial Service of Engineers is open only to statutory natives of India ; and its strength is maintained by the appointment by the Government of Bengal of a fixed number of students trained at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur. The present rate of recruitment in Bengal is one officer in every alternate year from among the graduate students who have also undergone one year's practical training and have passed a practical examination at the end of the training. In addition, a selected qualified Upper Subordinate is promoted to the Provincial Engineer establishment periodically—hitherto at the rate of one in every fourth year.

The Upper Subordinate establishment is recruited by the Provincial Government either by the appointment of graduate students trained at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, and the Dacca School of Engineering, or by the promotion of selected Lower Subordinates and occasionally by the appointment of other suitable candidates.

The Lower Subordinate establishment is maintained at the required strength by the appointment by Superintending Engineers, under powers delegated to them, of students holding certificates of the Civil Engineering College and Schools and of other suitable candidates.

3. A summary of the recommendations of the Commission relating to the Public Works Department will be found in Chapter IX of Annexure XVIII of their Report ; the following are the most important recommendations :—

- (1) Amalgamation of the present Imperial and Provincial Services of Engineers into one superior service of engineers.

The present Provincial Service has its origin in the recommendations of the Public Services Commission of 1886-87. It was the intention of that Commission that the Imperial Service of the Department should include only those officers who were required for purposes of control and direction, and for the carrying out of works calling for high engineering skill ; while the Provincial Service would be responsible for works for which a lower standard of engineering skill was adequate. The recent Commission found on enquiry that officers recruited in India were engaged on work of the same importance and responsibility as officers of the same official standing recruited in England. The Commission therefore recommend that the present division into the Imperial and Provincial Services should be abolished and that for the future there should be only one superior engineering service.

In regard to the training of candidates for the superior service to be recruited in England, the Commission are definitely opposed to the re-establishment of a residential Engineering College as they consider that, by drawing on the resources of the large number of well equipped engineering institutions, better material for the service can be obtained than could be secured through the medium of a single agency. They therefore recommend that, subject to some modification in detail, the present arrangements should continue. They consider that candidates for appointment should be between the ages of 21 and 24; and that they should have obtained one of the University degrees specified in the regulations or an equivalent diploma or distinction in engineering; but that the fact of having passed the examination for the associate membership of the Institution of Civil Engineers should not in itself, without a collegiate training, be considered sufficient qualification for appointment. The Commission further recommend that a definite condition of appointment should be that candidates should have had at least twelve months' practical experience of engineering work.

As an alternative to the Commission's proposals, it has been suggested that candidates should be appointed in England under a system of combined selection and competitive examination immediately upon leaving college. Suitable candidates would in the first instance be selected to a number in excess of the number of vacancies, and these selected candidates should then be subjected to a competitive examination. It has been proposed that thereafter the successful recruits would be drafted direct to India for a practical training course extending to two years. A modification of this period of practical training has been suggested, viz., that the first six months should be spent in obtaining experience and training in England and about eighteen months in a probationary training course in India. At the end of the two years' training the probationers would be confirmed as Assistant Engineers if found suitable.

(2) Statutory natives of India should be eligible for selection in England; but the arrangement by which 10 per cent. of the vacancies filled in England are reserved for Indians should be abolished.

It has been a standing rule that natives of India shall be selected to the extent of 10 per cent. of the total number of Assistant Engineers recruited by the Secretary of State, if otherwise duly qualified. The Commission has recommended the abolition of this 10 per cent. rule, as officers of the Provincial Service in particular are opposed to the arrangement owing to the invidious distinction which it creates between statutory natives of India recruited in India on the one hand and in England on the other. The system is also open to the objection that it tends to arrest the development of the engineering colleges in India, which have been established and maintained by the Government of India at great expense.

(3) The selection of candidates from Indian colleges for appointment to the superior engineering service should, in all cases, be based partly on their record during the college course, partly on the result of the final examination and partly on the degree of their proficiency in practical work.

The Public Works Department Reorganization Committee have developed the Commission's recommendation as follows. At the end of their college course all students should be given two years' practical training in India. On the completion of their training an examination would be held in purely practical subjects, and the guaranteed appointments would be allotted as a result of the combined college and practical examination—a satisfactory report from the officer under whom the apprenticeship has been served being an essential qualification for appointment. It has been suggested that if the two years' practical training period is adopted, it will be unnecessary that recruits should undergo a further period of probation before being confirmed as Assistant Engineers. The Commissioners recommend that the maximum limit of age for admission to the service should be fixed at 27.

(4) Assistant Engineers should be appointed to executive charges after 8 years' instead of after 10 years' service as at present; and the cadre should be reduced accordingly.

The principal reasons advanced by the Commission are that the duties of an Assistant Engineer make little demand on engineering skill, and men who bring with them into the Department the complete equipment of an advanced engineering training cannot fail to lose both in keenness and in capacity if they are kept on such duties too long. The present period of service in the Assistant Engineer grade also necessitates the maintenance of large and unnecessarily expensive cadres.

The result of the Commission's recommendation would be that an Assistant Engineer would, in normal circumstances, receive officiating divisional charge in the sixth year of service. It is open to doubt whether five years is not too short a time for a thorough training, particularly in the more specialized duties of an irrigation engineer, and specially as it has been proposed that the powers of Executive Engineers should be materially enhanced. On the other hand, an officer who after appointment is employed for two years on a course of practical probationary training, before being confirmed as Assistant Engineer, will, on the date he completes eight years' service after confirmation, have been at work for a total period of ten years.

(5) The decrease in the number of Assistant Engineers should be made good by the appointment of an increased number of Upper Subordinates to subdivisional charges.

To this end the standard of qualification for the Upper Subordinate service should be raised; and, if necessary, the scale of pay of that service should be improved. It is also recommended that the Upper Subordinate branch should be transformed into a service organised on the model of the Provincial Civil Services.

(6) Incremental scales of salaries for Chief and Superintending Engineers and separate incremental scales for Executive and Assistant Engineers should be established. Officers recruited in India should receive lower scales of salaries in the grades of Executive and Assistant Engineers than those laid down for officers recruited in Europe; but in the administrative grades the scale of salary should be the same for all officers.

The rates of salary recommended by the Commission for officers recruited in Europe are as follows:—

	Rs.
Assistant Engineers	380—40—700—50—750
Executive Engineers	800—50—1,250
Superintending Engineers	1,500—100—2,000
Chief Engineers	2,500—50—2,750

The rates of salary proposed for officers recruited in India are:—

	Rs.
Assistant Engineers	300—50—2—500—50—550
Executive Engineers	600—50—1,050
Superintending Engineers	1,500—100—2,000
Chief Engineers	2,500—50—2,750

In paragraph 322 of their Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms, His Excellency the Viceroy and the Secretary of State have suggested as a general principle that the standard scales of pay of the services generally should be fixed with reference to Indians recruited in India at rates sufficient to attract the best men available and to give them an income appropriate to their position, while persons recruited, by reason of superior qualifications, in Europe should be given an extra allowance to compensate them for the drawbacks and expenses of expatriation.

With a view to adopting this suggestion it has been proposed that the scale suggested by the Commission for officers recruited in India should be held to be the common scale of pay for both branches, while for the engineers whose domicile is in Europe there should be an expatriation allowance of Rs. 150 for the first eight years of service and Rs. 200 thereafter until administrative rank is reached.

It appears doubtful whether, in view of the great changes which have taken place since the report of the Public Services Commission was written, these salaries and expatriation allowances are sufficient at the present time; and it has been suggested that the scale should be fixed as follows :—

For officers recruited in Europe :—

	Rs.
Assistant Engineers ...	500—50—850
Executive Engineers ...	1,000—50—1,600
Superintending Engineers ...	2,000—80—2,400
Chief Engineers ...	3,000

For officers recruited in India :—

	Rs.
Assistant Engineers ...	300—35—545
Executive Engineers ...	650—50—1,250
Superintending Engineers ...	1,600—80—2,000
Chief Engineers ...	2,500

These scales exhibit a difference at each period of an officer's service which would be granted to officers recruited in Europe as an expatriation or "overseas" allowance according to the following scale :—

	Rs.
Assistant Engineers ...	200—15—305
Executive Engineers ...	350
Superintending Engineers ...	400
Chief Engineers ...	500

(7) The Committee appointed to select candidates in England for the Superior Engineer Service should be enlarged.

The Commission recommended that the Committee at the India Office should consist of a representative of the India Office; two eminent Engineers nominated by the President of the Institution of Civil Engineers; a retired member of the Public Works Department; a retired member of the Indian State Railway Department and an Indian in touch with the Indian community in the United Kingdom.

It has been proposed that the representative of the India Office should be an officer with general administrative experience in India.

(8) Officers who, when they enter the Department, receive salaries at the rates fixed for persons recruited in Europe, should be subject to the European Service leave rules; other officers should be subject to the Indian Service leave rules and should continue under those rules throughout their career.

4. His Excellency in Council does not propose to invite opinion specifically on the other matters dealt with in the Commission's Report so far as the Department is concerned. It is requested that any remarks or criticism which any person or body of persons interested may desire to offer on the matters discussed in this resolution may be forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, not later than the 15th June 1919.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE ROYAL COMMISSION ON THE PUBLIC SERVICES IN INDIA IN REGARD TO THE BOILER INSPECTION DEPARTMENT.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 12TH MAY 1919.

RESOLUTION—No. 1618 Marine.

READ—

- (1) The Report of the Royal Commission on the Public Services in India.
- (2) The Report of the Indian Industrial Commission.

The Governor in Council has had under consideration the recommendations of the Public Services Commission in Annexure V of their Report, in regard to the Boiler Inspection Department, and this resolution is published with the object of enabling the public interested in the matter an opportunity of expressing their views on the more important questions raised in the report, which are noted below.

2. Reorganization of the Department.—The Commission have recommended a reorganization of the Department on the following lines :—

- (i) that the Boiler Inspectors should be made Government servants ;
- (ii) that salaries and pensions should be paid from general revenues, irrespective of fees earned under the Bengal Steam-Boilers and Prime-Movers Act, which constitute the present Boiler Fund ;
- (iii) that there should be expert supervision of inspection staff ;
- (iv) that the existing system of administration by an officer of the Indian Civil Service or the Indian Police Service together with the representatives of interests to be inspected (i.e., the present Boiler Commission) should be abolished ; and
- (v) that there should be an officer who should be responsible for the effective working of the inspection staff, to be called either the Chief or the First Inspector.

The Indian Industrial Commission, who have also considered the question of the constitution of the Boiler Inspection Department in their report, are in complete agreement with the above views ; and have, in addition, suggested that the Boiler Inspection Department should be placed under the control of the Provincial Department of Industries.

3. Recruitment.—The Public Services Commission have held that it is not necessary on grounds of policy to go outside India for recruits, and that it is not necessary to do so in order to obtain candidates with the necessary qualifications, also that the recruitment should continue to be made as at present in this country.

In the Bengal Presidency statutory natives of India are not ordinarily candidates for appointment as Boiler Inspector and have not so far been appointed. The reason is that Boiler Inspectors are usually recruited from Engineers of the Mercantile Marine Service, holding extra first class Board of Trade certificates ; and consequently, Bengalis with the requisite educational qualifications who practically never follow marine engineering as a profession, do not appear as candidates.

The Commission, however, have advised that there should be no limitation in the employment of non-Europeans ; and that when the Department is reorganised, it should be made clear that qualified Indians are eligible for appointment.

At present the qualification required of a candidate is the possession of a first class Board of Trade certificate. In this connection the Commission have pointed out that, although the above qualification is generally regarded as satisfactory, the Mill Owners' Association in Bombay hold that a candidate should have special experience of land as well as of marine boilers. The Commission have, however, left this point to be considered by the Local Government and their expert advisers along with the question of the reorganization of the Department when it is taken up.

Furthermore, the Commission are of opinion that appointments should be made direct as at present and that there should be a fixed age for recruitment.

4. Salary.—The present scale of salary of the Boiler Inspectors is as below :—

			Rs.
1 Senior Inspector	500—20—600
2 Inspectors	450—10—500
4 Ditto	350—10—450

The Commission have suggested that questions relating to the salary of these officers should be determined by the local Government when the reorganization of the Department is taken up. They consider that an incremental system of salary is suitable for these officers and that it should be continued.

The Commission have also recommended the creation of the post of a Chief Inspector on Rs. 1,000—50—1,250. This Government have already had under consideration the question of the appointment of a Chief Inspector on the aforesaid salary.

5. Strength of the staff.—The Commission have advised that the cadre of the Boiler Department should be expanded to keep pace with the work to be done. At present there are seven permanent and one temporary Inspectors; and the demand of the Department, in view of the extension of the Act and of the increase in the number of boilers inspected, is for one Chief Inspector and nine Inspectors.

6. Leave.—The Commission have recommended that as the service is wholly recruited in India all future entrants to the Boiler Inspection Department should be under Indian Service leave rules, and that no distinction should be made in favour of officers who are not statutory natives of India.

Under the existing rules regulating the grant of leave to Boiler Inspectors, officers with a European domicile already enjoy the benefits of the European Service leaves rules, while those with a Indian domicile are under the Indian Service leave rules.

7. It is requested that any remarks or criticisms which any person or body of persons interested may desire to offer on the points discussed in this resolution may be forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Marine Department, not later than the 30th May 1919.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

F. A. A. COWLEY,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

THIRD AND FINAL FORECAST OF THE SPRING OILSEED CROPS OF BENGAL, 1918-19.

(NOTE.—On an average of the 5 years ending 1918-17, the area under flaxseed in Bengal has represented about 5.5 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 20.5 of the total area under these crops in British India.)

Character of the season.—As already reported in the preceding forecasts dealing with the spring oilseed crops, the season was unfavourable at sowing time and for the subsequent growth of the crop owing to continued drought from October to December. The rainfall of January and February came too late to materially affect the outturn. The latter was therefore much below the normal.

Area sown.—The total area under oilseed crops (excepting sesamum, returned by District Officers) amounts to 1,304,800 acres as against 1,333,500 acres of last year, representing a decrease of 2.1 per cent. The decrease is due to the unfavourable weather conditions prevailing at sowing time.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of District Officers the outturn of the different kinds of oilseed crops for the Province as a whole (excepting sesamum) worked out at 66 per cent. against 82 per cent. of the normal last year.

Taking 6 maunds per acre as the normal rate of yield for linseed, $5\frac{1}{2}$ maunds for rape and mustard and $4\frac{1}{2}$ maunds for other oilseeds, the total yield of all kinds of spring oilseeds is estimated at 1,868,000 tons against 237,500 tons last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Wheat Crop in Bengal, 1918-19.

(Note —On an average of the five years ending 1918.17 the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 8.4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the Territory now reported on, has in the five years ending 1918.17, averaged (a) 41.1 per cent. and (b) 18.7 per cent., respectively).

Character of the season.—As already reported the crop suffered considerably owing to the early cessation of the monsoon, and the consequent lack of soil moisture at the time of sowing and in its early stages. There was no rain in October, November and December. The rainfall in January and February though beneficial was too late to secure a normal crop.

Area sown.—The total area sown this year is estimated at 114,500 acres against 124,000 acres last year. The decrease in area is due to want of moisture at sowing time.

Outturn.—An yield of 70 per cent. and upward is reported from the districts of Dacca, Faridpur, Midnapore, Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling and from 50 to 67 per cent. in Murshidabad, Jessore, Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly, Malda and Pabna, while Nadia and Dinajpur return percentages below 50.

According to the estimates of the District Officers the provincial outturn works out to 61 per cent. of the normal against 69 per cent. of the last year.

Taking the normal yield at eight-half maunds per acre, the total yield for province works out to 21,800 tons against 33,002 tons last year, showing a decrease of a little over 33 per cent.

At the end of April the wholesale average price of the wheat at the principal marts of the province was Rs. 6-15-3 per maund or about 30 and 33 per cent. higher than the current prices at the corresponding period of last year and in the year preceding, respectively. The average wholesale price of common rice in the principal marts at the end of April was Rs. 6-6-6 per maund or about 85 per cent. and 40 per cent. higher than the rates in the corresponding periods of last year and the year preceding.

APPENDIX I.

Final Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1918-19.

District.	Approximate normal area under the wheat crop in acres.	Approximate area under wheat last year (1917-18).	Estimated area under wheat this year (1918-19).	Taking 100 to represent the normal, what would be the average output per acre cropped.		Date by which the harvesting generally commenced this year and whether that date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers
				Last year.	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Nadia ...	23,100	12,400	9,400	67	33	End of February to March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable. Considerable damage has been caused by drought. The output is much below the normal owing to want of timely rainfall.
Murshidabad ...	69,380	31,200	23,800	67	50	March. Normal...	The weather was not favourable at first owing to continued drought after sowing which damaged about half the crop, but the rainfall in February has done some good.
Jessore ...	2,300	1,100*	1,100*	75	58	Idio ...	The weather has not been favourable. About 42 per cent. of the crop has been damaged by drought.
Burdwan ...	2,000	2,000*	2,000*	87	58	Middle of March Normal.	The weather was unfavourable up to middle of January owing to drought. The rainfall in January did some good to the crop. Since then the weather has been favourable except at Katwa. Late sowing and want of moisture at sowing time and subsequent drought account for the low output.
Birbhum ...	5,100	4,100	4,100	83	67	End of March. Normal.	About 83 per cent. of the crop has been damaged owing to continued drought at sowing time, but since the rainfall in January the prospects have been fair.
Bankura ...	3,800	2,800*	2,800*	83	67	End of February. Normal.	The weather has been fair since the submission of the second forecast. The low output is due to drought and insufficient rain.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 6th May 1919.

Summary.—The rainfall was general throughout the province. More rain is, however, wanted, especially in Northern Bengal. The sowing and weeding of jute and autumn paddy continue. In some of the eastern districts sowings are approaching completion. The harvesting of summer rice is almost finished. The outturn is tolerably fair. The standing crops are generally thriving under favourable weather conditions. The prospects are hopeful. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 4·6 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week. Distress continues in Bankura, where 8,979 persons were in receipt of gratuitous relief and 5,000 persons were engaged daily on an average on District Board works. Agricultural loans were also given. In the Brahmanbaria subdivision the average number of persons engaged daily on test works was 797.

Rule No. of 1919.

1. Cancel Rule 31, Chapter IX, page 198, Volume I, of the High Courts General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, and substitute therefor the following:—

“31. When money is tendered under rule 26, the Cashier shall enter the amount in a bound book of receipt forms [Form No. (M) 28] numbered in serial order. Each receipt shall be in duplicate and the office copy shall be prepared simultaneously with the original by means of carbon paper. The original, which shall bear the serial number as the carbon copy, will be torn off at the perforated line and presented to the payer as his voucher. Each bound book shall contain one hundred forms and before a book is brought into use, the Nazir shall certify on the first page the number of forms it contains. A stock book shall be maintained in which the receipts of such books from the Press and their issues to the Cashier shall be properly accounted for. Not more than one book at a time shall be issued to the Cashier who shall grant a receipt for it in the stock book.”

rules for the management of navigation thereon, published in notification No. 7, dated the 11th May 1915 (at pages 903-05 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th idem), is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 2nd July 1919, and any objection or suggestion received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft amendment.

Delete items 13 and 15 and read item 14 as item 13.

Add as item 14.

14. (1) During the period of closure of the Tolly's Nala at Samookpota, boats laden with firewood will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari or the Bhangore khali through the Circular or Kristopur Canal and the Tolly's Nala via Kidderpore on payment of two rupees per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through these canals. All other cargo boats will pay a rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds of measured maundage.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload their cargo along the Circular Canal the Kristopur Canal, or the river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render such boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

(3) (a) Boats laden with cargo other than firewood may pick up extra cargo, either in the Kristopur Canal, the Circular Canal or the river Hooghly. The toll collectors at Chitpur, Kristopur and Dhappa, respectively, will, in that case, assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at twelve annas per hundred maunds, provided the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa or Kristopur.

(b) If there is an excess at the time of leaving Tolly's Nala a rate of two rupees and eight annas per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass beyond Dhappa or Kristopur without any further payment.

(c) If cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular or Kristopur Canal the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds.

(4) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this schedule on the boats herein defined two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following notification issued by the Government of India, in the Finance Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 10th May 1919, are republished for general information.

J. H. KERR,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

SEPARATE REVENUE. EXCESS PROFITS DUTY.

The 9th May 1919.

No. 1180F.—The following draft of certain rules which it is proposed to make in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) and clauses (b) (c) and (d) of sub-section (2) of section 18 of the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919 (X of 1919), is published for the information of all persons likely to be affected thereby. The rules embody the modifications of sections 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 26, 27 and of Chapters IV and V and of sections 42, 45, 46, 47 and 49 to 52 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1918 (VII of 1918), as applied by section 15 of the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919, such modifications being indicated by marginal references to the corresponding sections.

Notice is hereby given that the said draft will be taken into consideration on or after the tenth day of June 1919. Any objection or suggestion which may be received from any person with respect to the draft before the date specified will be considered by the Governor General in Council.

THE EXCESS PROFITS DUTY RULES.

Short title.

1. These rules may be called the Excess Profits Duty Rules, 1919.

Definitions.

2. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) "the Act" means the Excess Profits Duty Act, 1919 (X of 1919);
- (b) "section" means a section of the Act;
- (c) "Board" means a Board of Referees appointed under section 8; and
- (d) "duty" means excess profits duty.

Changes of Ownership.

3. Where between the 1st April 1912 and the beginning of the accounting period there has been a change of ownership of the business, the standard profits shall be determined in accordance with clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 6, except in cases where the person by whom duty is payable in respect of the business makes an application that the provisions of the Act shall apply as if there had not been a change of ownership.

Where change of ownership has occurred between 1st of April 1912 and the beginning of the accounting period.

4. (1) An application under rule 3 shall be presented to the Collector on or before the 15th July 1919:

Limitation for and contents of application under rule 3.

Provided that the Collector may receive an application after that date if he is satisfied that the applicant had sufficient cause for not presenting it before that date.

(2) An application shall state which of the options specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 6 the applicant elects for the determination of the standard profits of the business.

5. Where there has been a change of ownership during the accounting period the duty shall be assessed separately for the portions of the accounting period corresponding to the different ownerships. The duty may be assessed for each portion of the accounting period on any person owning or carrying on the business immediately before the end of such portion, and each of such portions shall be deemed to be the accounting period for the purposes of the proviso to section 4 and of clause (a) and the first proviso to clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 6; and in all such cases the provisions of section 6 shall apply for the determination of the standard profits of the business as if there had not been a change of ownership.

Where change of ownership has occurred during the accounting period.

6. On receipt of an application under rule 4 and in the case of an assessment under rule 5, the Collector shall determine the standard profits of the business according to the method desired by the person by whom duty is payable and may make such modifications in applying the Act and these rules as may be necessary to make the basis on which the standard profits are determined the same as that on which the profits of the accounting period are ascertained.

Method of assessment

7. Where under rule 5 duty is assessed on a person in respect of the profits of a business for a period of less than one year, the standard profits of the business shall be proportionately reduced and the proviso to section 4 shall be construed as if there were substituted for the amount of thirty thousand rupees a proportionately reduced amount.

Modifications of standard and minimum profits.

8. Where there has been a change of ownership after the end of the accounting period and before the 1st of April 1919, the duty may be assessed on any person owning or carrying on the business at the end of the accounting period.

Where change of ownership has occurred after the end of the accounting period and before the 1st of April 1919

Liability in special cases.

9. In the case of any agent of any person residing out of British India being in receipt on behalf of such person of any profits chargeable to duty under the Act, the duty may be assessed upon and recovered from such agent in like manner and to the same amount as it might be assessed upon and recovered from any such person if resident in British India and in direct receipt of such profits, and all the provisions of the Act and these rules shall apply accordingly.

Agents.

10. In the case of profits chargeable under the Act which are received by an Administrator-General, an Official Trustee or by any receiver or manager (including any person whatever his designation who in fact manages property on behalf of another) appointed by or under any order of a Court, the duty may be assessed upon and recovered from such Administrator-General, Official Trustee, receiver or manager in the like manner and to the same amount as it might be assessed upon and recovered from any person on whose behalf such profits are received, and all the provisions of the Act and these rules shall apply accordingly.

Administrators-General, etc.

[Modification of section 32 of Act VII of 1918 as applied.]

- 11. (1) In the case of any person residing out of British India, all profits or gains accruing or arising to such person, whether directly or indirectly, through or from any business connection in British India shall be deemed to be profits accruing or arising within British India, and, subject to the provisions of the Act and these rules, shall be chargeable to duty in the name of the agent of any such person, and such agent shall be deemed to be for all the purposes of the Act and these rules the person by whom such duty is payable:

[Modification
section 33 of
VII of 1918
applied.]

Non-residents.

any business connection in British India shall be deemed to be profits accruing or arising within British India, and, subject to the provisions of the Act and these rules, shall be chargeable to duty in the name of the agent of any such person, and such agent shall be deemed to be for all the purposes of the Act and these rules the person by whom such duty is payable:

Provided that any arrears of duty may be recovered also in accordance with the provisions of these rules from any assets of the non-resident person which are, or may at any time come, within British India.

(2) Where a person not resident in British India, and not being a British subject or a firm or company constituted within His Majesty's dominions or a branch thereof, carries on business with a person resident in British India, and it appears to the Collector or the Chief Revenue-authority, as the case may be, that, owing to the close connection between the resident and the non-resident person and to the substantial control exercised by the non-resident over the resident, the course of business between those persons is so arranged that the business done by the resident in pursuance of his connection with the non-resident produces to the resident either no profits or less than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in that business, the profits derived therefrom or which may reasonably be deemed to have been derived therefrom shall, subject to the provisions of the Act and these rules, be chargeable to duty in the name of the resident person who shall be deemed to be, for all the purposes of the Act and these rules, the person by whom such duty is payable.

- 12. Any person employed by or on behalf of a person residing out of

section 34 of
VII of 1918
applied.]

British India, or having any business connection with such person, upon whom the Collector has caused a notice to be served of his intention of treating him as the agent of the non-resident person shall, for the purpose of the Act and these rules, be deemed to such agent:

Provided that no person shall be deemed to be the agent of a non-resident person, unless he has had an opportunity of being heard by the Collector as to his liability.

Demand.

- 13. When the Collector has assessed the amount of duty to be paid by a person under section 13, he shall serve on the [Modification

section 20 of
VII of 1918
applied.]

person a notice of demand in Form I set out in the Schedule to these rules specifying the sum so payable.

Notice of demand.

Petitions, Appeals, Reference and Revision.

- 14. (1) Any person (other than a person who has knowingly and willfully failed to furnish any particulars referred to in section 11) objecting to the amount at which he is assessed under section 13 or denying his liability to be assessed under the Act may by petition apply, and any person dissatisfied with a decision of the Collector under section 7 may appeal, to the Chief Revenue-authority.

[Modification
section 21 of
VII of 1918
applied.]

(2) Any person entitled to prefer a petition under sub-rule (1) and desiring to prefer both a petition and an appeal shall do so at one and the same time.

(3) A petition or an appeal or a petition and an appeal shall ordinarily be presented within thirty days of the receipt of the notice of demand:

Provided that the Chief Revenue-authority may receive any petition or appeal after the expiry of that period if it is satisfied that the petitioner or the appellant had sufficient cause for not presenting it within that period.

(4) A petition shall be made as nearly as may be in Form II set out in the Schedule to these rules, and shall be signed and verified by the petitioner in the manner therein provided.

(5) An appeal shall be made as nearly as may be in Form III set out in the Schedule to these rules, and shall state which of the options specified in section 8 the appellant elects.

(6) The appeal shall be accompanied by four copies of a concise statement of any facts upon which the appellant relies to support the matters alleged therein.

(7) The appeal and the statement shall be signed and verified by the appellant as provided in Form III.

[Modification of section 22 of Act VII of 1918 as applied.]

15. (1) On receipt of a petition or an appeal or of a petition and an appeal under rule 14 (such appeal not being one which the appellant desires to be referred to a Board), the Chief Revenue-authority shall fix a day and place for the hearing of the petition, and on the day and at the place so fixed, or on the day and at the place, if any, to which it may have adjourned the hearing, shall hear the petition or appeal or the petition and appeal and pass such order thereon, conformably to the provisions of section 8, as it thinks fit, and shall communicate such order to the Collector.

(2) When both a petition and an appeal have been preferred by one person and such person desires that the appeal be referred to a Board, the Chief Revenue-authority shall adjourn the hearing of the petition until receipt of the decision of the Board on the appeal, and shall then proceed to hear and to pass such order on the petition, conformably to the provisions of section 8, as it thinks fit, and shall communicate such order to the Collector.

(3) When only an appeal has been preferred and such appeal has been referred to a Board under section 8, the Chief Revenue-authority shall, on receipt of the decision of the Board thereon, communicate such decision to the Collector.

(4) The Collector on receipt of such order or decision as aforesaid shall, if necessary, serve on the person by whom duty is payable a revised notice of demand as nearly as may be in Form I set out in the Schedule to these rules.

16. When the appellant desires that his appeal be referred to a Board, the Chief Revenue-authority shall obtain from the Collector a copy of the application made to him under section 7, together with a statement of his decision thereon and of the reasons for that decision, and shall forward such statement to the Board together with the appeal and any documents submitted therewith by the appellant.

17. The Board shall thereupon fix a day and place for the hearing of appeal, and shall give at least seven days' notice to the appellant of the day and place so fixed. On such day and thereafter from time to time the Board may adjourn the hearing of the appeal as it thinks fit.

18. In any proceeding before the Board the Collector may appear in person or by any representative appointed by him in writing, and, subject to the directions of the Board, the Collector or such representative may be heard on the questions arising for determination.

V of 1903.

19. The Collector, the Chief Revenue-authority and the Board shall, for the purposes of any inquiry under the Act or these rules, have the same powers as are vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, when trying a suit, in respect of the following matters:—

- (a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him on oath or affirmation ;
- (b) compelling the production of any document, and
- (c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses ;

and any proceeding before a Collector, a Chief Revenue-authority or a Board under the Act or these rules shall be deemed to be a "judicial proceeding" within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1860

[Modification of section 23 of Act VII of 1918 as applied]

20. The Chief Revenue-authority may of its own motion call for the record of any assessment proceeding which has been taken by any officer subordinate to it, and may make such inquiry and pass such order thereon as it thinks fit :

Provided that it shall not pass any order enhancing the sum payable by an assessee without hearing him or giving him a reasonable opportunity of being heard either in person or by a representative appointed by him in writing.

- 21. If the Collector or Chief Revenue-authority in making any assessment under the Act is satisfied that any person by whom duty is payable has deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars in connection with any business to which the Act applies, and has thereby caused the standard profits of the business or the profits during the accounting period to be calculated respectively above or below their real amount, the Collector or the Chief Revenue-authority may direct that such person shall pay either on the difference between the amount of profits liable to duty as finally ascertained and the amount of such profits calculated according to the particulars originally returned by him or, if according to such particulars no duty was payable, on the whole amount of profits liable to duty as finally ascertained, a duty at a rate not exceeding one and a half times the rate which would otherwise have been payable :

Provided that no such order shall be made unless the person has been heard or has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard :

Provided further that no prosecution for an offence against the Act shall be instituted in respect of the same facts on which a penal assessment is made under this rule.

- 22. The Collector may at any time within one year from the date of any demand made upon a person by whom duty is payable rectify any mistake in connection therewith which has been brought to his notice by such person and make a refund to such person in respect thereof.

Recovery of Duty.

- 23. The amount of each instalment of duty specified as payable in a notice of demand under rule 13 or sub-rule (4) of rule 15, or in an order under rule 20 or rule 21

shall be paid within the time, at the place and to the person mentioned in the notice or order, and any person failing so to pay shall be deemed to be in default :

Provided that when a person has presented a petition or an appeal under rule 14 the Collector may treat the person as not being in default so long as such petition or appeal is undisposed of.

- 24. (1) When a person is in default in making payment of duty or, where instalments have been fixed, of any instalment of duty, the Collector, in his discretion, may recover from him a sum not exceeding one and a half times the amount of the duty or instalment, as the case may be, either as if it were an arrear of land revenue, or by any process enforceable for the recovery of an arrear of any municipal tax or local rate imposed under any enactment for the time being in force in any part of the territories administered by the Local Government to which the Collector is subordinate.

[Modification section 36 of A VII of 1918 as applied]

(2) The Local Government may direct by what authority any powers or duties incident under any such enactment as aforesaid to the enforcement of any process for the recovery of a municipal tax or local rate shall be exercised or performed when that process is employed under sub-rule (1) for the recovery of duty.

(3) Save in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (1) of rule 11, no proceedings for the recovery of any sum payable under the Act or these rules shall be commenced after the 31st of March 1921.

Penalty.

- 25. All particulars contained in any statement or return made or furnished under the provisions of the Act or these rules shall be treated as confidential, and if a public servant discloses any particulars contained in any statement or return so made or furnished, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months, and shall also be liable to fine :

Provided that no prosecution shall be instituted under this rule except with the previous sanction of the Local Government.

30. The Local Government may, by notification in the local official gazette, delegate to the Chief Revenue-authority all or any of the powers conferred on it by the Act for the appointment of officers to exercise or perform the powers or duties of Collectors or Commissioners, and all or any of its powers referred to in rule 24 and the proviso to rule 25.

Delegation of certain powers of Local Government.

[Modification of section 51 of Act
II of 1918 as applied.]

31. (1) If in the course of any assessment under the Act or these rules or any proceeding in connection therewith, other than a proceeding under section 12, or sub-section

(2) of section 17, or rule 25, a question has arisen with reference to the interpretation of any of the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Chief Revenue-authority on a reference from the Board or from any Revenue Officer subordinate to such Chief Revenue-authority or on its own motion may draw up a statement of the case and refer it, with its own opinion thereon, to the High Court, and shall so refer any such question on the application of a person by whom duty is payable, unless it is satisfied that the application is frivolous or that a reference is unnecessary.

(2) If the High Court is not satisfied that the statements contained in the case are sufficient to enable it to determine the questions raised thereby, the Court may refer the case back to the Chief Revenue-authority by which it was stated, to make such additions thereto, or alterations therein, as the Court may direct in that behalf.

(3) The High Court upon the hearing of any such case shall decide the questions raised thereby, and shall deliver its judgment thereon containing the grounds on which such decision is founded, and shall send to the Chief Revenue-authority by which the case was stated a copy of such judgment under the seal of the Court and the signature of the Registrar ; and the Chief Revenue-authority shall dispose of the case accordingly, or, if the case arose on reference from the Board or any Revenue Officer, subordinate to such Chief Revenue-authority, shall forward a copy of such judgment to the Board or such officer ; and the Board or such officer shall dispose of the case conformably to such judgment.

(4) Where a reference is made to the High Court on the application of a person by whom duty is payable, costs shall be in the discretion of the Court.

Statement of case by Chief Revenueauthority to High Court.

32. No suit shall be brought in any Civil Court to set aside or modify any assessment made under the Act or these rules, and no prosecution, suit or other proceeding shall lie against any Government officer for anything in good faith done or intended to be done under the Act or these rules.

JUDICIAL.

Simla, the 17th May 1919.

No. 364.—The following paper is published for general information:—

Letters Patent Amending the Letters Patent constituting the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, dated the 11th March 1919.

GEORGE THE FIFTH by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting :

Whereas Her late Majesty Queen Victoria by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland bearing date at Westminster the fourteenth day of May in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, did erect and establish a High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal for the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William :

And whereas Her late Majesty Queen Victoria by Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland bearing date at Westminster the twenty-eighth day of December in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-five did revoke the said Letters Patent bearing date the fourteenth day of May in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-two but notwithstanding that revocation did continue the said High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal :

And whereas by Section one hundred and six of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916, it was provided that Letters Patent establishing, or vesting jurisdiction powers or authority in, a High Court might be amended by Us from time to time by further Letters Patent :

1. Now know ye that We upon full consideration of the premises and of Our special grace certain knowledge and mere motion have thought fit to amend and by these Presents do accordingly amend the said Letters Patent bearing date the twenty-eighth day of December in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and sixty-five in manner following, that is to say :—

- (a) In the 8th clause of the said Letters Patent the words “and We do hereby ordain that every such appointment shall be forthwith submitted to the approval of the Governor-General in Council and shall be either confirmed or disallowed by the Governor-General in Council” shall be annulled ;
- (b) In the 15th clause of the same for the words and brackets “(not being a sentence or order passed or made in any criminal trial)” the words and brackets “(not being an order made in the exercise of revisional jurisdiction and not being a sentence or order passed or made in the exercise of the power of superintendence under the provisions of Section one hundred and seven of the Government of India Act, 1915, or in the exercise of criminal jurisdiction)” shall be substituted ;
- (c) In the 36th clause of the same for the words “under the provisions of the Thirteenth section of the aforesaid Act of the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth years of Our reign” the words and figures “in pursuance of Section one hundred and eight of the Government of India Act, 1915,” shall be substituted ; and
- (d) For the 41th clause of the same the following shall be substituted, namely, “And We do further ordain and declare that all the provisions of these Our Letters Patent are subject to the legislative powers of the Governor-General in Legislative Council, and also of the Governor-General in Council under Section seventy-one of the Government of India Act, 1915, and also of the Governor-General in cases of emergency under Section seventy-two of that Act, and may be in all respects amended and altered thereby.”

2. And we do further ordain and declare that these Letters Patent shall be published in the Gazette of India and shall have effect from the date of such publication.

In Witness whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent.

Witness Ourselves at Westminster the eleventh day of March in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and nineteen and in the Ninth year of Our Reign.

By Warrant under the King's Sign Manual.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF BENGAL.

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF STUDENTS SEEKING ADMISSION.

1. Three classes of students are admitted for study in the College —

(a) "Regular," or those who enter for the full University course.

The admission to this class is restricted to students (male and female) who are natives of, or whose parents are domiciled in, the area within the territorial limits of the Calcutta University and the province of Bihar and Orissa.

(b) "Casual," or those who enter for selected or isolated subjects.

(c) "Military Class" only students of European or Eurasian parentage are admitted to this class). (See Separate Prospectus for military students.)

The admission to this class is regulated by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service.

2. The minimum preliminary qualification for admission to the—

(a) "Regular Class" is the I. Sc. Pass certificate of the Calcutta University.

(b) "Casual."—The Matriculation or Entrance Pass certificate of the Calcutta or other Indian Universities, or the Pass certificate of an examination equivalent to the Matriculation or Entrance Examination.

3 The session commences on the 15th June.

4. All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form available in his office, before the 25th May, except in the case of Biharis, Uriyas, Chota-Nagpuris and Assamese students, who should apply to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of their respective provinces for admission within such date as the latter may prescribe.

Selected candidates must pay the following fees on or before the 10th June, failing which their names will be struck off the selected list:—

			Rs. A.
Admission fee	20 0
Fees for Summer term	62 8
Athletic Club fee	1 0
Total			83 8

5. The number of regular students to be admitted each year is generally 120, but the Principal may, at his discretion, increase or decrease this number. Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Principal.

One-fourth of the total number to be admitted shall be Muhammadans. Twelve candidates will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa and six candidates by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Assam. These candidates must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 (a). In addition, the Bihar and Orissa Government will nominate six scholars, who, after 1918, must possess the I. Sc. Pass certificate. These nominations must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June in each year, failing which the Principal will fill up vacancies with local candidates.

6. Female students of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and Burma, belonging to the Calcutta University will be admitted to the College, provided they possess the requisite preliminary qualification and provided there is a vacancy in the Surnomoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside.

7. Failed students must apply for admission and pay fees before the 15th May, otherwise their prior claim lapses.

8. All regular students must pay an annual fee of Rs. 125 in two instalments, viz., Rs. 62-8 for the Summer term and Rs. 62-8 for the Winter term. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

9. The fees for each term are to be paid in one instalment. Except in the case of new students, the fees for Summer term are due on the 15th June, and those for the Winter term on the 1st November, and must be paid on those dates or on such subsequent dates as the Principal may direct, after which a daily fine of annas 4 will be levied along with the fee in each case of default.

10. All regular students excepting the female students must pay an annual fee of Re. 1 to the Medical College Athletic Club along with the fees for the Summer term.

11. Students relegated to a further course of study after their failure at the Preliminary Scientific M. B. and at the First M. B. Examinations shall pay Rs. 80 for the whole session in one instalment by the 1st June.

12. Students taking up subjects outside the curriculum of the year in which they are studying shall pay Rs. 30 for each such subject, including lectures and practical classes.

13. The fees for Casual students or for certificates issued to Regular students leaving the College before completing their study, or for those issued to military students, shall be Rs. 40 per each course of lectures and practical classes and Rs. 30 for every three months of hospital practice.

14. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

			Rs.
For one subject	25
„ two subjects	50
„ three or more subjects	75

15. In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tuition, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

16. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by him and half by the Mohsin Fund.

17. Students of the military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

18. No fees are payable by female students.

19. The fee for post-graduates undergoing a course of training in the Pathological, Bacteriological, Physiological or Chemical Laboratory is Rs. 90 for a period not exceeding six months.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as regular students.

21. The following are the curricula of the College :—

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Unconventioned Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the Fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The Fund is now of ten years' standing and has a balance of over three and-a-half lakhs with Government on four per cent. interest. For forms of applications and rules of the Fund apply to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

Howrah Municipality.

REPORT ON DISTRESS IN THE DISTRICT OF BANKURA FOR THE WEEK ENDING 10th MAY 1919.

Famine or scarcity has not yet been formally declared.

Rainfall was satisfactory. Twenty-two test works were in progress during the week, 4,691 workers having been employed on the works on the last day of the week. The decline in numbers on works is temporary, being due to inception of agricultural operations. Works are being opened in new areas owing to the return of emigrants. Private works have been undertaken on a small scale. Gratuitous relief is being given in 51 unions; the number of persons relieved during the week was 11,807, including 391 weavers relieved by the Co-operative Industrial Union and the Weavers' Relief Committee and 299 persons relieved by the grant of paddy husking advances; besides 189 better class poor were relieved. Distress is gradually extending to new areas owing to the exhaustion of local resources and private charity. Landless classes, and especially the old and infirm, widows and orphans and dependants of emigrants are the most affected. The relief measures are adequate. The physical condition of workers and public health are satisfactory. Crime is normal. No wandering is reported. Emaciation is noticeable. Fodder and water are adequate. Cloth is being distributed to the destitutes. Loans are being advanced. The price of common rice has risen and varies from 5½ to 6¼ seers per rupee. The stocks of rice are much reduced. Steps are being taken to import Rangoon rice.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE FOURTH QUARTER OF THE YEAR 1918-19.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

Separate Revenue Branch (Salt).

No. 14208.R.

Dated Calcutta, the 15th May 1919.

THE following report on the state of the salt market for the fourth quarter of the year 1918-19, comprising the months of January, February and March 1919, in the Presidency of Bengal, is published for general information.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter amounted to 3,476,150 maunds (including 2,816,033 maunds issued under the credit system), as compared with 1,723,634 maunds (including 1,251,101 maunds issued under the credit system) in the previous quarter and 3,037,549 maunds (including 2,463,392 maunds issued under the credit system) in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. The net amount of duty levied was Rs. 33,64,657 (including Rs. 25,81,104 adjusted under the credit system), as against Rs. 15,67,559 (including Rs. 9,84,751 adjusted under the credit system) in the previous quarter, and Rs. 36,51,296 (including Rs. 29,71,073 adjusted under the credit system) in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The subjoined Table I shows in detail the importations into the Port of Calcutta and the total clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter, compared with the figures of the corresponding quarters of the two previous years:—

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR APRIL 1919.

1. Character of the season.—During the month light to moderate rain fell throughout the province. Thirteen districts reported figures below the normal, the fall being insufficient in Burdwan, Bogra and in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of the Tippera district. The usual statement is given below.

2. Progress of agricultural operations.—The harvesting of spring crops was almost completed. Considerable sowings of autumn paddy and jute were made in the second half of the month in Eastern and Northern Bengal.

3. State of standing crops.—The condition of autumn paddy and jute was, on the whole, satisfactory. The condition of the unharvested boro paddy was reported to be not good.

4. Prospects and probable outturn.—The outturn of the different spring crops was below the normal. Prospects of the autumn crops have been much improved by rainfall.

5. Damage to standing crops.—No damage of any importance was reported.

6. Condition of agricultural stock.—Cattle disease was reported from places in the districts of Burdwan, 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Rangpur, Midnapore, Birbhum, Nadia, Jessore, Dinajpur, Malda, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar, Dacca and Faridpur.

7. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—The supply of fodder was sufficient all over the province.

8. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review, the price of the cheapest variety of rice rose in all but five districts, in three of the latter it remained stationary and the remaining two reported a fall. The prices in the different districts varied from 5 seers and 8 chittaks per rupee at Burdwan to 8 seers a rupee at Rajshahi.

9. Condition of agricultural people.—Distress continued in the Bankura district and in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of the Tippera district. Relief measures are being taken.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 15th May 1919.

Summary.—Light to moderate rainfall throughout the province greatly facilitating the jute sowings. Alternate rain and sunshine are favourable to the standing crops. More rain is, however, wanted in some places including Northern Bengal. The weeding of autumn paddy and jute continues. The sowings of broadcast winter paddy and for seedlings for the transplanted variety have commenced in some districts. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 1·8 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week. Distress continues in Bankura and the Brahmanbaria subdivision of the Tippera district. The average number of persons engaged daily on test works in the Brahmanbaria subdivision was 818.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

[Second publication.]

The 16th May 1919.

No. 3.—Notification.—The following draft of an amendment, which, in exercise of the power conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864, (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make in the schedule of tolls in force on the Calcutta canals and Tolly's Nala and in the rules for the management of navigation thereon, published in notification No. 7, dated the 11th May 1915 (at pages 903-05 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th idem), is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 2nd July 1919, and any objection or suggestion received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft amendment.

Delete items 13 and 15 and read item 14 as item 13.

Add as item 14.

14. (1) During the period of closure of the Tolly's Nala at Samookpota, boats laden with firewood will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari or the Bhangore khal through the Circular or Kristopur Canal and the Tolly's Nala via Kidderpore on payment of two rupees per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through these canals. All other cargo boats will pay a rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds of measured maundage.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload their cargo along the Circular Canal the Kristopur Canal, or the river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render such boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

(3) (a) Boats laden with cargo other than firewood may pick up extra cargo, either in the Kristopur Canal, the Circular Canal or the river Hooghly. The toll collectors at Chitpur, Kristopur and Dhappa, respectively, will, in that case, assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at twelve annas per hundred maunds, provided the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa or Kristopur.

(b) If there is an excess at the time of leaving Tolly's Nala a rate of two rupees and eight annas per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass beyond Dhappa or Kristopur without any further payment.

(c) If cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular or Kristopur Canal the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds.

(4) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this schedule on the boats herein defined two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

List D.—By order of Council dated 21st March 1919, all goods on List D* are prohibited from export to Turkey, Bulgaria, and ports on the Black Sea (not including Rumanian ports).

Aircraft of all kinds, including aeroplanes, airships, balloons and their component parts, together with accessories and articles suitable for use in connection with aircraft.

Apparatus which can be used for the storage or projection of compressed or liquefied gases, flame, acids or other destructive agents capable of use in warlike operations and their component parts.

Armour plates.

Armoured motor-cars.

Arms of all kinds, including arms for sporting purposes and their component parts.

Barbed wire and implements for fixing and cutting same.

Camp equipment, articles of, and their component parts.

Clothing and equipment of a distinctively military character.

Electrical appliances, adapted for use in war, and their component parts.

Explosives specially prepared for use in war.

Field-glasses.

Gases for war purposes.

Guns and machine guns.

Gun mountings.

Limbers, military wagons of all descriptions.

Harness or horse equipment of a military character.

Implements and apparatus designed exclusively for the manufacture of munitions of war or for the manufacture or repair of arms or of war material for use on land or sea.

Mines, submarines and their component parts.

Projectiles, charges, cartridges and grenades of all kinds and their component parts.

Range-finders and their component parts.

Searchlights and their component parts.

Submarine sound signalling apparatus.

Materials for wireless telegraphs.

Torpedoes.

Warships, including boats and their component parts of such a nature that they can only be used on a vessel of war.

List E.—* In addition to the goods contained in List D, the following goods are prohibited from export to Bulgaria.

All articles for use in transportation on land.

Saddle or pack animals, vehicles, motor-cars, bicycles, and their component parts.

Locomotives and rolling stock.

Telegraphs and telephones and their component parts, and materials for use therewith.

List "C" goods, other than those included in the foregoing Lists "D" and "E," may be exported without license to Turkey, Bulgaria and ports on the Black Sea.

* Many goods on the above Lists are already on List "A" or "B."

APPENDIX NO. 1.

GENERAL LICENCES FOR EXPORTS.

An Open General Licence has been issued, permitting the exportation of the following goods (without application to the War Trade Department) to all destinations except those foreign destinations to which goods on List "C" are prohibited from export.

Alpaca, and noils, waste and yarns thereof.

Bird seed.

Blanc-mange powder.

Boot polish.

Browning.

Cake mixture.

Camel hair, and noils, waste and yarns thereof.

Cashmere, and noils, waste and yarns thereof.

Cement for building and engineering purposes.

Chillies.

Custard powder.

Egg substitute and powder.

Fish, canned, other than canned salmon.

Fish pastes, other than fish pastes containing salmon.

Floor polishes, furniture polishes and creams, and similar polishes containing wax.

Ginger beer powder.

Gloy.

Goatskins and sheepskins, East Indian tanned.

Health salts.

Iron and steel bridgework, pierwork and structural material (ie., "fabricated" material).

Kofflo.

Leather, the following :—

East Indian tanned hide or kip and calf leather, rough and dressed.

Horse hide leather, all descriptions, rough, struck and dressed.

Harness leather, dressed, including bag and case hides, and enamelled and japanned hides.

Sheep and lamb leather, dressed, of all descriptions.

Mineral tanned sole leather.

Lemonade powder.

Lime juice cordial.

Mango chutney, tomato chutney, and tomato ketchup.

Mapleton's nut food.

Marmite.

Metal polishes.

Mixtures and preparations containing not more than 10 per cent. aniline colour, not otherwise prohibited.

Mohair and noils, waste and yarns thereof.

Paint, other than gold paint.

Phenalgin.

"Phosto" animal food.

Pineapples, nectarines, grape fruit.

Pudding powder.

Scammony resin.

Soup powders.

Strapping, leather, for breeches.

Vanilla custard.

Varnishes of all kinds.

A further Open General Licence has been issued for coal-tar pitch and sulphate of copper. These goods now require specific licence only for (a) foreign destinations to which goods on List "C" are prohibited from export, and (b) for France and French Possessions.

APPENDIX No. 2.

LIST OF FREE GOODS.

The War Trade Department has now issued an Open General Licence which permits the export of the following goods to all non-enemy destinations and to those enemy destinations with which trading is permitted. It is therefore unnecessary to make application to the War Trade Department for export licences in respect of these goods :—

Adding and calculating machines.

Alabaster for statuary purposes.

Anatomical models.

Artists' materials, excluding oils and turpentine.

Athletic goods.

Bicycles and accessories including tyres actually fitted to bicycles.

Bicycle pedal rubbers.

Books and printed matter.

Boot laces.

Boot polishing pads.

Brushes of all kinds.

Buttons of all kinds.

Caps (headgear).

Cash registers.

Celluloid wares.

Cigar and cigarette holders.

Cinematograph films, raw or printed.

China.

China clay.

Clocks and watches, including clocks for time-checking.

Coral.

Corset laces.

Cutlery; all forms.

Dental burs.

Dental filling materials.

Discs and cylinders for graphophones and phonographs.

Drugs, etc., the following :—

Acetyl salicylic acid.

Aconite and its preparations and alkaloids.

Agaric.

Althaea root.

Amidol and substitutes.

Amido-pyrin.

Argentamin.

Arsenical salts for medicinal use.

Arsenobillon.

Arsenous acid.

Bromine.

Butylchloral hydrate.

Cacodylicate.

Camomile.

Chromic acid.

Diethylbarbituric acid.

Digitalis.

Duboisin sulphuric.

Eucaine.

Ferric compounds.

Ferrum redacium.

Fructus fœniculi.

Hydrobromic acid.

Ichthyol.

Inula root.

Kharsevan.

Metol.

Nitrate of silver.

Paraldehyde.

Phenacetin.

Salicylic acid.

Saltcake.

Sodium arsenate.

Sodium bromide.

Sodium nitroprusside.

Sodium salicylate.

Veronal sodium.

Duplicating machinery and supplies therefor.

Dyes, proprietary, the following :—

Dolly dyes.

Diamond dyes.

Drummer dyes.

Maypole dyes.

Earthenware.

Electrodes.

Electro-plated, gilded or silvered goods, including nickel silver goods and white metal goods, but not including those of solid silver or gold.

Fans and hand screens.

Fancy goods of paper, ivory, mother-of-pearl, tortoiseshell, amber and amberoid, marble and other stones, papier-mache, bone, horn, celluloid, casein and plaster.

Feathers, made up. Films, see Cinematograph. Finger tips, rubber, of all kinds. Flower seeds, except seeds of oil-bearing plants. Flowers, artificial. Flowers, fresh. Fountain pens. Furs, dressed, dyed or manufactured. Gauge glasses. Glassware. Hair ornaments and combs. Hair nets of silk or hair. Hardware for builders, if of iron or steel. Hats of all kinds. Household furnishings, fixtures and equipment, if manufactured of wood, iron or steel, except upholstered furniture. Ink, other than printers' ink. Iris root (orris root). *Iron and steel manufactures, except manufactures of high-speed steel, and except articles prohibited by name on List A or B (subject, however, in the case of machinery to the definition given under that heading). * "Iron and steel manufactures" does not cover manufactures containing more than 10 per cent in weight metals other than iron or steel.

† This heading covers machinery made of any material provided it does not contain more than 50 per cent. of copper or brass.

APPENDIX No. 3.

SAMPLES.

An Open General Licence has been issued which permits the free export of all bonâ fide samples of prohibited goods to all non-enemy destinations, and to enemy territory with which trade is now permitted (see page 380). Samples exported under this licence may be used only for genuine sample purposes, i.e., for obtaining orders from foreign buyers, and may not be sold after they have served this purpose, except with the written consent of the War Trade Department. Exporters will be required to satisfy the Customs Authorities that the goods presented for export under this licence are bonâ fide samples, and to make a declaration to that effect on the relative shipping documents.

The following extract from the "Board of Trade Journal" dated the 10th April 1919, is also published for general information :—

IMPORT PROHIBITIONS.

GENERAL LICENCES.

Since last issue of the "Board of Trade Journal" the following general licences have been issued —

SIR,

I am directed by Mr. Secretary Long to transmit to you, to be laid before Mr. Secretary Montagu, copies of an extract from the Fifteenth Day's Proceedings at the Imperial Conference, together with copies of the memorandum prepared by Sir S. P. Sinha.

I am, &c.,

The Under Secretary of State for India.

HENRY LAMBERT.

ANNEX. I:—Memorandum by Sir S. P. Sinha.

The views and recommendations of the Indian representatives on the position of Indians in the self-governing Dominions were placed before the War Conference last year in the form of a memorandum, which appears as an annexure to the printed report of the Conference. The subject was discussed on Friday the 27th April 1917, and the "Conference unanimously accepted the "principle of reciprocity of treatment between India and the Dominions, and "recommended the memorandum to the favourable consideration of the "Governments concerned". It is mainly with a view to eliciting information as to whether any action has been actually taken, and, if not, how soon it is likely to be taken, by the Governments concerned to give effect to our suggestions that a few of the outstanding questions are mentioned in the present note.

2. The Indian grievances dealt with in the last memorandum fall conveniently under the following three groups:—

- (1) Treatment of Indians who are already settled and resident in the self-governing Dominions.
- (2) The difficulties and disadvantages of Indians intending to visit the Dominions not with the object of settlement but for purpose of travel, education, or business.
- (3) The question of future immigration to the Dominions.

3. As regards the difficulties of resident Indians, the disability imposed on the Sikh settlers in Canada, numbering about 4,000 men, of not being allowed to bring their wives and minor children to live with them is a very real and serious hardship and, as was pointed out in last year's note, has caused acute dissatisfaction amongst perhaps the most prominent martial race in India, and those who have flocked with the greatest alacrity to the Indian Army for the defence of the Empire. This unfair and unnatural prohibition is the more galling because the Indians resident in South Africa have, since the passing of the Indians Relief Act of 1914, the privilege of introducing into the Colony one wife, as well as her minor children. The Japanese have the right of taking not only their wives, but also their domestic servants. No further time should be lost in removing the prohibition, which appears to be in force in Australia also.

4. Of the Indians settled in the self-governing Dominions, by far the largest number is domiciled in South Africa. Cape Colony has an Indian population of 6,606, Transvaal of 10,048, Orange Free State of 106, and Natal of 133,031 souls. The Indians Relief Act of 1914 has removed many disabilities, but from reliable materials placed before us it appears that there are still many substantial grievances and disabilities which are not merely of an administrative character, as General Smuts seemed to be under the impression last year, but are based upon already existing or impending statutory enactments.

The following would appear to be some of the principal grievances of South African Indians:—

- (1) Trading Licences.—It is necessary to obtain a licence in order to be able to carry on any trade or business in South Africa. Each Province has its own trading licence legislation, and the tendency recently has been in every Province to transfer the control of licences from the Government to municipalities. Although there is a system of appeals from the decisions of the municipalities, e.g., in Natal to Town Councils or to Licensing Appeal Boards, the right of appeal to the Courts is extremely limited. Thus, in Natal, against refusals of application for new licences there is a right of appeal in matters of procedure, but not of facts, to the Provincial Division of the Supreme Court, whereas in cases of refusal to renew licences there is a right of appeal on facts also. It is generally contended that the municipalities arbitrarily refuse to grant licences to Indians with the improper and indirect object of destroying Indian trade, and the Indian newspapers are full of such instances. The trading rights of Indians in South Africa are a vital issue. If the Indian community remains at the mercy of their European rivals in respect of the right of their members to earn an honest livelihood by trade it is only a question of time for the whole community to become impoverished and be reduced to industrial helotry. The remedy seems to be to give the fullest right of appeal in all cases of refusal of licences to the Provincial Division of the Supreme Court—on questions of fact as well as of procedure.

- (2) Parliamentary and Municipal Franchise.—As observed in last year's note, there are stronger and more obvious grounds for extending the municipal franchise to the Indians resident in South Africa than the Parliamentary franchise. It might be pointed out, however, that we are nearer to the introduction of representative institutions in India this year than we were last year, and therefore the argument for depriving the African Indians of the franchise on the ground of their coming from a country where representative institutions do not exist will carry still less weight now, and there is a strong case for granting the franchise, at least to the richer Indian merchants. Their claim to the extension of the municipal franchise in all the States seems to be much stronger, as this right is enjoyed in Natal and Cape Colony, where some Indians are reported to be discharging municipal functions to their credit. The special necessity for the grant of the municipal franchise will appear from what has already been stated with regard to trade licences.
- (3) The Ownership of Land.—Unlike their compatriots in Natal and at the Cape, Transvaal Indians, under the old Republican Law, 3 of 1885, remain under the disability that they are denied the right to own fixed property, i.e., from having the legal ownership registered in their own names. The system of indirect ownership, in other words nominal European ownership, originally suggested by the Republican Government themselves, prevailed until quite recently, and is still occasionally adopted. The process is roundabout, cumbrous and expensive, but the facts are notorious, and the circumstances are legally recognised by the Courts.

Since about the year 1914, the practice has grown up of forming and registering, under the Transvaal Companies Act, 1909, small private companies, with limited liability, whose members are all Indians (frequently an Indian and his wife), and possessing an independent legal persona, for the purpose, amongst other things, of acquiring fixed property. All these transactions have recently received judicial recognition. It is said that attempts are now being made by interested parties to deprive Indians of this right of indirect ownership of fixed property. Recently a question was put on the subject in Parliament, and the Government spokesman replied that it was intended to examine into the question when the new companies law was under consideration. Advantage has frequently been taken by Indians of these indirect, but quite legal methods to open business in townships whose private regulations prohibit the sale of stands to Indians, which, in themselves, are intended indirectly to compel Indians to reside and trade in special locations, which, again, would mean financial ruin to most of them, and against which attempt the Indian community has fought since long before the Boer War.

On the contrary, the prohibition against Indian ownership of fixed or landed property should be repealed by Parliament, on the grounds that it tends to foster insincerity on all sides, to deprive Indians of some of the elementary rights and responsibilities of citizenship, which are not denied even to the aboriginal natives and other non-Asiatic coloured peoples of the Province, and which are possessed by their compatriots in the coast Provinces, and especially in Natal, where the bulk of the Indian population of the Union is to be found. Transvaal Indians ought not to be compelled to regard themselves as possessing an inferior status, in this respect, to their compatriots resident in the coast Provinces, and such a statute as Law 8 of 1885 is an anachronism and opposed to the spirit of modern legislation.

- (4) Railway Regulations.—In the Transvaal, for a number of years past, the policy of racial segregation has been enforced on the railways. Special legislation to that end was sought in 1910, but was strenuously opposed by the Indian community, with the result that certain regulations were eventually agreed to, embodied in the papers published in Blue Book [Cd. 5363] of 1910 (pages 102-5 and 114), at a time when the Indian community was in a relatively weak position, having its energies fully engaged in the passive resistance struggle, which was then at its height, and which left the community powerless effectively to resist further encroachments upon its liberties. But the arrangements therein referred to were of purely local application, and were not intended in any way to affect the position or diminish the rights of Indians in the other Provinces. Recently, however, regulations applicable throughout the Union have been published, some of which have already been withdrawn in deference to strong Indian opposition, whilst others remain, in spite of that opposition, not only embodying provisions contained in the old Transvaal arrangement, but going much farther and extending to other Provinces of the Union a racial discrimination not hitherto known there. The Indian community for a long period of years has consistently fought against statutory discrimination based upon racial distinction. Segregation in travelling would only be tolerable if designed by statute where exactly equal opportunities and facilities were provided for the different races affected. This is impossible for financial reasons, no such remedy is available. Apart from this the situation in the Transvaal, and in South Africa generally, is very different from what it was in 1910, and less than ever are Indians disposed to depart from the principle of equality under the law, which they regard as fundamental in the British Constitution, and for which they have suffered enormously in the past, and are prepared to suffer for again. Not only ought the position of Indians elsewhere in the Union not be reduced to the level of that in the Transvaal, but the latter should be raised to the highest level anywhere in the Union.

The settlement of these and other outstanding difficulties should receive the earnest attention of the Provincial Governments and the Union Government. It should not be forgotten that the bulk of the Indian settlement in South Africa is the result of the action of the South Africans themselves, and Natal, where the majority are domiciled, owes much of its prosperity to Indian labour. "The whole of Durban was absolutely built up by the Indian population," said Sir Leige Hewlett, ex-Prime Minister of Natal, in 1903. In his farewell speech at Pretoria in November 1912, Mr. Gokhale appealed to the European community in the following words: "You have all the power, and yours, therefore, is the responsibility for the manner in which the affairs of this land are administered. You owe it to your good name, you owe it to your civilization, you owe it to the Empire of which you are a part and whose flag stands for opportunities, for progress for all who live under its protection, that your administration should be such that you can justify it in the eyes of the civilized world." This noble exhortation points to an angle of vision which is much nearer reality to-day than it was in Mr. Gokhale's time, and after the promise of "peaceful and statesman-like" solution made by General Smuts last year there should really be no difficulty now. In order to enable the Union Government to deal with Indian problems impartially and promptly, the provision of a convenient agency by which Indian grievances can be brought to the notice of the local Government authorities would be a first step. The appointment of a local agent of the Indian Government at Pretoria should be an advantage both to the Indians in South Africa and the South African Government which has to deal with them.

5. For the group of questions relating to facilities for travel, education or business, it is clear that it should be easy to arrive at a liberal and satisfactory solution almost immediately.

The present position is that the Dominion laws allow persons with good credentials to enter on temporary visits, in Canada as "tourists" and elsewhere by special permits, which presumably are granted in the Dominion concerned. For instance, Australian Circular No. 31 of August 1904 lays down "that any persons bond fide merchants, students and tourist travellers provided they are in possession of passports may be admitted. On arrival in the Commonwealth the education test in their cases will not be imposed, and such persons are to be permitted to land without restriction, but, in the event of their wishing to stay longer than twelve months, an application for a certificate of exemption should be made before the expiry of the term stating "reason for extended stay."

In the case of bond fide students intending to study at any of the Australian Universities, the above requirement of special certificate of exemption appears to be quite unnecessary. The question of the Indian student problem in Australasia has assumed special importance, because at the present moment most of the western world is practically almost shut out from Indian students, and will be for some time after the war, on account of the great rise of the cost of living and other causes. Australian Universities are out of the war zone and comparatively cheap, and the Indian student is poor, and the West Australian University is only about nine-and-a-half days from Colombo.

6. Finally, as regards the question of future emigration of Indians to the Colonies for purposes of settlement, there is no change from the position which was taken up last year, that in this matter the Indian British subjects have a right to expect that they should not receive a less favourable treatment than other Asiatic people who are not subjects of the British Empire. But this question is not of any immediate urgency for India, and might well wait future discussion.

On our side we are being pressed to give practical effect to the resolution of last year's Conference.

7. It is only necessary, in conclusion, to emphasize the necessity of definite action and a forward advance in these matters without any more delay. "I do not lose a due sense of proportion," says the Aga Khan in his recent book, "India in Transition," "when I say that one of the deeper causes "if not of discontent or disaffection, at any rate of the distrust of England and Englishmen that appeared on the surface in India of recent years was the "strained relationship between Indians and their white fellow-subjects in East Africa. A rankling sense of injustice was aroused by the reservation of the "best lands for Europeans, and by a succession of ordinances and regulations "based on an assumption of race inferiority. It must be remembered that "such a state of injured feeling evokes a subconscious spirit, which, in a few "decades, may lead to results out of all proportion in importance to the "original causes." If the Indian representatives did not press this aspect of the question last year it is not because they did not realise their force or importance, but because they felt that the sympathetic attitude of the overseas Ministers made it unnecessary for any special emphasis to be laid on the racial aspect of these questions. A most excellent start was made last year and the impression created in India was most favourable. It would be a thousand pities if steps were not now taken to give effect and tangible shape to the good understanding and mutual comprehension attained last year. It is also obvious that these important questions should be settled not in any petty huckstering spirit of reciprocity only, far less of militant animosity and retaliation, but on those broad principles of justice and equality which are now more than ever the guiding principles of the British Empire, and which must be the foundations of the mighty Empire round the shores of the Pacific and the Indian Ocean which are slowly but surely rising before one's eyes.

ANNEX. 2:—Extract from Proceedings at Imperial War Conference, 24th July 1918.

CHAIRMAN: Mr. Hughes cannot come this morning, and Sir Robert Borden is away. The first subject on the agenda is Reciprocity of Treatment between India and the Dominions, on which there is a Memorandum by Sir Satyendra Sinha, which has been circulated, and also a draft Resolution, which I understand is the result of a meeting at the India Office. Shall I read the draft Resolution as the basis of discussion?

SIR S. P. SINHA: As you please, Sir.

CHAIRMAN: The Resolution is as follows:—

"The Imperial War Conference is of opinion that effect should now be given to the principle of reciprocity approved by Resolution 22 of the Imperial War Conference, 1917. In pursuance of that Resolution it is agreed that:—

"1. It is an inherent function of the Governments of the several communities of the British Commonwealth including India that each should enjoy complete control of the composition of its own population by means of restriction on immigration from any of the other communities.

"2. British citizens domiciled in any British country, including India, should be admitted into any other British country for visits, for the purpose of pleasure or commerce, including temporary residence for the purpose of education. The conditions of such visits should be regulated on the principle of reciprocity, as follows:—

"(a) The right of the Government of India is recognized to enact laws which shall have the effect of subjecting British citizens domiciled in any other British country to the same conditions in visiting India as those imposed on Indians desiring to visit such country.

"(b) Such right of visit or temporary residence shall, in each individual case, be embodied in a passport or written permit issued by the country of domicile and subject to visa there by an officer appointed by and acting on behalf of the country to be visited, if such country so desires.

"(c) Such right shall not extend to a visit or temporary residence for labour purposes or to permanent settlement.

"3. Indians already permanently domiciled in the other British countries should be allowed to ~~bring~~ in their wives and minor children on condition (a) that not more than one wife and her children shall be admitted for each such Indian, and (b) that each individual so admitted shall be certified by the Government of India as being the lawful wife or child of such Indian.

"4. The Conference recommends the other questions covered by the memoranda presented this year and last year to the Conference by the representatives of India in so far as not dealt with in the foregoing paragraphs of this Resolution, to the various Governments concerned with a view to early consideration."

SIR S. P. SINHA: Mr. Long, I am desired by my colleague, the Maharajah of Patiala, who is unfortunately prevented from being present to-day, to express his entire concurrence in what I am going to say to the Conference. I also regret exceedingly the absence of Sir Robert Borden, because I wanted to express in his presence my deep feeling of gratitude for the generous and sympathetic spirit in which he has treated the whole question, both last year and this year. I desire to express my gratitude to him for the very great assistance he has rendered, to which I think the satisfactory solution which has been reached is very largely due—that is, if the Conference accepts the Resolution which I have the honour to propose.

Sir, the position of Indian immigrants in the Colonies has been the cause of great difficulties, both in the Dominions themselves and particularly in my own country, India. As long ago as 1897, the late Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, in addressing the Conference of Colonial Premiers, made a stirring appeal on behalf of the Indians who had emigrated to the Dominions. The same appeal was made in 1907 by Mr. Asquith, and in 1911. During all this time India was not represented at the Conference, and it is only due to the India Office here to say that they did all they could to assist us. In 1911, the Marquess of Crewe, as Secretary of State for India, presented a memorandum to the Conference, which is printed in the proceedings for that year, and I cannot do better than just read one of the passages from that memorandum, which shows the nature of the difficulties which had arisen and the solutions which had been proposed on behalf of the Secretary of State. The memorandum presented by the Secretary of State says this :—

“ It does not appear to have been thoroughly considered that each Dominion owes responsibility to the rest of the Empire for ensuring that its domestic policy shall not unnecessarily create embarrassment in the administration of India.

“ It is difficult for statesmen who have seen Indians represented only by manual labourers and petty traders to realise the importance to the Empire as a whole of a country with some three hundred million inhabitants, possessing ancient civilisations of a very high order, which has furnished and furnishes some of the finest military material in the world to the Imperial forces, and which offers the fullest opportunities to financial and commercial enterprise. It is difficult to convey to those who do not know India the intense and natural resentment felt by veterans of the Indian Army, who have seen active service and won medals under the British flag, and who have been treated by their British officers with the consideration and courtesy to which their character entitles them, when (as has actually happened) they find themselves described as ‘coolies,’ and treated with contemptuous severity in parts of the British Empire. Matters like this are, of course, very largely beyond the power of any Government to control, but popular misunderstandings are such a fruitful source of mischief that it seems worth while to put on record the grave fact that a radically false conception of the real position of India is undoubtedly rife in many parts of the Empire

“ The immigration difficulty, however, has, on the whole, been met by a series of statutes which succeed in preventing Asiatic influx without the use of differential or insulting language. It is accepted that the Dominions shall not admit as permanent residents people whose mode of life is inconsistent with their own political and social ideals.

“ But the admission of temporary visitors, to which this objection does not apply, has not yet been satisfactorily settled. If the question were not so grave, it would be seen to be ludicrous that regulations framed with an eye to coolies should affect ruling princes who are in subordinate alliance with His Majesty, and have placed their troops at his disposal members of the Privy Council of the Empire or gentlemen who have the honour to be His Majesty's own Aides-de-Camp. It is, of course, true that no person of such distinguished position would, in fact, be turned back if he visited one of the Dominions. But these Indian gentlemen are known to entertain very strongly the feeling that while they can move freely in the best society of any European capital, they could not set foot in some of the Dominions without undergoing vexatious catechisms from petty officials. At the same time, the highest posts in the Imperial service in India are open to subjects of His Majesty from the Dominions.

"The efforts of the British Government to create and foster a sense of citizenship in India have, within the last few years, undoubtedly been hampered by the feeling of soreness caused by the general attitude of the Dominions towards the peoples of India. The loyalty of the great mass of Indians to the Throne is a very conspicuous fact, and it is noteworthy that this feeling is sincerely entertained by many Indian critics of the details of British administration. The recent constitutional changes have given the people of the country increased association with the Government, and have at the same time afforded Indians greater opportunities of bringing to the direct notice of Government their views on the wider question of the place of India in the Empire. The gravity of the friction between Indians and the Dominions lies in this, that on the Colonial question, and on that alone, are united the seditious agitators, and the absolutely loyal representatives of moderate Indian opinion."

"This, Sir, was in 1911, three years before the war; and if the position was correctly described then, you will conceive with how much greater strength the same observations apply to the present position as between India and the Dominions. Of course, since 1911, so far as South Africa is concerned, many practical grievances which then existed have, I gratefully acknowledge, been removed, but there are still many others outstanding. Those are referred to in the memorandum which has been circulated to the Conference, and I trust my friends Mr. Burton and General Smuts, to whose statesmanship South Africa, including all its inhabitants, owes so much, will be able, on their return to their own country, in process of time to remove all, or at any rate some, of the grievances to which I refer. I recognise that it is a matter of time. I recognise their desire to remove those grievances, in so far as they are grievances, and I appreciate the difficulties of getting any legislation through their own Parliaments for that purpose; but at the same time I hope the matter will not be lost sight of, and that an early consideration will be given to matters which have not been the subject of agreement between us on this occasion.

But, Sir, so far as the outstanding difficulty of India is concerned, I am happy to think that the Resolution which I now propose before the Conference, if accepted, will get rid of that which has caused the greatest amount of trouble both in Canada and in India. There are now about 4,000 or 5,000—I think nearer 4,000 than 5,000—Indians in the Dominion of Canada, mostly in British Columbia, I think, in fact, all in British Columbia; and the great difficulty of their position—a difficulty which is appreciated in India—is that these men are not allowed to take their wives and children with them. Now the Resolution, in paragraph 3, removed this difficulty—that is to say, if it is accepted and given effect to—and I consider that that will cause the greatest satisfaction to my countrymen, and particularly to that great community of Sikhs who have furnished the largest number of soldiers during the war, and to whom these 4,000 men in Canada belong.

The principle of reciprocity, which was accepted by the Conference on the last occasion, is again referred to with approval and effect is to be given to it immediately as regards some of the most urgent matters concerned.

I have read from Lord Crewe's memorandum, Sir, the ludicrous position which now exists with regard to Indians of position visiting the Dominions. That position will be altogether altered if the Conference accepts the second part of the Resolution which I propose—namely, that "British citizens domiciled in any British country, including India, should be admitted into any other British country for visits," and that the system of passports now in existence be continued, which would prevent any influx of undesirable labour population.

I think that, as the whole matter has been before the Conference so long it would not be right for me to take up the time of the Conference further. I venture to think that if this Resolution is accepted, it will solve many of the most acute difficulties which have arisen between the Dominions and India; and, speaking for India, I can assure you that it will cause the greatest satisfaction, and will help us to allay the agitation which, particularly at a time like this, is a source of grave embarrassment. That is all I have to say, Sir.

MR. ROWELL: There are just one or two observations I would like to make, Mr. Chairman. May I say how sincerely Sir Robert Borden regrets that he could not be here this morning, when this question was coming up before the Conference for consideration. He has personally taken a very keen interest in the question, and I am sure he will appreciate the very kind references which the representatives of India have made to his attitude in endeavouring to find a solution of the difficulties which have existed for many years between India and the Dominions in connection with this very important problem.

The Resolution as submitted is accepted by Canada. We have had several Conferences in reference to the various matters raised, and the terms of the Resolution represent an understanding arrived at by India and the Dominions in connection with the important matters dealt with in the Resolution. We look upon it as a matter of importance that the principle implied in the first paragraph of the Resolution should be frankly recognized by all the communities within the British Empire. We recognize that there are distinctions in racial characteristics, and in other matters, which make it necessary that, while we fully recognize the principle of reciprocity, each should exercise full control over its own population. The other paragraphs of the Resolution give effect to the proposals which have been discussed before the Committee, and give effect in such a way as I am sure we all hope will meet the general approval of the citizens of the Dominions and of India, as well as of the other portions of the Empire. We are glad to be able to remove the grounds of objection which India has felt, particularly with reference to the liberty of the Indians resident in Canada to bring their wives and minor children to Canada; but it was felt that this matter could not be dealt with except as part of the whole problem and it is in connection with the solution of the whole problem that this forms an important part.

I think the number of Sikhs in Canada is not quite so large as Sir Satyendra has mentioned. While there was this number at one time, I think a number have returned to India, and the number is not now as large. I am sure we all appreciate the splendid qualities which the Sikhs have shown in this war, and the magnificent contribution which that portion of India particularly has given to the fighting forces of the Empire, and I am sure it would have been a matter of gratification to us all if Sir Robert Borden could have been here when this important matter was being dealt with by the Conference. I am sure the effect of the passing of this Resolution will be to draw together the Dominions and India into closer bonds of sympathy, and to help to cement the bonds that bind our whole Empire together as a unit for great national purposes—for those great, humane and Imperial purposes for which our Empire exists.

CHAIRMAN: Mr. Cook, do you desire to say anything on this?

MR. COOK: No, I think not, Sir.

MR. MASSEY: I am very glad that this solution of the difficulty is arrived at. So far as New Zealand is concerned, there is no serious difficulty. We have very, very few Indians in New Zealand, and so far as I know the people of India have never shown any tendency to emigrate to New Zealand. I simply state the fact—I am not able to explain the reason. The objections, I understand, have come mostly from Canada and South Africa and I am very glad indeed from what has been said to learn that those objections have been removed. Of course, we shall have the administration of the law in so far as it does apply to New Zealand, but I do not anticipate any difficulty there, and I think what has been done to-day not only removes the present difficulties, such as they are, but will prevent serious difficulty occurring in the future. I value the Resolution on that account really more than on any other. Though New Zealand, as I have said, is not seriously interested in this matter—I have no doubt if Indians had come to New Zealand, and in considerable numbers, objections would have been raised, and it would have been the duty of the Government to take the matter in hand. That, however, has not taken place.

I should like to learn from Sir Satyendra Sinha whether this will affect Fiji in any way. Fiji is a neighbour of ours, and most of our sugar is produced there. It is not refined there, but is sent to Australia for refining purposes. I understand a very large number—I am not going into details, but I believe about 60,000 Indians are employed in Fiji at the present time in the production of sugar. I simply ask the question because the point is likely to be raised as to whether it will affect them.

SIR S. P. SINHA : In no way.

MR. MASSEY : I am very glad to hear it. I hope as far as Fiji labour is concerned that even in Fiji some satisfactory solution of the difficulty will be arrived at in connection with that dependency of the Empire. I know there is a little friction—not serious, but a little—but as far as I can understand the position—I do not profess to know the whole details—the difficulties are not insurmountable.

SIR S. P. SINHA : The difficulties are of a different nature. I hope they have been practically solved.

MR. MASSEY : That is all I wish to say, Sir,

MR. BURTON : The matters which were raised by Sir Satyendra Sinha and the Maharajah in connection with this question present, I suppose, some of the most difficult and delicate problems which we have had to deal with, and which it is our duty as statesmen to attempt to solve satisfactorily if the British Empire is to remain a healthy organization. I am sure we all feel, as far as we are concerned—I have told Sir Satyendra myself that my own attitude has been, and I am sure it is the attitude of my colleagues—sympathetic towards the Indian position generally. There are, of course, difficulties, and it would be idle to disguise the fact that many of these difficulties are of substantial importance, which have to be faced in dealing with this matter. But I do not despair of satisfactory solutions being arrived at.

Sir Satyendra Sinha has been good enough to refer to the attitude adopted by Canada and ourselves in discussing this matter in Committee, and I think it is only right from our point of view to add that the possibility of our arriving at a satisfactory solution on this occasion has been due very largely indeed to the reasonable and moderate attitude which the Indian representatives themselves have adopted. But for that, of course, the difficulties would have been ever so much greater. As far as we are concerned, it is only fair to say—and it is the truth—that we have found that the Indians in our midst in South Africa, who form in some parts a very substantial portion of the population, are good, law-abiding, quiet citizens, and it is our duty to see, as he himself expressed it, that they are treated as human-beings, with feelings like our own, and in a proper manner.

As to the details I need not go into all of them. Paragraph No. 3 embodies, as a matter of fact, the present law of the Union of South Africa. That is our position there, so that our agreement as to that is no concession. I pointed out to Sir Satyendra when we were in Committee that in some of these points which he brought up as affecting South Africa I thought in all probability, if he were in a position to investigate some of them himself, he would find that perhaps the complaints had been somewhat exaggerated. I cannot help feeling that that is the case, but I will not go into these matters now. As far as we are concerned in South Africa, we are in agreement with this Resolution, and also with the proposal referring the Memorandum to the consideration of our Government, and we will give it the most sympathetic consideration that we can, certainly.

MR. LLOYD : This is not a matter which directly affects Newfoundland, but I should like to express my satisfaction that some solution has been found, and also to express the feelings which have already been given utterance to by South Africa with regard to the reasonable and moderate attitude of India.

SIR JOSEPH WARD : Mr. Long, this is a development in connection with the Empire that I regard as one of the very greatest importance. At the last Conference we made a move in the direction of meeting the wishes of India and this Resolution now, embodying the results arrived at by the Committee which has been inquiring into this matter, carries the matter, I think rightly so, a good deal further. And I think it is a move in the right direction. The underlying recognition of the right of the overseas communities to control their own populations within their own territories is one as to which no recommendation from this Conference, if it were made in the opposite direction, could have the least effect within any portion of the British Empire, and in that respect it is laying down a foundation upon which I regard the whole of these proposals as being based.

"I think the important factor in connection with it is this: All our countries, at all events New Zealand, have in the past, from causes or reasons one need not specially refer to, viewed with some alarm the possibility, as they thought, of large numbers of Indians coming to them and becoming factors in making calls that would disturb, interfere with, or change the course of employment for instance, and, I think, that that first proposal is one that would be met by every reasonable person in our country with strongest approval.

I want to take the opportunity of saying that sub-clause (c) of the second paragraph of this draft Resolution—"Such right shall not extend to a visit or temporary residence for labour purposes or to permanent settlement"—completely meets the position that a good many people have had difficulties about, and I assume the Indian representatives are just as familiar with them as we are.

Upon the question of the introduction—although I have nothing to do with it as a representative here—of the wives of these men who have been admitted into Canada, that is, in my opinion, not only a wise thing to do, but on the highest grounds possible, and moral grounds among other things, it seems to be a legitimate corollary to what the Canadian Dominion have done with regard to the 4,000 or 5,000 men who are there.

And I want to say with regard to the Memorandum which has been placed before us by the Indian representative on those several matters, that as far as I am concerned I have read the memorandum very carefully this morning, and I shall be glad, at the proper time, to give the matters referred to the fullest consideration in our country.

MR. MONTAGU: Mr. Long, may I just detain the Conference one minute to express, on behalf of the Government of India and my colleagues, our gratitude for the way in which this Resolution has been received at this meeting of the Conference. Sir Joseph Ward has rightly said that this Resolution takes the question a good deal further. I emphasize that by way of caution, and I hope I shall not be charged with ingratitude when I say it would not be fair to the Conference to regard this Resolution as a solution of all outstanding questions. Many of them, can only be cured by time. Many of them, as Mr. Burton has said, require careful study. But I feel sure that the spirit in which the Resolution has been met, and the whole attitude which the representatives of the various Dominions have taken towards it, will prove to India that as matters progress, and as time advances, there is every prospect that Indians throughout the Empire will be treated not only as human-beings, but will have all the rights and privileges of British citizens.

MR. COOK: Mr. Long, may I just say one word, lest my silence should be misunderstood. As my friends know, I attended the Committee meeting yesterday, and concurred in these proposals here, and the reason I do not occupy the time of the Conference is because there is nothing specifically relating to Australia in them. That is to say, many of the things referred to in this Memorandum are concessions which have already been agreed to in Australia very many years ago, even with regard to the bringing of the wives and minor children. I do not think there is any trouble in Australia about that. Whatever the technical difficulties may be, I do not think there is trouble occurring along those lines. At any rate, I am one of those who believe that when we admit a man to our shores we should admit his wife also and his family and if we are not prepared to admit his wife and family, we have no right to admit him. It seems to me that is among the elementary things. I concur entirely with the proposal in that respect, but that being the only outstanding feature of the proposal which can, in the remotest degree affect Australia, I will not take up time in discussing the matter but, agree cordially with what has been suggested and what has been done. I think we owe a great debt of gratitude to India for the attitude she has taken since this war began. That is the feeling in Australia through and through—one of the most profound and cordial appreciation of the attitude of India in regard to this war.

MR. MASSEY: It is the feeling all over the Empire.

CHAIRMAN: Perhaps I may be allowed to say a word in putting the Resolution. It will only be a very brief one. Last year the Conference was specially marked by the addition to our councils of the representatives of India, and I think we all feel that that made the Conference more complete and more real than it ever claimed to be before. This year sees another steady step forward, and I am bound to say that I think, having followed these proceedings very closely—I had the privilege to be present at the meeting which the Prime Minister of Canada was good enough to summon last year, when Sir Satyendra put the general case before us, and I think you will agree that that was a very useful meeting and started us in the direction which has been consistently followed since.—I think this steady advance is due, as has been said, not only to the wise, moderate, and extremely able line taken by Sir Satyendra and his colleagues—last year it was Sir James Meston and the Maharaja of Bikanir who represented India, while this year it is the Maharaja of Patiala—but also to the very statesmanlike view which has been taken of their responsibilities by those who speak on behalf of the great self-governing Dominions of the Empire. And certainly I rejoice more than I can say to see this evidence of the steady progress of the Empire along these lines which have been always followed in the past, and which, I believe, have made the Empire what it is—the recognition of fundamental principles, and a steady refusal to deny to any citizen of the Empire the privileges of Empire simply because of the 'accident' of birth or locality. I regard this as a very important decision. On behalf of the Conference, I may perhaps be allowed to offer my congratulations to those who represent India and the Dominions upon this very considerable step in the development of our Empire. May I put the Resolution?

MR. ROWELL: May I add one word? It is simply that I desire to associate Canada and myself with the remarks which Mr. Burton made with reference to the very reasonable and statesmanlike attitude of the representatives of India in dealing with this matter. The Resolution which embodies the understanding arrived at is, perhaps, the best evidence of our appreciation on the one hand, and of their recognition on the other.

CHAIRMAN: I ought to say that Sir Robert Borden sent me a communication yesterday, expressing a great desire that this should be taken when he was present and we did our best so to arrange matters; but I need not point out to the Conference that unless we are able to take the subjects as they are put down, it is almost impossible to get our business properly forward, or to complete it, within the time at our disposal.

MR. MASSEY: I hope we shall finish this week.

CHAIRMAN: That is what we are working for, of course. May I put this to the Conference?

(The Resolution was carried unanimously.)

No. 203T.—L.S.-G.—The 24th May 1919.—In exercise of the powers conferred by clause (a) of section 31 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871 (I of 1871), and in modification of the orders contained in paragraph 1 (a) of Notification No. 317½T.M. of the 16th August 1913, the Governor in Council is pleased to transfer to the Ahmadpur Union, in the district of Birbhum, all the functions of the Magistrate of that district, under Chapters II and III of the said Act, in respect of all pounds within the local area subject to the jurisdiction of the said union.

No. 204T.—L.S.-G.—The 24th May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by clause (b) of section 31 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871 (I of 1871), and in modification of the orders contained in clause (a) of Notification No. 318T.M., dated the 16th August 1913, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that the whole of the surplus accruing under section 18 of that Act, in the areas under the jurisdiction of the Ahmadpur Union, in the district of Birbhum, shall be placed to the credit of the Union Fund constituted for the said union.

No. 149T.M.—The 19th May 1919.—Whereas, at a meeting held on the 7th March 1911, the Commissioners of the Chittagong Municipality directed that a survey should be made of the lands situated in that Municipality, and, by virtue of section 223A of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the provisions of the Calcutta Survey Act, 1887 (Bengal Act I of 1887), consequently apply to the said municipality;

And whereas by notification No. 2504-F., dated the 29th April 1911, the Lieutenant-Governor of the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam appointed a Superintendent and an Assistant Superintendent of Survey and also an appellate authority under section 11 of the said Act, the said notification being partially modified by this Government notification No. 652-M., dated the 7th March 1914;

And whereas, on completion of the said survey, the Superintendent deposited the map, field-books, calculation sheets and all other documents connected therewith in the office of the aforesaid Municipal Commissioners on the 30th December 1913, and the said date was duly notified in the Calcutta Gazette;

And whereas objections to the said survey lodged with the Superintendent were decided by him and the appeals by the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 21 of the Calcutta Survey Act, 1887 (Bengal Act I of 1887), read with section 3 and Schedule D of the Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam Laws Act, 1912 (VII of 1912), the Governor in Council is pleased to signify his approval to the said survey.

No. 190T.M.—The 23rd May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by clause (a) of section 59 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the Governor in Council is pleased to approve the resolution passed by the Commissioners of the Narayanganj Municipality, in the district of Dacca, under section 27 of that Act, electing Dr. K. D. Pringle to be Chairman of that Municipality, vice Mr. A. L. Golden, on leave.

No. 192T.M.—The 23rd May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by clause (a) of section 59 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the Governor in Council is pleased to approve the resolution passed by the Commissioners of the Madaripore Municipality, in the district of Faridpur, under section 27 of that Act, electing Babu Abinas Chandra Ray to be Chairman of that Municipality, vice Babu Mono Mohan Gangali, on leave.

No. 194T.M.—The 23rd May 1919.—The following draft order which the Governor in Council proposes to make in exercise of the power conferred by section 221 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), is published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on the 26th June 1919, and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned through the District Magistrate before that date will be duly considered.

Draft Order.

In exercise of the power conferred by section 222 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), and upon the application of the Commissioners of the Satkhira Municipality, in the district of Khulna, made in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting specially convened to consider the question, the Governor in Council is pleased to extend all the provisions of Part VII of that Act to the said Municipality.

No. 200T.M.—The 24th May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by clause (a) of section 59 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the Governor in Council is pleased to approve the resolution passed by the Commissioners of the Howrah Municipality, under section 23 of that Act, electing the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray, C.I.E., to be Chairman of that Municipality.

No. 212T.M.—The 26th May 1919.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 8 (2) (d) and 62 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, III of 1899, the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint Mr. C. W. Rhodes to be a Commissioner of the Corporation of Calcutta, vice Mr. A. J. Pugh, resigned.

No. 215T.-L.S.-G.—The 26th May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 14 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 (Bengal Act III of 1885), the Governor in Council is pleased to add the name of the district of Bakarganj to the list included in the third Schedule of the Act.

No. 217T.M.—The 26th May 1919.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 14 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the Governor in Council is pleased to appoint the following gentlemen to be Commissioners of the Satkhira Municipality, in the district of Khulna:—

Babu Girija Nath Mukherjee.

Council of Post-graduate Teaching in Arts.

M. A. EXAMINATION IN THE INDIAN VERNACULARS.

New Regulations.

Candidates will be examined in :—

(A) An Indian Vernacular as principal subject, to be selected by the candidate from a list prescribed from time to time by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars.

(B) A second Indian Vernacular as subsidiary subject, to be selected by the candidate from a list prescribed from time to time by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars.

(C) Elements of two of the following languages, to be selected by the candidate with special reference to their influence on the Vernaculars chosen as principal and subsidiary subjects :

Prakrit, Pali, Persian, Pashtu.

This list may be varied from time to time by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars.

(D) Elements of Indo-Aryan or such other branch of Philology as may be prescribed from time to time by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars.

Four papers shall be set on (A), two on (B), one on (C) and one on (D).

The four papers on (A) shall be distributed as follows :—

Paper I.—History of the Literature of the Principal Language taken up. Candidates will be expected to possess a general knowledge of the entire subject as also a special knowledge of a prescribed period or movement in literature.

Paper II.—Old Texts and Unseens.

Paper III.—Mediæval and Modern Texts and Unseens.

Paper IV.—(a) A prescribed period of literary or linguistic history and (b) a selected movement, literary, scientific, social or religious.

Candidates will be required in this paper to give their answers in the form of two essays, one of which at least must be composed in the Vernacular taken up as principal subject.

The two papers on (B) shall be distributed as follows :—

Paper V.—Easy prescribed Texts and Unseens.

Paper VI.—Elements of Grammar, Philology and Literary History.

The paper on (C) shall include questions on easy prescribed texts and simple questions on Grammar.

The paper on (D) shall be devoted to Indo-Aryan or other prescribed branch of Philology, in so far as it elucidates the origin and development of Indian Vernaculars.

Each of the eight papers shall carry 100 marks.

The scope of the subject included in each paper shall be defined and suitable books recommended from time to time by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars.

A candidate who has taken his B.A. degree with Honours in a Language, or has taken his M.A. degree in a Language or Comparative Philology may, subject to the conditions specified below, offer a thesis, in lieu of an examination in Papers III and IV.

The conditions to be fulfilled by a candidate who is allowed to offer a thesis are as follows :—

(a) He must have completed one year's study of the M.A. Course in Indian Vernaculars under University teachers.

(b) He must, at the end of the year, submit to the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars an application for permission to offer a thesis in lieu of part of the Examination.

(c) The application shall indicate the subject and scope of the thesis he wishes to offer and must be recommended by the Professor or Professors under whom he has been working.

(d) If the application be granted by the Board of Higher Studies in Indian Vernaculars, the thesis must be prepared under the general direction of the Professor or Professors with whom the candidate is prosecuting his studies.

(e) The candidate shall deliver three copies of the thesis (printed or type-written) to the Secretary to the Council of Post-Graduate Teaching in Arts, at least one month before the first day of the M.A. Examination at which he intends to present himself.

(f) The thesis shall be examined by a Board of three Examiners and the maximum number of marks assigned to the thesis shall be 200. The Examiners may, in their discretion, subject the candidate to a viva voce examination on the subject of the thesis.

(g) The name of a candidate whose thesis has been approved shall be marked with an asterisk in the list of successful candidates published in the Gazette and also in the University Calendar.

The M.A. Examination in Indian Vernaculars will be held for the first time in 1920 for the benefit of non-Collegiate students, if any, and all candidates at that Examination will be required to take up Bengali as the Principal Vernacular.

For the examination of 1921 also, Bengali will be the only vernacular which may be taken up as Principal Vernacular; but further orders will be issued if meanwhile satisfactory progress is made with the preparation and publication of volumes of Typical Selections in other Vernaculars.

Until further orders, candidates will be allowed to select the Subsidiary Vernacular from the following list :—

Assamese, Oriya, Hindi, Marathi, Gujarati, Telegu, Tamil, Kanarese, Malayalam, Singhalese, Urdu.

For the Examinations in 1920 and 1921 the following course is prescribed in Bengali :—

SENATE HOUSE, the 21st May 1919.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.NOTICE.

Copy of the following circular from the Registrar, University of Bombay, is published for general information.

By order of the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate,

J. C. GHOSH,
Registrar.

SENATE HOUSE, the 21st May 1919.

UNIVERSITY OF BOMBAY.CIRCULAR No. 1940 OF 1919.

THE following are the regulations regarding the recognition of examinations of other Universities :—

“ Regulation 158.—The Matriculation Examinations of the Universities of Calcutta, Madras, Allahabad and Punjab and the Entrance Examination of the Mysore University will be deemed equivalent to Matriculation at this University, provided the candidate has completed sixteen years of age on or before the 1st of August next following any of these examinations which he has passed and provided also he has passed at such examination in a Classical Language and Science.

Regulation 159.—The Intermediate Arts and Intermediate Science Examinations of other Indian Universities and the University of London will be accepted as equivalent to the corresponding examinations of this University in the case only of those Universities which reciprocate with this University in this respect. Where such reciprocation does not exist, the Intermediate Arts Examination will be deemed equivalent to the First Year Certificate Examination of an Arts College affiliated to this University and will qualify for admission to the Intermediate Arts, Intermediate Science, Intermediate Commerce, Intermediate Agriculture, First Engineering and Preliminary Scientific Classes of this University, and the Intermediate Science Examination will be deemed to qualify for admission to the Intermediate Science, Intermediate Agriculture, First Engineering and Preliminary Scientific Classes of this University.

A student passing the Intermediate Arts Examination of a University reciprocating with this University may join the Intermediate Science Class of this University.

Regulation 160.—The First Year Examination of the Mysore University will be deemed equivalent to the First Year Certificate Examination of an Arts College affiliated to this University."

With reference to Rule 159, the Syndicate, after making enquiries as to reciprocity by the various Universities, have decided to notify as follows:—

- (a) That the Intermediate Arts and Science Examinations of the Calcutta and Allahabad Universities be deemed equivalent to the corresponding examinations of this University;
- (b) That applications from students who have passed the Intermediate Arts or Intermediate Science Examination of the Benares Hindu University or the Patna University or the Madras University and who wish to have such examinations accepted as equivalent to the corresponding examinations of this University and seek admission to Colleges affiliated to the Bombay University for further studies, must be submitted by the applicants to the Syndicate two months before the beginning of the term for which admission is sought. Applicants should state the college and the class to which admission is sought.
- (c) That, in the case of students of the Punjab University, until further notice from the Syndicate, Principals are to assume that reciprocation does not exist and the second sentence of Rule 159 is to be applied.

The Principals of Colleges are desired by the Syndicate to note that in no circumstances will the First Year's College Examination by Colleges affiliated to any other Indian University be considered equivalent to the First Year College Examination by the Colleges affiliated to this University.

By order,

FARDUNJI M. DASTUR,
University Registrar.

[N.B.—The scale of fees as given in this prospectus is payable by students admitted to the College from the beginning of the Session 1916-17 and will not apply to old students who will continue to pay the existing rate of fees.]

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF BENGAL.

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF STUDENTS SEEKING ADMISSION.

1. Three classes of students are admitted for study in the College —

(a) “Regular,” or those who enter for the full University course.

The admission to this class is restricted to students (male and female) who are natives of, or whose parents are domiciled in, the area within the territorial limits of the Calcutta University and the province of Bihar and Orissa.

(b) “Casual,” or those who enter for selected or isolated subjects.

(c) “Military Class” (only students of European or Eurasian parentage are admitted to this class). (See Separate Prospectus for military students.)

The admission to this class is regulated by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service.

2. The minimum preliminary qualification for admission to the—

(a) “Regular Class” is the I. Sc. Pass certificate of the Calcutta University.

(b) “Casual.”—The Matriculation or Entrance Pass certificate of the Calcutta or other Indian Universities, or the Pass certificate of an examination equivalent to the Matriculation or Entrance Examination.

3 The session commences on the 15th June.

4. All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form available in his office, before the 25th May, except in the case of Biharis, Uriyas, Chota-Nagpuris and Assamese students, who should apply to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of their respective provinces for admission within such date as the latter may prescribe.

Selected candidates must pay the following fees on or before the 10th June, failing which their names will be struck off the selected list:—

	Rs.	A.
Admission fee	20	0
Fees for Summer term	62	8
Athletic Club fee	1	0
Total	83	8

5. The number of regular students to be admitted each year is generally 120, but the Principal may, at his discretion, increase or decrease this number. Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Principal.

One-fourth of the total number to be admitted shall be Muhammadans. Twelve candidates will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa and six candidates by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Assam. These candidates must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 (a). In addition, the Bihar and Orissa Government will nominate six scholars, who, after 1918, must possess the I. Sc. Pass certificate. These nominations must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June in each year, failing which the Principal will fill up vacancies with local candidates.

6. Female students of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and Burma, belonging to the Calcutta University will be admitted to the College, provided they possess the requisite preliminary qualification and provided there is a vacancy in the Surnomoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside.

7. Failed students must apply for admission and pay fees before the 15th May, otherwise their prior claim lapses.

8. All regular students must pay an annual fee of Rs. 125 in two instalments, viz., Rs. 62-8 for the Summer term and Rs. 62-8 for the Winter term. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

9. The fees for each term are to be paid in one instalment. Except in the case of new students, the fees for Summer term are due on the 15th June, and those for the Winter term on the 1st November, and must be paid on those dates or on such subsequent dates as the Principal may direct, after which a daily fine of annas 4 will be levied along with the fee in each case of default.

10. All regular students excepting the female students must pay an annual fee of Re. 1 to the Medical College Athletic Club along with the fees for the Summer term.

11. Students relegated to a further course of study after their failure at the Preliminary Scientific M. B. and at the First M. B. Examinations shall pay Rs. 80 for the whole session in one instalment by the 1st June.

12. Students taking up subjects outside the curriculum of the year in which they are studying shall pay Rs. 30 for each such subject, including lectures and practical classes.

13. The fees for Casual students or for certificates issued to Regular students leaving the College before completing their study, or for those issued to military students, shall be Rs. 40 per each course of lectures and practical classes and Rs. 30 for every three months of hospital practice.

14. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

	Rs.
For one subject	25
„ two subjects	50
„ three or more subjects	75

15. In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tuition, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

16. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by himself and half by the Mohsin Fund.

17. Students of the military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

18. No fees are payable by female students.

19. The fee for post-graduates undergoing a course of training in the Pathological, Bacteriological, Physiological or Chemical Laboratory is Rs. 90 for a period not exceeding six months.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as regular students.

21. The following are the curricula of the College :—

REGULAR STUDENTS.

First-year Class.

Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology and Practical classes in all these subjects, to be followed by Preliminary Scientific M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University and the Scholarship and Medal Examination of the College.

Second-year Class.

Third-year Class.

Anatomy, Physiology, Materia Medica, Organic Chemistry, Dissections, and Practical classes in Physiology and Organic Chemistry, to be followed by Honour Examination of the College in the above subjects for scholarships and medals of the College and by the First M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University.

Fourth-year Class.

Medicine, Surgery, Midwifery, Pathology, Medical Jurisprudence, Hygiene, Dental Surgery, Hospital Practice (12 months), Clinical Methods and 20 Demonstrations, Practical Surgery and Bandaging and 30 Demonstrations, to be followed by College Test Examination for promotion to the Fifth-year class.

Fifth-year Class.

Medicine, Surgery, Midwifery, Hygiene, Ophthalmic Surgery, Operative Surgery, Mental Disease, Practical Pathology and Bacteriology, Practical Midwifery, and 20 Demonstrations, Hospital Practice (12 months), to be followed by Honour Examination of the College in all the subjects.

Sixth-year Class.

Hospital Practice (12 months), to be followed by the Second M. B. Examination.

22. The following are the scholarships and rewards obtainable by students :—

- (a) Ten Junior College scholarships of Rs. 8 each, tenable for one year together with free tuition and refund of first year's fees, are awarded to ten students on the result of the Scholarship Examination at the end of the First-year class, provided such students also pass the Preliminary Scientific M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University at the first attempt.
- (b) Ten Junior College scholarships of Rs. 8 each, tenable for one year, together with free tuition, are awarded to ten students on the results of the second year's Test and Scholarship Examination.
- (c) Ten Senior scholarships of Rs. 12 each, tenable for three years, together with free tuition, are awarded to ten students on the results of the Honour Examination of the Third-year class, provided such students also pass the First M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University at the first attempt.
- (d) A Government scholarship of Rs. 20 per month is awarded to all female students of the regular class who do not get the Dufferin Fund or other scholarships.
- (e) Special scholarships for Bihari and Uriya students—

Six scholarships of Rs. 12 each to six students from Bihar and Orissa, tenable for six years from the date on which the students enter the College, are awarded by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa.
- (f) Six stipends of Rs. 15 each tenable in the Medical College, Calcutta, two of which, tenable for one year only, will be awarded by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, on the result of the I. A. and I. Sc. Examinations of the Calcutta University and, of the remaining four, two, tenable for two years each, will be awarded annually on the result of the Preliminary Scientific M. B. Examination and the remaining two, tenable for three years each, will be awarded on the result of the First M. B. Examination.
- (g) A limited number of scholarships will be granted to Muhammadan students of straitened circumstances who must prove to the satisfaction of the Principal that they are too poor to pay the College fees.

23. A student holding a Senior scholarship, who fails to pass the Test Examination of the fourth year to the satisfaction of the Principal, will forfeit his scholarship which may be awarded for two years to the student of the fifth year class who stands highest in the results of the fourth year's examination and is not the holder of a scholarship.

24. Senior and Junior scholarships will not be awarded to any student who has gained the Durga Charan Laha Scholarship of Rs. 30 per month or any other scholarship.

25. Regular students, who at any time are referred for a second year of study in all the subjects of one curriculum, are thereby rendered ineligible for any of the stipendiary scholarships, Junior and Senior. They are, however, eligible for the special scholarships and class prizes and medals and certificates of Honour of the College.

26. Certificates of Honour, to the number of three in each subject, may be awarded by the professors, subject to the sanction of the Principal, to such students who have not obtained the medal, but are deemed worthy of it.

14. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

	Rs.
For one subject	25
„ two subjects	50
„ three or more subjects	75

15. In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tuition, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

16. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by himself and half by the Mohsin Fund.

17. Students of the military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

18. No fees are payable by female students.

19. The fee for post-graduates undergoing a course of training in the Pathological, Bacteriological, Physiological or Chemical Laboratory is Rs. 90 for a period not exceeding six months.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as regular students.

Notice.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Unconvenanted Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the Fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 3 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The Fund is now of ten years' standing and has a balance of over three and-a-half lakhs with Government on four per cent. interest. For forms of applications and rules of the Fund apply to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.,

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible, after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in Charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

BENGAL ACT No. V. OF 1919.

THE BENGAL VILLAGE SELF-GOVERNMENT ACT, 1919.An Act to develop self-government in the rural areas of Bengal.*

WHEREAS it is expedient to develop the system of self-government in the rural areas of Bengal;

And whereas the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained under section 79, sub-section (2) and sub-section (3), of the Government of India Act, 1915, to the passing of this Act;

5 & 6, Geo
V, c 61.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.CHAPTER I.*PRELIMINARY.

Short title, local extent and commencement

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Village
Self-Government Act, 1919.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal, except the town of Calcutta and any area which has been or may hereafter be constituted a municipality, under the provisions of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

Ben. Act III
of 1884.

(3) It shall come into force in such districts or such parts of districts and on such dates as the Local Government may, by notification, direct, and the Local Government may, by notification, withdraw this Act from any district or part of a district.

Explanation.—The words “the town of Calcutta” mean, subject to the exclusion or inclusion of any local area by notification under section 637 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, and subject to the provisions of section 147 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, the area described in schedule I to the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899:

Ben. Act III
of 1899.

Ben. Act V
of 1911

Provided that this Act shall not come into force in any cantonment without the sanction of the Governor General in Council previously obtained.

Repeal and amendment of certain enactments; saving of certain provisions.

2. (1) When any local area is declared to be a union under section 5, the enactments specified in schedule I shall, from the date of election or appointment of the first president of the union board of that union, be repealed or amended to the extent and in the manner mentioned in the fourth column thereof:

(Part I.—Chapter I.—Preliminary.—Sections 3, 4.)

Provided that until a new assessment is made under this Act, any assessment, rate or tax which was in force in such area under the provisions of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 in so far as they relate to union committees, and of the Village-chaukidari Act, 1870, shall continue to be in force and all sums due on account of such rate or tax shall be realized under the provisions of this Act, and shall be credited to the union fund, and may be expended by the union board by which they are realized.

Ben. Act III
of 1870.

(2) When, in consequence of the repeal of the enactments referred to in sub-section (1), any panchayat or union committee ceases to exist, all the properties, funds and dues which are vested in such panchayat or union committee shall be vested in such union board or boards, and in accordance with such allocation, as may be determined by the district magistrate, whose orders thereon shall be final.

Effect on certain enactments when Act is withdrawn.

3. When the provisions of this Act are withdrawn from any district or part of a district under section 1, sub-section (3), the enactments specified in schedule I shall be deemed to be revived in such district or part to the extent to which they were modified by that schedule, from the date of the publication of the notification of withdrawal :

Provided that all assessments for the imposition of rates under section 37 shall continue to be in force until a new assessment is made in accordance with the provisions of the Village-chaukidari Act, 1870 ; and all properties, funds and other dues vested in any union board within such district or part of a district shall be vested in such local authorities, panchayats or persons and in such manner, as may be determined by the district magistrate, whose orders thereon shall be final.

(10) "year" means a year beginning on the first day of April, or on such other date as may hereafter be fixed for any union board by the Local Government by notification; and

(11) the expressions "non-bailable offence", "cognizable offence", "complaint", "offence", "officer in charge of a police-station" and "police-station" have the same meaning as in section 4 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and the expressions "decree", "legal representative" and "movable property" have the same meaning as in section 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. Act

Act 1908

CHAPTER II.

UNION BOARDS.

Power of Local Government to declare local areas to be unions.

5. When this Act has come into force in any district or part of a district, the Local Government may, after consideration of the views of the district board and the local boards, by notification, divide that district or part into as many local areas as may to them seem expedient, and may, by notification, declare every such local area to be a union for the purposes of this Act.

Establishment and constitution of union board.

6. (1) The Local Government shall, by notification, establish a union board for every union constituted under section 5, and shall fix the number of members of each union board:

Provided that the number of members of a union board shall not be less than six or more than nine.

(2) The members shall be elected within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by rules under section 101.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in subsection (2), the Local Government may direct, by an order in writing, for reasons to be stated in such order, that not more than one-third of the total number of members of the union board shall be appointed by the district magistrate:

Provided that no member shall be so appointed unless he is entitled to be elected as a member of the union board under section 7.

(4) If on the date fixed for the election, the electors of any union fail to elect any member or members the vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by another election or by appointment by the district magistrate; and any person so appointed shall be deemed to be a duly elected member.

(Part I.—Chapter II.—Union boards.—Sections 7-10.)

Qualifications of voters and members of union board.

7. (1) Every male person of the full age of twenty-one years and having a place of residence within the union,—

(i) who, during the year immediately preceding the election, has paid a sum of not less than one rupee as cess under the Cess Act, 1880, in respect of lands situated wholly or in part in such union, or Ben. Act IX of 1880.

(ii) who, during the year immediately preceding such election, has been assessed at and paid a sum of not less than one rupee for the purposes of the union rate payable under this Act, or in the case of a first election under this Act, as chaukidari-tax, or

(iii) who is a member of a joint undivided family, which, during the year immediately preceding the election, has paid a sum of not less than one rupee as such cess, rate or tax, shall be entitled to vote at an election of members of the union board:

Provided that only one member of a joint undivided family qualified under clause (iii) and nominated by the other qualified members of that family shall be entitled to vote on its behalf at any such election.

(2) Every person who is entitled to vote at an election of members of the union board and is resident within the union, shall be entitled to be a member of the union board if duly elected thereto.

Explanation.—A person shall be deemed to be “resident” within a union within the meaning of sub-section (2) if he ordinarily resides within its limits. No person may be so resident within the limits of more than one union at the same time.

President of union board

8. (1) Every union board shall be presided over by a president, who shall be elected by the members of the union board from among their own number.

(2) If any union board fails to elect a president within the period prescribed by rules under section 101, the district board shall appoint a member of the board to be the president.

Vice-president
of union board

9. Every union board may elect one of its members to be the vice-president of the board.

Disqualification of certain persons from voting at election of,
or being members of,
union boards

10. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no person who is not a British subject or a subject of any State in India shall be qualified to vote at an election of, or to be a candidate for election as a member of, a union board, nor shall such person be nominated to be a member of such board:

Provided that the Local Government may, by notification, exempt from the provisions of this section any person or class of persons who are not British subjects or subjects of any State in India.

(Part I.—Chapter II.—Union boards.—Sections 11-15.)

Term of office of members.

11. The term of office of a member of a union board shall be three years from the date on which the district magistrate shall declare the board to be duly constituted, but shall include any period which may elapse between the expiration of the said three years and the date of the first meeting, at which a quorum is present, of the newly elected and appointed members after the next general election for the union board.

Power to remove members.

12. (1) The district board may remove any member of a union board from his office—

- (a) who is convicted of any non-bailable offence; or
- (b) who refuses to act, or becomes incapable of acting, or is declared to be insolvent; or
- (c) who has been declared by notification to be disqualified for employment in the public service; or
- (d) who, without an excuse sufficient in the opinion of the district board, absents himself from six consecutive meetings of the union board; or
- (e) who has been guilty of misconduct in the discharge of his duties, or of any disgraceful conduct, if two-thirds of the total number of the members of the union board at a meeting recommend his removal.

(2) No person who has been removed from his office under clause (a) or clause (e) of sub-section (1) shall be eligible for re-election or re-appointment.

Filling of casual vacancies.

13. When the place of an elected or appointed member of a union board becomes vacant by his removal, resignation or death, a new member shall be elected or appointed in the manner prescribed by rules under section 101, and shall hold office so long as the member whose place he fills would have been entitled to hold office if such vacancy had not occurred:

Provided that no act of the union board, or of its officers, shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only that the number of members of the board at the time of the performance of such act was less than the prescribed number.

Term of office of president or vice-president.

14. The term of office of a president or vice-president of a union board shall be the residue of his term of office as a member of the union board.

Resignation of president, vice-president or member

15. (1) A president of a union board may resign during his term of office by notifying in writing his intention to do so to the chairman of the district board and to the union board; and on such resignation being accepted by the chairman, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

(2) A vice-president or a member of a union board may resign during his term of office by notifying in writing his intention to do so to the union

(Part I.—Chapter II.—Union boards.—Sections 16-19.)

board, and on such resignation being accepted by the union board shall be deemed to have vacated his office

Removal of president or vice-president.

16. (1) The district board may remove a president of a union board from his office—

- (i) if he is convicted of any non-bailable offence; or
- (ii) if he refuses to act, or becomes incapable of acting, or is declared insolvent; or
- (iii) if he is guilty of misconduct or persistent negligence in the discharge of his duties as president of the union board or of any disgraceful conduct, and two-thirds of the total number of the members of the union board at a meeting recommend his removal.

(2) A union board may, on the recommendation of two-thirds of the total number of the members of the board at a meeting, remove its vice-president from his office—

- (i) if he is convicted of any non-bailable offence; or
- (ii) if he refuses to act, or becomes incapable of acting, or is declared insolvent; or
- (iii) if he is guilty of misconduct or persistent negligence in the discharge of his duties as vice-president, or of any disgraceful conduct.

Filling of casual vacancy in office of president or vice-president.

17. (1) If a president of a union board dies, resigns or is removed, the union board shall, at a meeting, within a period prescribed by rules under section 101, elect from among its members a new president.

(2) If any union board fails to elect a new president within the prescribed period, the district board shall appoint a new president.

(3) If a vice-president of a union board dies, resigns or is removed, the union board may, at a meeting, elect from among its members a new vice-president.

Incorporation of union boards.

18. Every union board shall be a body corporate by the name of "the union board of (name of union)", and shall have perpetual succession and a common seal, and shall by the said name, sue and be sued, with power to acquire or hold property, both movable and immovable, and, subject to any rules made under section 101, to transfer any such property held by the board and to contract and do all other things necessary for the purposes of this Act

Works constructed by a union board to vest in the board.

19. Every road, building or other work constructed by a union board from the union fund shall be vested in the union board by which it has been constructed.

(Part I.—Chapter III.—Dafadars and chaukidars.
—Sections 20-23.)

CHAPTER III.

DAFADARS AND CHAUKIDARS.

Appointment and dismissal of dafadars and chaukidars.

20. (1) The union board shall, when a vacancy exists, nominate a person to be a dafadar or a chaukidar under this Act, and the district magistrate shall, if satisfied with such nomination, appoint such nominee :

Provided that, if the union board fails within a reasonable time to nominate a person to be a dafadar or a chaukidar, or, if the district magistrate is not satisfied with such nomination, the district magistrate shall appoint any person, whom he thinks fit, to be a dafadar or a chaukidar.

(2) The district magistrate, or the union board, with the sanction of the district magistrate, may dismiss any dafadar or chaukidar.

Numbers and salaries of dafadars and chaukidars.

21. (1) The number of dafadars and chaukidars to be employed in a union, the salary to be paid to them and the nature and cost of their equipment shall be determined from time to time by the district magistrate after consideration of the views of the union board.

(2) The salaries and the cost of equipment of dafadars and chaukidars shall be paid by the union board, and the dafadars and chaukidars shall receive their salaries and equipment at such times and in such manner as may be prescribed by rules under section 101.

Power to fine dafadars and chaukidars.

22. Any dafadar or chaukidar who is guilty of any wilful misconduct in his office, or neglect of his duty, such misconduct or neglect not being of so grave a character as in the opinion of the district magistrate or the union board, as the case may be, to require his dismissal, shall be liable to be punished by the district magistrate with fine not exceeding the amount of one month's salary or by the union board with fine not exceeding one quarter of a month's salary.

Powers and duties of dafadars and chaukidars.

23. (1) Every chaukidar shall exercise the following powers and perform the following duties :—

(i) he shall give immediate information to the officer in charge of the police-station within the limits of which the union is situated and to the president of the union board, of every unnatural, suspicious or sudden death which may occur, and of any offence specified in schedule II which may be committed within the union, and he shall keep the police and the president of the union board informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to a riot or serious affray ;

(ii) he may, without an order from a magistrate and without a warrant, arrest—

(a) any person who has been concerned in any cognizable offence or against whom a reasonable complaint has been made, or credible information has been received, or a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been so concerned ;

(Part I.—Chapter III.—Dafadars and chaukidars.— Section 23.)

- (b) any person having in his possession, without lawful excuse, the burden of proving which excuse shall lie on such person, any implement of house-breaking;
 - (c) any person who has been proclaimed as an offender either under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or by order of the Local Government; Act V of 1898
 - (d) any person in whose possession anything is found which may reasonably be suspected to be stolen property, or who may reasonably be suspected of having committed an offence with reference to such thing;
 - (e) any person who obstructs a police-officer while in the execution of his duty, or who has escaped, or attempts to escape, from lawful custody;
 - (f) any person reasonably suspected of being a deserter from His Majesty's Army or Navy or of belonging to His Majesty's Indian Marine Service and being illegally absent from that service; and
 - (g) any released convict committing a breach of any rule made under section 565, sub-section (3), of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898; Act 1898
- (iii) he shall, to the best of his ability, prevent, and he may interpose for the purpose of preventing, the commission of any offence specified in schedule II;
- (iv) he shall assist private persons in making such arrests as they may lawfully make, and he shall report such arrests without delay to the officer in charge of the aforesaid police-station;
- (v) he shall observe, and, from time to time, report to the said officer the movements of all bad characters within the union;
- (vi) he shall report to the said officer the arrival of suspicious characters in the neighbourhood;
- (vii) he shall report in such manner as may be prescribed by the district magistrate the births and deaths which have occurred within the union;
- (viii) he shall supply any local information which the district magistrate or any police-officer may require;
- (ix) he shall obey the orders of the union board in regard to keeping watch within the union and in regard to other matters connected with his duties as chaukidar;
- (x) he shall give immediate information to the union board of any offence under sub-section (4) of section 30 and of any encroachment on, or obstruction to, any road or water-way within the union and of any damage to any property under the control of the union board;
- (xi) he shall assist the person collecting the union rate in making such collection;

(Part I.—Chapter III.—Dafadars and chaukidars.
—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Sections 24-26.)

(xii) he shall serve such processes upon persons resident within the union as may be prescribed by rules under section 101; and

(xiii) he shall carry out such other duties as may be entrusted to him from time to time in accordance with this Act or any rules made hereunder.

(2) Every dafadar shall exercise all the powers conferred on a chaukidar under sub-section (1) and shall perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by rules made under section 101.

Procedure on arrest by dafadar or chau-kidar.

24. Whenever a dafadar or chaukidar arrests any person under section 23, he shall forthwith take the person so arrested to the police-station within the limits of which the union is situated:

Provided that, if the arrest is made at night, such person shall be so taken, as soon as convenient, on the following morning.

Fines to be credited to district chauki-dars' reward fund.

25. All fines realized from a dafadar or chaukidar under section 22 of this Act shall be credited to a district chaukidari reward fund, the control over which shall rest with the district magistrate.

CHAPTER IV.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF UNION BOARDS.

Duties of union boards.

26. Every union board—

- (1) (a) shall take such action as is necessary to secure the due performance by the dafadars and chaukidars of the union of the duties imposed on them under this Act, and shall exercise a general control over them;
- (b) shall provide, as far as possible, for the sanitation and conservancy of the union and for the prevention of public nuisances therein;
- (c) shall make special arrangements for the sanitation and conservancy of fairs and melas held within the union;
- (d) shall have control of all drains and other conservancy works within the union which are not under the control of any other authority;
- (e) shall execute all works that are necessary for the preservation of public health and for improving the sanitation, conservancy or drainage of the union;
- (f) shall supply any local information which the district magistrate or the district board or local board may require; and
- (g) shall perform all such other acts as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act;

(2) shall perform such functions as may be transferred to it by notification under section 31 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871;

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Section 27.)

(3) if required to do so by the district magistrate, shall provide for the registration of births and deaths within the union under the provisions of the Bengal Births and Deaths Registration Act, 1873; Ben. Act IV of 1873

(4) shall cause such processes as may be received by the union board for service to be duly served by a dafadar or chaukidar in accordance with rules under section 101; and

(5) may undertake and carry out any other local work of public utility likely to promote the health, comfort or convenience of the public, and not otherwise provided for in this Act.

Powers of union board as to sanitation, conservancy and drainage.

27. (1) If it appears necessary to improve the sanitary condition of the union or any part thereof—

(a) the union board may, or, under the orders of the district board, shall—

(i) cause huts or privies to be removed either wholly or in part;

(ii) cause private drains to be constructed, altered or removed;

(iii) cause public drains to be constructed, altered or removed;

(iv) cause—

any well, pool, ditch, tank, pit or pond, or any place containing or used for the collection of any drainage, filth or stagnant water, which appears to be injurious to health or offensive to the neighbourhood or in any other respects a nuisance, to be filled up, cleansed or deepened or the water to be drained off or removed therefrom, or such other action to be taken therewith as may be deemed necessary;

(v) cause any land, which by reason of thick vegetation, undergrowth or jungle appears to be in a state injurious to health or offensive to the neighbourhood or to form an impediment to efficient ventilation, to be cleared of such vegetation, undergrowth or jungle;

(vi) cause burning-ghâts and burial grounds to be established; and

(vii) cause such other improvements to be made as are necessary to improve the sanitary condition of such union or part; and

(b) the union board may, by written notice, require, within a reasonable period to be specified therein,—

(i) the owner or occupier of any hut, or the owner of any privy to remove such hut or privy either wholly or in part; or

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Sections 28, 29.)

- (ii) the owner or occupier of any building to construct private drains therefor or to alter or remove private drains thereof; or
- (iii) the owner or occupier of any land or building to which any such well, pool, ditch, tank, pit, pond or place as is referred to in clause (a)(iv) pertains, or of any such land as is referred to in clause (a)(v), to do anything which the union board is itself empowered to do under either of those clauses.

(2) If any work required by any such notice is not executed within the period specified in the notice, the union board may itself cause such work to be carried out, and may recover the cost of such work or part thereof from the owner or occupier referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1), as if it were an arrear of rate imposed under section 37.

(3) An appeal shall lie against every notice issued under clause (b) of sub-section (1), to the chairman of the district board, who, after giving the owner and occupier full opportunity of adducing evidence and of being heard, may make an order cancelling, modifying or confirming the said notice. Such appeal shall be filed within fifteen days from the date of service of the notice.

Power of union board as to cleansing of union.

28. (1) A union board may employ an establishment for the cleansing of the union or any part thereof.

(2) Where no such establishment is employed by a union board, the board may, by written notice, require owners or occupiers of land in the union to cleanse such land to the satisfaction of the board within a reasonable period to be specified in the notice.

(3) If any person on whom notice has been served under sub-section (2) fails to comply with the requisition contained in the notice, the union board shall, unless reasonable cause to the contrary is shown,—

- (a) cause the land to be cleansed, and
- (b) recover from such person such portion of the cost of such cleansing as the union board may direct, as if it were an arrear of rate imposed under section 37.

(4) An appeal shall lie against every notice issued under sub-section (2) to the chairman of the local board, who, after giving the owner and occupier full opportunity of adducing evidence and of being heard, may make an order cancelling, modifying or confirming the said notice. Such appeal shall be filed within fifteen days from the date of service of the notice.

Power of union board to control erection of buildings, etc.

29. (1) The union board may, subject to rules made under section 101, by written order,—

- (a) direct, in accordance with a scheme approved by the local board for any part of the union, that no building, wall or platform shall be erected, re-erected or added to in advance of an alignment to be prescribed by the union board and demarcated on the ground; and

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.)—Section 30.)

- (b) prescribe, in accordance with the said scheme, the space which shall intervene between any new or enlarged building and the building next adjacent and between any new or enlarged building and any road in the union.

(2) Where any building, wall or platform has been placed in contravention of an order passed by the union board under sub-section (1), the union board may apply to the district magistrate, and such magistrate may make an order---

- (i) directing either that the work done, or so much of the same as has been executed in contravention of the order passed under sub-section (1), be demolished by the owner of the building, wall or platform, or that it be altered by him to the satisfaction of the union board, within such time as may be fixed by the district magistrate; or
- (ii) directing that the work done, or so much of the same as has been executed in contravention of the order passed under sub-section (1), be demolished or altered by the union board at the expense of the owner within such time as may be fixed by the district magistrate;

Provided that the magistrate shall not make any such order without giving the owner full opportunity of adducing evidence and of being heard.

(3) If any person to whom a direction to demolish or alter any building, wall or platform, is given under clause (i) of sub-section (2), fails to obey the same, he shall be liable to a fine which may extend, in the case of a masonry building, wall or platform, to one hundred rupees, and, in the case of any other building, wall or platform, to twenty rupees, and to a further fine which may extend, in the case of a masonry building, wall or platform, to ten rupees, and in the case of any other building, wall or platform, to two rupees for each day during which, after the period fixed by the district magistrate, he fails to obey the direction to demolish or alter the building, wall or platform.

Power of union board to provide for proper water-supply.

30. (1) A union board may provide the union or any part thereof, with a supply of water, proper and sufficient, for public and private purposes; and, for such purposes, may, or, under the orders of the district board, shall,—

- (a) construct, repair and maintain tanks or wells, and clear out streams or water-courses ;
- (b) with the sanction of the Local Government, and subject to such rules as may be made under section 101, construct, repair and maintain water-works ;
- (c) purchase or acquire by lease or gift any tank, well, stream or water-course, or any right to take or convey water within or without the union :

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Sections 31-33.)

- (d) with the consent of the owner thereof, utilize, cleanse or repair any tank, well, stream or water-course within the union, or provide facilities for obtaining water therefrom ;
- (e) contract with any person for a supply of water ; or
- (f) do any other acts necessary for carrying out the purposes of this section.

(2) The union board may, by order published at such places as it may think fit, set apart for the supply to the public of water for drinking or culinary purposes any tank, well, stream or water-course in respect of which action has been taken under clause (a), (c) or (d) of sub-section (1), subject to any rights which the owner referred to in clause (d) of that sub-section may retain with the consent of the board.

(3) The union board may, by order published at such places as it may think fit, prohibit all bathing, washing of clothes and animals, or other acts calculated to pollute the water of any tank, well, stream or water-course set apart for drinking or culinary purposes under sub-section (2).

(4) Any person who disobeys an order issued under sub-section (3), shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees.

Powers of union board as to roads, bridges and water-ways.

31. The union board shall have control of all roads, bridges and water-ways within the union, not being private property and not being under the control of the Local Government or the district board or local board, and may do all things necessary for the maintenance and repair thereof, and may—

- (a) lay out and make new roads ;
- (b) construct new bridges ;
- (c) divert, discontinue or close any road or bridge ;
- (d) widen, open, enlarge or otherwise improve any road or bridge ;
- (e) deepen or otherwise improve water-ways ; and
- (f) provide for the lighting of any road or public place within the union.

Establishment of primary schools and dispensaries.

32. The union board may, subject to any rules made under section 101, establish primary schools or dispensaries, or assume charge of existing primary schools or dispensaries, and shall repair, maintain and manage any primary school or dispensary under its charge.

Transfer of certain duties from the district or local board to a union board.

33. The district board or local board may, from time to time, with the consent of the union board, make over to a union board, subject to such conditions as they may deem necessary, the management of any institution or the execution of any work or duty within the area over which the union board has control ; and thereupon such union board shall do all things necessary for the management of the institution or the execution of the work or duty :

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Sections 34, 35.)

Provided that the funds necessary for the management of the institution and the execution of the work or duty shall be placed by the district board or local board at the disposal of the union board.

Prohibition of certain offensive or dangerous trades without license.

34. (1) This section shall not apply to any union constituted under section 5 until the Local Government specially extends it thereto by notification.

(2) In any union to which this section is so extended, no place shall be used without a license from the union board, which shall be renewable annually, for the purpose of any trade or business which the Local Government may, by notification, declare to be offensive or dangerous.

(3) A notification under sub-section (2) may authorize the union board to levy a fee not exceeding such maximum amount as may be specified in the notification in respect of any license granted by it, and, subject to the approval of the district magistrate, to impose such conditions in respect of such license as may be considered necessary.

(4) Whoever, in any union, uses any place for the purpose of any trade or business which is declared under sub-section (2) to be offensive or dangerous, or fails to comply with any condition subject to which a license is granted under that sub-section, shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees, and to a further fine which may extend to five rupees for each day after conviction during which he continues so to offend.

(5) The union board, upon the conviction of any person for failing to comply with any condition of a license granted under sub-section (2), may suspend or cancel any such license.

(6) An appeal shall lie to the district magistrate against every order by a union board refusing, suspending or cancelling a license; and the decision of the district magistrate thereon shall be final.

Power of entry.

35. The union board, or any member, officer, or servant thereof, may enter into or upon any building or land, with or without assistants or workmen, in order to make any inspection or execute any work for the purposes of, or in pursuance of, clause (1) of section 26 or section 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33 or 34:

Provided as follows:—

- (a) no such entry shall be made between sunset and sunrise;
- (b) no dwelling-house shall be so entered, unless with the consent of the occupier thereof, without giving the said occupier at least twenty-four hours' previous written notice signed by the president or vice-president of the intention to make such entry; and
- (c) due regard shall always be had, so far as may be compatible with the exigencies of the purpose for which the entry is made, to the social and religious usages of the occupants of the premises entered.

(Part I.—Chapter IV.—Powers and duties of union boards.—Chapter V.—Union fund.—Sections 36-40.)

Appointment of
union board.

36. With the approval of the local board, a union board may appoint such staff of officers and servants as it may consider necessary to carry out its duties under this Act, and may fix the salaries to be paid to such staff.

CHAPTER V.

UNION FUND.

Imposition of union rate.

37. The union board shall impose yearly on the owners or occupiers of buildings, within the union, a rate amounting to—

(a) the sum required, after deduction of the contribution, if any, made by the Local Government in this behalf, for the salaries and equipment of the dafadars and chaukidars and the salaries of the establishment of the union board, and

(b) the sum estimated to be required to meet the expenses of the board in carrying out any of the other purposes of this Act, if such estimate has been approved by not less than two-thirds of the total number of the members of the board at a meeting specially convened for the purpose, together with ten per cent. above such sums to meet the expenses of collection and the losses due to non-realization of the rate from defaulters.

Nature of assessment

38. (1) The rate to be imposed by a union board under section 37 shall be an assessment according to the circumstances and the property within the union of the persons liable to the same :

Provided that the amount assessed upon any person in any one year shall not be more than eighty-four rupees.

(2) Any person who, in the opinion of the union board, is too poor to pay half an anna a month, shall be altogether exempted from payment of any rate under this Act.

Procedure of assessment and revision thereof by the union board.

39. The assessment for the imposition of the rate under section 37 shall be made in accordance with rules prescribed under section 101, and any person dissatisfied with the amount at which he has been assessed may, within such time as may be specified in those rules, apply to the union board, either orally or in writing, for a revision of the assessment, and the union board may amend the assessment or confirm the same.

Power of district magistrate to revise assessment.

40. The district magistrate may, at any time, call for the papers containing the assessment of the union rate imposed under section 37, and may, after such inquiry as may be necessary, pass such orders thereon as he may think proper.

(Part I.—Chapter V.—Union fund.—Sections 41-45.)

Arrear to be recovered by distraint and sale of movable property of defaulter.

41. The payment of the rate shall be made in accordance with rules prescribed under section 101, and, in case of default of any such payment, the president of the union board, or, if so directed by him, the vice-president, shall cause the chaukidar or any other person authorized in writing by the president or the vice-president to levy, by the distraint and sale of a sufficient portion of the movable property of the defaulter, the amount of his arrear, together with a sum equal to half the amount of such arrear, by way of penalty.

What property may be distrained and sold for arrears.

42. (1) The distraint and sale of such movable property shall be conducted in accordance with rules prescribed under section 101.

(2) All goods and chattels, except plough-cattle and tools and implements of trade and agriculture, found in or upon any building or land occupied by any defaulter, shall be deemed to be his property, and shall be liable to be distrained and sold for the recovery of the arrear, and also the penalty due under section 41.

(3) If any of the goods and chattels liable to be distrained belong to any person other than the defaulter, the defaulter shall be liable to indemnify the owner of such goods and chattels for any damage he may sustain by reason of such distress, or by reason of any payment he may make to avoid such distress or any sale under the same.

Distraint and sale of property beyond limits of the union.

43. If the union board is unable to recover under section 42 the amount due for the arrear of rate and the penalty, the district magistrate may, on the application of the union board, issue his warrant to any officer of his court for the distress and sale of any movable property or effects belonging to the defaulter within any other part of the jurisdiction of the magistrate, or for the distress and sale of any movable property belonging to the defaulter within the jurisdiction of any other magistrate exercising jurisdiction within Bengal; and such other magistrate shall endorse the warrant so issued, and cause it to be executed, and the amount, if levied, to be remitted to the magistrate issuing the warrant, who shall remit the same to the union board.

Irregularities not to avoid distraint

44. No distress levied by virtue of this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any person making the same be deemed a trespasser on account of any defect, irregularity or want of form in any assessment, notice, summons, power, writing, inventory or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such person be deemed a trespasser from the commencement on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him, but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them, in any court of competent jurisdiction, subject to the provisions of section 64.

Grants-in-aid from district fund.

45. The district board may make to the union board such grants-in-aid from the district fund, as they may think fit, to enable the union board to carry out any of the purposes of this Act, and may attach to

*(Part I.—Chapter V.—Union fund.—Chapter VI.—
General provisions relating to union boards—
Sections 46-49.)*

such grants any conditions that may appear to the district board to be desirable :

Provided always that in the case of any union board which has imposed a rate under clause (b) of section 37 the district board shall make a suitable grant-in-aid.

Union fund.

46. (1) All sums realized under section 41 and all sums realized as fines, fees or costs under this Act, other than fines imposed under section 22, any fees paid to the union board in respect of processes served through the board, and all other receipts of the union board, union bench or union court, including any donation or contribution from a private person, shall be paid into a fund to be called "the union fund", the accounts of which shall be kept in accordance with rules prescribed under section 101.

(2) Except as is otherwise provided in this Act, the expenses incurred by the union board, the union bench or the union court in carrying out the purposes of this Act, including such reasonable compensation as the board may think fit to pay under section 61, shall be paid out of the union fund :

Provided that the salaries and cost of equipment of dafadars and chatkidars and the salaries of the establishment of the union board shall be the first charge upon the union fund :

Provided also that all sums made over to a union board for any specific purpose shall be applied solely to that purpose.

CHAPTER VI.

GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO UNION BOARDS.

Delegation.

Delegation of district magistrate's powers and duties.

47. - The district magistrate may, by an order in writing, delegate the powers or duties specified in the first column of schedule III to the officers mentioned in the second column thereof.

Disputes.

Disputes between union boards.

48. (1) If a dispute arises between two or more union boards, which are subordinate to the same local board, the matter shall be referred to such local board; and the decision of the local board thereon shall be final and binding.

(2) If a dispute arises between two or more union boards, which are within the same district but which are subordinate to different local boards, the matter shall be referred to the district board; and the decision of such district board thereon shall be final and binding.

Disputes between a municipal authority and a union board.

49. If a dispute arises between a municipal authority and a union board within the same district, the matter shall be referred to the district magistrate; and the decision of the district magistrate thereon shall be final and binding :

(Part I.—Chapter VI.—General provisions relating to union boards.—Sections 50-54.)

Provided that, if the district magistrate is a member of the municipal authority concerned, his functions under this section shall be discharged by the commissioner.

Control.

^{*}Local board to superintend the administration of union
boards.

50. Subject to the control of the district board, a local board shall superintend the administration of union boards within the area under the authority of the local board, except in matters relating to dafadars and chaukidars.

Supervision of union boards by commissioners and other officers.

51. (1) It shall be the duty of all commissioners, district magistrates, subdivisional magistrates, circle officers and chairmen of district boards and local boards to see that the proceedings of union boards are in conformity with law and with the rules in force thereunder.

(2) The commissioner may, by order in writing, annul any proceeding which he considers not to be in conformity with law and with the said rules, and may do all things necessary to secure such conformity.

Inspection of union board record.

52. Every union board shall at all times permit the commissioner, the district magistrate, the chairman of the district board or local board, or any other person authorized by them or by the Local Government, to have access to all its books, proceedings and records.

Inspection of work or property of union board.

53. The commissioner, the district magistrate, the chairman of the district board and local board, and any other person authorized by them or by the Local Government, shall have power at all times to enter on and inspect, or cause to be entered on and inspected, any immovable property occupied by, or any work in progress under the orders of, or any institution controlled by, a union board.

Special provision in case of non-payment of chaukidar and staff

54. (1) If at any time the district magistrate is satisfied that the whole or any portion of the salaries, or of the cost of equipment, of dafadars and chaukidars, or of the salaries of the establishment of a union board, is in arrear, the district magistrate may appoint such person or persons as he may consider necessary to realize any sum so due, together with the incidental cost (if any) of collecting it.

(2) Any person so appointed may realize any such sum and cost either from the balance at the credit of the union fund or by the collection of any outstanding portion of the union rate as assessed by the union board, or, if the amount so collected is insufficient, by the imposition and collection of a supplementary assessment.

(3) A person so appointed shall exercise all the powers vested in the union board for the assessment and collection of the union rate.

(4) The amount collected under sub-section (2) shall be disbursed in the payment of the sum and the cost referred to in sub-section (1), and the balance (if any) shall be paid to the union fund.

(Part 1.—Chapter VI.—General provisions relating to union boards.—Sections 55-58.)

Power to provide for performance of duties under section 27 or 30 in case of default by a union board

55. (1) When a union board makes default in performing any duty imposed on it by the district board under section 27 or section 30, the district board may fix a period for the performance of that duty.

(2) If any such duty is not performed within the period fixed under sub-section (1), the district board may appoint such person or persons as they consider necessary to perform it, and may direct that the expense of performing it, together with a reasonable remuneration to such person or persons, shall be forthwith paid by the union board.

Power to remove the president or supersede a union board

56. (1) If the commissioner, after consideration of the views of the district magistrate and the district board, is of opinion that a union board is not competent to perform, or persistently makes default in the performance of, the duties imposed upon it by, or under, this or any other Act, or exceeds or abuses its powers, the commissioner may, by an order in writing specifying the reasons for so doing, either—

- (a) remove the president of the union board from his office both as president and as member; or
- (b) supersede the board for a period to be specified in the order.

(2) Every such order shall be published locally in such manner as may be prescribed by rules under section 101.

Consequences of supersession

57. (1) When a union board is superseded under section 56, sub-section (1), the following consequences shall ensue:—

- (a) all members constituting the board shall, as from the date of the order, vacate their offices as such members;
- (b) all powers and duties of the union board shall, during the period of supersession, be exercised and performed by such local authority, person or persons, and in such manner, as the commissioner may direct; and
- (c) all property vested in the union board shall, during that period, vest in such local authority, person or persons, and in such manner, as the commissioner may direct.

(2) On the expiration of the period of supersession the union board shall be re-established by re-election or re-appointment in the manner provided in section 6.

Power to suspend action of union board

58. The district magistrate, or the district board, may, by an order in writing, suspend the execution of any order or resolution of a union board within the jurisdiction of such magistrate or district board, or the doing of any act which is about to be done, or is being done, by such union board, if in the opinion of the district magistrate or the district board the execution of the resolution or order, or the doing of the act, is likely to cause injury or annoyance to the public, or to any class or body of persons, or to lead to a breach of the peace.

(Part I.—Chapter VI.—General provisions relating to union boards.—Sections 59-62.)

Order of magistrate or district board under section 58 to be reported to the commissioner.

59. When the district magistrate or the district board makes any order under section 58, the magistrate or board, as the case may be, shall forthwith submit to the commissioner a copy of the order, with a statement of the reasons for making it and with any explanation which the union board concerned may wish to offer, and the commissioner may thereupon confirm, modify or rescind the order.

Miscellaneous.

Penalty on member, officer or servant being interested in a contract made with a union board.

60. (1) If any member of a union board otherwise than with the sanction of the local board, or if any officer or servant maintained by or employed under the union board, participates or agrees to participate in the profits of any work done by the union board or is concerned or participates in the profits of any contract entered into with the board, he shall be liable on conviction before a criminal court to a fine which may extend to five hundred rupees :

Provided that the penalty herein prescribed shall not be deemed to apply by reason only of a person—

- (a) having a share in any joint-stock company which shall contract with, or be employed by, or on behalf of, the union board; or
- (b) having a share or interest in any newspaper in which any advertisement relating to the affairs of the union board may be inserted; or
- (c) holding a debenture or being otherwise concerned in any loan raised by, or on behalf of, the union board; or
- (d) being a member of a society registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, which enters into any contract with the union board.

II of 1912

(2) Nevertheless it shall not be lawful for a person having any share or interest, such as is described in clauses (a) and (b) of the proviso to sub-section (1), to act as a member of the union board in any matter relating to a contract or agreement between the union board and such company or the manager or publisher of such newspaper.

(3) Nothing in this section shall apply to the payment of fees to a legal practitioner for services rendered by him in his professional capacity.

Power to make compensation for damage.

61. Every union board may make compensation to any person sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers conferred by this Act.

Liability of members.

62. (1) No member of a union board shall be personally liable for any contract made, or expense incurred, by or on behalf of the board.

(2) Every member shall be personally liable for any wilful misapplication of money entrusted to the union board to which he shall knowingly have been a party, and he shall be liable to be sued for the same by the district board.

(Part I.—Chapter VI.—General provisions relating to union boards.—Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 63-66.)

Bar to suits.

63. No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against a union board, or any member or officer thereof acting under the direction of such board, in respect of anything done lawfully and in good faith and with due care and attention under this Act or any rule made hereunder.

No suit to be brought until after one month's notice of cause of action

64. (1) No suit or other legal proceeding shall be brought against any union board or any of its members or officers, or any person acting under its direction, for anything done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of such board, and also (if the suit is intended to be brought against any member or officer of the said board, or any person acting under its direction) at the place of abode of the person against whom such suit is intended to be brought, stating the cause of action and the name and place of abode of the person who intends to bring the suit; and unless such notice be proved, the court shall find for the defendant.

(2) Every such action shall be commenced within three months after the accrual of the cause of action, and not afterwards.

(3) If any union board or person to whom a notice under sub-section (1) is given shall, before a suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover.

PART II.

CHAPTER VII.

UNION BENCHES AND UNION COURTS.

Union benches.

Constitution of union bench.

65. Whenever a union board has been established for any union, the Local Government may, by notification, appoint any two or more of the members of the board to be a union bench, during their term of office as members of the board, for the trial, in the whole or any part of the union, of the offences specified in schedule IV, if committed within the limits of its jurisdiction.

Jurisdiction of union bench

66. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the union bench shall have jurisdiction concurrent with that of the criminal court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated, for the trial of all offences specified in schedule IV, part A, and the union bench may try any offence specified in schedule IV, part B, if the case is transferred to the bench by a district magistrate, subdivisional magistrate or any other magistrate empowered to receive petitions under section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898:

Act V of 1898.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 67-70.)

Provided as follows :—

(a) a magistrate before whom a complaint of an offence cognizable by a union bench is brought may transfer the complaint to the union bench;

(b) the district magistrate or subdivisional magistrate may transfer any case from one union bench to another or to any other court subordinate to him

How case may be instituted

67. A case before a union bench may be instituted by petition, made orally or in writing to a member of the union bench. If the petition is made orally, the member shall record the name of the petitioner, the name of the person against whom the petition is brought, the nature of the offence and such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed by rules under section 101, and shall direct the petitioner to appear before the bench.

Power of bench to dismiss or to refuse to entertain petition.

68. (1) If upon the face of the petition, or on examining the petitioner, the union bench is of opinion that the petition is frivolous, vexatious or untrue, it shall dismiss the case by order in writing.

(2) If at any time it appears to the bench—

(a) that it has no jurisdiction to try the case, or

(b) that the offence is one for which the sentence which the bench is competent to pass would be inadequate, or

(c) that the case is one which should not be tried by the bench, it shall direct the petitioner to the proper court.

Dismissal of case for default.

69. If in any case before a union bench the petitioner fails to appear on the day fixed, or if in the opinion of the bench he shows negligence in prosecuting his case, the bench may dismiss the case for default, and such order of dismissal shall operate as an acquittal.

Proceedings preliminary to trial.

70. (1) If the petition be not dismissed the union bench shall, subject to the provisions of section 98, by summons or otherwise, require the accused to appear and answer the petition.

(2) If the accused fails to appear or cannot be found, the bench shall report the fact to the nearest magistrate, who may issue a warrant for the arrest of the accused, and when arrested may forward him for trial to the bench, or release him on bail to appear before it.

(3) The union bench shall if possible try the case on the day on which the accused appears or is brought before it; but if that is not possible, the union bench shall release him on his executing a bond for a sum not exceeding twenty-five rupees to appear before the bench on any subsequent day or days to which the trial may be adjourned.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 71-73.)

Bar to appeal from or revision of the order of union bench; but power to order retrial.

71. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, there shall be no appeal by a convicted person in any case tried by a union bench :

Act V of 1898.

Provided that the district magistrate or sub-divisional magistrate, if satisfied that a failure of justice has occurred, may, of his own motion, or on the application of the parties concerned, cancel or modify any order of conviction or of compensation made by a union bench or direct the retrial of any case by a court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to him.

Power of union bench to impose fine or to award compensation.

72. (1) A union bench shall record its decision in writing, and may sentence any offender convicted by it to pay a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees, or in default to imprisonment for a period not exceeding seven days.

(2) If a union bench is satisfied that a complaint made before it or transferred to it for trial is vexatious or frivolous, the bench may order the complainant to pay to the accused such compensation, not exceeding twenty-five rupees in all, as it thinks fit, or in default may sentence the complainant to simple imprisonment for a period not exceeding seven days.

(3) When a person has been sentenced to imprisonment under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) in default of such payment, if such fine or compensation be not paid or realized within ten days of the passing of the sentence or order, or within such further time, if any, as the bench may allow, the bench may cause him to be arrested and may commit him to the nearest jail to serve his sentence :

Provided that, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Penal Code,—

Act XLV of 1860.

(a) the fine imposed or compensation awarded by a union bench shall not be realized from any person who has served his term of imprisonment under this section ;

(b) the person serving his term of imprisonment shall be forthwith released, if the fine or compensation is paid before the expiry of the term of imprisonment :

Provided also that no woman shall be sentenced to imprisonment in default of payment of fine or compensation.

(4) All fines realized by the union bench shall be credited to the union fund.

Union courts.

Constitution of union court.

73. Whenever a union board has been established for a union, the Local Government may, by notification, appoint any two or more of the members of the board, to be a union court during their term of office as members of the board, for the trial, in the whole or any part of the union, of all or any of the classes of civil suits specified in section 74.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 74-76.)

Jurisdiction of union court.

74. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887, the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, and the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and subject to the provisions of sections 75 and 76, the union court and the ordinary civil court, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated, shall have concurrent jurisdiction to try the following classes of suits, namely:—

XII of 1887
IX of 1887
Act V of 1908.

- (a) suits for money due on contracts;
- (b) suits for the recovery of movable property or the value of such property; and
- (c) suits for compensation for wrongfully taking or injuring movable property, when the value of the suit does not exceed two hundred rupees:

Provided that, on the application of any defendant made in accordance with the provisions of section 81, the court of small causes or court of the munsif, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated,—

- (i) may withdraw the suit when its value does not exceed twenty-five rupees, and
- (ii) shall withdraw the suit when its value exceeds twenty-five rupees, from a union court for trial by itself.

Certain suits not to be tried by union
court.

75. No suit shall lie in any union court—

- (1) on a balance of partnership account,
- (2) for a share or part of a share under an intestacy, or for a legacy or part of a legacy under a will,
- (3) by or against Government or public officers in their official capacity,
- (4) by or against minors or persons of unsound mind,
- (5) for the assessment, enhancement, reduction, abatement, apportionment or recovery of rent of immovable property, or
- (6) by a mortgagee of immovable property for the enforcement of the mortgage by foreclosure or sale of the property or otherwise, or by a mortgagor of immovable property for the redemption of the mortgage.

Local limits of jurisdiction of union
court.

76. No suit shall lie in any union court, unless at least one of the defendants resides within the limits of its jurisdiction at the time of the institution of the suit, and the cause of action has arisen wholly or in part within those limits.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 77-83.)

How suit may be instituted.

77. (1) A suit before a union court may be instituted by petition made orally or in writing. If the petition is made orally, the court shall record such particulars as may be prescribed by rules under section 101.

(2) The plaintiff on instituting his suit shall state the value of the claim.

Action to be taken if suit not triable by a union court

78. (1) If at any time the union court is of opinion that the suit is barred by limitation, the court shall dismiss the suit by order in writing.

(2) If at any time it appears to the court that it has no jurisdiction to entertain the suit, the court shall direct the petitioner to the proper court.

Dismissal of suit for default

79. If in any suit before a union court the plaintiff fails to appear on the day fixed, or, if in the opinion of the court, he shows negligence in prosecuting his suit, the court may dismiss the suit for default:

Provided that a union court may restore a suit dismissed for default, if within thirty days from the date of such dismissal the plaintiff satisfies the court that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing.

Summons to defendant to appear and answer

80. If on receiving the petition the union court is satisfied that the trial of the suit may be proceeded with, it shall, by summons or otherwise, require the defendant to appear and answer the suit either orally or in writing.

Postponement or application for transfer

81. If, before the commencement of the hearing of the suit, the defendant notifies to the union court that he has applied or that he intends to apply under the proviso to section 74 for the transfer of the suit to the court of small causes or the court of the munsif, the union court shall postpone the trial in such a manner as will afford a reasonable time for the application being made and an order being obtained thereon.

Ex parte decision.

82. If the defendant fails to appear, and the union court is satisfied that he has received notice of the date fixed for the hearing, the court may decide the suit ex parte:

Provided that any defendant against whom a suit has been decided ex parte may, within thirty days from the date of executing any process for enforcement of the decision, apply, orally or in writing, to the union court to set aside the order; and the court, if satisfied that the defendant did not receive due notice of the date of hearing, or was prevented from appearing by any sufficient cause, shall set aside the decision and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

No order to be set aside without notice to opposite party

83. No decision or order of a union court shall be set aside under section 79, or section 82 unless notice in writing has been served by the union court on the opposite party.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 84-90.)

Power of union court to determine necessary parties.

84. (1) Subject to the provisions of clauses (3) and (4) of section 75 the union court shall add as parties to a suit any persons whose presence as parties it considers necessary for a proper decision thereof, and shall enter the names of such parties in the register of suits, and the suit shall be tried as between the parties whose names are entered in the said register :

Provided that when any party is added, notice shall be given to him and he shall be given an opportunity of appearing before the trial of the suit is proceeded with.

(2) In all cases where a new party appears under the proviso to sub-section (1) during the trial of a suit, he may require that the trial shall begin de novo.

Certain suits not to be tried by union court.

85. No union court shall proceed with the trial of any suit in which the matter directly and substantially in dispute is pending for decision in the same court or in any other court in a previously instituted suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, or has been heard and finally decided in a suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim.

Decision of union court.

86. When the parties or their agents have been heard and the evidence on both sides considered, the union court shall, by written order, pass such decree as may seem just, equitable and according to good conscience, stating in the decree the amounts payable as fees under section 90, and the amount, if any, paid to witnesses under section 96, sub-section (3), and the persons by whom such amounts are payable.

Instalments.

87. A union court in ordering the payment of a sum of money or the delivery of any movable property may direct that the money be paid, or the movable property be delivered, by instalments.

Decision of union court to be final ; but power to order retrial.

88. The decision of a union court in every suit shall be final as between the parties to the suit :

Provided that the district judge may, on the application of any party to the suit made within thirty days of the decree of the union court, cancel or modify the order of the union court or direct a retrial of the suit by the same or any other union court or by any other court subordinate to him if he is satisfied that there has been a failure of justice.

Death of parties.

89. If the plaintiff or defendant in any suit dies before the suit has been decided, the suit may, subject to the provisions of clause (4) of section 75, be proceeded with at the instance of, or against, the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be.

Fee.

90. (1) In all suits instituted in and decided by a union court a fee of one anna in the rupee shall be payable on the amount of the claim up to twenty-five rupees, and an additional fee of half-an-anna for every rupee of the claim above twenty-five rupees.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 91-93.)

(2) If the claim is decreed in full, the fee shall be realized from the judgment-debtor together with the amount decreed.

(3) If the amount is decreed in part, the fee shall be realized pro rata from the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor.

(4) If the suit is dismissed, the fee shall be realized from the plaintiff.

(5) All such fees realized by the union court shall be credited to the union fund and shall not be paid to either party.

Execution of decrees

91. (1) If the union court granting a decree is unable to effect satisfaction thereof, it shall grant the decree-holder a certificate to that effect stating the amount due to him and the amount due on account of fees under section 90.

(2) Any decree-holder wishing to execute a decree of a union court may apply to the court of the munsif within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the union is situated and shall present with his application a certified copy of the order of the union court; but no application for execution shall be entertained by the munsif—

(a) unless the union court has certified that it is unable to effect satisfaction of the decree, and

(b) unless the application is made after the expiry of three months from the date of the decree.

(3) In executing a decree of a union court a munsif shall have the same powers and follow the same procedure as if he were executing a decree passed by himself, but any amount realized on account of fees under section 90 shall be credited to the Local Government.

Sums realized in part satisfaction of demand to be distributed rateably.

92. When the amount decreed under section 86 and the amount due on account of fees under section 90 are not realized in full, such sum as is realized shall be rateably distributed—

(a) if realized by the union court, between the decree-holder and the union fund, and

(b) if realized by the court of the munsif, between the decree-holder and the Local Government.

General provisions relating to union benches and union courts.

Procedure by union benches and union courts.

93. (1) The provisions of—

(a) the Court-fees Act, 1870,

VII of 1870.

(b) the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, excepting Chapter XXXIII, and

Act V of 1898.

(c) the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall not apply to any trial, suit or proceeding before a union bench or a union court.

Act V of 1908.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Sections 94-96.)

(2) The procedure to be followed by a union bench or a union court in any trial, suit or proceeding and in the enforcement of its decisions and orders, and in the method of forming a quorum shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be in accordance with rules prescribed under section 101.

Persons who are to preside over union bench or union
court

94. (1) The union bench and the union court shall be presided over by the president of the union board, if he is a member of the bench or court.

(2) If the president of the union board is absent from a sitting of the union bench or court, or if he is not a member of the bench or court, the bench or court, as the case may be, shall elect its own president.

(3) In case of difference of opinion among the members of the bench or court the decision or order of the bench or court shall follow the opinion of the majority of the members present and voting.

(4) In case of an equality of votes, the person presiding over the bench or court shall have a second or casting vote.

Member of union bench or court not to try case or suit in which he is interested

95. No member of a union bench or union court shall try any case or suit or other proceeding to or in which he is a party, or personally interested.

Explanation.—A member of a union bench or union court shall not be deemed a party or personally interested within the meaning of this section in any case by reason only that he is a member of a union board.

Attendance of witnesses.

96. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 98, a union bench or a union court may, by summons or otherwise, send for any person to appear and give evidence or to produce or cause the production of any document:

Provided that no person who is exempt from personal appearance in court under section 133, subsection (1), of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall be required to appear in person before a union court.

(2) A union bench or a union court shall refuse to summon a witness or to enforce a summons already issued against a witness, where, in the opinion of the bench or court, the attendance of the witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable.

(3) A union bench or union court shall not require any person living outside the union to give evidence, unless such a sum of money be paid to him as appears to the bench or court to be sufficient to defray his travelling and other expenses in passing to and from the bench or court and for one day's attendance.

(Part II.—Chapter VII.—Union benches and union courts.—Part III.—Chapter VIII.—Miscellaneous.—Sections 97-101.)

(4) If any person whom a union bench or a union court summons by written order to appear or give evidence, or to produce any document before it fails to obey such summons a union bench may take cognizance of such offence and may sentence any person convicted thereof to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees.

Appearance of parties before union bench or union court

97. (1) The parties to cases triable by a union bench shall appear personally before such bench :

Provided that the union bench, if it sees reason so to do, may dispense with the personal attendance of an accused and permit him to appear by agent.

(2) The parties to suits triable by a union court may appear by agent.

“Agent” in sub-sections (1) and (2) means a full-time servant or a partner or a relative of the party, whom the union bench or union court may admit as a fit person to represent a party, and who is authorized to appear and plead for such party.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, legal practitioners shall not be permitted to practise before a union bench or union court. XVIII of 1879

Appearance of woman

98. No woman shall, against her will, be compelled to appear in person before a union bench as an accused, or before a union bench or union court as a witness.

Realization of fees, etc.

99. All fees and fines imposed and all sums due on bonds and all sums decreed and compensation awarded under this Act by a union bench or union court may be realized under the orders of the union bench or union court, as the case may be, in the same manner as an arrear of rate imposed under section 37.

Registers and records

100. Every union bench and union court shall maintain such registers and records and submit such returns as may be prescribed by rules under section 101.

PART III.

CHAPTER VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Power of Local Government to make rules

101. (1) The Local Government may, after previous publication, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(Part III.—Chapter VIII.—Miscellaneous.—Section 101.)

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Local Government may make rules—

- (a) determining the manner and time of appointment or election of members of union boards, the action to be taken under section 6, sub-section (4), in the case of the failure of an election, the registration of voters and candidates and the manner in which the votes shall be taken, and generally regulating all elections under this Act and determining the authority who shall decide disputes relating to such elections;
- (b) fixing the time within which the elections of the president of a union board shall be held, and the time within which an election to fill a casual vacancy in such office shall be held;
- (c) regulating the powers of union boards to transfer property;
- (d) prescribing the powers to be exercised by the president or vice-president of a union board;
- (e) regulating the conduct of meetings of union boards and the method of forming a quorum;
- (f) prescribing the registers and records to be maintained and the returns to be submitted by union boards, union benches and union courts;
- (g) regulating the powers and duties of union boards in regard to the control to be exercised by them over dafadars and chaukidars within the union;
- (h) prescribing the duties of dafadars and chaukidars, and fixing the time and manner of the payment by the union board of the salaries of dafadars and chaukidars, and the cost of their equipment;
- (i) prescribing the processes to be served by dafadars or chaukidars, and regulating the service of such processes;
- (j) regulating the powers and duties of union boards in regard to sanitation, conservancy, drainage, buildings, roads, bridges and water-supply under sections 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31 and 35, and in regard to schools and dispensaries under section 32;
- (k) for the making of an assessment by the union board under section 39, for imposing the rate under section 37, and prescribing under section 41 the method and time of payment of such rate;

(Part III.—Chapter VIII.—Miscellaneous.—Sections 102, 103.)

- (l) for the conduct of the distraint and sale of movable property of defaulters under section 42;
 - (m) prescribing the method in which the accounts of the union fund shall be kept and audited;
 - (n) regulating the realization and disbursement, under section 54, of the amount required to meet the arrears therein specified;
 - (o) prescribing the manner in which orders under section 56 shall be published;
 - (p) prescribing the particulars of petitions under sections 67 and 77 which shall be entered in the registers of union benches and union courts;
 - (q) regulating the procedure to be followed by a union bench or a union court in the institution, trial and disposal of criminal cases and civil suits, and prescribing the method of forming a quorum;
 - (r) regulating the issue, service or execution of summonses and other processes by union benches or union courts, and the issue and service of notices by union boards;
 - (s) determining the procedure for the execution of decrees, orders and sentences of union courts and union benches;
 - (t) regulating the transfer by union benches or union courts of summonses and other processes to ordinary courts for their service or execution by such courts; and
 - (u) prescribing the fees to be levied by union benches and union courts for copies of documents, and determining the procedure to be followed in furnishing such copies.
- (3) The rules made under sub-section (2) shall be published in such manner as the Local Government may direct.

Members of union board, etc., not to bid for or buy property sold.

102. No member of a union board, union bench or union court, or other officer having any duty to perform in connection with any sale under this Act, shall directly or indirectly bid for or acquire any interest in any property sold at such sale.

Membership not a bar to trial of cases.

103. A judge or a magistrate shall not be deemed to be a party to, or personally interested in, any case under this Act, within the meaning of section 556 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, merely because he is a member of the union board.

REPORT ON DISTRESS IN THE DISTRICT OF BANKURA FOR THE WEEK ENDING 17th MAY 1919.

Rainfall was general and cultivation was in progress during the week. Thirty-two test works were open during the week, 5,437 workers having been employed on them. The increase in the number of workers was due to the opening of new works. More works are being opened. Petty private works are continuing. Gratuitous relief is being given in 56 Unions; the number of persons relieved by cash doles was 1,938, and 443 weavers were relieved by the Co-operative Industrial Union and the Weavers' Relief Committee, 2,066 persons by the grant of paddy husking advances and 298 better class poor. The total number of persons on gratuitous relief was 12,545. The decrease in the number of persons relieved by doles is due to fit persons being sent to works. Distress is spreading owing to high prices and the contraction of credit and private charity. The relief measures are adequate. The physical condition of workers and public health are satisfactory. Crime is normal. Fodder and water are adequate. Cloth is being distributed to the destitute. The price of common rice varies from 6 to 6½ seers per rupee. Arrangements have been made for the importation of Burma rice.

DARJEELING :
The 22nd May 1919.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN AND THE GARDENS IN CALCUTTA AND OF THE LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING,
FOR 1918-19.

ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN.

1. General.—Weather conditions during the year were somewhat trying to the garden, heavy bursts of rain alternating with prolonged spells of hot dry weather. From October 1918 to the end of March 1919 very little rain fell, so that many plants suffered from the drought. The display of annuals in the flower garden, although rather late owing to the weather conditions, was above the average. The show of orchids, however, during March and April was the poorest for many years, as owing to conditions in Europe and tribal disturbances in the collecting areas in the hills bordering Assam and Burma, the garden stock could not be replenished.

Three new vistas were opened out—one from the bridge on the Jacquemont Path north-westwards to the Roxburgh Avenue looking across Prain Lake, another from Kyd's Monument across King Lake to the Great Banyan Tree and the third from that monument northwards along Janardan Lake to the Small Banyan Tree. These vistas help to correct the "closed in" effect of too dense masses of vegetation, while two of them open out pleasing glimpses of Banks' beautiful piece of sculpture. Over 1,000 feet of length of the Kurz Avenue in the north-west of the garden and about 500 feet of length of the Hooker and Banyan Avenues were taken up and re-made.

Over 200 young trees and shrubs, of which about a-third are species hitherto unrepresented in the garden, were planted out.

A fair number of economic species were also planted in the economic garden, but it is impossible to do justice to this section, which could quite well occupy almost the whole time of one officer under present conditions. Even in its elementary stage this section has begun to appeal to popular interest. Quite a number of thefts of the more edible and readily utilisable species has occurred.

2. Plant and Seed Exchange.—Over 36,000 young trees and shrubs were distributed to Government departments and institutions, municipalities, railways, etc. Over 500 plants were received.

Over 400 packages of seed, mostly trees and shrubs, the packages varying from 2 ounces to 120 lbs. in weight, were distributed over a wide range. A very large quantity went to the new Delhi and to Mesopotamia. Other places were such as Persia, Egypt, Nigeria, Hawaii, England, West Indies, United States, New Zealand, South Africa, France, Java.

Nearly 400 packets of seed were received, exclusive of 18 bags of Phoenix rupicola seed from Mr. R. S. Lister of Pashok Tea Estate in the Darjeeling district.

3. Herbarium and Library.—Work was carried out along the usual lines throughout the year, aid in herbarium work being given by Messrs. Debburman and Narayanswami, of the Botanical Survey Department. Over 6,000 specimens were added to the herbarium, the chief additions being a collection of over 3,000 sheets of Philippine specimens presented by the Bureau of Science. Of Indian contributions the most interesting was a collection of nearly 200 excellently prepared specimens collected by Mr. C. G. Rogers, I. F. S., Chief Conservator of Forests, Burma, in the Tavoy district of that province. This has been supplemented by a collection made by the Superintendent of the garden and Mr. P. T. Russell early in 1919 in the same district, when exploring Northern Tavoy for sites for new cinchona plantations.

Distribution of specimens has been to a great extent still in abeyance but should be resumed next year.

About the usual additions were made to the library.

4. Publications.—The letter-press of Part II of Vol. XII of the Annals of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, issued from the press during the year. It is devoted to Signor Boccari's account of the Lepidocaryæ palms, belonging to genera other than Calamus and Dæmonorops. Distribution of this part has been postponed until the plates, which have not yet reached India, can be issued along with the letter-press.

5. Financial.—The revenue was Rs. 2,308-8-8, against an estimate of Rs. 500, the excess over estimate being due to part of the eastern end of the garden foreshore being rented out for storage of timber. There was a saving of Rs. 6,978-2-9, mostly on salary and establishment, out of the total allotment of Rs. 1,05,576.

6. Staff.—During the year, as for several years past, the garden was understaffed. Mr. (now Captain) C. C. Calder was Curator of the herbarium until the 14th November 1918, when he left on military service as an officer of the Indian Army Reserve. Apart from the herbarium, the staff throughout the year was reduced to the Superintendent, the Curator of the garden, Mr. G. T. Lane, and one Overseer, Mr. N. Mitra. There was no Probationer-Gardener and the Second Overseer, Mr. M. Jones, was on military service. Babu Devendranath Basu was head clerk throughout the year. All executive officers and the clerical staff performed their duties to the satisfaction of the Superintendent.

CALCUTTA GARDENS.

Work in these gardens, which include the Eden Gardens, Dalhousie Square and Curzon Gardens, was mostly of a routine character. The staff was below normal throughout the year, there being no European Assistant Curator. As it was impossible to obtain hose, most of the lawns suffered badly from lack of efficient watering. During the Armistice Celebrations most of the annuals in the Curzon and Dalhousie Square gardens were destroyed by the feet of the rejoicing crowds, and both gardens had to be replanted. A few flowering trees have been added to all three gardens.

Mr. S. Basu officiated as Assistant Curator in charge and Babu K. C. Maity as Overseer throughout the year and both performed their duties conscientiously. There was a saving of Rs. 4,291-13-2, almost entirely on salaries and establishment, from the total allotment of Rs. 44,395. The revenue, mostly from fees for fishing in the Dalhousie Square tank, was Rs. 300.

LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING.

Under Mr. G. H. Cave's competent Curatorship, this garden was kept up to the standard of past years, despite labour being both scarce and expensive.

Over 170 species new to the garden were planted out during the year. The limit of space for development of the garden in the enrichment of species has now almost been reached; nearly 5,000 plants, over 15,000 seedlings, about 470 bulbs and tubers and over 7,000 packets of seed were distributed.

Over 47,500 persons visited the garden during the year. There was a small saving of Rs. 213-12-10, almost entirely on travelling allowance, from the total allotment of Rs. 14,553.

A. T. GAGE, LIEUT.-COL., I.M.S.,

Superintendent.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 22nd May 1919.

Summary.—During the week weather was hot and rainfall was generally scanty. More rain is needed to facilitate the growth of standing crops and for agricultural operations generally. Sowing of autumn paddy and jute are still in progress in some parts of West Bengal. Weeding is proceeding. Preparatory tillage for winter paddy and sowings for seedlings in nurseries continue. The average price of common rice for the Province has risen by about 1·9 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week. Distress continues in Bankura and in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of the Tippera district. The average number of persons engaged daily on test works in the Brahmanbaria subdivision was 966.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

CALCUTTA TRADE FLUCTUATIONS.

THE following tables are intended to show the trade by all routes, i.e., by rail, river, canal, road, and sea, of the Calcutta Block* in certain selected articles during the twelve months, April, 1918, to March, 1919, as compared with the corresponding period of 1917-18 and 1916-17. The statistics have been compiled from returns furnished by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, Railway Audit Offices, Steamer Companies, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the Collectors of the 24-Parganas and Howrah, and the Assistant Engineer, Calcutta Canals.

General Summary.

Imports.—The imports of rice, including paddy†, into Calcutta* by rail, river, canal, road, and sea (coastwise) during the twelve months, April, 1918, to March, 1919, amounted to 19,973,000 maunds, as against 15,354,000 maunds in the corresponding period of the preceding year.—an increase of 30 per cent. There was an increase (15 per cent) in the imports of coal and coke (87,731,000 maunds as against 76,402,000 maunds last year). The value of the imports by rail, river, road, and sea (coastwise) of Indian cotton piece goods showed an increase of 67 per cent, the total value amounting to Rs. 6,13,85,000 as against Rs. 3,67,94,000 last year. The quantity of indigo imported during the period under review decreased by 6,000 maunds, or 25 per cent, to 18,000 maunds. The imports of raw jute amounted to 4,867,000 bales as against 4,562,000 bales,—an increase of 7 per cent. The importations of gunny bags also showed an increase of 3 per cent (446 million bags as against 434 millions in the preceding year). The total imports of oilseeds (linseed and rape and mustard seed) increased by 68 per cent from 4,304,000 maunds to 7,250,000 maunds. The imports of tea decreased by 19 per cent from 3,836,000 maunds to 3,095,000 maunds.

Exports.—The exports of cotton piece goods, foreign, from Calcutta* by all routes during the twelve months, April, 1918, to March, 1919, increased by 13 per cent (Rs. 27,03,13,000 as against Rs. 23,97,44,000 last year). The exports of gunny bags (including the exports by sea to foreign countries) decreased from 1,455 million bags to 1,276 million bags, but the shipments of gunny bags to other Indian ports increased from 35 millions to 49 millions in number in the period under review. The quantity of kerosene oil despatched from Calcutta and Budge-Budge by internal routes and by sea (coastwise) decreased by 14 per cent, from 5,420,000 maunds to 4,684,000 maunds.

* The Calcutta block consists of the town of Calcutta with Howrah and Kidderpore Docks.

† One maund of paddy is equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication.]

The 16th May 1919.

No. 3.—Notification.—The following draft of an amendment, which, in exercise of the power conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864, (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make in the schedule of tolls in force on the Calcutta canals and Tolly's Nala and in the rules for the management of navigation thereon, published in notification No. 7, dated the 11th May 1915 (at pages 903-05 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th idem), is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 2nd July 1919, and any objection or suggestion received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft amendment.

Delete items 13 and 15 and read item 14 as item 13.
Add as item 14.

14. (1) During the period of closure of the Tolly's Nala at Samookpota, boats laden with firewood will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari or the Bhangore khal through the Circular or Kristopur Canal and the Tolly's Nala via Kidderpore on payment of two rupees per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through these canals. All other cargo boats will pay a rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds of measured maundage.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload their cargo along the Circular Canal the Kristopur Canal, or the river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render such boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

(3) (a) Boats laden with cargo other than firewood may pick up extra cargo, either in the Kristopur Canal, the Circular Canal or the river Hooghly. The toll collectors at Chitpur, Kristopur and Dhappa, respectively, will, in that case, assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at twelve annas per hundred maunds, provided the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa or Kristopur.

(b) If there is an excess at the time of leaving Tolly's Nala a rate of two rupees and eight annas per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass beyond Dhappa or Kristopur without any further payment.

(c) If cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular or Kristopur Canal the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds.

(4) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this schedule on the boats herein defined two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

APPLICATION TO EXPORT "LIST D" GOODS.

The Board of Trade (Export Licence Department) announces that applications to export the following goods to Turkey, Bulgaria, Russian Black Sea Ports, Jugo-Slavia, Montenegro, Albania and German Austria, will be considered provided satisfactory evidence is produced to show that the goods are destined exclusively for civil purposes.

The goods in question are, inter alia, on section "D" of the Prohibited List—a list for which as a general rule no licences are granted:—

Barbed wire and implements for fixing and cutting same.

Camp equipment, articles of, and their component parts.

Clothing and equipment of a distinctly military character.

Electrical appliances, adapted for use in war and their component parts.

Military wagons of all descriptions.

Harness or horse equipment of a military character.

List D was explained in our issue of 20th March.

* All destinations in European and Asiatic Russia and in other Foreign Countries in Europe and on the Mediterranean, except France and French Possessions, Italy and Italian Possessions, Belgium, Portugal, Greece, Serbia, Roumania, Iceland and the Faroe Islands, Spain and Morocco, Palestine and Syria, as far north as a line from Alexandretta to Aleppo inclusive, and as far east as the Hejaz railway inclusive, Czecho-Slovakia, Alsace-Lorraine, and the portions of Austria-Hungary and territories on the left bank of the Rhine in the occupation of the Armies of the Associated Governments, and to all ports in any such foreign countries.

GERMAN AUSTRIA AND OCCUPIED TERRITORIES IN AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

The Board of Trade announces that the territory comprised in German Austria, the resumption of trade with which was notified on pages 466 and 491-492 of the "Board of Trade Journal" of the 10th instant, consists of the following provinces of Austria :—

Upper Austria.
Lower Austria.
Salzburg.
Styria.
Carinthia.
Tyrol (the northern or Innsbruck portion).
Vorarlberg.

The principality of Liechtenstein lying between Vorarlberg and Switzerland is also included. The remaining Austrian provinces, south of those mentioned above, and portions of territory in the south and east of Hungary are in the occupation of the Armies of the Associated Governments.

To the provinces of German-Austria as defined above, and to the occupied territories in both Austria and Hungary, goods on prohibited List C (except such as may be on List D) and free goods may be exported without licence; goods on Lists A and B require export licences.

Licences will not as a general rule be granted for the export of goods on List D to the above-mentioned territory; but an exception may be made in respect of the following goods if satisfactory evidence is produced to the War Trade Department (now the Export Licence Department) that the goods are destined entirely for civil purpose :—

Barbed wire and implements for fixing and cutting same.
Camp equipment, articles of, and their component parts.
Clothing and equipment of a distinctly military character.
Electrical appliances, adapted for use in war, and their component parts.
Harness or horse equipment of a military character.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 2019.—The following despatch from Lieutenant-General Sir W. R. Marshall, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., on the operations of the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force from the 1st October to the 31st December 1918, is published for general information.

A. H. BINGLEY, Major-General.

Secretary to the Govt. of India.

No. O.-1924-1, dated 1st February 1919.

From—Lieutenant-General Sir W. R. Marshall, K.C.B., K.C.S.I.,
Commander-in-Chief, Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force,
To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters, India.

1. I have the honour to submit the following report on the operations of the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force from 1st October 1918, the date of my last despatch, to 31st December 1918.

2. The overwhelming victories achieved by General Allenby in Palestine and Syria had naturally reacted, greatly to our advantage, on the situation in N.-W. Persia. The Turkish threat against Kasvin (and therefore Teheran) was now no longer to be feared. In fact, even before the fall of Damascus, my information led me to believe that the Turks were hurriedly withdrawing troops from the Caucasus.

This, then, seemed the moment to take the offensive against the Turkish 6th Army, covering the approaches to Mosul, and it was with great pleasure that on the 7th October I received orders to carry out this movement.

3. The forces opposed to me were the 2nd and 14th Divisions of the 6th Turkish Army, and, possibly, the 5th Division, which was known to be on its way to the Mosul Vilayet from the direction of Urmia.

The bulk of the Turkish forces (calculated at about 9,000 rifles and 59 guns) was located on the Tigris, and holding a position of great natural strength astride the Fatha Gorge. This position had been in their occupation nearly 18 months, and had been thoroughly prepared for a protracted defence. The enemy's right flank from the Fatha Gorge to Shergat was not only artificially defended, but also naturally protected by two formidable ranges of hills known as the Jebel Makhul and the Jebel Khanuka, which could not be turned owing to lack of water in the desert.

On the left bank of the Tigris the position extended for some five miles along the crest of the Jebel Hamrin. Opposite the junction of the Lesser Zab with the Tigris, the Turks had constructed a second strong position astride to Jebel Khanuka and Jebel Makhul, as well as trenches to defend the line of the Lesser Zab, a bridge at El Humr giving them free movement between both banks of the Tigris.

4. The exigencies of the Persian line of communication, which extended to Enzeli on the Caspian Sea, and the collection of the harvest, had denuded me of a large amount of transport, but for which fact I should have hesitated to adopt a line of advance against positions such as I have roughly outlined, and would have preferred that the main operation should take place via Kirkuk, and so make the Turks fight on ground of my own choosing. The distances from railhead by this route, however, were, in view of the available transport, an absolute deterrent, and there was nothing for it but a direct attack up the Tigris.

A good deal of preliminary movement of troops not required for the operations was necessary in order to get them on to the railways, and so enable them to give up 2nd line transport to form supply columns. The 56th Infantry Brigade was also sent up from the Euphrates to construct the railway line in advance of Tekrit, the latter place being then railhead, and 35 miles distant from the Turkish position at Fatha.

5. I entrusted the conduct of the main operations on the Tigris to Lieut.-General Sir A. S. Cobbe, V.C., K.C.B., C.S.I., D.S.O., Commanding I Corps, and placed at his disposal (in addition to the 17th and 18th Divisions), the 7th and 11th Cavalry Brigades.

To protect the right flank of General Cobbe's advance a small column from the III Corps, under Command of Brig.-General A. C. Lewin, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., A.D.C., was detailed to advance on the line Tauk-Kirkuk-Altun Keupri, and to prevent the Turkish forces in that area from moving down the Lesser Zab.

6. It was impossible, as previously stated, for troops, other than light armoured motor cars, to operate against the Turkish right flank, and a direct attack on the main Fatha position would certainly have proved very costly. The plan adopted, therefore, was to turn the left of the Turkish position on the Tigris and force a crossing of the Lesser Zab, thus getting their right bank positions enfilade, and so enabling our troops on that bank to attack with greater chances of success. Having cleared the left bank of the enemy, it was then intended to cut his line of retreat on Mosul by means of cavalry working up the left bank and by light armoured motor cars moving round the enemy's right.

There could, unfortunately, be little element of surprise in our attack, because the Turks had been confidently expecting it for some time, in addition to which dumps of ammunition and supplies had to be formed at Jift Post, 20 miles in advance of Tekrit. Bold and repeated reconnaissances against the enemy's right flank were, however, carried out to try to induce him to put his strength on that side.

7. By drawing on all possible sources for transport both cavalry brigades and half the infantry brigades were made sufficiently mobile to carry out the intended operations. By October 18th the forward dumps at Jift Post had been completed, and two crossings of the Jebel Hamrin were also occupied owing to the necessity for developing the wells at these points, in view of future requirements. On the same date Brigadier-General Lewin moved from Tuz Khurmatli and occupied Tank, and the important bridge four miles north-east of that place, capturing 25 prisoners and some animals.

The dispositions for the attack on the Fatha position were as follows:—

On the right bank Tigris, the 17th Division and attached troops, under Major-General G. A. J. Leslie, C.B., C.M.G., and on the left bank the 18th Division and attached troops, as well as 7th Cavalry Brigade (Brig.-General C. E. G. Norton, A.D.C.), under the command of Major-General H. D. Fanshawe, C.B. Special missions were also assigned to the light armoured motor batteries on the right bank and to the 11th Cavalry Brigade (Brigadier-General R. A. Cassels, C.B., D.S.O.) on the left bank. The R. A. F. were retained to work under the direct orders of the I Corps.

9. Both the divisions detailed for these operations were new formations, and, with the exception of a few units, had had no previous war experience. Each infantry brigade had recently been reduced by one Indian battalion withdrawn for service in another theatre of war, and from each of the remaining Indian battalions of these brigades one company had been taken away for the purpose of forming nuclei for newly-raised battalions in India. In addition many officers and non-commissioned officers had been sent away to assist these new formations.

A serious outbreak of influenza which occurred at this time also greatly reduced the fighting strength of all units. Special influenza camps had to be improvised in order to free medical units in the field for the reception of the wounded. It is a curious fact that as soon as the operations started there were practically no further cases of influenza.

10. By the morning of the 23rd October General Cobbe had completed all his preliminary moves, and was in touch with the enemy both on the right and the left banks of the Tigris, and Brigadier-General Lewin had reached Tuz Khurmatli, 12 miles south-east of Kirkuk. That afternoon a column under Brigadier-General M. R. W. Nightingale, C.M.G., D.S.O., moved along the crest of the Jebel Hamrin against the Turkish left, whilst the 7th Cavalry Brigade moved round the north of those hills. The vigorous action of these two columns during the night of October 23rd-24th caused the Turks to abandon the very strong Fatha position before daylight on 24th.

11. On the 24th October the 11th Cavalry Brigade (which had concentrated at Ain Nakhaila on the previous day) after a 45-mile march through a waterless country, reached the Lesser Zab, some 20 miles above its confluence with the Tigris, at about 3 P.M. The Turks were holding the right bank in some strength, but in spite of opposition a crossing was forced over a deep ford in the neighbourhood of Uthmaniya with surprisingly few casualties. On the same day the 17th and 18th Divisions followed up the retreating Turks, maintaining a continuous pressure, while the R. A. F. co-operated with low flying aeroplanes which bombed and machine-gunned the enemy columns. The artillery of the 7th Cavalry Brigade also found good targets from their forward positions on the left bank. The Light Armoured Motor Brigade, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Sir T. R. L. Thompson, Bart, M.C., having been especially equipped to make it self-contained for some days, proceeded to El Hadr (60 miles west of Shergat) in order to establish a base at that place for operations against the Turkish communications with Mosul.

The roads through the Fatha Gorge (on both banks) were found to be impracticable for vehicles, the Turks having blown the road into the river in several places, and a new road therefore had to be made by cutting into and blasting out the rocky hillsides. A pontoon bridge was also thrown across the Tigris at Fatha to facilitate transference of troops and supplies.

12. On the 25th, the 7th Cavalry Brigade and the leading (53rd) Infantry Brigade of the 18th Division forced a crossing over the Lesser Zab near its confluence with the Tigris, in face of considerable opposition and heavy shell fire. Meanwhile the 11th Cavalry Brigade, which was now engaged in ferrying its transport across the river near Uthmaniya, sent a force down the right bank of the Zab. These two movements caused the Turkish force on the left bank of the Tigris to retreat across their bridge at El Humr.

Lewin's column had during the day driven back superior Turkish forces and occupied Kirkuk.

13. The 17th Division, on the right bank, was keeping in close touch with the Turks, but was meeting with great difficulties, and its advance was necessarily slow. The few tracks existing over the deep ravines and precipitous slopes of the Jebel Makhul and Jebel Khanuka were mere goat paths and all transport had to be converted from wheeled to pack, one brigade having to be immobilised to provide sufficient pack transport for the troops operating. The difficulties of getting forward the field and heavy artillery in time to support the infantry were immense, while the heat and lack of water entailed great exertions from the troops.

The Division, however, worked steadily forward, assisted by artillery fire from the left bank, and late in the evening the leading troops (1st Battalion, Highland Light Infantry) made a gallant attack on the advanced trenches of the Turkish position covering Humr. The wire protecting these trenches was uncut, but the H. L. I. were not to be denied, and rushing the wire, captured the trenches, which they held throughout the night and following morning, despite considerable losses.

14. On the 26th the Division continued the attack on the Turkish position, which was, in addition to being well entrenched, one of great natural strength.

On the same day the 11th Cavalry Brigade (consisting of 7th Hussars, Guides Cavalry, 23rd Cavalry, and "W" Battery, R. H. A.) was despatched at an early hour from Uthmaniya (moving wide of the Tigris) to a reported ford opposite Hadraniya, some 14 miles upstream of Shergat. The ford, which was discovered at 3-30 P.M., proved just feasible, but it entailed crossing three channels of the river, one of which was nearly 5 feet deep with a strong current. The leading regiment having completed the crossing galloped to seize the Huwaish Gorge, about 5 miles downstream. This important point was occupied without opposition; and by the morning of the 27th the bulk of the brigade had taken up a strong position, blocking the road to Mosul.

During the day the 7th Cavalry Brigade, by moving up the left bank of the Tigris towards Shergat, attracted the attention of the Turks, and thus masked the movement of the 11th Cavalry Brigade to Hadraniya. Whilst the cavalry was engaged in this operation the light armoured motor cars, moving from their base at El Hadr round the right rear of the enemy, cut the telegraph line to Mosul, thus isolating the Tigris force from the 6th Turkish Army Headquarters.

15. During the night of October 26th-27th the 7th Cavalry Brigade, having run out of supplies, was brought back to the bridgehead at Fatha to fill up from the supply columns, and also to be available for use on either bank as the situation might demand.

On the 27th the 11th Cavalry Brigade, with its right flank protected by the light armoured motor cars, moved southward from Huwaish and launched an attack against the Turkish reserves, with the double object of assisting the 17th Division and concealing its own weakness. Meanwhile the 53rd Infantry Brigade, under Brigadier-General G. A. F. Sanders, with some artillery, marched from the Lesser Zab to join the 11th Cavalry Brigade. After a march of 33 miles the leading battalion reached Huwaish early in the afternoon of the 28th, and at once moved into position.

Throughout the day the 17th Division continued to advance over extremely difficult country, maintaining a continuous pressure on the Turks in order to prevent them from putting all their weight against the 11th Cavalry Brigade.

16. At 3 A.M., on October 28th, the 17th Division continued its march over a broken, arid, waterless country. Some eight hours later it closed with the Turkish rearguard which was holding a position three miles south of Shergat, and by 2 P.M. had driven it from its trenches. In this attack the assault by the 2nd Royal West Kent Regiment was skilfully arranged and gallantly carried through to the enemy's rearmost line of trenches, over 200 prisoners and 11 machine guns being captured.

Owing to the complete exhaustion of men and animals due to the heat, lack of water, and their previous exertions, the division was in no state to pursue. It was, indeed, necessary to get men and animals to the river for water. The Turks were thus able to concentrate during the night in a position amongst a maze of hills and deep ravines about 6 miles south of Huwaish. Here, however, they were discovered by our aeroplanes and heavily bombed as well as being shelled by our artillery from the left bank.

During the day Turkish reserves, some 2,500 strong with several batteries of artillery, made repeated attempts from the south to break through the 11th Cavalry Brigade, who barred the road to Mosul, but their attacks were unsuccessful, though the approach of enemy reinforcements from Mosul compelled the brigade to draw back its right flank to cover its rear.

During the afternoon infantry reinforcements from the 53rd Infantry Brigade began to arrive, and at 6-30 P.M. the 7th Cavalry Brigade (13th Hussars, 13th and 14th Lancers, and "V" Battery, R.H.A.), after a march of 17 hours from Fatha, in which they covered 43 miles, and crossed the difficult Hadraniya ford, where several men and horses were drowned, joined the 11th Cavalry Brigade on the right bank, and took over the protection of the right flank.

All troops on the right bank north of the enemy main body were now under the command of Brigadier-General Cassels, who conducted the operations which barred the retreat of the Turks to Mosul.

17. The position now was that a stubborn and not yet defeated enemy lay between Cassels' command and the 17th Division. The troops were urgently in need of rest; the 17th Division had been marching and fighting for the preceding four days under most arduous conditions. The 11th Cavalry Brigade had been continuously in action for 72 hours, and all had made very long marches. Nevertheless, it was imperative to call on the troops for renewed exertions in order to close in on the enemy and force his surrender. During the night (28th-29th) the Turks made repeated attempts to break through to the north, but were each time repulsed. During this fighting the Guides Cavalry and 1st Battalion, 7th Gurkha Rifles, distinguished themselves by their staunchness.

In spite of exhaustion, darkness and abominable roads, the troops of the 17th Division responded magnificently to the call made on them, and by 11 A.M., on the 29th, had driven back the Turkish rearguard on to the main body, which was holding a position north of Shergat. This position consisted of successive lines of hasty entrenchments commanding a series of ravines which had to be crossed by the attackers. Early in the afternoon the attack was launched against this position in the face of a galling fire. Whilst this was in progress the Turks delivered a heavy and vigorous counter-attack, which in one place reached the line held by the supporting battalions before it was stopped and dispersed with heavy loss by an immediate counter-attack. The 114th Mahrattas particularly distinguished themselves in this affair. Fighting continued throughout the night, the Turks fighting very stubbornly, and partially maintaining their positions.

18. Meanwhile a serious threat from a Turkish reinforcement (5th Division troops) moving down from the Mosul direction developed against Cassels' right flank. These troops established themselves with guns and machine guns on the high bluffs near Hadraniya, but were promptly dealt with by the 7th Cavalry Brigade. The 13th Hussars galloped across the open, dismounted under the bluffs, and, led by their colonel, carried the position by assault, many Turks being accounted for with the bayonet.

Mounted pursuit by the remainder of the 7th Cavalry Brigade cleared away further menace from the north, and resulted in the capture of 1,000 prisoners, with 2 guns and 12 machine guns.

The enemy's avenues of escape northwards were now effectively blocked, thanks to the skilful and resolute handling of his detachment by General Cassels, and the firm determination of his troops, who repulsed every attempt by the enemy to break through.

19. Gripped as in a vice, with his men packed in ravines, which were raked by our guns from across the Tigris, Ismail Hakki, the Turkish Commander, found himself in a hopeless position. All attempts to break-through had failed, communication with the Turkish Commander-in-Chief at Mosul had been rendered impossible, and no relief was in sight. At dawn on October 30th, just as our troops were about to renew the attack, white flags appeared all along the Turkish lines, and later on Ismail Hakki surrendered in person.

A close was thus brought to the last battle to be fought in this war by a Turkish Army. It had been characterised by a stubborn resistance, and was in accordance with what one might have expected from Ismail Hakki and his troops. This Turkish General was the same officer who, in the early spring of 1917, commanded the Turkish forces on the right bank of the Tigris, opposite Kut-el-Amara, and was one of the last to escape across the river when the remnant of his forces were captured in the Dahra bend.

20. Immediately after the surrender the 7th Cavalry Brigade and light armoured motor cars were ordered to push rapidly along the Mosul road and round up any Turkish troops in the vicinity of Kaiyara. This was effectively carried out. The 14th Lancers, charging with the lance, captured a convoy and some 500 additional prisoners, whose retreat had been cut off by the armoured cars, while the 13th Lancers captured a Turkish battalion 6 miles north of Kaiyara. At this place also a depot of supplies and a paddle steamer were captured, whilst the machinery established by the Germans at the oilfields was but slightly damaged.

21. Whilst the fighting as described had been in progress Lewin's column had fulfilled its rôle admirably, and had throughout contained and out-manceuvred a superior Turkish force, eventually driving it across the Lesser Zab at Altun Keupri (where the Turks blew up the bridge) in the direction of Erbil. Early on October 31st General Lewin occupied Altun Keupri.

22. The total captures during the operations amounted to—

- 11,322 prisoners (including 613 officers),
- 51 guns,
- 130 machine guns,
- over 2,000 animals,
- 3 paddle steamers.

and large quantities of gun and rifle ammunition, bombs, a complete bridging train and war material of all kinds.

23. Immediately the news of the Turkish surrender on the Tigris was received I determined to exploit the victory to the full by pushing on immediately to Mosul, the chief town of the Vilayet of that name, and the headquarters of the 6th Turkish Army. With this object in view a column was formed consisting of the 7th and 11th Cavalry Brigades and the 54th Infantry Brigade, as well as artillery, the whole under the command of Major-General Fanshawe. On November 1st, when the news of the armistice was received, both Cavalry Brigades had reached Hamman Ali, 12 miles, south of Mosul, where they were met by a flag of truce sent by Ali Ihsan, commanding 6th Turkish Army, requesting them to return to Kaiyara; but, as I had reason to fear for the safety of the Christian inhabitants of Mosul, I ordered the cavalry to move to that place as a deterrent to disorder. The Turkish Commander, however, endeavoured to evade the real meaning of the armistice terms and energetic measures had to be taken to clear the Mosul Vilayet of the remnants of his troops. By 10th November we were in full possession, and the Turkish troops had been withdrawn to Nisibin.

24. The complete success of the operations reflects the greatest credit on Lieutenant-General Cobbe, who had entire charge of the main operation, and also on his staff and subordinate commanders. The difficulties of supply, not only of food and water, but also of ammunition, were very great, but were largely overcome by the energy and resource of the responsible staff.

The daring and brilliant leadership of the Cavalry Brigades under Brigadier-Generals Cassels and Norton contributed largely to the final result, whilst the able tactical handling of the detached column under Brigadier-General Lewin efficiently safeguarded the exposed flank of our main forces.

The long protracted campaign in Mesopotamia was thus brought to a highly successful conclusion, and my warmest thanks and admiration are due to the troops who achieved this crowning victory. Their courage, endurance, and fortitude under conditions of considerable privation and exhaustion are worthy of the highest praise; they were continuously called upon for redoubled efforts, and they responded nobly and unflinchingly.

25. I now turn to events in North-West Persia, where, as I described in my last despatch, the Turks had during the summer given me some anxiety by reason of my long and vulnerable line of communications to the Caspian Sea.

There were three possible lines on which operations might take place, viz., Mianeh, Bijar and Senna. On the Mianeh line the Turks were in possession of a strong position on the Kufon Kuh effectively covering Mianeh from the south. On October 1st our troops were not in actual contact with the enemy, but frequent reconnaissances were undertaken by aeroplanes as well as by light armoured motor cars. From the information received from these and other sources it was clear that the Turks were being withdrawn, but owing to difficulties of maintenance, and to the ravages of influenza, it was decided not to follow them up, but to attack them by aeroplanes only, the rest of the troops on this line being concentrated at Zinjan.

On the Bijar line a strong patrol of British cavalry sent out from Bijar on October 2nd caused the Turkish detachment that had been in contact with them to withdraw. A small mixed force moved north on October 5th, the enemy retiring without offering fight, but a severe epidemic of influenza brought operations to an abrupt close, the troops returning to Bijar on October 9th.

On the Senna line a reconnaissance in force was carried out for 20 miles along the Sakiz road on October 2nd and 3rd, but this failed to establish contact with the Turks who were later reported to have withdrawn to Sakiz.

26. Immediately after the conclusion of the armistice with Turkey on October 31st, I received instructions to re-occupy Baku (in co-operation with our Allies), and all available troops of the 39th (British) Infantry Brigade were ordered to concentrate for this purpose at Enzeli. They were joined there on November 9th by Russian and Armenian troops under General Bicharakhov, who had been driven by the Turks out of Petrovsk, where the Turkish commander, despite representations by both British and French staff officers, refused to recognise the armistice. At this time Nuri was commanding the Turkish forces in the Caucasus. An envoy had been despatched to him on November 4th asking for a definite date to be fixed by the Turks for the evacuation of Baku, but a procrastinating reply was received, and in consequence the envoy was sent back again to him accompanied by a staff officer to inform him that Baku would be occupied by a British and Russian force on November 17th, by which date Turkish troops, with the exception of a small detachment to preserve order, were to be clear of the town.

At dawn on November 16th a fleet of seventeen transports left Enzeli escorted by three vessels of the Caspian Fleet, which had been armed by the Royal Navy under supervision of Commodore D. T. Norris and Captain B. G. Washington, R. N.

During the morning of November 17th they were joined off Nargin Island by General Bicharakhov's Russian force, escorted by the Russian Caspian Fleet. The expedition was accompanied by French and American representatives, and the vessel conveying Major-General W. M. Thomson, C.B., M.C., commanding the British troops entered Baku at the head of the combined fleets flying the flags of Great Britain, France, Russia and America. Our troops landed without opposition, and Baku was taken over from the Turks, who completed their evacuation of the town during the afternoon.

Many and varied were the questions which had to be dealt with in Baku, amongst which I may instance shipping control, feeding the inhabitants numbering a quarter of a million, finance, including the reopening of the Russian State Bank, settlement of labour disputes on the oilfields, strikes in the town, payment of overdue wages, reopening the Trans-Caucasus system of railways, getting into working order the oil pipe-line from Baku to Batoum, etc., etc. All these questions were most ably and firmly dealt with by General Thomson, who was quite evidently the right man in the right place.

Our efforts had to contend with the mutual jealousy and intolerance of various factions, and it is not too much to say that all arrangements for reorganisation were hampered by entirely unnecessary delays in withdrawal on the part of the Turks. After retiring from Petrovsk they make further delays at Elizabetopol and other towns, much of which being due to the excessive amount of baggage (mostly loot) which they attempted to remove, together with a reserve of one month's supplies requisitioned by them from the country. A mission had also to be sent to Tiflis to put an end to the hostilities which had commenced between the Georgians and Armenians.

28. Besides the troops in Baku, a small force was also despatched to Krasnovodsk in order to secure that place as a naval base for the shipping working under our orders, and to deny it to the Bolsheviki, who were holding Astrakhan in strength. Portions of this Krasnovodsk detachment were taken to assist in the fighting near Askabad and Merv.

Despite armed Bolshevik ships based on Astrakhan, our armed vessels have permitted of the reopening of the Caspian trade and fisheries except in the far north.

During the month of December the result of our actions by land and sea along the Caspian littoral was one of steady progress towards pacification as the confidence of the people was gradually gained, and the repatriation of the Armenian and Russian refugees, who had been driven out of the Caucasus by the Turks, has nearly been completed.

29. Towards the end of the year troops from our Salonika force landed at Batoum; Baku and Krasnovodsk passed out of my command on the last day of December, 1918, as it was considered easier to maintain troops at these places by the Batoum-Baku line, which was now working with some regularity.

30. Up to the end of 1918 the maintenance of the troops in North-West Persia and in Baku depended on the Persian lines of communication, via Hamadan and Enzeli. From railhead to Hamadan, a matter of 340 miles, a lightly metalled road has now been made which admits of the passage of light motors 48 hours after rain. From Hamadan to Enzeli, nearly 300 miles, an old metalled road exists, but has to be kept in constant repair. The work entailed in constructing the road from railhead to Hamadan and in keeping open the road from Hamadan to Enzeli reflects the greatest credit on the organising staff as well as on the engineers and pioneers responsible for the work.

31. I now turn to my left flank on the Upper Euphrates where, during October, my information was to the effect that the small force which the Turks had kept in that valley since their defeat at Khan Baghdadi at the end of March was gradually being withdrawn. Haditha was accordingly occupied on October 30th and Ana on November 1st. Abu Kemal, 60 miles upstream of Ana, was visited in the middle of November and eventually occupied on December 27th. The attitude of the Arabs was everywhere most friendly.

32. Nothing has occurred to mar the peaceful conditions which exist in the region of Ahwaz and the oilfields.

33. On the Tigris line of communication the daily consignment from Basra up river averages 2,600 tons, of which 600 tons are fuel; in addition moves are carried out of considerable numbers of troops. The maintenance of the fleet of some 2,000 steamers, launches, and barges of the Inland Water Transport, R.E., has necessitated the erection of large dockyards and repair yards. Moreover, special construction yards have been opened to put together the steamers and barges which arrived in parts from England.

The port of Basra, from very small beginnings, can now be ranked as thoroughly up-to-date, 6,000 tons a day can be unloaded, and 12 ocean-going vessels can be berthed at permanent berths, 8 of which are fitted with electric cranes. The port has been planned so as to be capable of further extension on the most modern commercial lines, and should prove a considerable asset to the future trade of the country.

34. The Refugee Camp of Armenians, Assyrians, Nestorians and Jelus, which I formed at Bakuba in September, now contains some 40,000 men, women and children in approximately equal proportions. These refugees have been accommodated in tents and have been carefully separated according to their various tribes and sects into areas and sections, for the welfare, cleanliness, and discipline of each of which selected British officers and men are made responsible. Each area is self-contained with its own piped water-supply, cooking and washing places, etc.

Three hospitals and special disinfecting plant have been attached to the camp, and I have received great assistance from the members of the American Persian Relief Commission, who have spared themselves no trouble in providing employment for the women and girls in particular. The men are employed on road making, and work about the camp, for which they receive payment. An orphanage, containing some 800 boys and girls, who have lost their parents during and subsequent to the exodus from Persia, has been instituted, and these children are well cared for, clothed and taught. In addition to the human element provision has had to be made for close on 6,000 ponies, mules, donkeys cattle and camels, besides flocks of sheep and goats.

I formed some 3,000 of the able-bodied men into four battalions, provided them with arms and clothing, placed them under the command of British officers, and provided them with instructors with a view to aiding them towards repatriation. The armistice with Turkey has now removed the necessity for armed formations, and these men will be absorbed into their own tribes.

I hope the repatriation of all these refugees will take place early in the coming spring, and I have already set machinery in motion with this end in view.

35. There have been many calls on this force to furnish units and personnel for other theatres. During December 1917 and January 1918, the 7th (Indian) Division was despatched to Palestine, and this was followed in April and May 1918, by the 3rd (Indian) Division and three siege batteries, while at the same time a fourth siege battery went to Salonika. Further, in May 1918, I was called upon to form 15 new Indian battalions by withdrawing 60 trained companies from battalions in the force, these being subsequently replaced by recruits. Of these 15 battalions some went to Palestine and the remainder to India, to release a similar number for service in other theatres of war. In September 1918, I despatched 12 seasoned Indian battalions to Salonika, and just prior to the operations which ended at the battle of Shergat two heavy batteries and some 3,500 British infantry drafts were sent to France.

In addition to the above, during the past 18 months there has been a constant drain on the force for trained British and Indian officers and other ranks, to the extent of between two and three thousand, to assist in the formation of new units in India and elsewhere.

36. Since the cessation of hostilities I have had under consideration a scheme for educational training in the force with a view to preparing men for civil life pending demobilization. This is now in operation, and will, I believe, stimulate the desire for study, and help men in their work when they return home. In the theoretical portion of the scheme I have received great assistance from the Y. M. C. A., while technical and practical instruction is being given by the various directorates.

37. The campaign in Mesopotamia has lasted just four years. From small beginnings, when Fao Fort was captured on November 6th, 1914, the ration strength of the force when Mosul was occupied had grown to some 120,000, including labour battalions.

The area of territory of the Turkish Empire which has been conquered and occupied amounts to 114,000 square miles. The sphere of operations has included Trans-Caucasia and Trans-Caspia, and detachments furnished by the force are being employed over territory extending from Deir ez Zor on the Euphrates, 330 miles N.-W. of Baghdad, to Merv in Trans-Caspia, some 1,450 miles N.-E. of Baghdad.

Actual captures since the beginning of the campaign amount to :—

45,500 prisoners and 250 guns, together with vast quantities of war material of all descriptions.

These results have been achieved in a country destitute of shade in summer and impassable owing to floods in wet weather, and are a lasting record of the gallantry and endurance of the officers and men, both British and Indian, who have fought uncomplainingly in spite of heat, thirst, rain, and discomfort for four years in Mesopotamia.

38. No general has ever, I venture to think, been more loyally served, and I take this opportunity of recording my most grateful thanks to all ranks and all services who have fought so gallantly, worked so hard, and whose devotion to duty has made the Mesopotamian Expeditionary Force an army in which all can be proud to have served.

39. A list of names of officers, ladies, non-commissioned officers and men who have been deemed to have earned special distinction is being forwarded to you on a separate list.

40. In addition to the foregoing, and in pursuance of the authority delegated to me as Commander-in-Chief, I have made the following immediate awards for gallantry and distinguished service in the field during the period covered by this despatch :—

Sheriff's Sale Proclamation.

TO be peremptorily sold pursuant to the orders made by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal in its Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, and dated respectively the 11th June 1918 and 19th February 1919, and made in execution of the decree of the Calcutta Court of Small Causes, dated the 12th April 1916, and in suit No. 6940 of 1916 and Execution case No. 32 of 1918 (wherein Gopeaswar Mullick and others were the plaintiffs and Mussamut Bella and others were the defendants), by the Sheriff of Calcutta in his sale-room on the ground floor of the Court House by public auction on Friday, the 27th day of June 1919, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, the undermentioned properties belonging to the defendant Sitaram Agarwalla and to the deceased defendant Mussamut Bella, administratrix to the estate of Durgaprosad Agarwalla, deceased, now in the hands of New Prosad Agarwalla and others, her heirs and legal representatives, viz. :—

(1) All those structures consisting of eight rooms on the first floor and eight rooms on the ground floor the walls of which are of bricks and the roofs are tile and which are situate and constructed on the southern side of the land and premises No. 79, Lower Chitpur Road, together with a two-storied pucca privy, and belonging to the said deceased defendant Mussamut Bella, administratrix to the estate of Durgaprosad Agarwalla, deceased.

(2) All those remaining structures or tiled roofed huts belonging to the defendant Sitaram Agarwalla and constructed and situate on the northern side of the said land and premises No. 79, Lower Chitpur Road.

The said entire structures on the premises No. 79, Lower Chitpur Road, is bounded on the north by Bustee Road, on the east by huts belonging to Jagannath Khettry, on the south by Harrison Road, on the west by Bustee Road.

It appears from searches made in the Calcutta Registry Office from 1895 to February 1919 that there are no encumbrances affecting the above property, save and except a mortgage executed by Sewprosad Agarwalla and Ram Shahay Agarwalla in favour of one Sham Sundar Lal on the 2nd day of January 1919, for a sum of Rs. 6,000 with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. The said mortgage is registered in Book No. I, Vol. 9, page 1, being No. 141 of 1919. The sum for the recovery of which the sale has been ordered is Rs. 1,502-5-6 with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum until realisation, besides the costs of execution.

The conditions of sale may be seen at the office of the said Sheriff and the abstract of title and plan of the said premises may be seen at the office of Messrs. Dutt and Sen, Solicitors for the plaintiffs, on any day before the sale and will be produced at the said sale.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 29th May 1919.

Summary.—Light rain fell almost throughout the province. More rain is urgently wanted to help the growth of standing crops and for field operations generally. Weeding of autumn crops is proceeding. Ploughing of fields for winter rice and sowings for seedlings continue. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 2·4 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week. Distress continues in Bankura and in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of the Tippera district. The average number of persons engaged daily on test works in the Brahmanbaria subdivision was 990.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.[Fourth publication.]

The 16th May 1919.

No. 3.—Notification.—The following draft of an amendment, which, in exercise of the power conferred by sections 6 and 11 of the Canals Act, 1864, (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make in the schedule of tolls in force on the Calcutta canals and Tolly's Nala and in the rules for the management of navigation thereon, published in notification No. 7, dated the 11th May 1915 (at pages 903-05 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 12th idem), is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 2nd July 1919, and any objection or suggestion received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft amendment.

Delete items 13 and 15 and read item 14 as item 13.

Add as item 14.

14. (1) During the period of closure of the Tolly's Nala at Samookpota, boats laden with firewood will be allowed to proceed to or from the river Bidyadhari or the Bhangore khal through the Circular or Kristopur Canal and the Tolly's Nala via Kidderpore on payment of two rupees per hundred maunds of measured maundage for passage through these canals. All other cargo boats will pay a rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds of measured maundage.

(2) Boats plying under this concession will not be allowed either to load or to unload their cargo along the Circular Canal the Kristopur Canal, or the river Hooghly. Infringement of this rule will render such boats liable to the ordinary tolls in force for the Circular Canal.

(3) (a) Boats laden with cargo other than firewood may pick up extra cargo, either in the Kristopur Canal, the Circular Canal or the river Hooghly. The toll collectors at Chitpur, Kristopur and Dhappa, respectively, will, in that case, assess and collect the extra toll due on the cargo at twelve annas per hundred maunds, provided the maundage of the boat does not exceed that when it originally entered at Dhappa or Kristopur.

(b) If there is an excess at the time of leaving Tolly's Nala a rate of two rupees and eight annas per hundred maunds will be charged on the extra cargo at Kidderpore. This will entitle the boat to pass beyond Dhappa or Kristopur without any further payment.

(c) If cargo is picked up either in the Hooghly or in the Circular or Kristopur Canal the extra toll on the extra amount will be charged at the rate of one rupee and twelve annas per hundred maunds.

(4) For the purposes of reckoning demurrage charges under item 11 of this schedule on the boats herein defined two extra days will be allowed over and above those provided for vessels plying in the Tolly's Nala.

No. 3559.—The following Royal Proclamation licensing trade with Alsace-Lorraine is published for general information :—

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

LICENSING TRADE WITH ALSACE-LORRAINE.

GEORGE R. I.

WHEREAS by Our Proclamation, dated the 9th day of September 1914, called the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, certain prohibitions therein specifically set forth as regards trading, or having commercial or financial transactions, with persons resident or carrying on business in the German Empire or Austria-Hungary were imposed upon persons resident, carrying on business, or being in Our Dominions :

AND WHEREAS by Our Proclamations, dated the 8th day of October 1914, the 7th day of January 1915, and the 14th day of September 1915, Our first-mentioned Proclamation has been amended as in such Our Proclamations appears :

AND WHEREAS by the 8th paragraph of Our first-mentioned Proclamation it was provided that nothing in that Proclamation should be taken to prohibit anything which should be expressly permitted by Our License :

AND WHEREAS by the terms of the Armistice agreed upon between the Associated Governments and the German Empire, the territories of Alsace-Lorraine, part of the German Empire, are now in the occupation of the Armies of the Associated Governments, and it is expedient to allow trade and commercial and financial transactions with persons resident or carrying on business in the territories of Alsace-Lorraine :

NOW, THEREFORE, We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, give and grant full licence and authority unto, and do hereby permit, all persons resident, carrying on business, or being in Our Dominions, to trade and have commercial and financial transactions with any person resident or carrying on business in the territories of Alsace-Lorraine (other than and except any persons with whom the President of the French Republic shall order persons resident in France not to trade or have commercial or financial transactions) in as full and ample a manner as if the said territories did not form part of the German Empire, but formed part of the territories of the Republic of France :

Provided always that any Licence which may be necessary in respect of any transaction under any prohibition of export or prohibition of import for the time being in force in the United Kingdom, or in respect of any remittance of money out of the United Kingdom prohibited by the Regulation numbered 41-D. of the Defence of the Realm Regulations is first obtained :

Provided also that this Our Licence shall not permit any person to pay to or for the benefit of any person resident or carrying on business in the said territories any sum of money which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, is required to be paid to the Custodian appointed under the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Act, 1914, but such sums must be paid to the said Custodian :

Provided also that this Our Licence shall not permit any person to pay or deliver to or on behalf of any person resident or carrying on business in the said territories any sum of money or property of which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, notice has been or ought to have been given, prior to the date of this Our Proclamation, to the said Custodian.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this Tenth day of February, in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and in the Ninth year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

No. 3560.—The following Royal Proclamation licensing trade with the territories of Austria-Hungary in the occupation of the Armies of the Associated Governments, is published for general information:—

BY THE KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

LICENSING TRADE WITH THE TERRITORIES OF AUSTRIA-HUNGARY IN THE OCCUPATION OF THE ARMIES OF THE ASSOCIATED GOVERNMENTS.

GEORGE R. I.

WHEREAS by Our Proclamation, dated the 9th day of September 1914, called the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, certain prohibitions, therein specifically set forth as regards trading or having commercial or financial transactions with persons resident or carrying on business in the German Empire or Austria-Hungary were imposed upon persons resident carrying on business, or being in Our Dominions:

AND WHEREAS by Our Proclamations, dated the 8th day of October 1914, the 7th day of January 1915, and the 14th day of September 1915, Our first-mentioned Proclamation has been amended as in such Our Proclamations appears:

AND WHEREAS by the 8th paragraph of Our first-mentioned Proclamation it was provided that nothing in that Proclamation should be taken to prohibit anything which should be expressly permitted by Our Licence:

AND WHEREAS by the terms of the Armistice agreed upon between the Kingdom of Italy and Austria-Hungary, certain territories of Austria-Hungary have been evacuated by the Austro-Hungarian Armies and are now in the occupation of the Armies of the Associated Governments, and it is expedient to allow trade and commercial and financial transactions with persons resident or carrying on business in the territories so occupied by the Armies of the Associated Governments:

Now, therefore, We by and with the advice of Our Privy Council give and grant full licence and authority unto, and do hereby permit, all persons resident, carrying on business or being in Our Dominions, to trade and have commercial and financial transactions with any person resident, or carrying on business, in the territories occupied as aforesaid by the Armies of the Associated Governments, in as full and ample a manner as if the said territories did not form part of Austria-Hungary but formed part of the territories belonging to one of the Governments with which Our Government is associated:

Provided always that any Licence which may be necessary in respect of any transaction under any prohibition of export or prohibition of import for the time being in force in the United Kingdom, or in respect of any remittance of money out of the United Kingdom prohibited by the Regulation numbered 41D of the Defence of Realm Regulations is first obtained:

Provided also that this Our Licence shall not permit any person to pay to or for the benefit of any person resident, or carrying on business, in the said territories, any sum of money which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, is required to be paid to the Custodian appointed under the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Act, 1914, but such sums must be paid to the said Custodian:

Provided also that this Our Licence shall not permit any person to pay or deliver to or on behalf of any person resident or carrying on business in the said territories any sum of money or property of which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, notice has been or ought to have been given, prior to the date of this Our Proclamation, to the said Custodian.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this Tenth day of February, in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and in the Ninth year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

TRADING BY FOREIGNERS.

LICENCE.

The 31st May 1919.

No. 3561.—Whereas by paragraph 5 of the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, dated the 9th day of September 1914, trade and financial or commercial transactions between British subjects and persons or bodies of persons resident in the territories of the German Empire or in the Dual Monarchy of Austria-Hungary or in the respective colonies and dependencies thereof, in this licence or in the said Proclamation referred to as “enemy country”, are prohibited; and

Whereas by paragraph 7 of the said Proclamation it is provided that nothing in the Proclamation shall be taken to prohibit anything which may be expressly permitted by license, whether such license be granted to individuals or be announced as applying to persons; and

Whereas by paragraph 3 of Proclamation, dated the 8th October 1914, power to grant such licences on behalf of the Crown may be exercised in India by the Governor-General;

Now, therefore, I, Frederic John Napier Thesiger, Baron Chelmsford, hereby authorise all persons residing, being or carrying on business in British India to negotiate for the supply of any goods, wares or merchandise to German Austria, to supply any goods, wares or merchandise to German Austria, to carry or arrange for the carriage of and to insure any goods, wares or merchandise destined for German Austria, and to take such action as may be necessary or convenient to secure payment for any goods, wares or merchandise so supplied or for any charges or expenses connected with such supply, carriage or insurance:

Provided always that any license which may be necessary in respect of any such supply under any prohibition of export for the time being in force in British India is first obtained:

Provided also that nothing in this licence shall be deemed to authorise the payment of money which at the date hereof is or but the war would have been due to any person or body of persons resident or carrying on business in German Austria or the withdrawals or disposal of funds or property held or managed in this country for the account of or on behalf of any such person.

No. 3563.—Whereas by paragraph 5 of the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, dated the 9th day of September 1914, trade and financial or commercial transactions between British subjects and persons or bodies of persons resident in the territories of the German Empire or in the Dual Monarchy of Austria-Hungary or in the respective colonies and dependencies thereof, in this licence or in the said proclamation referred to as “enemy country”, are prohibited; and

Whereas by paragraph 8 of the said Proclamation it is provided that nothing in the Proclamation shall be taken to prohibit anything which may be expressly permitted by licence, whether such licence be granted to individuals or be announced as applying to persons; and

Whereas by paragraph 3 of Proclamation, dated the 8th October 1914, power to grant such license on behalf of the Crown may be exercised in India by the Governor General;

Now, therefore, I, Frederic John Napier Thesiger, Baron Chelmsford, hereby authorise all persons and bodies of persons residing, being or carrying on business in British India to trade and have commercial and financial transactions with persons and bodies of persons resident or carrying on business in Croatia and Slavonia, Bosnia, Herzegovina, and those parts of Dalmatia not covered by the Royal Proclamation, dated the 10th day of February 1919, as published with this Department notification No. 3560, dated the 31st May 1919 :

^ Provided always that any license which may be necessary in respect of any transaction under any prohibition of export or prohibition of import for the time being in force in British India is first obtained :

Provided also that nothing in this licence shall be taken as permitting the payment or delivery to persons resident or carrying on business within the said territory of the following monies and classes of property :—

- (a) any sum payable to or paid for an enemy by way of dividend, interest or share of profits ;
- (b) any sum which has been paid into any account with a bank or to any other person in trust for an enemy ;
- (c) interest on securities issued by or on behalf of Government or the Government of any of His Majesty's Dominions or any foreign Government or by or on behalf of any corporation or any municipal or other authority, whether within or without British India ;
- (d) securities which have become repayable on maturity or by being drawn for payment or otherwise ;
- (e) property real or personal (including any rights, whether legal or equitable, in or arising out of property, real or personal) held or managed for or on behalf of an enemy ;
- (f) shares, stock, debentures and debenture stock and other obligations of a company which are held by or for the benefit of an enemy ;
- (g) any share of profits and interest due to enemies who were partners in a company ;
- (h) bank balances and deposits standing to the credit of enemies and debts to enemies of £ 50 or upwards.

CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA.NOTICE

IN supersession of the existing rule I of the Rules under section 85 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, for the conduct of business at the meetings of the Corporation, the following amended rule has been duly made by the Corporation at their meetings held on the 2nd and 16th days of April 1919 and confirmed at a subsequent meeting held on the 29th May 1919, and is published for information, in compliance with the provisions of section 570, of the Act.

“An ordinary meeting of the Corporation shall be held in the afternoon of Thursday in each week, unless otherwise specially ordered by the Corporation, or unless the Chairman thinks there is not sufficient business, and unless a public holiday falls on any Thursday, in which latter case it shall be held on the first next Thursday thereafter that is not a public holiday.

2. The hour of meeting shall ordinarily be 4-30 P.M. to 6-30 P.M. from the 1st March to the 31st October and from 4 P.M. to 6 P.M. from the 1st November to the end of February every year, unless otherwise ordered by the Corporation, provided that if at the close of the prescribed hour of meeting a discussion under debate has terminated, or the closure has been moved and carried, and the vote on the question after debate remains to be taken, then the proceedings shall not be interrupted and the meeting shall continue, but only for the purpose of enabling the vote to be taken.

If at the expiration of 15 minutes after the hour at which any meeting of the Corporation is appointed to be held the number necessary to form a quorum be not present, the President shall adjourn the meeting to the succeeding Thursday which is not a public holiday, or to some other day, as he may think fit.

It shall be the duty of the Chairman to prepare and circulate amongst the Commissioners the list of business for each meeting.”
